Nobody loves a new building until the last nail's driven

By Dave Waddell

"A thing constructed can only be loved after it is constructed."

Gilbert Keith Chesterton

By late 1976, City College's campus facilities will rank with the best among California's community colleges, says FCC Business Manager Richard Cleland, but until that time students and staff will have to live with the "necessary inconveniences" construction causes.

Presently, three buildings--business education, students services and art-home economics--are under construction with groundbreaking for the new administration building set for May 19.

The entire area directly south and east of the old administration building has been or will soon be fenced off and all parking on University Avenue has been or will soon be eliminated.

"Almost everyone has been a good sport about it and has accepted the inconveniences as a necessary thing," commented Cleland. "We have had complaints from people who have to walk around building projects, but they've generally come from the same persons. Unfortunately, we haven't been able to give adequate access in every instance, but we are very receptive to solving legitimate complaints."

Cleland said the college's "biggest concern" is providing safe passageway for the handicapped.

"Unless you're stuck in a wheelchair, you don't realize that a four-inch curb can present the same obstacle as an eight foot fence to an able person," he remarked.

To provide free access to classes for handicapped students, a black top surface will soon be installed from the handicapped parking area in the southeast section of the campus to the south entrance of the west wing of the old administration building, said Cleland.

Cleland said the $5.8 million speech-music-arts complex should be completely occupied by the fall semester. Included in the complex is the $800,000 Speech-Music Building completed two years ago, the $3 million Theatre Arts Building completed last month, and a $2 million art-home economics building to be finished by Sept. 1.

Cleland feels the theatre arts structure and FCC's two-year-old, $3 million science building are probably the finest facilities of their kind on any community college campus in California.

Completed ahead of schedule last month was the $1.4 million language arts building that contains classrooms and laboratories for the teaching of English and other languages as well as a remedial reading program.

A $1.9 million student services building, to rise just south of the east wing of the administration building, will house all student services related to admissions, records, counseling and guidance, and other special services. Completion is scheduled for September 1976.

A business building, just east of the east wing of the administration building, is scheduled for completion in August, 1976. The structure will cost $1.8 million and house classroom, laboratory, and office space for business education.

The $800,000 new administration building, to rise just southeast of the west wing of the old administration building, should be finished by May 1976. It will contain offices for college administrators, community service, and campus business.

A $1.3 million social science building bid is scheduled to be let in July. Construction is slated to be completed by October 1976. The building, to be located just southeast of the east wing of the old administration building, will include a study hall, museum, laboratories, and large-group lecture facilities with sophisticated multi-media instructional capabilities.

Plans for renovation of Ratcliffe Stadium, expansion of the college's tennis courts, and construction of a campus service center are still being discussed.

"If the district is able to go ahead with its plans to landscape and beautify the campus," Cleland remarked, "I think City College is going to be a real credit to the community."

Vets Club 'Fun Day' has double purpose

A "Fun Day" carnival to raise money for a foreign student's trust fund and veteran scholarships was rescheduled for yesterday and today, according to Vets Club President Wayne Miles.

The carnival, originally scheduled last month but postponed due to weather, includes such activities as dart throwing, frisbee throwing, egg throwing, kite flying, football throwing, bicycle racing, and a baseball-throwing contest with the objective of dunking a coed into a tank filled with water.

Miles said the contests, sponsored by the Vets Club, were to begin each day at 11 a.m. and end about 3 p.m., in the area just south of the Gymnasium.

Miles said the Vets Club is trying to raise enough money to keep David Solomon, a foreign student whose father was assassinated in the recent overthrow of the Ethiopian government, in school. They also hope to have enough money left over to provide a few scholarships for Vets Club members.

Fresno businesses have donated prizes for the winners of each contest and free soft drinks for all participants. A 10-speed bicycle will be awarded to the individual who accumulates the most points in all the contests.

Debate workshop set for summer session

A tuition-free debate workshop designed to acquaint students with debate theory and practice is being offered for the first time this summer at City College.

Robert Greenstreet, forensics director, said the class, High School Debate Workshop, should be of interest primarily to high school students entering their junior and senior years, although it is also open to community college students and interested adults. The class, Speech 47, carries three units of college credit.

Greenstreet said the first two weeks of the course will be devoted to familiarizing students with academic debate and with styles most appropriate to the high school debate format. Lectures will cover critical concepts of academic debate, the types of debate cases, and the nature of argument and evidence.

The course, to meet Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon from July 18 through 25, also will provide the opportunity for competition on a regular basis beginning the third week.

According to Greenstreet, the purpose of the workshop is to provide (1) low-cost instruction to equalize debate opportunities for high school students at all income levels, (2) debate exposure to community college students who may not have time for it during the regular school year, and (3) adults with the opportunity for in-depth study and analysis of the world food scarcity problem, the workshop's debate topic.

Greenstreet said if enrollment is sufficient, the class will break into two sections--one for experienced debaters and one for the inexperienced--to provide more personalized instruction.

High school juniors and seniors taking the class must have authorization from their counselors, principals and parents. To enroll, high school students must obtain and complete a High School-FCC Enrichment Program form. The forms are available from their high school counselor or the FCC dean of instruction.

Current FCC students may pre-register now in A-133. New and former students may pre-register beginning May 19.

Senate seeks improvement in handicapped facilities

The Student Senate Tuesday recommended to Dean of Student Services Richard Cleland, the Student Personnel Committee, and the Board of Trustees that facilities for the handicapped be improved.

The action was taken after a representative from the Enablers Club, composed of handicapped students, talked of the problems for handicapped students.

He said two students have been injured by faulty temporary wheelchair ramps. The representative said the ramps had collapsed under the weight of the students.

He also said there are no mats for the handicapped and no wheelchair showers. He said elevators on campus have no auxiliary power supply.

He said he had gone to the administration but no immediate action was taken.

Also Tuesday, the Senate: * Voted down a motion to have an all-school party instead of the senate's Installation and Awards Banquet.

*Authorized the treasurer to investigate the feasibility of a 5 to 10 per cent discount on textbooks sold in the Bookstore for the first time.

*Recommended to the Student Personnel Committee that a discount buying service be established with Duddy's Tires.

*Approved a request for $112 by Commissioner of Elections Tami Hill to fund the fall elections.

*Announced a 50's dance to be held on May 23.

ASB election candidates

Three seek presidency of ASB

Richard Mata

Marty Krikorian

David Schroeder

Wayne Schaich

President

Richard Mata
ASB President Candidate

"The office of ASB president is a distinguished honor, but in order to be a leader you must be responsible for whatever happens in your organization.

In fact, it is a major function of the top executive to take on their shoulders the responsibility for resolving the uncertainties that are always involved in important decisions.

"Moreover, since no important decisions ever please everyone, you must also absorb the displeasures, and sometimes severe hostility of those who have taken a different course.

"I will let my record speak for me. As a senator, I introduced legislation to help the night students, the handicapped, and all students in general.

"I personally will work to establish and maintain a more perceptive student government.

"Our ticket is dedicated to developing a comprehensive array of activities and services for the students, such as free legal aid services, health care, lighting the tennis courts, discount buying, raises for students who work on campus, and follow-through with the day care center (almost a reality, thanks to Calvin Wulf).

"We are interested students willing to work for you, we ask for your support."

Marty Krikorian
ASB President candidate

This is the fourth ASB election I have seen at FCC. Previously I have served on the FCC Student Senate and this semester I am the editor of the Rampage. Now I am offering my services in the capacity of ASB President.

I feel that experience is what the FCC student government needs most of all. Over the past year on the Assemblies Committee I have planned, assemblies, approved, and carried out, to varying degrees, the Ramburger Round-up, the Classic Film Series, the Cold Blood concert, FCC's Cinco de Mayo celebration, the Barry Manilow concert, and many other events.

"I completely planned, produced, and promoted the recent Maynard Ferguson concert held in the FCC Gym. The Ferguson concert was proclaimed by many to be the most successful ASB concert in years.

"As editor of this semester's Rampage, I have observed the present government doing its work. The senators and executive board have done much work, but lack organization and planning.

"If I am not elected to this new position, I will probably go back to the Assemblies Committee to serve for another year, but I feel that as President I could do much more."

David Schroeder
ASB Vice-president candidate

"I do not have all the answers but I believe in the students of FCC," Schroeder said. He went on, "I believe students have many problems and I would like to help solve some of these problems.

"We deserve more services and activities (student government has $165,000) I will work to implement these services and activities."

Schroeder is currently commissioner of publicity and he is also president of VICA. HE also commented that he has had past experience in student government.

"As vice-president I will have a first hand say in the problems of the students. I believe in you, the students, I ask for your support and thank you for your interest in student government."

Wayne Schaich
ASB Vice-president candidate

"Student government could be more effective if the people were more organized and used a little advanced planning when trying to get their job done," Wayne said.

He further states, "I am a firm believer in the Administration here at FCC; they can help us tremendously if we let them." Schaich has served two semesters on the FCC Student Senate; he was also involved in high school as an executive and legislative council representative.

Schaich said he would like to see more weekly activities for all students to participate in. He also feels there are a few badly needed services such as legal aid and student housing aid.

Richard Mata, Marty Krikorian and Paul Ramirez seek the office of Associated Student Body president in elections for fall ASB officers scheduled next Wednesday and Thursday, May 21 and 22.

Polls will be open in the Cafeteria foyer, with hours set to facilitate voting by evening students as well as day students. A runoff election, if necessary, will be Tuesday, May 27.

The three president candidates are among 20 candidates for ASB office who had taken out petitions by Rampage presstime, three hours before yesterday's 5 p.m. filing deadline. Not all of the petitions had been returned by presstime.

Running for vice president are Wayne B. Schaich and Dave Schroeder. One candidate had filed for secretary—Amelia E. Robinson—and one for treasurer—David K. Davis.

Certain of election to the Student Senate, if all petitions are returned by the deadline, are 13 candidates. The Senate has 16 openings, and vacancies unfilled by election will be filled by appointment later.

The Senate candidates are Michael Solomon, Gloria McCreary, Gerard J. Starkey, Paul T. Ortiz, Burlene Newton, Norman Biladeau, Nancy Harrison, Timothy D. Hooper, Manuel Ramirez, Eugene Paul Hebron, Gonga Singh, Ruben Tolentino and Madeline Dennison.

Some of the candidates submitted campaign statements to the Rampage. These statements are reprinted in today's newspaper, in alphabetical order for each office.

Senate candidates offer statements

Nancy Harrison
ASB Senate candidate

Harrison is concerned with getting the students interested in sports and ASB sponsored events. She said she's interested in becoming more involved in Student Senate.

Harrison is current student adviser to the ASB president and an FCC cheerleader. Harrison is also involved in student discount buying service.

Timothy D. Hooper
ASB Senate Candidate

"We need some improvements on campus," Hooper said. He continued, "Specifically I would like to see some lights on both the tennis courts and handball courts. I would also like to see the pool opened up for student use when classes are not using it.

"I'd like to see more activities in which more students can take part. I will energetically try to change the students role in FCC's government, so that we can have a more active part."

Norm Bilodeau
ASB Senate candidate

"A prime objective in my consideration for the term of office as a senator is that I feel a need for increased and broader student activities. These activities include concerts, dances, clubs and quality films made available for the benefit of all students," Bilodeau said.

He also stated, "I feel that an increased awareness of the needs of the students should be recognized. These needs cry out for the establishment of a student center and health care services. To attain these goals, it is necessary for all of us to be united, and work constructively for a progressive, dynamic institution."

Burlene Newton
Candidate for Student Senate

I would like to promote services for the students such as health care, child care and legal aid. The school should help to meet the needs of the students and students should receive first priority instead of being on the bottom of the ladder. After all, the school exists because of us.

Manuel Ramirez
Candidate-Senator

I am a Ram Vet and I would like to take care of the apathy problem on this campus. The students need to be more aware of what's available on this campus and what student body government accomplishes. I don't promise miracles but, I will try my best to resolve this problem as Senator.

'L'Avventura' is final FCC classic series film

"L'Avventura," voted the second greatest film of all time in a recent poll of international film critics, will be the final presentation in a series of classic films sponsored this year by City College.

Drop deadline is tomorrow

Dean of Women Doris Deakins asks students who intend to drop classes before tomorrow's drop deadline not to wait until the last minute to do so.

"Faculty are often away from the campus on that last Friday afternoon—take care of any drop requests early," she said.

She also said that last semester more than 450 late drop requests were submitted for processing. This semester, she said, only emergency situations will be considered for non-penalty drops after tomorrow's deadline.

The film will be screened Wednesday, May 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Speech-Music Recital Hall and is free to the public.

"L'Avventura" is the story of a girl's mysterious disappearance on a yachting trip and the subsequent affair between her lover and her best friend. This story of Italy's idle rich is considered a provocative statement about modern society and established Michelangelo Antonioni as one of the leading directors in the world.

"An austere, demanding, relentless film, unprepossessing in its characters and meager in its 'action,' yet strangely gripping," wrote Earnest Callenbach of Film Quarterly.

The film, released in 1960, was ranked No. 2 in Sight and Sound's recent international poll of the world's ten best films.

A short film, "2," which takes a devastatingly funny poke at art films, also will be screened.

The classic film series is sponsored by the Associated Student Body and the Office of Community Services.

Ganga Singh

"My main goal as serving as a Senator will be to benefit the students at FCC. I'm not going to try to snow over the students if I'm elected; many times in the past I've seen candidates for office who openly lie to gain their office, but I believe I'm not that kind of person.

"If I am elected I will see to it that the wishes of the students are met, not the Board of Trustees or the Administration. I could have written a statement that would resemble all the other candidates, but I'm not like all the other candidates, I'm here to serve you, the ASB, not myself.

"If elected I'll see to it that events of interest, such as rock concerts, etc., will be brought to FCC, for I believe that the students interests should be fulfilled. But even if you decide not to vote for me, please come out and vote, for then and only then, will the FCC ASB receive what it wants and needs."

TRAVEL

Tinseltown--home of TV's big game shows

By Jane Kent

Graumann's Chinese Theater in Hollywood

Lights! Camera! Action! Hop in your car, head south, and you're on your way to Hollywood!

There are a multitude of sights and sounds in Tinseltown and if you can spare a week or even a few days, take the four and a half hour trip and prepare yourself for the time of your life.

Take Freeway 99 south into the Ridge Route past Bakersfield until it turns into the Golden State Freeway, Interstate 5. Then follow the signs to reach your destinations.

Game shows are abundant at NBC and CBS Studios. Located on Beverly Blvd. in Beverly Hills, CBS offers free tickets Monday through Friday; however, tickets are distributed in excess of studio occupancy so seating is on a first-come, first-serve basis at taping time. For information on variety show tickets write to the CBS Ticket Department. CBS: Hollywood Freeway 101 to Beverly Hills exit.

Tours are conducted for $1.95 Monday through Saturday at NBC Studios 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Ticket requests are acknowledged in the order that the mail is received so phone reservations are recommended. All tickets are free.

"The Tonight Show" is filmed Monday through Friday at 5:30 p.m. at NBC. Ticket holders are advised to be at the studio entrance at least by 4:30, but for good seats, be there by 3:00. Minimum age limit is 18 years and there is no reserved seating. For tickets call 1-213-845-7000, or write NBC Tickets, 3000 Alameda, Burbank, Ca. 91523. NBC Studios: Interstate 5 to Alameda Ave. exit, then west, turn left on California Ave. for parking.

Universal Studios offers year 'round tours, seven days a week. After boarding a tram you will drive through New York Street, pass Marcus Welby's house, cross the Red Sea, and fight a flash flood. New attractions include a collapsing bridge, a runaway train, and a landslide. A stunt show, animal show, and make-up demonstrations at the end of the tour give the sightseer an idea of the aspect of movie-making on a basically staged level. Universal: Hollywood Freeway 101, Universal City turn-off.

For an uncluttered, unpretentious look at a movie set-up, The Burbank Studios Tour (home of Columbia and Warner Bros. Pictures) is a must. Although the price is steep ($12.50 per person), the tourist will witness actual studio operations in progress, visit the studio commissary for lunch, and tour the back lot where "The Waltons" and "Police Story" are filmed. Personal attention is abundant since the groups are limited to small numbers. Only two tours are conducted per day and reservations are required. Call 1-213-843-6000. No cameras are allowed on the lot. Burbank Studios: Interstate 5, Olive Ave. exit, head west to 4000 Warner Blvd.

Take a walk down the Avenue of the Stars and catch a movie at Graumann's Chinese Theater on Hollywood Blvd. where movie stars have implanted their foot and hand prints in cement. For a look at Hollywood in wax, visit the Wax Museum but don't expect a Madame Tussaud's. Locations: Hollywood Freeway 101, Hollywood Blvd. exit.

To round off your visit, head for Malibu and a delicious dinner at the Sand Castle Restaurant on Pacific Palisades Drive. Experience excellent food and service while overlooking their private beach. Reservations recommended. Take Sunset Blvd. west until you reach Highway 101, then north a few miles. By taking this longer route you can see Beverly Hills homes on your own without restrictions of a tour group.

So plan a fun-filled week and you'll be sure of coming home with fond memories and at least one autograph of a celebrity.

Rams to host conference all-star nine Saturday

The Fresno City College baseball team ended its Valley Conference schedule last week with another three wins, running its win streak to 15 games, and its season record to 31-4.

The Rams eliminated the need for a league playoff between first and second half winners in the league by winning both ends while tallying an 18-3 league record.

But the sweep has left a free weekend in the schedule. League coaches, therefore, have decided to stage a game between Fresno and an all-star squad from other league teams. The game will be in Fresno this Saturday, tentatively at 1 p.m. All-star team members will be announced this week.

Tickets will be on sale at the gate, for $1. ASB card holders will be allowed in free.

Fresno secured the conference championship last Tuesday when Steve Angelich, Ron Mehlhoff, and company stopped Reedley, 5-0. Winning pitcher Angelich sent his season record to 5-0, while Mehlhoff, FCC's steady third baseman, led the offensive push with three hits and three runs scored.

Tim Martin didn't have to wear a glove all day to become the hero of FCC's two wins over College of the Sequoias Sunday in Fresno. Martin, the team's designated hitter, tripled into the left field corner in the bottom of the tenth inning to drive in two runs and win the game, 7-6. In the second game, he pinch hit in Fresno's last time up and singled to left to score two more runs as Fresno pulled out a 6-5 win.

Randy Vogt (9-1) was the winning pitcher in the first game, and Steve Murray (8-0) won the second in relief of Dave Rohm.

In the four leagues set to participate this season in the Northern California championship playoffs, next Friday & Saturday, May 23-24 in Fresno, Citrus College has won the Mission Conference, Chabot appears to be in command in the Golden Gate Conference, and, at last word, Canada College was leading the Camino Norte Conference.

Three Rams set bests at relays

Tony Ramirez set a new school record, and Mark Givens and Larry Johnson jumped to new personal bests as the FCC track team used those three performances to place eighth at the West Coast Relays last Saturday at Ratcliffe Stadium.

Coaches Bobby Fries and Ken Dose hope to see some repeat efforts from Ramirez, Givens and Johnson along with other solid marks from the team when FCC competes in the Northern California Trials Saturday, starting at 1 p.m. in Modesto. FCC will take 17 team members to the Trials.

Ramirez, running the two-mile last Saturday, remained in the well-populated pack of runners for the first mile, but took the lead on the fifth lap and began immediately to leave the rest behind. His time of 8:59.5 breaks the old FCC record of 9:01.7, set by Greg Hall in 1973, and ranks him sixth in the state.

Givens led during most of the long jump competition, then lost first place in the final round, but regained it on his last jump with a 24-5½ leap. His 24-4½ jump last season at the state meet was his personal best prior to Saturday's West Coast Relays.

FCC's two-mile relay team of Ned Baird, Ramirez, Rob Brenner, and Tom Avery ran a 7:51.1 to take sixth Saturday, and Bill Hibner did not place with a 55.5 time in the 440 yard intermediate hurdles.

Johnson sailed 49-11 in the triple jump, but could only finish fifth. He barely fouled on his best jump of the day—a 51-3 effort—which would have given him first place. His previous best was 49-1½.

Carte, Legler place FCC 5th in NorCal

Although FCC tennis players Gene Carte and Cuyler Legler did not qualify for the state championships at the Northern California Finals in Saratoga last weekend, the two did place Fresno in fifth place, highest of any Valley Conference team.

Carte came close to qualifying for the state two times. In singles, he won two matches, against Joe Childress of Porterville and Chuck Coulton of Gavilan, but then lost to the eventual winner John Hubbell of Foothill. Had Carte won that third match, he would have reached the state.

Carte and Legler were one match away from the state in doubles, too. In winning their second match, the pair pulled off the upset of the tournament, according to FCC coach Ted Moranda, knocking off one of the top-seeded teams, Henry Jacobsen and John Mendoza of Canada, in three sets. The FCC pair, however, lost their third match.

Legler was defeated in his opening round of singles by Joe Harper of West Valley.

Foothill, the host school, won the tournament, with Canada, West Valley, and Marin ahead of Fresno.

In the Valley Conference this season, Fresno finished fourth after losing to Modesto, 6-3, in their makeup match last Monday. FCC was 7-5 in the league.

FCC women's volleyball squad in league play

Women's intercollegiate volleyball begins at City College for the first time next fall when the Rams compete in a league with five other San Joaquin Valley community colleges.

The addition of volleyball marks the fourth women's competitive sports program at FCC, and is the first to be offered in the fall. Others, all spring sports, are swimming, tennis, and track.

The volleyball season will begin at the start of the 1975 fall semester, and will last nine weeks. Ken Dose, men's physical education instructor, will coach the team.

Although volleyball is the latest of the four competitive programs to start at FCC, it will be the first in which the team participates in a league.

Fresno joins the Central California Community College Women's Conference (CCCCWC), made up of Merced, Reedley, College of the Sequoias, Bakersfield, and Porterville Colleges. Reedley is the defending champion in volleyball.

Indian help offered by Kinkihee

Native Americans can learn more about the educational opportunities available to them at City College by contacting Iona Kinkihee, FCC's new liaison person to the Indian community.

Ms. Kinkihee, who began working out of the college EOP Supportive Services office May 1, is on duty Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in A-109.

Ms. Kinkihee said she or Native American student recruiter Madeleine Greyeyes can provide prospective Indian students with information on registration, financial aid, and supportive services. She can visit a prospective student at his or her home if necessary.

Although the priority deadline has passed, persons may still apply for financial aid for the summer and fall sessions, she said.

Ms. Kinkihee said persons accepted to the EOP program may take part this summer in a college readiness program designed to prepare new students for the fall semester.

"We're hoping many members of the Indian community will come in and see us," she said.

Top musicians plan classical concert

Two of Fresno's finest classical musicians will present a benefit concert in the new FCC Theatre May 21.

Violinist Robert Kazanjian and pianist Alex Molnar will perform works of Tartini, Bartok, Beethoven and others in a benefit concert for the FCC String Scholarship Fund.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. concert are available at the box office at $1 for ASB card holders and $3 general admission. All money raised by the concert will go toward providing financial aid for FCC music students studying string instruments (except guitar).

The program will include "Le Trille Du Diable" by Tartini, "Sonata in G Major Op. 30 No. 3" by Beethoven, "Sonatine" by Bartok, "Three Pieces" by Nicodemo, "Pantomima" by de Falla (arrangement by Kochanski), "Spanish Dance Op. 23 No. 6" and "Introduction and Tarentelle Op. 43" by de Sarasate.

Both musicians are experienced concert performers and have performed together many years.

Kazanjian studied violin with Naoum Blinder of San Francisco, one of the world's great violin masters. He has performed throughout Latin America and has received honors for his concerts in Brazil. He teaches violin locally.

Molnar, an FCC music instructor and director of the college's symphony orchestra, began his study of music under the tutelage of his father, a Yugoslavian composer. He then studied organ and music theory at the world-famous Mozarteum academy in Salzburg, Austria.

Molnar and his wife immigrated to America and came to Fresno 20 years ago. He received his master's degree in organ at Fresno State University.

THINK POSITIVE

Seek 'PSP'

By Roger Zamora

Just what is "PSP"? It's a healthy pride--genuine, not based in/on vanity. It is a pride of your own, not dependent on others; or who our dad was, what school he attended and/or where we live and work. It's full-filling--gives you a sense of real accomplishment. (Okay you ask, but how do we develop this PSP?)

First, try to do one thing each day that makes you proud of yourself--and inwardly praise yourself for it.

But keep in mind, the kind of pride we are talking about is self-pride thus "Productive Self-Pride" or PSP. Don't worry about what your friends and neighbors think of your daily deeds, as long as they measure up to your values.

Engage the habit of collecting these daily victories--never mind how small they are--and treasure those life-giving drops of life. Within time, you'll discover you became a proud personality--someone with reinforced self-respect and self-confidence.

Along the way though, still keep searching or analyzing the basis of your self-pride until you can keep up or abreast of your strengths and weaknesses. Don't stop and dwell too much on past achievements. Instead, keep your eyes fixed on the present and, more importantly, on the future.

Once acquired, learn to maintain your PSP under changing circumstances and in different roles. Think of change as a challenge that will magnify your "PSP," not as a threat to your pride or security.

You can be a happier person--and better equipped to cope with life's daily grind--if you master the secret of what is known as Productive Self-Pride. Also, develop what I call flexibility. Take the example of a woman who gets all her PSP out of being a good mother. She must not lose sight of the fact that she also may be a great cook, bridge player or trusting friend.

Finally, show your new-found PSP in the way you act, look and dress, such as by wearing clothes that make you feel good; adopting a new fashionable hairstyle, and straightening your posture. You will feel happier with yourself and the world about you.

Survey--how do students like CC?

Could you spare about a half an hour to better the faculty-student relationship here at FCC? The opportunity is heading your way.

Sometime next week both day and night students will be asked to complete a survey in hopes of helping the FCC personnel understand the needs of the students.

Counselor John Ryska, the main person trying to get this survey taken, said its main objective is "to obtain the feelings and attitudes of students in regard of the services performed at FCC."

The survey is a booklet containing 170 questions pertaining to the feelings of the students. Results will be analyzed by a computer to come up with the percentage of students feeling certain ways.

Ryska feels that this is a "good opportunity to get some input, a way with meaning to help the growth of the school."

FCC can't grow and change to a better school for the faculty and students without knowing their needs and wants. Ryska feels this survey can help make the students' feelings known; from there, services can be made more helpful to the students.

Library is open Saturdays for finals study

The Learning Resource Center--both Media Center and Library--will be open the next three Saturdays for the convenience of students who need to use the center in preparation for final exams.

The Saturday hours will be 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

FCC reps to conference on disabled

Eleven representatives of City College are attending the first annual convention of the California Association of Post-Secondary Educators of the Disabled (CAPEDE) yesterday and today at Fresno's Airport Marina Hotel.

Convention chairman Gary Graham, who directs the Enabler services program at FCC, said the organization was formed last year as a means for continued expansion of inter-college communication between personnel serving the handicapped at the post-secondary level.

Also attending from the FCC Enabler office will be counselor Anne Boggs, learning disabilities specialist Janice Emerzian, and eight graduate student interns. Mrs. Emerzian will give a presentation on innovative services offered the learning disabled.

Other presentations will include "Sex and the Disabled," "Wheelchair Athletics and Corrective Physical Education," "Utilization of Governmental Agencies," and "Innovation in Training of the Disabled."

Top novelist will speak at Black-in tomorrow

International best-selling author Sam Greenlee will be the featured speaker during City College's seventh annual "Black-In" today and tomorrow.

Greenlee, whose recent best-selling novel, "The Spook Who Sat Behind the Door," was translated into five languages, including Japanese, and made into a featured film by United Artists, will speak and show a portion of the film at 2:45 p.m. Friday.

"Black-In," sponsored by the Pan African Union and Associated Student Body, is held each year to encourage community members and parents of city college students to visit the campus.

The program will begin Thursday at 2:30 p.m. with the screening of the film "Watts Stax" in the auditorium.

On Friday, the program will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day, concluding with a dance at 5:20 p.m. featuring Black Fur, a rock band. Activities on Friday will be held in the Student Lounge and are free.

Greenlee, 39, a resident of Chicago, worked for the United States Government as a Foreign Service Officer and information specialist in several foreign countries before turning his talents to writing.

"The Spook Who Sat Behind the Door," published in 1969, concerns a Black former CIA agent who uses guerilla warfare tactics during Black uprisings in America. He co-produced the film version of the book.
