Students Neglect Voting

Elections for the spring semester student body officers and representatives-at-large will be held next week, Monday and Tuesday.

In the past there have been only a small percentage of FJC students who have actually voted in these elections.

A major problem which exists concerning student elections is that many of the student nominees and their capabilities for holding office are unknown to the student voters. Also a lack of knowledge concerning the duties and the services of the student body officers causes many to refrain from voting.

By developing an awareness of the functions of the student body officers, an active interest will be attained which will cause the student to eagerly support the nominee of his choice.

The duties of the student council and its officers are to administer student affairs and finances. It is this group and its officers that establish the precedents to be followed in student affairs throughout the school year.

It is not uncommon for students to complain about the way school functions and affairs are carried out. The furthest that this usually goes, however, is the students merely complaining among themselves.

The student council and its representatives exist solely to serve the members of the student body. Students may voice their grievances, suggestions, or opinions either to their representatives or at meetings of the student council, which are open to the public.

Hope For Polio-Disabled

Thousands of boys and girls and young adults who have lived through polio attacks yearn to do more than barely survive.

Research supported by the March of Dimes has demonstrated that with further help many of them can find ways to become useful citizens — and life for them will again become worth living.

Contributions to the March of Dimes this year will support "Operation Comeback" — a program by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis designed to help thousands of post-polios take advantage of modern rehabilitation.

This "survival is not enough" research is spearheaded at 16 Respiratory and Rehabilitation Centers supported by the March of Dimes.

Of the polio respiratory patients discharged from the centers, three out of five have been weaned from full-time dependence on iron lungs or lesser mechanical devices for breathing. Twenty years ago this would have been considered a bizarre dream. Then, most polio victims with breathing difficulties died or, if they survived, were confronted with life in the imprisonment of an iron lung.

March of Dimes research also is moving toward better health for victims long confined to bed. Such patients often develop kidney stones. New treatments for kidney stones have been devised at the Respiratory and Rehabilitation Centers.

Other research has produced self-help devices which aid patients to make the most of their non-paralyzed muscles and thus restore some function of hands, arms and legs.

A great many of the self-help devices available today did not exist 10 or even five years ago. For example, there are now devices which can be attached to a braced arm to enable a girl with paralyzed arms to comb her hair or put on lipstick unassisted.

Others help children with heavily braced arms to play with building blocks, just like able-bodied youngsters. Without such devices some of these boys and girls could not even pick up a block.

Mellow Tones Descend Upon FJC Students

If the strains of soothing music have you wondering about your mental structure, don't worry, it's just Muzak taking over to bring you a tranquil and relaxing air to eat, drink and study by.

Muzak is an electronic development which is used widely throughout the country, and its main purpose is to supply functional background music to ease tension.

Muzak music is piped into Fresno Junior College by the telephone company and KMJ. Joe King, student council advisor said, "Muzak is here at FJC on a trial basis and it is up to the students as to its outcome."

The cost of Muzak is $1.50 a day, and is available 24 hours each day.

King said it is probable that the technical and industrial division will eventually take over Muzak's operation at FJC.

Muzak may be heard throughout the student center.

JC Woodwork Shop Ranked As One Of Finest In Valley

Merle L. Sons, Fresno Junior College instructor of the mill cabinet and carpentry classes located on the O St. campus, boasts FJC as having "one of the best equipped woodcraft shops in the valley, rivaling some professional shops in Fresno."

FJC's mill cabinet and carpentry shop is outfitted with a variety of machinery. There are a total of 100 machines and tools that are in daily operation by the day and night students.

Sons said, "The shop has been doing well but due to many late registrations of working students, the shop's enrollement fell short of its expected sign-up."

He added, "The split campus also had some bearing upon the enrolment of these classes. I expect a much larger sign-up for the spring semester, and I am sure things will be rolling along then."

In the day classes, the emphasis is on vocational training for employment; the night classes offer a variety in the craft field.

Sons said, "The men who are now enrolled in these classes are very good craftsmen and are producing good work. It naturally depends upon the student. If he has mechanical ability plus the right attitude to work, he should do very well in the competitive field, for carpentry and woodcrafts offer good employment possibilities, and the field is vast."

Any student may enter the night courses offered in cabinet making and woodwork. It is offered as a three unit course with two three-hour classes held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7 PM.

FJC Council Visits COS

Members of the Fresno Junior College student council will attend a luncheon and council meeting at the College of Sequoias today in Visalia.

The FJC group was invited by the COS president, Merle Hall, to discuss common problems of the two schools.

Top Frosh Math Students Eligible For Annual Prize

An award, offered by the Chemical Rubber Company, a concern publishing chemical, physical, and mathematical tables, will be granted to the student who shows the most progress in freshman mathematics.

The annual award made by the company consists of the latest edition of the Standard Mathematic Tables. "The teacher will select the student, submit his name to the Chemical Rubber Company, and the award is then mailed to the student," stated Dr. Carl Morgan, physics instructor at Fresno Junior College.

Though open to all students of freshman mathematics this year, only those students pursuing a science or engineering major have been entered.

Viking Reporter

The Viking Reporter announced that the Contra Costa Junior College has set up a student responsibilities committee for the school dances, due to undesirable behavior at the recent dances.

The responsibilities are 1. That all clubs sponsoring any dances are responsible for conduct, and in order to fulfill this there must only be one parking lot open with two officers on duty, and one officer where the dance is taking place; 2. That the above be discussed at the next meeting of club advisors; and 3. That the student council consider making it a requirement that the clubs conform to this idea.

Tumbleweed

The Tumbleweed reported that students swarm to campus mathematics and science courses.

Sputnik seems to have shocked the American people in general out of a certain complacency they may have had about the importance of mathematics; it appears to have done no such thing to the student body of the Antelope Valley College, it was pointed out by Warren Nunn, dean of instruction.

Nunn said, "Out of a student enrollment of 670 last semester, 310 of them were signed up for at least one class in mathematics."

LACC Collegian

The Los Angeles Collegian reported that even the men are interested in homemaking. This semester there are quite a number of them who are taking courses in home economics on the Los Angeles City College campus. The reason for this is they want a solid foundation and thorough understanding of marriage before entering into it.

A young man and a young woman attended a preparation for marriage class for two weeks; then withdrew from school to be married.

RAMPAGE WILL HAVE NEW STAFF OPENINGS

Philip D. Smith, adviser of the Fresno Junior College student newspaper, The Rampage, has announced that openings will be available to those interested in taking a course in journalism during the spring semester.

The opportunity to obtain firsthand knowledge of news reporting, interviewing, and various phases of journalism may be had by taking a course in the subject.

Mental Health Forums Will Be Conducted Soon

Mental health, the nation's No. 1 health problem, is shrouded in mystery and approached with trepidation by most of us.

This is the reason The Fresno Bee has decided to bring to Fresno nationally known experts in the field to speak at five forums on the subject.

They will talk on such subjects as mental health in school, in the family and on the job.

City Schools Superintendent Edwin C. Kratt and County Schools Superintendent Walter G. Martin endorse the forums and have urged attendance by parents, teachers, and students.

City school teachers will be granted one growth credit unit for attending the forums. They are being sponsored by The Bee, KMJ and KMJ-TV in cooperation with the Fresno City and County Councils of Parents and Teachers.

It has been estimated that one out of every 10 Americans is mentally sick. Some are sick enough to need hospitalization. There are 7450,000 persons now in mental hospitals and another 300,000 who would be hospitalized if there were beds enough to go around.

Ten times this number suffer from the less serious form of mental illness, neurosis. These are the people whose lives are filled with tension and unhappiness, not so much because of actual troubles in their environment but because of their inability to handle circumstances which the well adjusted person takes in stride.

It has been only in the past 10 to 20 years that great progress has been made in treating mental illness. Much of this progress is the result of an increased awareness of the problem by the public.

The purpose of The Bee's forums is to enlarge upon that awareness in Fresno.

Here are the dates and the topics of the forums:

- January
 - 28—Mental Health And The Family.
 - 28—Mental Health And The Job.
- February
 - 4—Mental Health And The School.
 - 11—Mental Health And The Problem of Growing Old.
 - 18—Mental Health And The Community.

All sessions will be held in the Roosevelt High School auditorium at 8 P.M. Admission is free.

SPEAKER IS NAMED

Dr. T. C. Fuller of the California Department of Agriculture will speak to the Fresno Natural History Society at their January meeting tonight at 8 P.M. in M-200. Dr. Fuller's topic is "Noxious Weeds and Poisonous Plants."

"All students and faculty members interested are urged to attend," stated Noel Frodsham, president of the society.

Spring semester preregistration and student counseling for Fresno Junior College academic night classes will be conducted next week to assist students in planning their programs.

From Monday through Thursday from 7 to 9 P.M. counseling will be available in Room 160 of the administration building to assist students in programming.

Robert Kelly, the dean of extended day program, stated students must preregister on their own time. He said that students will not be excused from night classes.

The technical and industrial division preregistration program will run from Jan. 20-24 from 7-10 P.M. in the fall semester classrooms.

OPTOMETRY SCHOLARSHIP IS ESTABLISHED

A $50 scholarship is being established at Fresno Junior College by the Central California Optometric Society.

Dr. Earl G. Spomer, Sr., chairman of the society's scholarship committee, said that the intention of the society in awarding this scholarship is to encourage graduates of the Central California high schools to enter FJC and prepare for a future profession in optometry.

All students planning to prepare themselves at FJC for schools of optometry who are from schools of Fresno, Kings, Madera, Merced and Tulare counties are eligible.

The scholarship may be renewed to the same student.

FJC Students To Participate In Polio Drive

A peanut sale in downtown Fresno during the week of Jan. 11-18, will highlight the 1958 Teens For Polio Drive. This year's theme of the drive is "Survival Is Not Enough."

"Anyone interested in selling peanuts is urged to contact Jerry Stevenson or me," stated Margaret Christiansen, one of the representatives of the drive.

Canisters and posters will be placed around the school. A blanket will be carried around during half-time at the Reedley Junior College and FJC basketball game Saturday night for contributions.

Two representatives from the four city high schools and FJC will go to the different service clubs throughout Fresno and ask for contributions for the drive. Mrs. Margaret Robinson, a member of the Fresno City School Board, is the sponsor of the Teens For Polio.

Vaccinations, iron lungs, braces, physical therapy, and many other things needed to combat this disease can only be received through the aid of the American people. Without funds, there can be no hope for recovery and scientific prevention of infantile paralysis.

Giants are expected to battle the defending champion Allan Hancock College Bulldogs for top honors this year.

Saturday night, the Reedley College Tigers will invade the Yosemite Junior High School gym for a CCJCAA league contest with Kelly's crew at 8 PM.

The much improved Tigers are tall and Kelly expects his team to have its hands full with the ball-control type of play employed by the Bengals. Les Zedric, six foot sophomore, is the top scorer for the Tigers and he will battle Fresno's Hampton.

Coach Joe Kelly watched COS battle Hancock on even terms until the final minutes of play in the recent Modesto Invitational tournament. Kelly remarked, "Sequoias is a fine team with good speed and good shooting." Forward Ray McCarty and center Jerry Rycraw led the Giant attack.

Johnny Hampton will spearhead the Ram offense from his forward position. Polly Carver, Marty Olson, Larry Gambrill, and George Sarantos will be the other Ram starters. Nat Haskins, Stan Busch, and Frank Johnson will see plenty of action, reports Kelly.

Variety of PE Offered

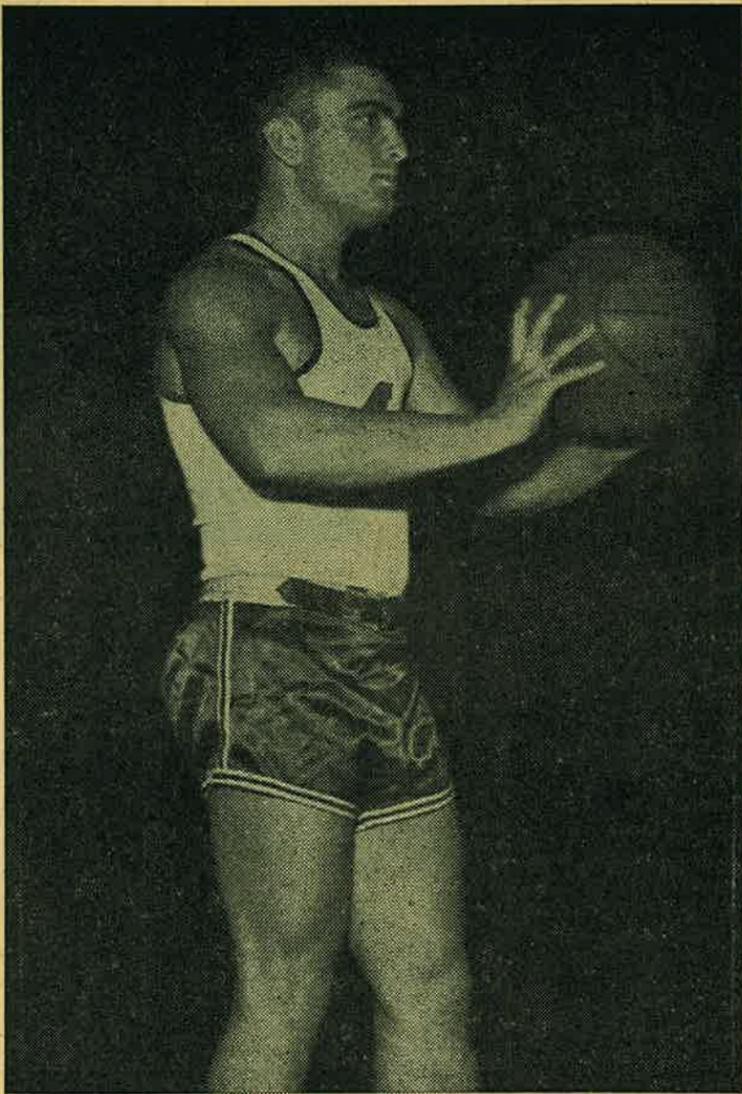

Students at Fresno Junior College now have their choice of any of several different PE courses to choose from.

If your taste runs to strenuous exercises, perhaps a handball class or a swimming course would be suitable. For those who do not wish such exhausting exercises, courses in dancing or golf are open.

Spotlighting the Sports

By BILL SEWALL Sports Editor

Now that the Christmas vacation is over and the new year is underway, the Fresno Junior College Rams will focus their attention on the league's games that started with their game at Coalinga Tuesday night.

The Rams have a very tough schedule awaiting them in Central California Junior College Athletic Association play. The Hancock Bulldogs from Santa Maria will probably prove to be the toughest competition of the season with the college of Sequoias ranking a close second.

Rams Break Winning Streak

Two out of three of the last losses of the Bulldogs have been at the hands of the Rams. Up to the time of the game with San Jose, the Bulldogs had won 17 straight this season. San Jose stopped their winning streak in the semi-finals of the Modesto tourney with a 77-64 upset win.

Thus far this season, COS has only dropped one game, that being to Hancock. It was a loosely played game as Hancock erupted late in the second half to win 81-70. The loss made COS's record 11-1.

Swimming

For the first time in the history of FJC, this year a competitive swimming team is going to be organized. So far there hasn't been enough men out for it to give the squad a winning team. If FJC can field a strong team this year, chances are that they will continue to be a major power in the swimming circle in future years.

FJC Gridders Selected As All-Americans

Bill Herron, Bill Pritchard, Vestee Jackson, and John Lujano, members of the 1957 Fresno Junior College football squad, have been selected for football honors.

Herron, a 200 pound end from Sanger, was selected on the first team of the 1957 all American Junior College football squad by the All American Index and the Los Angeles Times. He was named to the second All American JC football team by the Williamson Rating System of Houston, Texas.

Pritchard, right guard, received honorable mention from both selection groups as did Jackson, fullback, who was awarded an honorable mention and a special mention.

The times and the Index chose quarterback Lujano for honorable mention.

Hampton Nears Scoring Record

Fresno Junior College forward John Hampton, is within range of breaking the seasonal scoring record mark of 697 points set by Warren Schmidt last year.

Hampton has scored 297 points this year and is averaging 21.2 a game. There are 16 more games left for the Rams, and if he can up his points per game average to 25 for the remainder of the season, he will tie the record.

Hampton has his hot and cold nights. In one game against Citrus JC he hit 32 points while in another game against Pierce JC he was held to six points.
