State JC Association Will Hold Fall Meet At Yosemite

The California Junior College Association will hold its annual fall conference in the Ahwahnee Hotel of Yosemite National Park Oct. 29 to 31.

President Stuart M. White of FJC said the association will observe the golden anniversary of junior college education in California and give recognition to Fresno Junior College as the state's first two year college.

In the Yosemite convention FJC will be honored at a banquet Oct. 29 when White will introduce musical groups from the college. Dr. Frank W. Thomas, president emeritus of FSC, will speak on "The Past and the Future of California Junior Colleges," and Dr. Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, will speak on "History and Accomplishments of California Junior Colleges."

The theme of the convention will be "Fifty Years in Service and Still Growing — California Junior Colleges Move Forward in Technical and Vocational Education."

After the state legislature authorized junior colleges in 1907, FJC was the first to be established under the legislation. In Sept. 1910, with 19 students and three instructors it became the 13th grade of Fresno High School in the FHS building at 1430 O Street.

The first class included Eleanor Webster, now Mrs. Ira Rowell of Berkeley, a sister of Miss Nancy Webster, an FJC instructor, and Mylius Summers, now Mrs. R. L. Schoemake of Fresno, who retired from the FJC faculty in 1951.

Charles McLane became the first president of the Fresno Normal School, later Fresno State College, in 1911, also in the Fresno High School building.

George W. Hunting was dean of the first FJC; A. C. Olhey was the high school principal and J. A. Nowell the vice principal.

In 1921, under the district junior college law of that year, FJC was combined with the Fresno Normal School. The O St. plant became the Fresno Technical High School as Fresno High School moved to Echo Ave.

In 1948, the Strayer Report on the state's system of higher education recommended FJC be separated from the state college, and this was done in the fall of 1948 at the O St. site. By 1950 the

Men Outnumber Women At FJC

More than 70 per cent of the 3,418 FJC students are men. George C. Holstein, dean of admissions, said that the men total 2,507, while the women students only number 913.

However, the proportion is only about two to one among day students. FJC has 1,822 day students, including 1,208 men and 614 women. The 1,596 night students include 1,297 men and 299 women.

The day figures include 54 high school boys who take Industrial training at FJC, and the night totals include 44 men in the Air Force for whom the college offers special classes. This total does not include 60 students who have withdrawn from school.

Holstein added that the primary reason why FJC has such a large preponderance of men on campus is that the technical and industrial division has 1,399 men and 89 women plus the high school students.

In the business division men students outnumber women by a slight margin, 394 to 359, while in the general education division the men total 614 and the women 465.

The dean of admissions said, the most popular majors in the technical and industrial division are engineering with 283 men and

Students Ignore Problems

In the present world, there are situations and events which have significance to all of us, no matter how distant they may be.

A recent event of startling significance is the proposed mobilization of troops in Syria, and another is, of course, the launching of the Russian satellite.

It would seem though that the students of today are more inclined to be better informed about the national origin of Marlon Brando's bride, and who were the most famous guests at Mike Todd's recent enterprise in Madison Square Garden.

While attending college, many students are ignoring one of the paths leading to a well diversified education. Each day every student comes in contact with at least one daily newspaper. It is on a sad note that it must be said that the majority of students read only the lighter features or nothing at all of the daily newspapers available.

For the majority of today's students, the newspaper's front page and its editorial page are just a blur as they hurriedly seek out the sports, comics and social sections.

Unless students free themselves from this attitude of indifference and only local self concern, they will find themselves lagging far behind both as citizens and students.

By keeping well informed concerning the world's far-flung events and situations, today's students will be more ready to cope with the problems and decisions of the future.

Events in distant places cannot be discarded as being too foreign to have any effect within American shores.

Remember, it was the discovery of the potential of splitting the atom in an obscure German laboratory that was to alter the course of the world.

Student Lounge Open Daily

The student council has voted to open the student lounge on the second floor of the student center, SC 230, from 10:30 A.M.-4:30 P.M. including the noon hour from Monday through Friday.

The council approved a report recommending regulations for the student lounge submitted by a committee headed by Ken Pipes and appointed by Al Grace, the student body president. The council's action also was approved by Archie Bradshaw, the dean of students.

Clubs may use the room at night and serve refreshments, utilizing the kitchen which is connected to the lounge, but they will be responsible for damages incurred.

Bradshaw stated that if clubs wish to use the lounge at night, they may obtain through their sponsors a petition form from the office of John S. Hansen, the administrative dean. The petitions, signed by the sponsors should then be submitted to Bradshaw for approval.

FJC Choir Prepares For Holiday Sing

Under the direction of Lowell C. Spencer, the Fresno Junior College choir is now preparing Christmas music.

A program of carols will be presented to students at the annual Christmas assembly. The choir will also do a program on the radio during the festive holiday.

The choir, consisting of 44 members, practises daily at 10:40 A.M. Mr. Spencer stated that a variety of music was sung in order to acquaint the members with every phase including folk, popular, sacred and spirituals songs.

An ensemble of 13 students, chosen from the choir, entertained last evening at a Masonic dinner and meeting.

They have also been asked to present a musical program on Oct. 29 at Yosemite Valley National Park where the fall conference of the California Teacher's Association is being held.

SCHOLARSHIP — Mrs. M. U. Schwartz, right, scholarship chairman of the Fresno Council of Jewish Women, presents a $30 scholarship check to Sonya Miller, an FJC sophomore.

Jewish Women Award Given To Sonya Miller

Sonya Miller was recently awarded the Association of Jewish Women Scholarship.

The scholarship, given twice yearly, was presented to Miss Miller by Mrs. M. U. Schwartz, the chairman of Fresno Council of Jewish Women.

The scholarship selection was made by the Fresno Junior College scholarship committee headed by Archie Bradshaw.

Miss Miller, 18, is attending FJC and majoring in education. She is also studying music at the Garrick Little Theatre. When asked why she was taking both she replied, "I would like to have something to fall back on if I don't become a singer."

Miss Miller's chief interests are horseback riding, painting and men.

On receiving the scholarship, Miss Miller stated, "I appreciate and want to thank the Jewish Women for their sincere interest in my voice and I will try and use their scholarship to further my career in the field of music."

Noted Artist Attends FJC

Ernie Palomino, a Fresno Junior College art major, recently had a painting and drawing by him exhibited at the Fresno County Fair.

"I feel very honored that my work was selected to be displayed at the fair because of the hundreds of entries from all over the San Joaquin Valley, only 140 were picked," commented Palomino.

He explained that the painting, entitled "Ying Yang," depicted a Chinese proverb. "Laura," a picture of musicians at work, was the name of the black and white drawing.

Several of Palomino's drawings are now being displayed at the Crocker Gallery in Sacramento, California. The art show will run until next Monday.

A book written by Palomino, entitled "In Black and White," was published in 1956 by the Academy Library Guild and explains the evolution of an artist.

The book is currently with the Rounce and Coffin Exhibition touring the United States.

He also is interested in music. He plays the drums for the Hayward Lee band "even though I don't care for Rhythm and Blues music," he stated. He explained that classical music and progressive jazz were his main likes in the music field.

His main objective as far as the future is concerned, is to go to Europe and study art on his own. He also intends to do some mural painting sometime in the future.

Wife Of FJC Founder Dies

Mrs. Elizabeth P. McLane, the widow of the late Charles L. McLane, the man who requested a junior college for Fresno, died recently in her home in Carmel, Monterey County.

She was born in Clay County, Mo., and was educated at the University of Missouri, and Teacher's College in New York City. She was a teacher at Fresno State College from 1920-until her marriage in 1933.

Her husband, while superintendent of schools for Fresno requested a junior college for Fresno, which was approved by the city board of education in 1910.

She resided in Carmel soon after the death of her husband in 1949. Her daughter, now Mrs. Marguerite Harris, was a member of the second class of FJC from 1911-12.

723 Veterans Attend FJC

"There are now 723 veterans attending Fresno Junior College," said George C. Holstein, dean of admissions and records.

There are 701 veterans under the provision of public law (PL) 550—that is 188 more than last year; eight under the California veterans law; seven under public law 894, which is the rehabilitation act; and seven under the war orphan's act.

Mr. J. G. Corbitt, manager of the veteran's administration regional office in San Francisco, announced (regarding the issuance of training allowance checks), that: (1) Veteran's enrolled Sept. 1 through 19 and whose enrollment papers were received in the office by Oct. 10, should receive their checks shortly after Oct. 22. (2) Veteran's whose papers were received after Oct. 10 should receive their check 15 days after the receipt of enrollment papers. (3) Veteran's enrolled on and after Sept. 20 and whose enrollment papers are received in the office prior to Nov. 4 should receive a combined check for Sept. and Oct. payments on or about Nov. 20.

COS To Host Chess Tourney

All chess players, especially beginners, are invited to enter the California State Regional Open chess tournament at College of the Sequoias Nov. 1 and 2.

Whatever the students opinion is of his ability or development as a chess player the tournament, hosted by the COS Chess Club, will find a level of competition for him. Each section, beginners and experienced, will be played in four rounds.

This is the first regional chess tournament ever held in this area, according to Fred Robins, club adviser. It is one of several scheduled throughout the state designed to obtain 1,000 new members for the California State Chess Federation.

New Federation members will participate in a North versus South Chess Match to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Federation next May.

Entries must be received before Oct. 31. Entrance and other information can be obtained by writing the COS Chess Club or by telephoning Fred Robins at Redwood 4-3782 or Chris Fotias at Redwood 2-1835.

Spotlighting
the Sports

By BILL SEWALL
Sports Editor

It looks like the Rams are getting better with every game they play. After gaining their first win of the season 20-0 over a strong Taft team they then continued their winning ways to defeat a highly touted Citrus JC team 40-25 headed by an all American Junior College basketball star, Bill Kilmer. Judging from the way Kilmer plays football, perhaps he should also have another All-American spot. Just the same, however, a chain is only as strong as its weakest link and Kilmer's efforts were not enough to offset a running barrage thrown at his team by Fresno Junior College's Vestee Jackson, Alex Kobzoff, and Kenny Pipes.

After a defense-dominated first half, both teams paraded their finest in offensive skills. In the last half Fresno scored 33 points while Citrus was picking up 19.

In other games played this weekend, Reedley edged out Taft 13-12 to maintain their league lead, College of the Sequoias trounced Coalinga 25-8, and Porterville walked over Hancock 25-0.

Baseball

On the diamond the Bulldogs of Fresno State College edged out FJC's Rams 5-4 in ten innings.

The Rams picked up single runs in the first and sixth innings and tallied twice in the seventh. The Bulldogs came up with four big runs which were highlighted by a three-run homer by Bulldog shortstop Frank Diel in the fourth.

The Ram's Mike Noakes had three hits in four at bats to lead all players in that department.

Starr Announces
Seating Change

Paul Starr, Director of Athletics, has announced that the Fresno Junior College rooting section is going to change from the east side of Ratcliffe Stadium to the west side, next to Blackstone Ave.

Starting with the Coalinga Junior College game Saturday, the shift will be in effect.

The home team bench will now be located on the west side.

All FJC students purchasing tickets will get them at the west gate.

Flu Runs Course
On FJC Team

The "flu bug" hit the Fresno Junior College squad hard, but it has just about run its course.

Coach Hans Wiedenhofer said the score against the College of Sequoias might have been different had not so many players been ill.

FJC Rams Will Clash With Coalinga Falcons Saturday

Coach Hans Wiedenhofer will lead his Rams against the defending Central California Junior College Athletic Association champions, the Coalinga Falcons Saturday night in a game to be played at Ratcliffe Stadium at 8 P.M.

Last year the Falcons walked away with all the laurels in the CCJCAA as they finished ahead of everyone else for top league honors.

The Rams and Coalinga played to a 13-13 tie in their last meeting in that game. Several Ram penalties and Coalinga interceptions helped decide the game. Coalinga currently is tied for fifth place in the league with a record of no wins and two losses.

The Rams have picked up most of their ground this year through the running of Vestee Jackson, Kenny Pipes, and Alex Kobzoff. Coalinga has an excellent halfback in Bob Barker, plus a better than average line.

Here are the probable starting lineups:

Fresno JC Rams Crush Citrus
In Wild Second Half, 40-25

With Vestee Jackson, Alex Kobzoff and Kenny Pipes leading a five touchdown second half offensive thrust, Coach Hans Wiedenhofer's Rambling Rams scored a wild 40 to 25 non-league win over a game Citrus Junior College eleven last Saturday night.

The visitors were outmanned from the start, but quarterback Bill Kilmer emerged as the game's individual star as he tossed four touchdown passes and amassed a total of 260 yards through the air against the Ram defenders. The stocky 190 pounder completed 16 passes in 28 tries and kept the Southerners in the game until the final minutes.

Pipes scored the first Ram touchdown on a five yard burst over tackle in the first period. Kobzoff's kick was perfect and the locals led 7 to 0.

Citrus came back with a six pointer in the second quarter but failed to make the PAT and the Rams led 7 to 6 at the half.

The Rams put on a fine display of offensive power in the final period, and should the secondary have stopped Kilmer's passes, the affair would have been one sided. But Kilmer fired scoring tosses of 23, 10, 17 and 33 yards and the game was close until the final minutes.

Jackson, Fresno's pile driving fullback, intercepted a Kilmer pass in the final minutes and raced through and around the entire Citrus eleven enroute to a touchdown. The ex-Edison high school star refused to go down even though he was hit several times. He broke loose at the 30 yard line and scored standing up.

Quarterback John Lujano and reserve halfback Hank Stennis were other Ram backfield standouts. The entire Ram line was outstanding, especially on defense. Citrus gained only 51 yards rushing while losing a total of 65 yards.

Cagers Begin
Fall Practice

With the end of football season close at hand, the fancy of many Fresno Junior College men are turning to the hardwood and basketball.

At the opening of the first official practice held last Monday, 34 prospective cagers turned out.

Practice is being held at the "O" Street Campus of FJC Monday through Thursday afternoons. The team will continue to practice here until the latter part of November when they will then move to the Yosemite Junior High School Gymnasium for night workouts.

Coach Kelly said, "It's pretty rough trying to play basketball over at the old campus with only one wall having baskets. This makes it impossible for team scrimmage but, anyway no one scores any points against the other."

Kelly said, "We've got a good number of men out for basketball, but we lack height. Larry Gambrell, returning veteran, is about the only tall man we have on the squad, and in this league it certainly is important to have height. This year we have a good fast breaking team and a lot of boys who can shoot from the outside, but if I had last years height with this years speed, I would really have the team."

Some new material that Kelly expects a lot from are, John Hampton and Frank Johnson from Edsion; George Sarantos, Fresno High; John Kruzle, Clovis.
