Construction Starts On Five New Shop Buildings For FJC

By BILL JOHNSON

Construction started Tuesday on all five of the new Fresno Junior College technical and industrial division buildings on the University Ave. campus after the Fresno City Board of Education approved the plans of the lowest bidder at a special meeting Monday.

Edwin C. Dann, an assistant superintendent of the city schools, stated the total cost of the project will be $1,670,000.

The target date for the completion of the buildings, stated Robert P. Hansler, the division's dean, has been set for Feb. 2, 1959.

Unified Campus

He said the completion of the buildings will give Fresno Junior College a unified campus and will enable the division to offer a number of new programs in technical and industrial education.

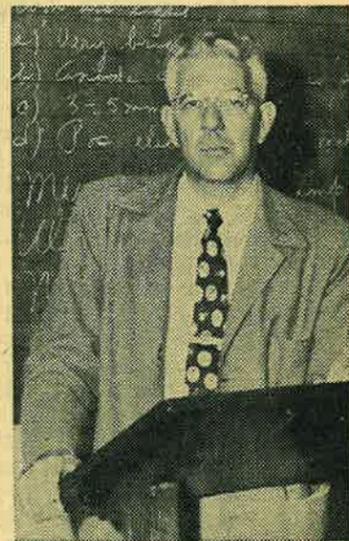

The R. H. Long Construction Company of Fresno submitted the lowest bid of $1,283,000 for the five buildings. The board also approved $100,000 for equipment. Other money in the $1,670,000 total has been allocated for acquisition of property, professional services, and contingencies.

The shops will be built on land between the present campus and the Santa Fe Railroad tracks. Del Mar Ave. will be closed between University and Weldon Aves.

Other companies and their bids included the Harris Construction Company, $1,305,000; the Midstate Construction Company, $1,319,000; Fred S. Macomber, $1,346,500; L. H. Hansen, $1,380,000; the Barnes Construction Company, $1,380,000; and R. Pedersen and Son, $1,414,100.

The new shop buildings will house drafting, machine shop, welding, auto mechanics, body and fender, electronics, electricity, mill cabinet, carpentry, aircraft, diesel, roofing, flooring decorating general metal, masonry, graphic arts, plumbing, and refrigeration shops.

FJC Teacher of the Year

King Chosen Top Teacher By Faculty

Joseph R. King, a Fresno Junior College speech teacher and student council advisor, was one of four Fresno city teachers selected by their fellow faculty members as "Teacher of the Year."

He was selected by members of the FJC faculty as the FJC choice for the 1957-58 school year.

King was one of four instructors in the city school system to be thus chosen from schools on the elementary, junior high, senior high, and junior college level. They were honored last week at a dinner in the Ernle Pyle School where each was presented a certificate of appreciation. The dinner was sponsored by the Fresno Teachers Association.

On Tuesday of this week, he was again honored at the Lions Club Teachers Appreciation Day luncheon in the Hotel Californian. The latter was held in observance of Public Schools Week.

The FJC instructor holds a masters degree from the University of Southern California. He began his teaching career at the junior college in 1949. He previously taught at Fresno State College and Reedley Junior College.

King is also state faculty coordinator for the California Junior College Student Government Association.

The CJCSGA is planning to hold their fall conference at FJC during November. King will be in charge of the arrangements.

Carl Rustigian, president of the faculty club and an FJC instructor, was in charge of the election. This is an annual event.

JC Students Receive $100 Bank Awards

Two Fresno Junior College business students received the Bank of America $100 awards Apr. 17, at a banquet in the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco.

The students were Jay B. Bretney and Sharon Cummings, who are both majoring in business administration at FJC.

Miss Cummings and Bretney were judged on scholarship, personality, and extra-curricular activities within and off the campus.

Nominations Committee Listed

The nominating committee from FJC were Stuart M. White, president; Archie Bradshaw, dean of students; Miss Ethel McCormack, dean of the business division; Miss Gertrude Stubblefield and Francis Svihch, instructors.

Accompanying the two students to San Francisco was Miss McCormack and Gervase Eckenrod, the business division counselor.

Banker Relates Program Purpose

John H. Becker, manager of the bank's program, said that the purpose of the program is to promote interest in industry as a career. About 60 of the state's junior colleges participated.

This is the second year the Bank of America Award has been in existence. The winners last year were Felix Aycock, Jr. of Clovis and Dorothy Rubald, Fresno.

S. Clark Beise, president of the statewide bank, stated of last year's awards that never before in the business world have there been greater opportunities for young men and women.

"We hope the business awards program will direct the attention of the junior college student to these opportunities and stimulate interest in business and industry as career fields," he said.

Parking Areas Will Decrease On University Avenue Campus

Fresno Junior College President Stuart M. White stated students will no longer be able to use the large parking area directly east of Del Mar Ave., because of the construction work which has begun in this area on the University Ave. campus.

White added that Del Mar Ave. will be closed during the construction work and that eventually it will be closed completely.

The area of construction will include the entire square block which is situated north and south between University Ave. and Weldon Ave. and east and west between San Pablo Ave. This will result in San Pablo Ave. being closed part of the time.

White urges all students who drive to school to attempt to arrive at school five or ten minutes earlier because they will have to park at a greater distance due to the increased shortage of parking spaces within the immediate campus area.

The FJC president said that he realizes the parking situation in the campus area is critical, but he added that everything possible has been done to alleviate it at the present time.

He stated that the large parking area directly across from Ratcliffe Stadium is available to all students.

White asks that the students cooperate and observe the present parking restriction and that they also make the best possible use of those parking areas at a greater distance from the school.

Pasadena College A Cappella Choir To Present Assembly Program Today

The Pasadena City College a cappella choir will present a program of new and familiar songs for the Fresno Junior College at 1 PM today in the University Ave. campus auditorium.

David O. Thorsen, the choir's director, said the 80 voice choir will sing sacred and secular music, feature a male quartet, and several soloists. The quartet includes Steve Hamilton, Robert Peters, Gerald Richardson, and Richard Millins. "Dry Bones" will be their principal song.

Negro spirituals, such as "Set Down Servant," will add greatly to the program. They will also sing American folk songs, such as "A-Round the Corner," "Salvation is Created" and Psalm 150 will be sung.

Ken Pipes, the student body president, will introduce Thorsen. The assembly has been arranged by Kathy Sharum, student council commissioner of assemblies, and Mrs. Kay Seagraves, the dean of women.

Following the assembly will be a reception for the choir in the faculty luncheon room from 2 to 4 PM. The Fine Arts Club will sponsor the reception.

Thorsen is director of choral music at the Pasadena City College, which has 4,500 students. He is a member of the summer music faculty at the San Diego State College.

A Few Fresno Facts

The school year is rapidly coming to an end, and after the past months of viewing life at Fresno Junior College and in the city of Fresno itself, it is an appropriate time for a few reflections of some of the persons and places that are a part of our surroundings.

Fresno, it would seem, is the city of redheads. Never has this writer seen a city so heavily populated with owners of the fiery locks. The connotation "hothead" is not to be derived from this.

What would an evening at the library be, without the usual bevy of young ladies prancing busily up and down the main aisle of the reading room in their favorite Bermuda shorts or toreador slacks? With the addition of many new periodicals and books to the library's shelves, it is a subject of debate whether these additions or the former attraction brings the most students to the library of evenings.

With the presently increasing parking problem, it soon will probably be necessary to stack, one on top of the other, some of these tiny foreign cars, which are sometimes so aptly called, "richmen's roller-skates."

Such a high premium is never placed on a seat in the student center coffee shop as when an assembly is being held, and the majority of students converge on the turnstiles, while a few students trickie into the assembly.

The Fresno fans of the newly-arrived San Francisco Giants have been up in the clouds since the Giants swept past the Dodgers in their first series of the season. If the pre-season forecasts prove true, however, these same fans will come hurtling down from their clouds and be treading on glass as their Giants sink lower into the horizon of the second division. No barb intended!

While this state's residents were being doused daily during the recent rainy season, the Fresno Chamber of Commerce continued to laud California as the "sunshine" state. An out of state resident asked, Who's all wet now?

According to some recent letters to the editor in the Fresno Bee, there are several Fresnoans who think there should be more "western" type programs on television. Our history books tell us that the west was won during the last century. Maybe the historians are wrong!

There are many things both typical and unique which may be found in Fresno and at FJC. The above examples are only a few of the situations which have been observed during the school year which is now nearly ended.

Hendrix, making the year's best JC leap of 14 feet one and one-half inches, sparked Coach Erwin Ginsburg's Rams to first place in a meet with the College of Sequoias and Reedley Junior College. Fresno had 57 points to 50 for COS and 43 for Reedley.

Hendrix, whose vault broke his own school record, made three unsuccessful attempts at the national record of 14 feet, four and one-half inches.

Six More Firsts

Fresno carried off six other first places in a meet highlighted by several outstanding performances.

Spotlighting the Sports

By BILL SEWALL
Sports Editor

This week let's look and see how some FJC sports are coming along so far this year and while we are at it, quickly recap how some other sports fared while their season was on.

Let's take wrestling first. The wrestling team did very well this year considering that the sport is only in its embryonic stage. Coach Hans Wiedenhofer is doing his best to promote an interest in it and feels that soon wrestling will be a comparatively big sport in the San Joaquin Valley.

This year Al Cunningham and Bill Moore paced the team through the season. Cunningham lost only his last match of the season and Moore put on an excellent showing in the state finals at El Camino JC in placing second in the 167 pound division.

Tennis

Tennis coach Miss Margaret Taylor has again fielded a fine team for FJC. Bill Glasson, a winner from way back, has lost only one match this year, that one coming from Dan Koning of COS. Ramon Melendez and George Sarantos have also played fine doubles this year.

The team is currently resting with a 3-1 league mark, good for a second place standing.

Track

Erwin Ginsburg has proved his abilities as a track coach this year as he has his team sailing along without a loss. Last year the team was helpless because of their lack of runners. Frank Eller placed many firsts in the discus and shot put and Dave Wimmer scored highly in the pole vault, but that wasn't enough to win matches.

This year runners like Paul Richardson and Ernie Prewitt and bined with letterman Eller's tal-jumpers like Alymer Dansby comments have produced a top notch team for FJC.

Swimming

Although this year's swim team has yet to win their first match, they have picked up enough first places to satisfy any coach. Coach Paul Pastor has gotten his few men into excellent condition through proper practice techniques.

In the last two matches, Connor Sutton has brought home four first places and has swum on a winning relay team twice. Fred Smith who specializes in speed, is close behind him with three firsts. Ron Howard, Dick Anderson, and Ben Tayan also have done some excellent swimming for Fresno.
