Budget Committees Prepare Report For Spring Financing

Preliminary groundwork has been laid for the forthcoming spring semester budget.

ASB Treasurer Larry Krum explained that two separate committees are in the process of outlining projected expenditures for the second semester. The committees are the Student Activities Control Board+ and the Treasurer's committee.

"The budget now being drawn up by the committees will serve as a blue-print for the new treasurer," Krum said. "It will enable him to enact the final draft for the spring semester."

Board Examines Expenses

The activities control board examines the schedules for all school activities, including travel plans, Krum explained. Serving on the board are Carol Moran, letters, arts and sciences division; Francis Salich, business teacher; Joe Kelly, PE instructor, and Paul Starr, dean of men.

Stuart M. White, college president, and Arch Bradshaw, dean of students, also sit on the board along with the student body president and vice president, but the latter serve in a non-voting capacity.

The various areas which directly concern the budget are: assemblies, conferences, elections, international affairs, oral arts, publicity, publications, rallies, scholarships, social affairs, student welfare, the freshman and sophomore classes and the AMS and the AWS.

These divisions are in turn broken down into smaller subdivisions. The conference account consists of all the money proposed to be spent for conventions, conferences, student government activities and the official dress for the student council members. New Account

A new account is being initiated for the elections committee. It will be approximately 100 dollars, Krum said. This money will enable the student body election ballots to be published with the pictures of each candidate printed upon them.

Covered by the "international relations" fund is the People-to-People organization, its advertisement, and the promotion.

The band, choir, debate and drama interests receive their operating funds under the "oral arts' classification.

Publications supported by student revenue are the Ram, Rampage and Potpourri.

2 Sub-Accounts

There will be two sub-accounts to replace the sports publicity and the student body publicity fall under the title "publicityon campus and off campus."

This account will now take care of both the student body and the functio definite, and from then on the budget will be left up to the new treasurer and the spring student council."

dents have declared their candidacy for the student body-class election to be held Jan. 15. Running for the office of stu- and secretary, respectively.

Twenty-four City College stu- | dent body president are Mitchell Bower and Terry Edgmon. Susan Hawthorn and Carolyn Poindexter are unopposed for vice president Treasurer candidates are Carol Cloves, Barbara Didier and Marihelen Thomas. Irving Lee and David Coleman are trying for Associated Men Students president. Candidates for Associated Women Students president are Milaun Dowell and Dorothy Feldmann.

13 Seek Posts

There are thirteen candidates running for the ten available student body representative-at-large posts. . They are Charles Bain, Richard Comstock, Barbara Ehrenburg, Frances Hanoian, Edith Hughes, Suzanne Holloman, Kark Kollmyer, Bruce Madsen, Cherry Moore, Kaye Sessions, Carole Schaffer and JoAnn Tuck and Percy Garcia.

There are no candidates for freshman or sophomore class office.

"I'm sorry that there isn't more participation from the two classes," commented Carol Cloves, student body commissioner of elections. "It isn't possible to extend the petitioning period another week because the election would be moved into dead week, and no activities can be scheduled then."

Good Turn Out

In the student body race, however, there are at least two candidates for almost every major office. "It's wonderful to see such a good turn out for the associated student offices," added Miss Cloves. "I think the petition week was well enough publicized and that everyone knew about it."

Petitions for the class and student body offices were circulated last week and were presented in the administration office at 3 PM Friday afternoon.

11 Day Campaigns

Campaigning for the election will begin Jan. 6 and continue till the voting takes place. If a run-off election is needed, it will be held Jan. 17. Candidates must remove posters within a day after the election, Miss Cloves said.

Candidates for student body president and vice president must maintain a 2.5 grade point average and carry at least 12 units. The other student body officers and the representatives must maintain a 2.0 average and also be registered for 12 units. Class officers also must maintain a 2.0 average.

Candidates were introduced to the student body yesterday at a nominations assembly at noon in the auditorium. William Bisphan acted as master of ceremonies.

Christmas Formal

Approximately 400 persons attended, and apparently enjoyed, the annual AWS-AMS Christmas Formal held last Friday night in Memorial Auditorium.

Probably the best summary of the evening was given by Mrs. Betty Anderson, FCC financial secretary.

"The Christmas carols sung by the entire group accounts, Krum said. They will at the conclusion of the dance showed the warmest and truest feeling of Christmas," she said.

The elaborate and effective decorative scheme centered around a mistletoe kissing ball suspended from the ceiling and surrounded by gold and white sports publicity as a combined garlands. Floating on clouds of angel-hair and adding to the "mystical" effect of the evening were tiny pastel-colored angels, bejeweled in gold and silver glitter.

"The Christmas Formal was a great success," said Miss Doris Deakins, dean of women. "Chairmen John Reynolds and Milaun Dowell should be commended for the fine organization of all the committees concerned with the dance."

Miss Deakins said that the Spring Formal may be held in the Hacienda convention center, and she was optimistic about the chances of the second semester formal equalling the success of the Christmas affair.

"The pictures are an attempt to get more people out to vote,' said Miss Cloves. "The students need to know who is running for office."

The ballots will be printed by the Crown Printing and Lithographing Company. Student council has appropriated $100 for the ballots.

"We hope these new ballots will boost our school spirit," commented Miss Cloves. "This particular idea has been tried at other junior colleges in California and has proven very successful." "Both student body and class

> Campaigning for the student body-class election will begin Jan. 6. The voting will take place Jan. 15 from 8 AM to 3 PM. Voting booths will be located in the student center, the library and the main foyer of the administration building.

"Students should remember that posters may be placed only on bulletin boards around the campus, or hung from the wires in McLane Hall," Miss Cloves concluded.

There are now 24 students running for office, she added. Petitions were issued last week and were due last Friday. Two students running for ASB president, one candidate each for office candidates will appear on vice-president and secretary and the same ballot. This will make three for the office of treasurer.

Two cantatas and several short Christmas selections will be sung by the choir. The first cantata, "When the Christ Child Came," by Clokey, will feature soloists Patricia Armer, Dianne Civiello,

DO WE HAVE THE RIGHT?

As a matter of policy, the Rampage generally restricts editorial comments to subjects pertaining to school affairs. However, since many FCC students will spend their lives in the Fresno area, it is felt that the following topic is of sufficient interest to warrant discussion.

Last week, it was announced that the Kings River Water Association (KRWA) is plunging headlong into a campaign to build two water storage dams in the high Sierra—one at Cedar Grove on the South Fork of the Kings River, the other in Thepite Valley on the Middle Fork.

That anyone who has ever seen these beautiful canyons could even consider ruining them with sightless reservoirs is beyond belief. It is even more incomprehensible that these self-centered organizations could talk the Fresno City-County Chamber of Commerce into taking their side in the dispute. In view of the hollow arguments presented by the KRWA, one must truly wonder if the Chamber of Commerce had the best interests of the community at heart when it voted to oppose a bill presented by Congressman B. F. Sisk (D) of Fresno which would make the two canyons part of Kings Canyon National Park, thus guaranteering their safety from all commercial exploitation, including irresponsible dam builders.

If the water storage benefits from the two dams were of real value, perhaps then the KRWA would have a legitimate proposal. But to sacrifice the natural beauty of two of the deepest canyons in the world, carved millions of years ago by the mighty Sierra glaciers, for the sake of storing a mere 250,000 acre feet of water is totally unjustifiable. (Pine Flat Reservoir on the lower Kings has a capacity of 1 million acre feet, and is rarely full.)

Those who feel that allowing reservoirs to be built would not mar the scenery in the canyons should take a look at the Hetch-Hetchy reservoir in Yosemite National Park. There, too, a beautiful valley was utterly destroyed by a "much needed" dam. Although there was bitter opposition to the construction of the Hetch-Hetchy eyesore, the financial resources and lobbying power of the proponents finally won out, and the beautiful Hetch-Hetchy valley is now only a memory. Let us hope that the public will not take another beating in the Cedar Grove-Thepite Valley issue.

Dams can be built anytime, but the beauty of nature, once covered by a reservoir, is lost forever. Editor

Belman, an engineering and industrial education instructor, is still at FCC, while Wolf is no longer on the faculty.

According to Belman, he remembers Hill as an above average student.

"Since it's been such a long time, I don't remember too much about him, but I do remember he was here to learn," said Belman.

Iran Student Plans To Vie For Golden Gloves Title

"I like the United States, but Iran is my home," says Manootchehr (Michael) Saadloo, foreign student to FCC from Teheran, Iran.

Saadloo, while in Teheran, was on the National Amateur Boxing team for two years and wants to continue this sport in Fresno by vying for the Golden Gloves title. He was also a reporter for the sports magazine Cayhan in his home city.

But sports do not take up all of the time of 24-year-old Saadloo. He is very much concerned about the welfare of foreign students in Fresno. He feels the students of FCC are friendly towards them but could be "more friendly."

International House

Saadloo reported that in most cities, he has found an International House for foreign students. There they meet one another, have activity and entertainment,

This is a big improvement over the outmoded type electron gun which does not have this protective feature of focusing the beam. The electron gun, an offshoot of plasma studies, is now being used for welding, machining, and drilling holes in stainless steel, tantalum and aluminum.

Debaters Place Third In Weekend Forensics Meet

FCC debate squad placed third in the junior college division of the Northern California Forensics Association meet held here last Friday and Saturday.

Cerritos College won first place in the meet and Bakersfield took second.

Representing FCC in debate, oratory and extent were Robert Weinstein, David Hancock, John Hacherian and Gerald Wootan, all of whom received certificates of excellence. Also representing FCC were William Martin and Elizabeth Nolet.

In the upper division there was a tie for first place between University of Pacific and Claremont Men's College. Both schools participated in 11 events with six individual speakers, and both colleges had 232 points in the final tabulation.

"I appreciate the help received from faculty and administration in making the tournament a success. Our students did a good job in competition and I'm very proud of them," said Franz Weinschenk, forensics instructor.

"If there are students who wish to join the debate squad next semester, I will be glad to talk to them," he added.

Foreign Student Attendance Up More than 64,000 foreign stu-

Almost one-third of these students, many of whom will be among their countries' most influential citizens when they return, attend schools that have active People-to-People University chapters.

"Working with campus groups, our citizens' chapter members have an ideal means to meet international leaders-to-be and invite them into their homes throughout the year, and especially during the coming holiday season," Wrightson said.

During the past year, some 1,200 host families have opened their homes through the Peopleto-People program, according to Wrightson.

Three-Day Modesto Hoop Tourney Odds Favor FCC Over 15 Teams

By DON FOSTER Sports Editor

Top class and brass is the only way to describe the spectacular FCC cage crew of "Bark-Joe Kelly after the weekend sweep over top-notchers Allan Hancock College Bulldogs ing" (Santa Maria) and San Jose City College Jaguars.

The local quintet, now hanging on a string of six straight wins without a loss since the season opener with Bakersfield College, are putting their skein on the line tonight at 9:30 against Cerritos JC in the 16+ team three-day Modesto Tournament.

State champ Fresno City College, the tourney favorite after shearing the invading 'Dogs and Jags, 81-70 and 94-78, last Friday and Saturday, were jinxed during the holiday tournaments last season.

The FCC Rams started out on a rampage by taking the Bakersfield Invitation, but began to tail off as they entered the finals of their own tourney, being nailed by Hancock, 89-85.

In last year's Modesto event, the horn sheep rolled past two squads returning today, Contra Costa (101-75) and American River (84-68), but were stoned by the duo of Stockton (82-70) and Modesto (63-61) in closing matches' for two more tourney losses.

couple of standouts, mainly lettermen Lonnie Hughey, 6-7 center, and playmaking whiz George Monreal, a 5-6 guard.

The amazing post man has 141 points in six games for a 23.5 average. Hughey, known as "Duck" by his mates, has a good chance to surpa'ss Warren Schmidt's 1956-57 scoring mark of 697 points in 28 contests for Bakersfield, Los Angeles CC, San

The swift and slick moving Monreal has ripped the cords for only 45 marks, but . . . statistics aren't everything in the case of the Dos Palos product, although he has gotten 15 points twice and 14 once in the final three matches.

Monreal, when not needed for scoring, constantly shovels the ball underneath the hoop to Hughey and forwards Larry Scott and Marlin "Moose" Elrod, and screens for guard Ed Austin, so his counterpart can get off his long, arching jump shot.

After the Modesto series the club will journey to Glendale for the 14th annual Sam Berry Memorial Tournament, running Dec. 26-29. In Southern California last winter, the Ram hard court men (33-5 in '62-'63) lost their fourth game-all in tournaments-but before getting knocked off 66-59 by host Glendale in the championship contest, Fresno CC butted Santa Monica, 93-47; LACC, 97-82; and Bakersfield, 75-60.
