June Graduates Begin Application

Thirty-six Fresno Junior College students have already applied for the associate of arts degree.

Willa Marsh, FJC's dean of students, announced 100 students may be eligible for the degree. She has asked them to notify her if they will be candidates for the degree and, if so, to file immediate application with Mrs. Lena M. Fuller, the registrar.

FJC's graduating class last spring totaled 48; there were 50 sophomores who graduated in June of 1952.

The students who have already applied for the degree are Johnnie Carter, Viola Gilpin, Carole Gostanian, Mrs. Rosetta Guernsey, Evelyn Hamby, Dorothy L. Harris, Richard E. Lozano, Harold E. Haynes, Arthur Lea, Lottie V. Lee, Kenneth Lundburg, Willie L. Mayfield, Bennie Moritz.

Larry Parker, Robert Perry, David J. Rabon, Kaye Frances Rhem, Lawrence Schmitz, Henry Scroggins, Donald N. Shroyer, Joyful Smith, Richard L. Smith, Patsy J. Still, Neil H. Ulsh, Fred Valenzuela, Jr., Jesse H. Waller, Mary E. Wright, Haruo Yamaoka, James White, Floyd White, Shige-ko Shimokubo, Mineko Kuramoto, R. Garry Clemmitt, Blanche Milhahn, Bertha Hodge, and Oliver Riggins.

RED KEY PREXY GIVES THANKS

In behalf of Red Key, FJC's student service organization, I would like to extend our sincere appreciation for the help and cooperation of the clubs, students, alumni, faculty and custodians in making this year's Red Key Carnival a big success.

For their wonderful support and cooperation, I would also like to express our gratitude to Miss Willa Marsh, dean of students; N. T. Goolsby, head custodian, and Merle Sons, James Dinsdale and Walter Ridge, shop instructors.

The individual Red Key committee chairmen for their hard work on over-all preparations for the carnival and the Red Key sponsors, Dr. Rolf Ordal and Stanley Bennett, also deserve a huge note of thanks.—Thanks!

Pat Still
Red Key President

NEW FATHERS DON'T FADE AWAY — THEY JUST ACT THAT WAY . . . Donald N. Shroyer, Rampage sports editor, is passing out cigars nowadays since his wife, the former Ellen Allen, left, presented him with a six pound seven ounce baby girl. Mrs. Shroyer was a member of the Rampage staff last year.

Rampage Sports Editor Becomes Proud Father

A six pound, seven ounce baby girl, Donna Michelle, was born to Donald Shroyer, Rampage sports editor, and Mrs. Shroyer, the former Ellen Allen, on November 13 in the Sequoia Hospital.

Shroyer and Mrs. Shroyer were editor and assistant editor, respectively, on the Rampage last year. This year Shroyer writes the sports news.

The proud papa is passing out cigars and showing Donna Michelle's picture to everyone on the campus.

Donna Michelle, their first baby, has a nervous papa forgetting he is a sports editor; he wrote the Rams were playing the Giants Friday in one paragraph and Saturday in the next.

Shroyer is happy to say Ellen is doing fine.

RAMPAGE STAFF TAKES VACATION

"The Rampage staff will again take a holiday due to the Thanksgiving Vacation, and the lack of time to put out the paper," announced Haruo Yamaoka, Rampage editor.

The next issue of the paper will be printed December 10.

Student Nurses Take Academic Training Course

Thirty-six student nurses are taking their academic training at Fresno Junior College in the cooperative program between FJC and the Fresno County General Hospital.

Kenneth Hald, the instructor in charge of the professional nursing program, said all student nurses who have studied at FJC the past five years have passed their state board examinations.

Their courses and instructors include anatomy, physiology and microbiology, Hald; psychology, John Mock; sociology, Dr. Lucile Williams, and dietetics, Mrs. Mildred Botsford.

In addition to the cooperative program, FJC offers a year of pre-clinical nursing to qualify candidates for admission to all schools of nursing.

Hald said students who take one or two years of class work can qualify for an associate of arts degree at FJC. Then they are placed as apprentices in hospitals and medical centers in preparation for the national registry examination for registered laboratory technicians. Hald said he has placed every student in the program in jobs.

Hald also said that FJC offers pre-courses in medicine, dentistry, and public health to prepare students for medical and dental schools.

Rams Must Knock Over COS For League Title

By DON SHROYER

Coach Hans Wiedenhofer will take his Fresno Junior College Rams to Visalia Saturday night to meet the powerful College of Sequoias Giants in the Mineral King Bowl to decide the 1953 football champion of the Central California Junior College Athletic Association.

Actually it is not a case of the winner takes all, for the COS Giants can only play the spoilers role in Saturday's contest because the COS eleven has already been logically eliminated through previous league action. On the other hand, the Rams must win this game to become 1953 champs. Should Fresno not win, the league would have co-champions in Porterville and Fresno.

The Porterville Pirates were beaten by the Rams for the only league loss on the Pirate schedule. The Pirates concluded their league action on Armistice Day when they downed the Taft Cougars in Taft by the score of 28-13. In addition to the win over Taft, the Pirates have victories over College of Sequoias and Reedley Junior College.

The Giants have had a pretty rough season thus far and in league action have only won one contest, that being a victory over the Reedley Junior College Tigers. In their other two outings, the Giants lost to Porterville and Taft. The Giants, however, are currently riding on a three-game winning streak and are improving with each contest.

The Rams are currently enjoying a five-game winning streak, which began when the Rams upset San Bernardino a little over a month ago. The Rams then roared through three straight league opponents and scored a impressive victory over the San Jose Frosh last week end.

Wiedenhofer will most likely go with Nick DiLiddo and Nick Ceppaglia at the ends, Tom Ryan and Charles Ratliff at the tackles, Dick Yecny and Tex Rankin the guards, and Don Kloppenburg over the ball. In the backfield will be Millard Hampton at fullback, two of the following five, John Souza, Jim Travis, Bill Smith, Floyd White, and Lloyd Willis, at the halves and Lee Storelee at quarterback.

Pigskin Rallies End Tomorrow

The last football rally of the season will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Memorial Auditorium. Classes will be dismissed to enable all students to attend.

The rally will precede the final game of the season to be held in Visalia Saturday night against the College of Sequoias.

An outstanding program has been planned by Shirley Hansen, who is in charge of the rally.

Oliver Riggins is scheduled for a rendition of "Cry" in pantomime. Hawaiian dancers, namely Lee Storelee, Carmen Eanni, Nick Di Liddo, Johnnie Souza, and Allen Eldred, doing the hula, will put in an appearance.

Dances by Sandra Sims and Anita Ferrell, a skit with Sam the Ram III, Art Tyler and his drums, the pep girls, a rooting section and a talk by Coach Hans Wiedenhofer will also be featured.

"This is the last football game of the season and all are urged to see the game and support our team. Remember, we have to beat COS or we will be tied for the championship," said Miss Hansen.

FJC President Seen On TV

Stuart White, Fresno Junior College president, Erwin A. Dann, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of secondary education, and Lawrence E. Toddhunter, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of elementary education, recently participated in a TV program discussing "Schools are Big Business."

The program, know Your Neighbor, aired over KMJ-TV, discussed the building program whereby two new junior highs and the Roosevelt auditorium are being built and the proposed senior and junior highs. Dann also spoke of the teacher shortage, democracy in the high schools, the accrediting of Fresno schools, and the growth and scope of the school system.

Scene two showed Toddhunter, who pointed out that Fresno herself has grown rapidly as well as her schools. He used a map to show the location of the different schools, and made the statement that schools being used today look much different than the old schools, in that they stress color and beauty.

White, the third on the program, spoke of the growth of the Fresno Junior College. He told of the different sections represented by the student body and used a chart to show the veterans who are enrolled in the junior college.

The program closed with a discussion led by KMJ announcer Jack Hall, of the most heartwarming human element of the divisions represented and a short credo from each of the men.

FBLA FEATURES FIELD TRIPS

The Future Business Leaders of America will tour through the local utility company next Tuesday at 3 p.m.

FJC's FBLA was represented at the central regional conference of the organization in Madera by Bettie Iversen, Nancy Moore, Aurora Morris, Irene Papadakis, Gladys Popp, Mildred Shaw, Louella Williams, Mary Ann Barthollic, Carol Deeter, Wesley Goodall and Joe Marcelli, Mrs. Edna Hartley and Miss Nancy Webster, who are the sponsors of the club, and Stanley Bennett, economics instructor.

Ronald Liles, president, said that all FJC students are invited to go on any field trip conducted by the FBLA.

NAVY SPOKESMAN TO VISIT CAMPUS

Lietutenant Commander A. D. Ashmore, of the US Navy, "will come aboard" the Fresno Junior College campus on Wednesday, December 2, to discuss the current provisions and opportunities of the Naval Aviation Cadet Program and to conduct interviews with prospective applicants from the school.

The officer will be located in the Ramble Inn between the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Do You Have Trash Can Phobia? We Hope Not!

Are you allergic to trash cans?

It seems most of us are. We don't think what this school would look like if we all started throwing papers around, and no one ever pick them up.

Who goes around picking up your candy wrappers, coke bottles, and cigarette butts? Nobody else, but the custodian staff, headed by N. T. Goolsby. You rarely see them, but they grind away thoroughly and quietly. Without their work, Fresno Junior College's campus would be an absolute mess.

A little cooperation from some of us in the way of doing little things would make our campus a campus to be proud of.

Don't throw papers and cigarettes around so carelessly or leave bottles lying on the ground for other students to fall over them; after all, people will judge you on the appearance of your campus.

W. J. RIDGE TEACHES WHAT BENJAMIN FRANKLIN PROVED

By MARGARET SISNEROS

Two hundred years ago Benjamin Franklin flew a kite to prove his theory about electricity; today W. J. Ridge teaches the fundamental facts about electrons and protons to 44 FJC students in his electricity classes. He also teaches electrical motor rewinding.

Previously Ridge has taught night apprentice classes for seven years.

In the way of motors, Ridge has first hand knowledge since he ran his own motor repair shop for 28 years.

Ridge said, "The industrial field electricity offers many opportunities to young men since it is an open field and since television has boomed the market. Electricity has become as essential as air in our modern world today."

Rock grinding, reupholstery and geology occupy most of his spare time. He has been married for 18 years and thinks FJC is a fine school.

FJC's Marching Band Receives Excellent Rating

A rating of excellent was given to Fresno Junior College's band for their participation in the Armistice Day's parade.

The band is enthusiastic and enjoys working together, said C. Lowell Spencer, FJC's band director.

Lowell also said that the judges praised FJC's band for their good marching and excellent sound, considering the size. Al Neissur drilled the 35-piece band, consisting of pep girls, majorettes, drum major and band members.

The band will play for the Christmas assembly and the freshman dance to be held December 4.

FJC Downs Reedley — SJ Frosh

Fresno Scores Impressive Victories Over Opponents

The Fresno Junior College Rams continued their winning ways these past two weeks as they posted two more impressive victories to their growing 1953 list. The Rams marked up a league win when they downed the Reedley Tigers, 32 to 7, in Ratcliffe Stadium Saturday, November 7.

Friday night proved to be an unhappy Friday the thirteenth for the San Jose Frosh as the Rams sloshed through a sea of mud to down the frosh, 25 to 13.

Millard Hampton, Fresno Junior College's star fullback; who thrilled the fans with an 85 yard touchdown run, proved too much for the Reedley Tigers as he led the Rams to an easy victory over the Tigers.

The Rams took advantage of early first quarter breaks to pile up a 13 to 0 lead as quarterback Lee Storelee supplied the first break when he intercepted a Reedley pass on the Tiger 45 yard line.

Seven plays later the Rams were leading, 7 to 0. On the ensuing kickoff, Reedley's Darl Alexander fumbled and the Rams recovered on the Tiger 39.

Fred Snyder bucked for two and Storelee stepped back and fired a pass to halfback Lloyd Willis, who caught it on the Tiger 20 and raced to the 10 before he fumbled as he was being tackled.

However, Snyder came along and scooped up the ball and scampered across the goal line for the Rams' second score. Snyder's second conversion try was wide and the Rams led, 13-0.

The Tigers marked up their only score in the second quarter when quarterback Odell Youngblood carried on a sneak from the one-yard line to score with just 4½ minutes remaining before half-time. Ray Jadwin's conversion try was good.

Jadwin then kicked off to fullback Hampton, who fumbled with the ball on his own 15, finally got a good hold on the ball, and started to his right to follow his interference. He cut back to his left, shaking one tackler after another, and raced all the way, to give the Rams a 19 to 7 halftime edge. Snyder's boot was wide.

The third quarter saw plenty of action as the two teams saw-sawed back and forth across the middle of the field with neither team scoring.

The final stanza, which required forty minutes to play, saw the Rams have two touchdowns called back because of penalties before they managed to push one over when Willis wiggled from the ten-yard line marker to score. This time Snyder's kick was again wide, and the Rams led, 25 to 7.

A few plays later halfback Jim

Travis crossed the goal line on a 31-yard run, only to have it called back because of an offside penalty. Four plays later quarterback Storelee passed to Travis on the Tiger five, where Travis scooted across for the Ram's final score. Snyder's final conversion try was good. A little over a minute remained to be played before the final gun.

Fumbles dominated the gridiron of San Jose as 23 were recorded during the Fresno Junior College Rams and San Jose Frosh tilt played there Friday night on the rain-soaked turf.

The Rams got the best of the Spartan Frosh to the tune of 25 to 13.

The many fumbles figured in nearly all of the scores for both

Rams Play Title Deciding Game In Visalia Stadium

By DON SHROYER

I'm a poppa! Yes! It's a girl, too! Ellen's fine!

Oh! This ain't the "Births" column; this is a sports column (supposedly); let's get on with the sports news.

The time has come! By 10:30 this Saturday night the Fresno Junior College Rams should know if they are the 1953 champs of the Central California Junior College Athletic Association or co-champions of the league with Porterville Junior College.

The contest will be played in Visalia at 8 p.m. in the Mineral King Bowl.

It certainly is a shame that Ram fullback Millard Hampton delayed joining the FJC gridders earlier this season when practice sessions began. Hampton just started hitting on all fours during the Reedley contest. Previously he only showed occasional spurts of greatness that is within him. Hampton potentially is a junior college All-American, but the thing that will defeat his being called to the select circle will be his poor showing in the early part of the season.

teams; both teams recovered 8 fumbles each. However, the Rams fumbled 12 times while the Spartans lost control of the ball only 11.

The first score of the game was made during the second quarter when halfback Floyd White bulled over the nine for a Ram score, which followed a Ram recovered fumble on the Spartan 26-yard line.

The Spartans scored a little later in the second quarter when Tuck Halsey, a former Hanford High School Star, scored from 24 yards out to tie the game, 6 to 6. The score remained the same at half time.

Ram star fullback Hampton scored next when he scampered for 15 yards during the third quarter, with Storelee adding another point with his conversion try.

A Hampton to Storelee lateral early in the fourth quarter gave the Rams another touchdown, and the Rams were leading, 19 to 6.

punt. A few plays later Jim Johnson bucked over from the one-yard line to give the Spartans another score.

A few minutes before the final gun Johnson fumbled on the Spartans 15, and in two plays Hampton had smashed over for another score.

Cagers Prepare For Season Opener

By EDDIE PEREZ

Much speed and scoring ability is being shown to Ram cage mentor Joe Kelly in preparing for what is expected to prove the toughest casaba schedule in the history of FJC.

Edison High, which last year offered the Rams a scoring duet in Don Steitz and Huey Davis, again comes through in producing and delivering highly touted cage stars Ray Williams, Harvey Green, Cleo Coleman, Odell Johnson and Ernie Slade.

All were members of Edison High's valley championship squad last year and are expected to step in as the starting Ram quintet in the opener with Castle Field in Merced.

The "Little Man," Don Steitz, is expected to be somewhat of a problem to the opposing teams with his speed and deadly accuracy. He should blend in beautifully with the other starters. He is an ex-Edison ace.

Gerald Bender, a 6 foot, 3 inch center from Sanger, will also be one to see plenty of action.

Other prospective cagers are Dewey Kée, Oliver Riggins, John

Five Students Will Attend State Conclave At Asilomar

Five Fresno Junior College student body officers will attend the sixteenth semi-annual California Junior College Student Government Association Conference in Asilomar, Pacific Grove, from today to Saturday.

They are Gerald Bender, student body president; Carol Gostanian, treasurer; Sue Sheehan, secretary; Frances Purroy, president of the Associated Women Students, and Haruo Yamaoka, student publication commissioner.

They will be accompanied by Joseph W. King, the council adviser, who is a member of the state liaison committee between the student government association and the California State Junior College Association.

Vallejo Junior College is the principal host for the meeting, assisted by Napa, East Contra Costa, West Contra Costa, Santa Rosa, Stockton, Hartnell, and Monterey Peninsula Junior Colleges, the City College of San Francisco and the College of Marin.

Fresno Junior College was host to the state conference in the fall of 1951.

Frosh Leaders Work On Dance

The acting freshman president, Jean Bartlow, announced the freshman class is working on a December 4 dance, which will be at the Lafayette School.

The funds still have to be raised. Freshmen meet every Wednesday in S-10 at noon. The frosh leaders report they need a lot of support if this dance is to go over right, and ask if you have any ideas to contact Beverly Baird, chairman of the committee on ways and means.
