Journalist Takes 2nd In Contest

Florence Harper, a Fresno City College sophomore, placed second in the feature writing competition section of the California Students

Journalism Association of Junior Colleges convention held in conjunction with the California Intercollegiate Press Convention in San Francisco this last weekend.

Mrs. Harper, a secondary education major, was awarded a trophy at a banquet attended by more than 300 journalism students from 27 junior colleges and 14 four-year colleges located throughout the state.

Diane Nixon, a co-editor of the Rampage, prepared the agenda for the state wide conference and presided with Gary Mullin, the association president, at a workshop pertaining to the editorial side of junior college publications.

Miss Nixon's workshop agenda included such items as editorial policy and opinion, interpretive reporting and advisor control.

The group also discussed wages of editors, the sports page, censorship, and the values of junior college journalism classes. It was decided that these classes are of benefit because of their cultural and pre-vocational value and because of the experience obtained by the students in actually working on a publication.

It was brought out in discussion that more and more of the schools are bringing in current events in their editorial comments. Many schools are also trying to encourage their student bodies to participate in a letters to the editors column.

This particular workshop discussed the fact that some college newspapers are conducting crusades. Miss Nixon said one controversial topic at present concerns the fact that two or three schools have banned reporters and members of journalism staffs from student council meetings. She said the papers affected by this ruling are making a total effort to have the ruling reversed.

Frank Kaplan, of Los Angeles Valley College, was elected president of the California Student Journalism Association of Junior Colleges. He succeeds Gary Mullin of Sacramento City College.

SPRING SEMESTER VETERAN ENROLLMENT SHOWS DECREASE

This semester's veteran enrollment at FCC is 387. This number shows a slight decrease over last semester's total of 404. A much larger decrease is shown by comparing the present veteran enrollment with that of 705 veterans enrolled under veteran schooling bills in the fall of 1958.

Fewer eligible veterans are attending colleges and universities because to qualify for benefits of the Korean GI Bill, Public Law 550, they must have entered military service before Jan. 31, 1955 and started school within three years of their discharge.

They must complete their training by 1965 when Public Law 550 expires.

In addition to the 356 veterans attending FCC under PL 550, there are 13 veterans registered under PL 894, the Korean Rehabilitation Act, 13 under the war orphan acts, and 9 under California's Cal-Vet Law.

Four of the 13 veterans under the war orphan act, PL 881, requires a student's father died of a war-connected disability.

Of this total of veterans at FCC this semester, four are women. They are Dora Caberea, Virginia Petersen, Mary Jo Shaw, and Amelia Niggard.

Citizenship Conference To Convene

The 15th annual Encampment for Citizenship will be held this summer at the University of California in Berkeley.

Saal D. Lesser, executive director, said the six week encampment program is a challenging combination of seminar, summer camp, and adventure in human relations.

Students, who must be between the ages of 18 and 23, will be able to live, study, and play with alert young people from around the world, as well as from all sections of the United States. Lesser said various racial, religious, ethnic and economic backgrounds will be represented.

Lesser announced that major areas of study will include civil rights, civil liberties, international affairs, economics, and practical techniques for civic and community action.

Lectures, workshops, and discussions will be supplemented with various field trips, and recreational activities will include summer sports, dances, and community sings.

Lesser said four major research studies of the encampment program have been completed by the Bureau of Applied Social Research at Columbia University.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is honorary chairman of the Encampment for Citizenship, which is also held on the east coast at the Fieldston School in New York City.

The encampment will run from June 26 to Aug. 6, and the fee for tuition, room and board is $350, Lesser reported.

Information and applications may be obtained by writing to Encampment for Citizenship, 2 West 64th St., New York City, 23.

Choir Plans Two Spring Productions

Two major musical productions will be presented by FCC's choir of 65 voices this spring.

"My Heart Is Glad," an Easter cantata, will feature soloists, and "The Lowland Sea," a light opera, portrays the sailor boy who goes off to sea, leaving his sweetheart waiting anxiously for his return. "The Lowland Sea" will have two casts of characters.

The public will have a chance to see the cantata Apr. 6 at 8 PM in the City College auditorium. A City College assembly is scheduled for Apr. 7 at 11 AM. The opera will be produced at 8 PM May 19 and possibly May 20, and for a student assembly May 19 at 11 AM.

Choir director C. Lowell Spencer said a men's ensemble of 12 voices and several women soloists will present performances for the Lions Club Mar. 29, the Parlor Lecture Club Mar. 31, the Fresno Elks Club May 1, the Fresno Kiwanis Club May 3, and for the Scholia administrators party May 17 at the Elks Club.

Soloists for "My Heart Is Glad" include Varoujian Assadourian, William Gardner, Barbara Blayney, Margaret Reta, Patricia Torongo, Bruce Howison, Janet Alexander, Rodger Dunham, and Shirley Kuman.

Spencer has selected two casts for "The Lowland Sea." One will open the opera for the city college student assembly and the other cast will present the evening performance. Singing the main roles in the two casts will be Miss Alexander, Miss Reta, Gardner, Howison, Dunham, William Madden, Lee Gillinad, and Sherrill Ankenman.

Appearing with the men's ensemble will be Miss Alexander and her twin sister Joan, and Miss Kuman.

Spencer said new spot and flood lights and a new curtain have been ordered which will make the staging of the two shows very effective.

Spencer's piano and voice classes will present their spring semester recital June 1.

Debate Team Will Enter Tournament

Fresno City College's debate teams will enter the Championship Debate Tournament at Bakersfield College tomorrow and Saturday.

The tournament will be sponsored by the Southern California Forensics Association and will include about 30 two year and four year colleges.

FCC will compete against teams from junior colleges and freshmen and sophomores of the four year schools in the lower division of the tournament. Juniors and seniors of the four year colleges will compete in the upper divisions.

FCC's three debate teams will include Alan Hays and Reggie Marcellino, Neil Nuotio and Jack Crockett, Charles Overs, Jr., and Dave St. Louis. They will be accompanied by FCC's debate coach, Franz Weinschenk, who will be one of the judges.

Each team will debate against six other teams, alternating between the positive and negative sides of the national intercollegiate debate topic for the current season: Resolved: That Congress should have the power to reverse Supreme Court decisions.

The ratings, which will be given to teams and to individuals, will include superior, excellent, good, fair, and poor. Individual speakers getting superior rating will receive trophies; certificates will go to speakers rated excellent.

Dr. Malcolm Sillars of San Fernando Valley State College is the chairman of the conference.

GERMAN PROFESSOR OBSERVES COLLEGE EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM

Fresno City College was host to Dr. George Willers, a retired college professor and writer from Germany, last Thursday. In his fifty years of teaching, Dr. Willers has taught in grammar schools, high schools and colleges in German schools in Brussels, Belgium, and in Copenhagen, Denmark.

"Since we are going to rebuild our educational system," Dr. Willers said, "I have come to the United States to see at first-hand just how your educational system operates, and if I can gather enough material together I would like to write a book." Dr. Willers is making a tour throughout the United States to study our educational systems, primarily the high schools.

Being at one time a foreign language professor in a German college, Dr. Willers was asked how many foreign languages he spoke and he replied modestly, "What does it mean to speak a language," but he did imply that English, French, Danish and Russian are some.

Dr. Willers stated that the American educational systems are very modern while the German educational school systems are suffering from traditions. He also stressed that education during World War II was seriously affected but that it has greatly improved since then.

Dr. Willers, who sees everything in an educational point of view, even politics, is staying with his nephew, Dr. Arthur E. Geschke, while in Fresno. He plans to leave here around the first part of April to continue his tour.

Campus Entertainment Excludes Card Playing

Anyone for a friendly game of poker, gin rummy, black-jack? If so, please find a more suitable surrounding than the FCC campus. Perhaps the local pool room would better suit the occasion.

It has been said that there is a time and a place for everything, and college has no time or place for cards. A few years ago the administration found it necessary to set a general policy toward card playing, so they asked that students refrain from playing cards on campus. Evidently some students haven't heard of this decision, for they insist on playing cards on our campus.

In the first place, college is an institution for learning—not a recreational pastime. We are here for the purpose of getting an education to prepare ourselves for a successful future.

The college provides the student with ample study material to help him gain his educational goal. If students can't find better use of time than to spend time playing cards, then perhaps he doesn't belong in school. The majority of students who are playing cards on campus are the ones who need this time to study to improve their grades. Playing cards is fine when it doesn't interfere with college work and regulations, but there are always some people who spoil things for everyone.

The first time card playing was curtailed was because of gambling.

These card jokers create a bad impression for the viewing public, as well as for ourselves. Many visiting school officials look down on this activity, for they feel that certain standards should be maintained which do not disrupt the college situation.

FCC should be allowed to look, perform, and be an institution for learning. Keep card tricks off campus.

DEEP SEA DIVER — Richard Sandau, FCC English instructor, prepares his equipment before taking a plunge.

Sandau Uses Summers Diving For Sea Bass

To capture a black sea bass or "The Prize of the Deep" is the goal of most deep sea divers and Richard R. Sandau, a member of FCC's faculty, and his skillful team have, with quick timing and expert know how, captured four.

"The capture of a black sea bass requires team work," said Sandau, "between the spear gunners and the boat operator. The team consists of four divers and one good boat operator."

Florida, Philippines, Cuba, Gulf of Mexico, Ensenada, Mexico, and up and down the West Coast are some of the places where Sandau has done his deep sea diving, but like most divers his favorite spot is Capa Island, where he can get away from civilization, for awhile anyway.

Sandau has encountered many interesting experiences in the sea but one of the most interesting he says is the almost head-on collision with a school of sharks off the coast of Ensenada, Mexico.

After narrowly missing the sharks he surfaced to the bottom of the sea and almost got a hold on what seemed to be a rock but turned out to be another shark, but due to muddy waters and Sandau's belief that a shark is just as scared of a human as a human is of him, he successfully made his escape.

One-hundred twenty feet is the deepest Sandau has ever been and he described it as "a blue-green color, as one might expect it to be."

Sandau said the divers have a long gun-like apparatus with carbon dioxide in a cartridge. The carbon dioxide inflates a buoy which brings the line to the surface. Some of the skin divers literally "ride" the fish to the boat.

What Is New?

By ANDREW FEDERICO

In the student's room there is an eight-year-old Remington Rand portable typewriter. Next to the machine is a history book opened to a map of Europe which shows the gains of Napoleon during his times.

The student has just finished reading about the French Revolution, the purge of Napoleon, and the Treaty of Vienna.

Now he's to sure if the name should be Bonaparte Napoleon or Napoleon Bonaparte. He knows that it is one of the two, but which? From not too far off the student can hear the voice of the television set. He can just make out the words: "We've got a rrrreally big show tonight, rrrreally big."

The ambitious student again plunges into the things that were written into his history book. The box with the picture in it blasted on into the night, telling the listeners about such things as toothpaste and shaving cream. The next time the student became aware of the set, it had a charming fat man on it who was telling about a murder.

The student decides he'd better re-read the chapter about the French Revolution. He picks up the book and starts to read: "The French Revolution was a financial . . ."

Bongo Drums

He is suddenly interrupted by a neighbor who is sitting in his back yard playing bongo drums. He doesn't know how to play them too well so he tries to make up for it by singing. He assaults the drums and sings:

"Oh, I'm glad to say I'm on my way, won't be back for many a day. My heart is down, my head is spinning around, I'm going to meet a little girl in Kingston town."

The student gets up to look for some cotton for his ears, but before he can find any, his kid-sister walks into the room. She stands in the doorway in as sexy a pose as a nine-year-old girl can get into. She's got on her mother's high heels and her face is all painted up with women's cosmetics.

"Don't you think I look like Elizabeth Taylor?" she said, one hand on her hip and the other placed neatly at the back of her head.

"Yes, big as the sky," the student said, referring to her plumpness.

"Ah, do you have to be mean?" she said, easily stepping out of the high heels.

The student tried to avoid her by giving the history book his full attention. His sister watched him as he read and then picked up one of the tennis balls from the floor and started to bounce it against the wall.

"What are you reading?" she asked.

"Will you put that ball back?" he said.

"I know it's about history, I see the word on the cover," she said, still bouncing the ball.

The student jumped up and at the same time made a motion for his belt.

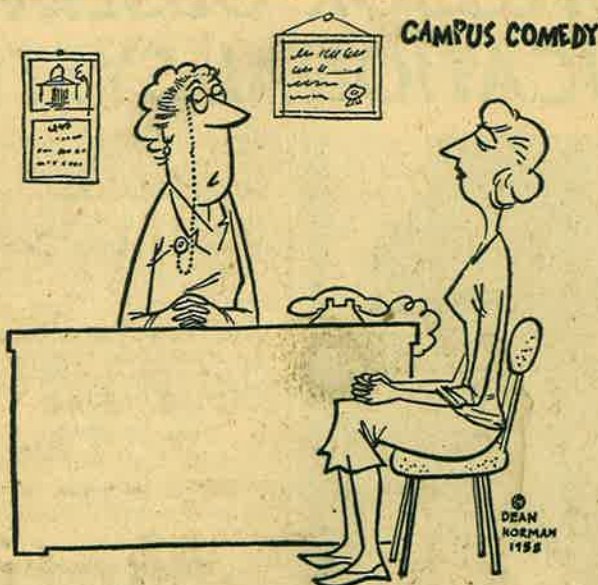

"O.K., O.K., I'm going," the sister said, knowing that the student wouldn't use the belt.

Noise Continues

After his sister left, the student could still hear the television, the bongo drums and even the bouncing of the tennis ball. He turned around to look at his history book and thought, "What does come first, Napoleon or Bonaparte?"

Then he got disgusted with it all and said out loud:

"Ah, to heck with it all." And he went to sleep.

"SINCE THIS IS YOUR FIRST CURFEW OFFENSE, WE'LL ACCEPT YOUR EXCUSE. HOWEVER, IN THE FUTURE DO NOT ACCEPT RIDES FROM STRANGE LITTLE MEN IN FLYING SAUCERS."

Groups Win Ratings In Competition

Members of an elementary school band, a junior high school band, and four junior high school choral groups were granted superior ratings in the 21st annual Central California Music Festival held on the FCC campus Friday and Saturday.

The two day festival ended Saturday with junior high school and elementary school groups performing for the judging panels.

The Coalinga Junior High School Band, the Los Banos Elementary School Band, and the Hamilton Junior High School Orchestra of Fresno got the highest rating from band judges Forrest Baird of the San Jose State College, Arthur Corra of the College of the Pacific, Norman Hunt of the Sacramento State College and Justin Burston of Keynote Music Service.

Vocal judges Edward C. Tritt and Erwin Ruff of the University of Redlands and Floy Potter of Sacramento gave superior ratings to the girls glee club of the Fort Miller Junior High School of Fresno, two Hamilton Junior High choral groups, and the Coalinga Junior High School Chorus.

Marvin L. Belford and C. Lowell Spencer, music instructors, were the co-chairmen for this event.

Car Registration Determines Need For New Facilities

Paul H. Starr, the dean of men, said that the registration of cars driven by students, faculty and school employees was undertaken to find out how many cars are driven to school and to determine the need for additional parking facilities at FCC.

He said that 1,900 cars have been registered. This figure includes the cars of FCC faculty members, students and employees.

Starr said more parking facilities still are needed at FCC.

Students at FCC were required, during spring registration, to fill out student vehicle registration cards if they planned to drive cars to FCC.

The traffic regulations on the registration card stated that students who plan to park a car on or near the campus during the semester must register that car and procure the vehicle registration sticker which must be displayed on the lower right hand corner of the windshield.

The registration card also stated that failure to display a sticker may result in a citation and possible fine.

This permit does not allow parking in restricted areas and on the campus driveways.

DEAN MALLOCH FUND KEEPS ON GROWING

The Dean James M. Malloch memorial scholarship fund, established Feb. 19, at FCC, in honor of the late Dean Malloch, has been successful to date.

Archie Bradshaw, the dean of students, said that donations have been received from FCC faculty members, the student council, and friends in the community. Donations are still coming in.

Bradshaw said the Dean Malloch scholarship fund will be used for outstanding freshman students at FCC, who are recent graduates of high school. The students will be chosen for their outstanding academic achievements and civic duties to church, school and their community. The need for the scholarship will be taken into consideration.

All students who apply for the scholarship and qualify will be considered. The scholarship is based on a point system.

Bradshaw said the Dean Malloch scholarship fund is a perpetual one; the interest on the total sum will be used for the scholarships.

Fresno City College Started In 1910, Name Changed In 1958

Fresno City College, the oldest junior college in California, was founded in 1910 and had a faculty of three. The first student body numbered 28.

Fresno Junior College, as the school was originally named, was changed to Fresno City College by the board of education in 1958.

The present student body numbers 4,218.

Writing Class Proves To Be Big Success

The new creative writing class is proving to be a big success. Robert J. Shaver, creative writing teacher, says that he is well pleased with the progress of the class.

He says that the only trouble with the class is lack of class time. The course meets only two times a week and it limits class discussion.

The past four weeks the class has been working on fiction stories. Fiction was the subject the class first wanted to work on.

The class is being conducted in an informal way. The students are free to write on what they wish. The only requirement of the students is to complete a combined total of at least four "creative" stories, short poems, articles or plays from the four basic categories.

There will be no test given in the class and grades are not being emphasized. The grade will be determined by the four "creations" handed in.

Shaver said that the reason the class is being conducted in this way is so students will not worry about tests and grades and can concentrate on creative writing only.

It is his hope that this class will start a school magazine this spring semester.

By JOHN CRIDER

A big St. Patrick's Day dance is being held at noon today in the student center social hall. The admission is free and everyone is invited. Donations toward the Alpha Gamma Sigma Scholarship Fund will be accepted at the door.

Green and white decorations carry out the Irish theme.

Dr. Lee Roy Just, sociology and philosophy teacher at FCC, was the guest speaker at the last AGS meeting.

Dr. Just talked about things he likes about his field of work. He said that he believes that man is a product of the creation of God. That man is responsible for his fellow man. He also said that, "No man can say that he loves God unless he loves his fellow man."

In his summary statement he said, "I like my field of work because of what it has done for me. The potential that I see in it for others."

The program will be Thursday, Mar. 24, at noon in Room A-209. Marjorie Neufeld, CCF president, says that all students are invited.

Grant is a graduate of Central Bible Institution in Springfield, Mo. He is now attending Bob Jones University in Greenville, SC. His major is in religion and public speaking.

Clock System Also Controls Light Posts

The IBM electrical system controlling the clocks and bells at Fresno City College is also responsible for the functioning of the light posts in front of the administration building.

President Stuart M. White said the Lunar clock, located in the administration building, is set so that as soon as the last light of day disappears the light posts automatically go on. The lights are in the same way turned off with the first light of dawn.

Commenting about the malfunctioning of some of the clocks on campus, White said, "We hope to have all the bugs cleared out of the electrical system by mid April. The company which installed the system has already been notified of the system's failure."

The re-adjustment of the clocks will also include an installment of a fire alarm system, White said. The clocks that will be adjusted are in the student center, library and McLane Hall.

Hall And Rooters Set New Records

By JOHNNY NOBLE

With a time of 21 seconds flat in the 220 yard dash, Bill Hall of Fresno City College shattered the school and meet records in a dual track and field meet with Reedley, Friday. His effort was only five tenths of a second off the national junior college record. Hall also won the 100 yard dash and set a new school record with a time of 9.8.

Chet Rooters, not to be outdone in his specialty, set a meet record in the shotput, with a throw of 49 feet, 3 inches, his best of the year.

Harry Edwards, Rooters and Benny Benneyan made a clean sweep of first, second and third places, respectively, in the discus. Edwards has had a throw of better than 150 feet this year.

The Ram thinclads will travel to Berkeley tomorrow to meet the University of California Freshmen and Monterey Peninsula in a tri-meet.

Despite these fine individual showings, the Rams dropped the meet 69½ to 59½, as Reedley swept the broad jump and two mile events.

Hall, who was a member of last semester's cross-country track team, is a freshman product for the Rams. Rooters is a veteran of past Ram football and track teams.

The first home meet for the Rams this year will be against the Fresno State Frosh on March 26. The meet will be at Ratcliffe Stadium.

The results:
Mile—A. Clark, R; B. Clark, R; Hollenbeck, F. 4:42.5.

Rams Split Series With Stockton CC

The Fresno City College baseball team won one and lost one game to the Stockton College Mustangs over the past week. Friday the Rams downed the Mustangs 6-2 at Euless Park in Fresno and Tuesday the Mustangs avenged the loss by winning a wild scoring game, 19-18, in Stockton.

The Rams will not play a game this weekend but will return to the diamond Tuesday afternoon to meet the Castle Air Force Base nine of Merced. The game will be played at Euless Park. March 26 the Rams will open the league season against the co-defending Coalinga College Falcons.

Friday in Fresno the combined hitting of left fielder Joe Monis and center fielder Glenn Schmidt, coupled with the seven hit pitching of Doug Atwood, gave the Rams a well needed victory.

The Rams had to overcome a 2-1 deficit in the fourth inning to post the win. They tied the game in the fifth with one run and added three more in the sixth.

Joe Monis, leading Ram hitter, hit one double and three singles in five trips to the plate to add to his increasing batting average. Glenn Schmidt had a pair of doubles in four trips.

Stockton Avenges Loss
Tuesday afternoon the Rams traveled to Stockton and dropped an error marred game, 19-18. To lose the tilt the Rams blew a 14-5 second inning lead.

Pitchers were a dime a dozen in the game as seven men made the long trip to the mound. Many of the pitchers were victims of their teammates errors, although 23 hits were collected by the clubs.

Again the bat of left fielder Monis led the Rams to near victory. He collected three singles in five trips to the plate to boost his season's batting average to .524. Bucky Hoover, starting pitcher for the Rams, hit a double and a single in four times at bat.

The Mustangs won the game in the bottom of the eighth inning when they pushed across two runs. The games was called after that due to darkness.

Wrestlers Capture 3rd Place In State Meet

By RICHARD KRIKAVA

The scrappy Fresno City College Ram wrestling team, with two-time state wrestling champion Jim Moore, concluded the 1960 wrestling season last Saturday in San Bernardino by taking third place in the California Junior College Wrestling Tournament.

Moore was the team's only winner as he successfully defended his 137 pound title. This is the second consecutive year that Moore has won that title. Moore has finished the season undefeated in college competition and has not tasted defeat in the two years he has wrestled at FCC.

Host San Bernardino won the team title by scoring 33 points followed by Cerritos with 69 and FCC with 64. Modesto placed fourth with 52 points.

Coach Hans Wiedenhofer's team picked up one first, three seconds, a third, and two fourths. Wiedenhofer was happy with the team's performance. Seven of the nine men on the team placed in the big meet.

Ed Seagle was defeated by Bob Combs of San Bernardino in his 130 pound class bout in the finals. Errol Johansen reached the finals in the 167 pound division but was unable to compete because of a shoulder injury suffered in the semifinals. The title went to John Bell of Los Angeles City College.

Joe Aquino had his hopes spoiled by pesky Al Elliott of Modesto as he was defeated in an overtime period in the 191 pound class of the finals. Joe Ortega took third place in the 147 pound class by winning his final three matches. His only loss was to the state champion from Cerritos Junior College.

Seagraves lost to Jim Tayne of San Bernardino in the 123 pound bracket but had the honor of holding Cisco Andrade, the outstanding wrestler in the tourney, to a decision. Markarian, who proved to be the "Spartan" on the FCC team, was defeated by John Luis of Mt. San Antonio after taking part in five bouts in the 177 pound division in the elimination process.

Ernie Gomez and Lorenzo DeSantiago, who helped the Rams win the league meet and remain undefeated during the regular season, failed to place in the state meet.

Swimmers Take First Meet Win From Reedley

Led by free styler Jerry Opperman, the Fresno City College Ram swimming team splashed out a 47 to 39 victory over Reedley College in a Central California Junior College Athletic Association meet in the FCC pool Friday.

Tomorrow the Rams will meet Sacramento City College and College of the Sequoias in a triangular meet in Visalia at 3 PM.

Opperman, in his second consecutive meet, was a double winner in the 50 and 100 yard free style events. He tied in a dead heat for first in the 50 yard free style with Reedley's Ron Fitzgerald with a time of 25.4. In the 100 yard free style Opperman was declared disqualified because of a faulty turn.

Keith Bush scored a win in the 440 free style in 5:51, and Roy Havenhill sailed home for another Ram victory in the 200 breaststroke in 2:49.8. Bush also placed third in the 50 yard free style event.

sophomore year, and have I learned about women! To be a lover, you gotta look like one. That's why I always wear '60 model A-I Tapers, the slim tapered wash 'n wear cotton slacks with smooth front and new no-flap back pockets. Even the side pocket label says I've arrived. Steady, girls."
