By ELEANOR PATTON

The empty buildings that once housed classes of Fresno City College made news twice this week.

Last week the 44 year old shop structure and a three story building to the south were sold for $250.

Nov. 14 a fire destroyed the northern third of the block long brick building that housed the old shops. The fire, which may have been started by juveniles, started in the old machine shop.

FCC's second annual all school speech contest will be held Tuesday.

The preliminary contest starts at 11 AM and will be divided into two groups. The groups will meet in B-7 and B-6.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Forensics Club.

Franz Weinschenk, speech instructor, said there are 12 students entered in the contest.

The entries are Frank Tierney, Fresno; Larry Hackett, Chowchilla; Charles Overs, Madera; Glenda Parker, Pinedale; Jim Brazil, Kerman; Ron Eddington, Fresno, and Carole Chenault.

Other entries are Eleanor Patton, Fresno; Jack Whitting, Cornell; Joyce Johnson, Fresno; Ellen Garner, Fresno, and Deloris Dickson, Fresno.

The prizes are on display in the showcase in front of the student center.

A perpetual trophy has been donated by a local trophy shop. The winner's name will be engraved on the trophy. A local gymnasium has donated three $25 gift certificates, and a local service station has furnished a car wash and lubrication.

Ram Takes Pictures Of Graduates

Fresno City College students who expect to receive their Associate of Arts degree are urged to sign up for picture appointments for the Ram tomorrow through Wednesday in the student center foyer.

Arthur H. Margosian, yearbook advisor, said the pictures will be taken from Nov. 30 through Dec. 11 by Ken Ruth, Rampage photographer.

The men must wear a white shirt, a solid colored tie and a dark "V" neck sweater.

Women are required to wear a dark cardigan sweater.

The service will be free to all students. The Ram can be bought when the students sign up or at the bookstore.

Ruth has won several awards in photography, including first place in the yearbook division of last year's state journalism conference.

Students may buy copies of the pictures by special arrangement with Ruth.

'Beatnik' Dance Is Slated For Tomorrow—Like Wow!

Wine kegs and fish nets will be part of the decorations for the freshman beatnik dance tomorrow evening in the student center social hall. Checkered table cloths will deck the round tables.

Leonard Younge, the freshman class president, invites all FCC students to attend the dance which starts at 9 PM and ends at midnight. Younge said for all attending to dress in casual beatnik attire—levis and sweatshirt for the men, and leotards, capris, sweaters, sweatshirts, etc., for the women.

FCC's beatniks will dance to the music of Jack Rustigan and his band, and the vocal stylings of Lorraine Slifman, one of the finalists in the champagne lady contest.

Sue Hayes, chairman of the refreshment committee, promised something different in the line of refreshments which would suit the way out beatnik atmosphere.

Younge said the freshman class dance is the first project of the freshman class this year.

Also on the dance committee are Gene Johnson, the dance chairman; Ted Morris, publicity chairman; Barbara Sharp and Linda Carol Miller, decorations committee.

Student body card holders and their guests will be admitted free.

New Lights Fall Play Aid Parking Cast Begins Rehearsals

To complete the new parking lot between San Pablo Ave. and Van Ness Ave. FCC has installed a number of huge luminaire lamp posts.

FCC President Stuart M. White said the old lamp posts owned and operated by the city were insufficient for the lighting requirements needed for the new parking lot.

The lamp posts are staggered and spaced for even lighting. The light posts by the shop building have two lights on the top so they may light both the parking area and the street. The two lights on each post are spread about 12 feet apart.

The lamp posts have a capacity of 400 watts and are 30 feet high.

The lamp posts will be controlled electronically on a sun dial type of clock system. When the sun reaches a certain point the lamps will automatically go on.

Clyde G. Sumpter, "Bus Stop" director, announced that the feminine lead, Cherie, will be played by Shirley White, the student body president.

The vacancy in the casting occurred when the coed originally selected for the part left school.

"Bus Stop" is the story of some ordinary people in the un-ordinary circumstance of being stranded overnight at a roadside diner during a howling snowstorm.

The playwright, William Inge, has chosen very ordinary people as the substance of a warm-hearted approach to average humanity. But what is ordinary? What is average humanity? Inge exhibits his ability to bring to the theatre an understanding that there is no such thing as ordinary, as average; but that in each person, and in each situation there is a uniqueness which is stimulating and touching.

The story concerns a bus out of Kansas City which pulls up at a cheerful roadside diner in the middle of a howling snow storm. All roads become blocked and the four or five weary travelers have to hole up until morning. "An uproarious comedy," said Sumpter, "develops from the actions of these people and the conflicts of their personalities."

Students Will Observe Thanksgiving Vacation

FCC students will have a vacation from studies next Thursday and Friday which is Thanksgiving vacation.

Diane Nixon and David Hanna, the co-editors of the Rampage, announced the paper would not be published next week because of the holiday.

Cagers Open Season With Bakersfield

The Fresno City College basketball team will begin the 1959-1960 season next Friday night when they host the Bakersfield College Renegades on the new McLane High School basketball court at 8 PM.

The Fresno-Bakersfield game will be the first basketball contest to be played in the recently completed McLane gymnasium. The gym has an 1,800 seating capacity.

For the first time in his coaching career, coach Joe Kelly is having difficulty choosing his starting lineup, although he cut the squad to 13 players last week.

Early this week Kelly said the probable lineup for the game will be Darnell Mikel and Lee Stark, forwards; Joe Lee and Charles Lowe, guards, and Russ O'Leary, center.

Tom Jacobsen and Chet Bishop are both battling for starting berths as forwards and Ken Farnsworth and Cleo Johnson are giving good battle for a starting guard spot. Don Nowell, a transfer student from Fresno State College, is on even terms with O'Leary at center.

Kelly said that Farnsworth and Jacobsen are working hard to learn the man-to-man defense. When they get this problem worked out they have a better than average chance of getting a starting position. Both are excellent offensive players.

FCC Football Team Is Successful After All

With the close of the football season it has been brought to my attention that many students are perplexed at the Rams' finishing the season in third place—a position the Ram footballers aren't used to finishing.

These students seem to believe that the Rams are supposed to finish at the top every year. Disenchanted football fans usually try to place the blame on either the coaching staff or the lack of alacrity of the players.

This shows immature reasoning. The coaching staff, who in the past has been so highly successful, is relatively the same as that which has guided the Rams to so many league titles.

These students should have ridden to the game on the players' bus and listened to the nervous chattering, or saw the players on the bench go through every play with their teammates on the field.

They should have seen several players rush to a fight between one of their teammates and one of the opponents, or listened to the riotous singing on the way home from a victory. They would have realized that their team was trying with all they had to win.

Fans shouldn't be too critical of a team as to whether they win or lose. The players are learning that everything in life is in competition with another faction. They learn that some times you must win alone, and other times with teamwork. It would be wonderful if everyone could learn the same lesson while sitting on the sidelines. David Hanna

Board Of Education Provides New Rulings

The state board of education has established new standards of scholarship and retention in California junior colleges.

They have ruled that any student who does not achieve a 1.5 grade point average at the end of any semester must be placed on probation.

The board also stipulated that any student on probation may be dismissed if he fails to achieve a 1.5 grade point average in his next semester of attendance.

Another ruling by the board changes the maximum number of units a junior college student may transfer to a state college from 64 to 70. This change will not be effective until Sept. 1, 1961, but it affects freshman students now enrolled in junior colleges.

The board also provided that students originally ineligible to enter a state college as freshmen wishing to transfer from a junior college must complete 60 units with a C average before they may transfer. However, they may transfer earlier if they earn a B average or better in 24 units.

JUST MAKES SPEECH AT REEDLEY COLLEGE

Dr. Lee Roy Just, a member of the FCC moral and spiritual committee, spoke at a college assembly sponsored by the Reedley College faculty committee.

The topic of Dr. Just's talk was "Moral and Spiritual Values." He was introduced by Dr. Stephen Epler, the superintendent of the Reedley High School and Junior College District, and the chairman of the moral and spiritual values committee of the California Junior Colleges Association.

"No culture has ever lost its basic set of moral and spiritual values—its respect for dignity of human personality, and survived," Just said. "We are either going to be our brother's keeper or we forfeit the right to survival."

This provision will be effective Sept. 1, 1961.

Stuart M. White, FCC President, was the chairman of a junior college committee who studied the need for the changes and recommended their adoption by the board.

Two Students Get Licenses

Two City College students are the first to qualify for federal aircraft power plant mechanics licenses since the program was started here in September, 1958.

They are Thomas V. Williams of Madera and William R. Kemper of Chowchilla.

Williams and Kemper spent one year, or 960 hours of instruction, and passed three examinations to obtain their licenses. Seven other students are eligible for the licenses but have not yet taken the tests.

The tests include a combined oral and practical examination which is given by Shannon S. Smith, aircraft instructor. Smith said this test is six hours long.

The third examination, a written one, is given by the local office of the Federal Aviation Agency at the Fresno Air Terminal.

The course, which is licensed by the FAA, teaches its 24 students the six basic fundamentals of carburetion, ignition, lubrication, fuel systems, propellers, and theory and maintenance of power plants.

Students work on various types of aircraft, including an F-86A sabre jet which was donated to the college by the Air Force Reserve.

After completing the two year program, the students will be eligible for an air frame mechanics license.

Oral, practical and written examinations are required for this license also.

BAND 'HANGS UP' MARCHING SHOES

The Fresno City College band is hanging up its marching shoes, after the most successful season in its three year history.

Marvin L. Belford, director, said the band is one of the best in this area.

A local daily newspaper said it is the finest band City College has ever had.

Plain, old fashioned hard work has played a large part in the attainment of this kind of a reputation, but according to Belford, there has been another important ingredient. This ingredient is the spirit of the band members, and the band as a whole.

The majority of the band members are in the band for the enjoyment of it. Five members of the 38 piece band are music majors. Belford said most of the members have had experience in high school.

Although the size of the organization has increased by more than three times since it came into existence three years ago, Belford said there still are many students at City College who have ability and experience to play in the band, but who don't. He said he looks forward to more members in the future as the band gains in reputation.

Now that the football season has come to a close, the band will move indoors and concentrate on concert work.

Belford said they will play standard concert band literature as well as pieces written during the last five or ten years by contemporary composers.

No schedule of performances has been arranged yet, but Belford said he is hoping for some concerts on campus this spring.

He would like to take the band to local high schools also.

There still are plenty of openings in the concert band for students who are interested in the two unit course.

Belford reported that the band is mostly in need of flutes, clarinets, French horns, trumpets, and another good oboe player.

The drum major of this season's marching band is Lee Nichols. Majorettes are Kathy Rader and Sandy Child.

Belford received his Bachelors degree and his Masters degree at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa. He taught music at an Iowa high school for two years before he was employed here three years ago.

PUPILS NEED READING HELP

The growing hazard of reading inability of students is a big problem educators throughout the United States are facing today. Colleges, both large and small, are spending millions of dollars in developing special clinics and reading classes to help students with reading defects.

Richard Sandau, FCC reading instructor, said that this influences the reading classes taught here. Approximately 200 students are enrolled in the special classes taught by Sandau, Mrs. JoNell Krikorian and Peter Christian.

At present these classes are using machines, text books and the Science Research Association kit which allows individual reading practice from grades 1 through 15.

The shadow scope machine projects a bar of light that moves down the page at a set rate of speed. The student starts out at a low speed and increases the speed each day as he progresses.

The Control Reader is used for the whole class at one time. It consists of a 16 millimeter projector and a series of 12 film strips which project reading onto a screen at a rate of 100 words to 800 words a minute.

In addition to these facilities, students have books to help them with comprehension and vocabulary building.

Information is being gathered for the establishment of a clinic which will serve to help the individual in correcting his particular problem. It will strive to find out why people don't read well and then try to do something about it.

FCC Coeds May Be On TV Show

Lorraine Slifman, an FCC student, placed first in the primary contest which may lead to a possible appearance on the Lawrence Welk television show.

C. Lowell Spencer, choir director, made the announcement and said that the voices of Joan and Janet Alexander won second place and were also being forwarded to Welk.

Shirley Kumano's voice is also being sent because there is uncertainty whether Welk will accept the Alexander's entry, since they are entering as a duet instead of soloists.

Spencer said that a tape recording of each woman's voice, along with pictures and autobiography will be sent to Welk.

What's New? TO YESTERDAY WITH SQUALOR

By ANDREW FEDERICO

Mike Gosen and I were on a boulder next to the Tununigliar-fik Fjord on the southern tip of Greenland. We were fishing. It was summer in Greenland and the temperature was up to 55 degrees.

The Air Force base we were stationed at was named Narsarsuak—most of the names around Greenland are Danish and complicated.

Suggest Fishing

"What are we fishing for, anyway?" I asked Mike, who had suggested we fish in the first place.

"I don't know. I've never done any salt water fishing," he said.

The soil around Narsarsuak was rocky and a dirty brown now that the snow had melted. On the mountains that surrounded the fjord and the base was a brush that was trying to turn green. The brush covered the mountains up to where the snow began.

The airmen had a bet going around the base that all the snow would melt before the winter returned, but it was a useless bet, because, as the veterans knew, it never would melt.

An Ancient Village

There was an Eskimo village across the fjord from where Mike and I were sitting. It was one of the oldest settlements in western civilization.

"Now I know why the Air Force sent us here," Mike said. "We're going to have the last war with the Eskimos. And it's going to be a great battle."

"Sure," I said.

"But I shouldn't be here," Mike said. "I'm an actor that should be in New York right now. I should be in one of Tennessee Williams' plays with Julie Harris or some great actress like that. What business have I here fishing and watching the aurora borealis?"

"What's wrong with the northern lights?" I asked.

"Nothing. But I should be on the stage."

Stands On Boulder

Mike stood up on the boulder, one hand holding his fishing pole and the other clutching an imaginary dagger.

"Listen to this," he said. "Shakespeare: 'To be or not to be, that is the question. Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune or to take arms against the seas of trouble . . .'"

He went on standing there on the boulder with the landscape of Greenland behind him. He was waiting for the last war with the Eskimos, for the final understanding of the northern lights, for any and all of the great things that were going to happen to him because of this noble adventure.

Turns On TV

So last Sunday I turned on the television set and there she was, the very lovely Julie Harris. She was acting out her part in Ibsen's play, "A Doll House," on the Hallmark show of the month. I looked all over for Mike Gosen, but he wasn't there.

several different sites. Classes were held in the Fresno Memorial Auditorium, the Dickey Playground and nearby churches.

The board of education arranged for 14 portable bungalows to be constructed on the campus. These buildings were being built at the same time the two condemned structures were being demolished.

During the wrecking of the main wing a cornerstone was uncovered and a copper box was found. One of the papers revealed that the center wing was built by F. W. Hickox of Bakersfield for $46,377.

Shops Constructed

After more than six months of construction, a $193,900 shop building for junior college students was completed behind the Edison High School. The corrugated steel structure had more than 20,000 square feet of floor space. These shops were in use by the college until this fall when the new shops on the present campus were completed.

Another step which made the old campus more of a memory and less of a reality was the negotiations between state officials and Fresno school administrators and members of a citizen's advisory committee to acquire the University Avenue campus of the Fresno State College as a campus for the junior college.

Division Moves

The junior college general education division moved from O Street to University Avenue in September of 1955. The administrative offices and the business division followed a year later. The rent was $15,000 a year.

In November, 1955, the state asked $2,250,000 for the old campus, its buildings and 23 acres of land. After many conferences and trips to Sacramento by local officials, a compromise of $1,000,000 was reached. The voters of the school district approved a bond issue of $11,775,000 in 1956.

From this amount $2,995,000 was allocated to the junior college, including the purchase price of the campus, more than $1,500,000 to build six shop buildings, and about $70,000 to buy the ball park. The remaining money is for repairs, parking, and alterations to the campus.

The new shop buildings occupied this fall made the O Street campus obsolete. For the first time since 1895 the old campus is not in use.

Fresno City College, the name given the school by the board in 1958, will celebrate its 50th anniversary next year. After public junior colleges were authorized by the state legislature in 1907, Fresno was the first community to establish a post high school institution.

Fresno City College began with three instructors and 28 students. Today the campus has a total of 108 full and part time instructors and over 4,000 students in day and evening classes.

FCC Debaters Participate In Tournament

Fresno City College students were among the 225 debaters from 18 colleges who participated in the Fresno State College Invitational Debate Tournament held Nov. 18 and 19.

Reginald Marcellino and Alan Hays represented FCC in the Junior Men's Division. They comprised the only team from the college.

The FCC team won four of the eight rounds they entered. They won one round against Bakersfield College, Long Beach State College, Modesto Junior College and El Camino Junior College.

The team lost one round each in debate with San Francisco State College, Fresno State College, and Los Angeles Valley College.

The University of Utah's debate team took home four of 14 trophies, including the sweepstakes prize.

Franz Weinschenk, advisor for the team, said that he was very pleased with the FCC team's showing. He explained that the standards of competition were very high and that no junior college team made the finals of the tournament.

Weinschenk hopes that more eligible students will plan to participate in debate next semester. Students who wish to become members of the debate team should see him as soon as possible.

CC Nipped By Reedley Harriers

Despite the record breaking running effort of three Fresno City College harriers, Reedley College took top honors in the Central California Junior College Athletic Association cross country meet in Reedley Friday by edging the Rams 30-34. College of the Sequoias was third with 60 points.

FCC's Jim Hart bettered the three mile record by 24 seconds in winning the event in 16:30. Hart was followed by Reedley's Dewey Baker, and then by teammates Fernie Montanez and Art Cordova. Reedley's Joe Montez followed, rounding out the first five. The first six runners to cross the finish line broke the old record of 16:54.

Reedley's well balanced team retained its championship when Tom Minor and Art Franklin finished sixth and seventh respectively. Although the Rams finished stronger among the top five, they failed to finish their other two runners in contention with the others. Zack Kepler and Bill Hall finished 11th and 14th, respectively.

All three teams will make their next appearance in the Northern California Junior College Championships in Sacramento, Nov. 20.

FSC Streak Snapped By FCC Rams

Fresno City College snapped the six game unbeaten string of the Fresno State College varsity with a 10-1 victory in the final Winter League baseball game.

The game, played Sunday, was highlighted by a late inning rally by the Rams, who scored all their runs in the final four frames.

The Rams broke into the scoring column with a run in the sixth on a walk to Bucky Hoover, an error on the State pitcher and a double down the right field line by Daniel Ramirez, scoring Hoover.

FCC started to pull away from the varsity with three runs in the seventh on a walk to catcher Bob Hobbs and a long homerun over the right field fence by Tom Jacobsen. Ken Frankfort kept the rally going with a double and scored on a single by Pete Lango. FCC .... 0 0 0 0 1 3 2 4—10-9-2 FSC .... 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—1-6-4

Fresno Rams End Season In Style With Twin Victories

Martin Kicks Field Goal For Ram Win

The Fresno City College Rams concluded the 1959 season Saturday night when they invaded Santa Maria. A field goal by Mike Martin in the final five seconds of the game won the contest for the Rams, 40-38, over the stubborn Allan Hancock Bulldogs.

Scoring started early in the wild offensive game. The Rams tallied first in the first quarter. Halfback Willie Turner swept right end for seven yards and the score. Tom Nonini kicked the extra point.

Hancock came back with their initial score soon after the Rams scored. Moving 81 yards in nine plays, halfback Vince Antonio scored from the Fresno five. Fullback Ken Norman ran over for the conversion.

Still in the first quarter the Rams and Bulldogs exchanged touchdowns. Nonini scored for the Rams from five yards out and Thomas went 79 yards for Hancock on the ensuing kickoff. The first quarter score was 24-13.

The Rams were the only ones to score in the second quarter. Halfback Gene Bamburg took a Hancock punt 98 yards for a touchdown. Turner ran for the conversion. At halftime the Bulldogs led, 24-21.

The third quarter saw no scoring by either team. In the fourth quarter the Rams tallied two touchdowns, both by Turner. Hancock tallied two more in the same frame.

FCC Holds Porterville For Second CCJCAA League Win

The Fresno City College Rams scored first and held on for a hard fought, 13-12 victory over the Porterville Junior College Pirates last Saturday night in Porterville. It was the Rams second league win of the season.

The Rams tallied early in the first quarter. Willie Turner took the opening kickoff and raced 61 yards to the Porterville two. On the fourth down Turner went over for the score. Mike Martin kicked the extra point, putting the Rams ahead, 7-0. Martin's conversion proved to be the winning point for the Rams.

Porterville bounced right back to score. They moved the ball from their own 36 yard line to the Fresno 12. From there, Don Sates went over for the score. The conversion attempt was no good.

The Rams tallied their final score when quarterback Dan Stockton teamed with Turner for an eight yard touchdown pass play in the second quarter. Fresno led 13-6 at the half.

Porterville put on the finishing touches in the fourth quarter. Halfback Neil Eddy carried the ball over from the Ram one. On the attempted run for the conversion and two points, the Ram defense stopped Eddy short.

The Pirates final touchdown was set up when a pass from center sailed over Jim Murphy's head. Murphy was attempting to punt. Porterville took over on the Fresno 28 and four plays later went over for the score.

State Title Holders Are Ready For Season; Good Crop Of Frosh-Veterans Show Promise

With another fine crop of wrestlers turning out, it appears that wrestling coach Hans Wiedenhofer will send his state champion Ram team back to the state matches to defend its title.

Led by Jim Moore, who won the state title in the 137 pound division; Larry Nehring, who placed third in the state matches in the 115 pound division; and undefeated Ed Davies, who wrestles in the 123 pound division, the Rams appear to be ready for another championship year. According to Wiedenhofer, "the team still needs a lot of work before they are ready for their season opener against San Bernardino College." San Bernardino

College tied the Rams in the state tournament last year.

The Rams will be aided by several fine freshmen including Joe Aquino, who won the high school 191 pound title while attending Chowchilla High. Other freshmen are Jerry Nelson, 173 pounds; Joe Ortega, 157 pounds; and Jim Markarian, 177 pounds, all of Fresno High.

Errol Johansen and Lorenzo De

Santiago of Madera also appear to be top flight performers. Other wrestlers fighting for starting positions are John Honstien, 167 pounds; Rich Robinson, 147 pounds; and George Quellet, 167 pounds. Ross Carriaga, a transfer from Oregon State, has also joined the team and will wrestle at 167 pounds.

Their opener with San Bernardino will be Dec. 4.

SPORTSTALK

By LARRY ADAMS

The 1959 football season bowed out of the local collegiate picture for most of the Central California Junior College Athletic Association teams last week.

Coalinga still awaits a bowl bid from either the Junior Rose Bowl or the Potato Bowl. College of the Sequoias has already accepted a bid to the Lindsay Olive Bowl. A host team for the Sanger Sequoia Bowl also has to be picked from the CCJCAA league.

An over-all look at the CCJCAA league results showed the league to be one of the weakest in its history.

One thing that is striking about the league was the amount of individual stars it produced. It didn't come out with anyone as good as Fresno's halfback, Vestee Jackson or end Bill Herron, or Coalinga's quarterback, Willie Wood, who won All-American JC honors in years past, but it did come up with some good potential.

The sports staff of the Rampage and Ram combined forces this year to present an All-League team, in our opinion. The picks are as follows:

First Team

Second Team

Jim Hayes (R), quarterback, Gene Schaefer (COS) and Manuel Jones (AH), halfbacks, Gregory Baines (C), fullback, Ron Leimbach (F), and Bruce Robertson (R), ends, Bill Creelman (COS) and Joe Perrozzi (C), tackles, Eddie Gomes (F) and Jim Eames (AH), guards, and Max Culp (C) center.

Honorable Mention

Bob Brunson (R), Harry Miller (F), Willie Turner (F), Jerry Angrove (COS), Chet Rooters (F), Fa'asaka Lutu (C), Cliff Stalh (R), Jim Fisher (R), Emil Rodriguez (P), Roger Kelly (T), Jerry Nimmo (F), Gene Steckler (COS), and Bill Reyes (AH).
