

Fresno Rams Will Play Modesto JC

The Fresno Junior College Rams will host the Modesto Junior College Pirates Saturday night in the Yosemite Junior High gym as the Rams seek revenge over their loss to the Pirates on December 4.

The Pirates took the earlier contest played in Modesto by an 80 to 61 score as they held Fresno's ace letterman guard Don Steitz down to a mere 4 points.

Wednesday night, December 16, the Rams are slated to meet a very strong El Camino squad in the Yosemite Junior High School gym. El Camino won its initial three contests. The first two victories were by wide margins, with the final of the three being a close one over a powerful Compton Junior College five.

In their opening contest the El Camino hoopsters downed LA CC by a 67 to 39 score. On December 4, the Camino outfit rolled over Pierce, 85 to 44. Last Saturday night the Compton five was one bucket away when the gun sounded with El Camino leading, 71 to 69.

FJC cage mentor Joe Kelly will most likely go with his all ex-Edison High lineup of Harvey Green and Odell Johnson at forwards, Ray Williams at center, and Cleo Coleman and Steitz at the guards.

Carpentry Class Starts Annual Building Project

Construction of a two bedroom house, the largest building yet attempted by Fresno Junior College carpentry classes since the annual project started in the fall of 1951, was to begin sometime this month.

Merle Sons, the instructor, said the house is an annual project to gain practical experience in carpentry, home planning and construction problems. Upon completion, which should be near the end of the spring semester, the house will be sold to the highest bidder to be moved to whatever location may be designated.

Students will do all the work with assistance from other classes, which include mill cabinet, mechanical drawing, electricity and some of the evening trade classes.

Careful workmanship and sound building practices, said Sons, will be emphasized in the project, rather than a speedy construction or profit making short cuts in building the house.

The house, 26 to 42 feet, will have a shake type roof, a large living room and a large kitchen with a breakfast nook.

RAMS TOP RENEGADES

The Fresno Junior College cage team traveled to Bakersfield Tuesday and knocked over the Renegades 82-68. Harvey Green led the Rams with 29 points. Don Steitz followed with 18.

Music Class Presents Assembly Variety Show

Highlights Xmas Program

The annual Christmas assembly of the Fresno Junior College was presented this morning at the Fresno Memorial Auditorium.

C. Lowell Spencer, FJC music instructor, said the entertainment was presented by the mixed chorus, the dance band and by other students in his music classes.

The choir of 23 voices sang part of a Christmas cantata by Deane Shure, two Christmas carols—"Silent Night" and "No Candles Was There and No Fife"—and Fred Waring's musical setting of "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

Soloists of the choir were Shirley McNay, Jessie Waller, Lawrence Schmitz, and Gus Gundunas.

The dance band, wearing new red jackets, played several numbers and featured solo performances by Avedis Nersesian, a drummer. The band also played background music for a tenor duet by Miss McNay and Gundunas and for a comic song by Jeanette Neal, an alumna, who sang "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth."

Another comedy number was given by Carole Gostanian, Sue Sheehan, Cherrell St. John and Ann Nelson, accompanied by Helen Embry. Arlie Moran presented a violin selection.

Roller Skating Tomorrow Night

FJC's Nisei Club is sponsoring a roller skating party tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the Wonderland Skating Rink. Ben Koda, the club president, has invited all FJC students to attend.

Koda announced Anna Ueki, a club member, is a candidate for queen of the annual convention of the California Intercollegiate Nisei Organization at El Camino College December 27 and 28.

Lee Storelee Appoints Election Supervisors

Lee Storelee, student body vice president, announced the appointment of five students on the election committee, which will supervise the spring semester student body election procedures, which began Monday.

Those appointed were Haruo Yamaoka, Bonnie Warren, Diana Sam, Evelyn Hamby and Susie Brantley.

Prospective candidates for the eight offices may secure petitions from Mrs. Lena M. Fuller, registrar, if the student has attended Fresno Junior College for one semester, except nominees for president must have been enrolled for two semesters. All candidates must be currently registered for at least 12 units with a C average.

The offices open include student body president, vice president, treasurer, secretary, and four representatives at large on the student council.

All petitions must have at least 35 signatures of student body members and returned to the registrar on or before tomorrow.

The election committee will meet on December 11 and 14 to approve or reject the petitions. On December 15 a list of eligible candidates will be posted in the main hall.

Faculty advisers are Miss Willa Marsh, the dean of students, Dr. Rolf Ordal and Floyd Quick.

RED KEY HOLDS DINNER DANCE

Members of Red Key will hold a dinner dance tonight at 8 p.m. at the Outpost.

Arrangements are being made by Pat Still, Molly Williams and Art Lea, committee chairmen.

Miss Still said members may invite one guest each, and will wear sports dress.

Invitations have been sent to President Stuart M. White, Miss Willa Marsh, Dr. Rolf Ordal and Stanley Bennett, Red Key faculty advisers.

Auto Shop Gets Steering Unit

Maneuvering in downtown traffic will be much easier with the more general use of power steering units such as the one given to the Fresno Junior College shop recently by H. K. Poffenberger, stated Joseph Woodman, one of FJC's auto mechanics instructors.

Woodman explained that the $375 gift is a new steering gadget that enables automobiles to be more easily maneuvered in traffic and assists drivers in parallel parking in that the wheels will turn with almost finger tip control.

James E. Weldon, the division chairman, said the unit will be used to train future auto mechanics how to service the power steering apparatus properly since it has become popular on several makes of passenger cars since its introduction last year.

Students Decorate Christmas Tree

A committee of six members of the Associated Women Students of the Fresno Junior College have decorated a large Christmas tree in the main office of the Fresno Junior College, assisted by seven members of the Associated Men Students.

Frances Purroy, the AWS president, said the tree was the main attraction at FJC's recent Winter ball. It was secured by AMS members from the mountains.

The AWS committee included Molly Williams, chairman; Miss Purroy, Vena Holt, Carole Gostanian, Jean Self and Sue Sheehan.

Queen Contest Rules Set By Club Prexies

Gerald Bender, student body president, said the student council was to meet yesterday afternoon with presidents of campus organizations to establish procedures for picking a basketball queen.

Bender said the proposed plan would permit each FJC group to select candidates for queen. The winner would be the nominee whose organization sells the most season tickets to the FJC home basketball games.

The rally committee has already selected Sandra Sims as its candidate, and Paul Starr, dean of men, reported that they are already selling tickets.

Bender said he hoped yesterday's meeting of the club leaders would lead to the formation of an inter-club council at Fresno Junior College.

Vocational Nurses Take Field Trips To Gain Knowledge

Vocational nursing students of Fresno Junior College made a series of field trips last week to nursery schools, hospitals and public health and sanitation facilities.

Mrs. Anna Thompson and Mrs. Mildred Bosteder, the instructors, said the purpose of the visitations are to help the students to gain practical knowledge of activities studied in the classrooms and to assist them in surveying future employment possibilities.

The students, who are from the beginning and advanced sections of the FJC vocational nursing program, visited Fresno city water, garbage and sewage disposal facilities, the Fresno County Public Health Department and a child health conference at the Hammer Field housing project.

They also visited two children's nurseries along with the Veterans Administration and St. Agnes Hospitals and an ice cream and milk plant.

The students include Esther Acedo, Cruz Camacho, Josephine Davis, Shirley Fearnside, Mrs. Jimmie Fletcher, Mrs. Emma Harrah, Florence Holland, Alberta Kelley, Mrs. Mamie Key, Mrs. Genevieve Mabray, Mrs. Beulah Moore, Mrs. Bernice Morrow, Virginia Palacies, Mrs. Margaret Pipkin, Mrs. Emma Price, Zenaida Reinhardt, Mrs. Mae Salter, Mrs. Daisy Tan, Mrs. George Bostic, Virginia Fabela, Nathel Perry, Carmen Ramirez, Mrs. Helen Stewart, Odester Taylor and Darsene Trotter.

The Associated Women Students of the Fresno Junior College will hold a potluck dinner Tuesday at 6 p.m. in FJC's Ramble Inn.

Frances Purroy, the president, said arrangements will be made for an election of officers in January for the Spring semester.

Miss Purroy said nominations will be made during the dinner. Miss Purroy will install her successor January 22, when other FJC student body officers are installed. The AWS president will be a member of the student council.

Assisting Miss Purroy in arranging for the dinner are the other AWS officers, including Shirley McNay, vice president; Molly Williams, treasurer; Erma Tekeuchi, secretary; and Mineko Kuramoto, historian.

Wonderland Ball Proves Successful, Enjoyable

Congratulations are extended to all the hard working students who made the annual semi-formal Christmas Ball such a success at the Lafayette School Friday. The dance was from 9 to 12 p.m.

The ballroom was covered with greenery highlighted by several small Christmas trees around the room. The one big tree was next to a winter-scene painting which covered the entire wall on the left side of the room.

The FJC band made its debut in their bright red jackets, providing fine dance music.

Congratulations also go to the Red Key, Newman Club, Alpha Gamma Sigma, and Phi Theta Kappa for their fine spirit in helping the freshman class with the decorations.

Welfare Commissioner Requests Student Aid

Gladys Popp, commissioner of student welfare, requests that students report any cases of illness or accident by putting names of such students in the commissioner of student welfare's mailbox in the main hall. Other noteworthy events should also be reported.

"Cards have been purchased for this purpose," stated Miss Popp.

JOHN DUKE GIVES YEARBOOK REPORT

John Duke, assistant professor of journalism at Fresno State College, spoke to the student council last week concerning the problems of an annual.

Duke gave various statistics on prices of different school annuals, which included printing, art, cover, size of pages and advertising.

He also discussed various ways of making money for the annual such as plays, parties, club donations, cake and candy sales.

He suggested that in getting started that FJC could have a magazine which would review the whole year's activities. Later, as it progresses, the magazine could be changed into an annual.

Fresno Junior College's total enrollment has increased more than 500 percent since its reorganization as a two year college.

In the fall of 1948 FJC's registration totaled 374, all day students. Today, the total enrollment is 1844, including 1000 day students and 844 in night classes.

FJC's student body has increased by more than 6,000 per cent since 1910, when the first two year college in the state opened here with 28 students and three instructors. In 1921 the junior college combined with Fresno Normal School.

During the fall semester of 1949 the junior college's enrollment increased to 678, again all day students. A year later, when FJC acquired a night program, the total was 1348, about half of which were night students.

Totals for 1951 were 1353, for 1952, 1515, including 700 day and 815 night students, and for 1953, 1844.

The 1000 day students now enrolled include 151 high school students who attend FJC classes three hours daily for trade training. The 844 night students include 649 in apprentice training and trade extension course and 195 in evening classes of the business and general education divisions.

Class reservation sheets will be signed, and the students will receive registration cards to take home and fill out.

Archie Bradshaw, director of guidance, will give the English and reading entrance examination on January 4 and 23.

The official registration is scheduled for February 1 and classes will begin February 2.

John Mock, the general education divisions chairman, said several new courses will be offered in his division including differential calculus, an art course for terminal students, home economics, biological science and P.E.

Suggestions Given To Avoid Colds

So you've got a cold. Doctor's orders say go to bed, eat light meals, drink plenty of water, fruit juices and soups and stifle coughs and sneezes with a handkerchief. If fever, aches or cough continue for more than 24 hours, call your family physician.

But what could have been done to avoid this cold? There are several suggestions offered by Mrs. Anne Gabel, college nurse. Avoid people with colds as much as possible.

Beware of fatigue, eat the right foods, get plenty of rest, exercise, fresh air and sunshine. Be sure to keep your feet warm and dry. Wear rubbers or overshoes and keep out of drafts.

Four Faculty Members Attend Dinner Meeting

Four faculty members of the Fresno Junior College trade and industrial education division attended a dinner meeting of the central section of the California Industrial Educator's Association in Porterville Tuesday night.

Rams Win 2, Lose 1, In First Week

'53 FJC Cage Squad Makes Good Showing In Contests

By DON SHROYER

The brand new 1953 version of the Fresno Junior College basketball team under the tutelage of new Cage Mentor Joe Kelly, opened their first week of court action by banging out a .666 average as they marked up two wins against one loss this past week.

First to fall victims of the deadly Ram cagers were the airmen of Castle Field in Merced. Fresno marked up a 61 to 52 victory in Merced on Tuesday, December 1.

The Rams found themselves on the short end of the stick Friday night, when the Modesto Junior College Pirates posted an 80 to 61 win over the Fresno Cagers.

The following evening the Stockton Junior College Mustangs were bullied over by the Rams to the tune of 67 to 63.

FJC forward Harvey Green, who starred at Edison last year, set the pace for the Rams as he collected seven field goals and 12 free throws for a total of 26 points in Tuesday's contest with the airmen from Merced. The Fresno cagers took an early first stanza lead which they held throughout the tilt. Ram guard Don Steitz, who played with FJC cagers last year, netted 17 points. High scorers for the Castle Field cagers were Dale Foell with 13 and James Hunter with 10.

This initial win for the Rams was a second loss in nine starts for the Air Force five.

Others adding to scoring for FJC were Ray Williams with 9, Cleo Coleman with 7, and Ernest Slade with 2.

A rough and tumble battle in Modesto Friday night saw three Modesto and two Fresno cagers foul out of the contest. The Pirates took an 18 to 12 first quarter lead and led at halftime, 40 to 34. The Ram five never threatened the second half.

Fresno forward Odell Johnson, who, like Green, starred at Edison last year, set the pace in the Modesto tilt as he matched up 13 free throws with 5 field goals for a total of 23 points. Green collected 13, Williams connected for 7, Coleman for 6, Slade marked up 5, while Steitz only netted 4. Oliver Riggins added 2 and Gerald Bender scored on a free throw for 1, to round out the Rams' scoring.

Center Don Shaver flipped in 16 points for the Pirates, as forward Willie Rock tallied for 15.

In the Yosemite Junior High School gymnasium the following evening the Rams pulled out from behind a 31 to 27 halftime score to down a strong Mustang five.

The contest was close and hotly waged battle with the score being knotted three times during the third period and four times during the final stanza.

The high scorer for Fresno was Green who hit for 19. Johnson collected 18, Steitz bagged 11, Williams marked up 8, Slade poured in 7 and Coleman scored 4 to complete the Ram scoring column.

High scorer for the Stockton five was Jim Choate, who had 19 points. During the tilt the Rams committed 16 fouls while Stockton made 25.

Rams, Giants Must Remain In CCJCAA Another Year

By DONALD N. SHROYER

It looks like the Fresno Junior College athletic teams will be around the Central California Junior College Athletic Association for a couple or three years yet.

Fresno Junior College President Stuart M. White and Athletic Director Paul Starr returned from a meeting in San Francisco of the three Northern California JC conferences last week, where it was announced that there would be no league revisions for the next year.

"It probably will be three years before any realignment will take place," reported White. "Some of the schools seem favorable toward admitting us, but there are many scheduling problems."

"We will continue to play in the CCJCAA next year," White said, "and will try to schedule as many outstanding non-conference games as possible."

It was disclosed that Taft and Coalinga will not schedule either the Rams or COS next year. The league will remain active, however, with Porterville, Reedley, COS and Fresno as active members in football.

True, the Rams do belong in a better league, but one should remember that some games between schools are scheduled many years in advance. For this reason it will be difficult for the Rams and COS to get into the Big Seven. Also, the Big Seven is a well established league and doesn't feel it should let any outsider in even if that outsider has won another league championship four years in a row.

Taft and Coalinga are going to continue to compete in the league in other sports but will not be eligible for the league championship.

Coach Joe Kelly has taken the lid off his 1953-54 cagers, and they look mighty fine. A little ragged

Baseball Mentor Stages Workout

Coach Ray McCarthy was greeted by 20 prospective baseball players in a meeting held last Friday.

Workouts will be held every Monday and Wednesday, beginning at 1:45 at the Romain playground, says McCarthy, to determine just what material will be available when baseball season rolls around.

Anyone who is interested in trying out for the baseball squad should report to McCarthy at once.

This season, states McCarthy, will see 31 scheduled games played at home and abroad, and the Rams will be entered in the Bakersfield tournament during Easter vacation.

Last year, the Rams finished third in CCJCAA league standings, with Reedley JC taking the title.

around the edges, but Kelly is working on it. Chances of a good Ram season, under the guidance of new Coach Kelly, are really high this year with Ram squad being composed almost entirely of last year's High School Valley champs from Edison High.

from Fresno High, has used a starting lineup composed entirely of ex-Edison High School stars. Green, who was an all league player for three seasons, and Johnson were the starting forwards. Ray Williams, who was all league last year, was at center, Coleman and FJC letterman Steitz at the guards. Other members of the varsity squad include Bender, Tom Hogan, Dewey Kee, Bill Nicholson, Cecil Roberts, Riggins, Slade, Jessie Waller, and Robert Zimmerman.

The Rams are lacking height but on the other hand have lots of speed and bucket-hitting ability. Together with the wisdom in the head of Kelly, this year's outfit is expected to have a good season.

Six General Art Courses Help Creative Students

With six general art courses offered at Fresno Junior College, art students receive creative experiences in various artistic media. Walter Witt is the instructor.

Witt, 33 years old, has been with the college since 1951. Before coming here he taught and studied at the California

College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, received his AB degree in art and philosophy from San Francisco State College in 1948, secured a MA degree from California University in 1949, studied art of Italy, Spain, Germany and Holland under Fernand Leger for six months in Paris, France, and in 1950 under the late Max Beckman; German painter, at Mills College.

The six courses are Introduction to art structure, composition and design, drawing and painting, art history and appreciation, art crafts and commercial art.

Introduction to art structure includes discussions, experiments in value and color, studies of designs and works of acknowledged masters and problems in space and surface organization.

Composition and design is a review of art structure and principles, with a more advanced and direct execution of introductory factors. The work is in textile designs, three dimensional mobiles and cut paper collages through the media of direct drawing and silk screen reproductions.

Drawing and painting consists of creative composition through the media of water colors, oils, pencil and charcoal, still life and live models. Discussions are about early and modern style in painting.

Art history and appreciation is a study of contemporary and modern art in America and Europe. Slides are shown to bring out relationships between past art of all types, compared to 19th and 20th century art.

Art crafts is work in silk screens, lettering on cards, posters, and leather. Metals, bookbinding and modeling may be given with the demand.

Commercial art, consisting of lettering types and uses, principles of layout techniques, black and white media, color and silk screen, is also given in Bungalow 13.
