

College Enrollment Increases Again For Fall Semester

Fresno City College enrollment continues to grow even though a number of other colleges have reported enrollment decreases.

FCC has 210 more students than the 4,008 total of a year ago, and 353 more than the 3,865 of the spring semester.

The current total is 88 above the 4,130 predicted for this fall in an enrollment projection made last spring. The total enrollment of 4,218 includes 2,330 day students and 1,888 night students.

Enrollment Predicted

The projection predicted fall semester registration of 4,430 in 1960; 4,830 in 1961; 5,230 in 1962; and 5,630 in 1963.

Mayor Arthur Selland of Fresno has predicted the city college will eventually have 10,000 students.

The total last fall included 2,204 day students, the previous record, and 1,804 at night. The total in the spring included 2,057 day students and 1,808 at night, the former high point.

Apprentice Classes

The only classes still open are those for apprentices in the evening division. They may enroll any time during the school year. The admissions office estimated 150 additional apprentices will register by Oct. 31, when the college computes its official enrollment.

The admissions office reported one decrease. Only 365 veterans are receiving subsistence from the federal or state government, compared to 698 a year ago. However, about 100 other veterans are in the process of applying for certification by the Veterans Administration.

Air Reserve Gives Jet To College

Fresno City College is the recipient of an F-86A Sabre Jet, which has been donated to FCC by the Air Force Reservists.

Lt. Col. W. S. Cope, Commander of the Fresno Air Reserve Center, said the plane cost $100,000 at the time of construction but is now considered obsolete by the Air Force.

Harmon W. Allen, instructor of the air frame class, said the plane was first released to the state and then given to FCC.

This type of plane was the type that was used in the Korean War and had a kill ratio of 14:1.

The jet has a wing and fuselage span of approximately 40 feet.

Shannon S. Smith, instructor of the air science class, and Allen are in charge of the plane.

The sabre jet will be used mostly for assembling and disassembling practice.

The main parts of the plane that will be used are the hydraulic, mechanical and electrical parts.

The plane is kept in the hanger in room T-600.

CC Instructors Earn Summer School Grants

Five FCC instructors were among 550 teachers from high schools, junior colleges and small four-year colleges who were granted summer school fellowships by the National Science Foundation this summer.

The five were Ray C. Cramer, who studied physics at the University of Texas in Austin; Carl H. Morgan, who studied physics at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles; Ernest H. Wolf, who studied engineering measurements at the Naval Graduate School in Monterey; Sydney D. Law, who studied chemistry; and Charles L. Moran, who studied biology at Oregon State College in Corvallis.

The purpose of the grants, which were offered in colleges and universities in 29 states and the District of Columbia, was to create more effective and stimulating teaching methods.

Cramer, in evaluating the program, said, "It is one of the best programs for improving instruction that the government has planned."

Moran, who came to FCC this semester from Fresno High School, also expressed his enthusiasm with the program.

The institutions that conducted the programs selected the participants on the basis of a written recommendation.

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS TO CONTINUE UNTIL 1961

Females Fill Four Executive Offices

The four executive student body offices are all held by women students for the first time in the history of FCC.

Shirley White has assumed the responsibilities of student body president. Assisting her in the other executive positions are Barbara Anderson, vice-president; Diane Nixon, secretary; and Carrol Jacobsen, treasurer.

Even though the females hold the top executive offices the ratio of the council is two men to every woman. There are 27 members on student council with a breakdown of nine women and 18 men.

The other elected officers are Barbara Warrington and Pete Farmer who are the Associated Women and Men student presidents.

The representatives are Lawrence Cobb, Sidney Craighead, Allen Graves, Al Gray, David Hanna, Buddy Murchison, Daniel Opperman, Fred Randall, Johnny Smart, and Tom Westerfield.

Miss White appointed the ten commissioners with the approval of the student council. They are Roger Dupzyk, assemblies; Ron Itskoff, athletics; Rodger Dunham, oral arts; Margaret Villalobos, publications; Rollin Scott, publicity; Eric Radanovich, rally; Lladona Miller, scholarships; Angie Casares, social affairs; Florence Harper, student welfare; and Charles Young, elections.

Miss White also appointed Robert Roe as parliamentarian.

Student Council Approves Budget

The Fresno City College student body has adopted a fall semester budget of $26,045. The current budget includes: assemblies, $250; Associated Men Students, $457; Associated Women Students, $685; athletic awards and letters, $1,000; baseball, $100; basketball, $1,588; conference, $722; cross country, $500; football, $6,012; golf, $100; guest fund, $60; honor and leadership awards, $500; insurance, $1,500; laundering and cleaning service, $600.

Oral arts is divided into four groups with appropriations as follows: band, $300; choir, $500; debate, $200; and drama $750.

Other allotments are: publicity, $617; rally, $1020; Rambler, $1,665; Rampage, $2,490; secretarial help, $80; social affairs, $860; student welfare, $75; transportation, $1,500; undistributed reserve, $1,000; water polo, $414; and wrestling, $500.

John S. Hansen, administrative dean, has extended an invitation to all Fresno City College students to inspect the new shop buildings just completed.

Hansen said the extensive program of campus improvements begun this year will continue until the fall of 1961.

Future Plans

Future plans call for the remodeling of the music department, A-133, which is now being used by Fresno State College. This room will be used by the music and drama departments.

The remodeling will begin next summer when FSC moves into its new speech building.

Campus improvements already in use include 283 new parking stalls completed during the summer. The stalls were obtained by eliminating a center strip on University Ave. and by cutting 25 feet from the lawns of the FCC library and the adjacent University Street Playhouse.

Concrete bumper strips are being built throughout the parking area. The parking project cost about $100,000, including property acquisition.

The entire west wing of the administration building has been remodeled for use by the business division.

East Wing Improvement

The home economics classes will soon move into the newly rebuilt rooms in the east wing of the administration building. The rooms have been painted, given new lighting and acoustical tile and have acquired new blackboards.

'Bus Stop' Chosen For Production

The FCC fall dramatic production "Bus Stop" by William Inge will be presented Dec. 11 and 12.

Clyde G. Sumpter, dramatic coach, announced that students wishing to try out may check out scripts from his office, A-154, starting Oct. 5. Tryouts will be announced.

"Bus Stop" is a three-act comedy with a cast of eight. There are five male and three female roles.

Sumpter commented that "Bus Stop" was a successful hit on Broadway with Kim Stanley and was very popular as a movie with Marilyn Monroe.

He said little comment is needed for the plot of the show inasmuch as so many have seen the movie.

Inge is also the author of the stage play and popular movie "Picnic."

FCC Cheer Section Sounds Like Harpo

There's nobody at Fresno City College. All those faces on campus carrying around books, they're not really people. They've got arms and legs and feet and heads, like most people, but they're really not.

They don't care for rock 'n' roll, or to watch M-Squad, or laugh at Jerry Lewis when he looks most like a monkey, or listen to the man who must think he recently visited the second greatest country in the world, Nikita Khrushchev. They're all more like Harpo Marxes riding bicycles through a department store.

Whatever happened to the days when a local theater used to show "The Eyes and Ears of the World," a news reel, and in the reel was featured the spirit of the 20's?

Those great 20's when a college student seemed to always have a pompon in his hand and was forever waving it all over the place, along with about 10,000 others? That was when they used to dance the Charleston, and people used to ride around in cars that looked like they wouldn't go anywhere. And that was when the girls used to say good-bye by waving the beads around their necks at whoever was leaving.

But today at FCC everybody is a Marlon Brando, a James Dean, a Diana Varsi, or a Greta Garbo, walking around the campus as if to say, "No comment."

The way students here back up their yell leaders if it wasn't for the wind that goes through the trees there wouldn't be any noise. Oh, whatever did happen to those great 20's?

Student Body Prexy Expresses Thanks For Successful Roundup

Dear Editors,
I want to thank all the people who helped to make the second annual Ramburger Roundup such a success last Friday night.

The custodians for setting up the tables and chairs and cleaning up; the cooks for preparing the food; the administration, who did a wonderful job cooking hamburgers and serving; the student council members, for decorating the social hall; the Ramburger Roundup committee, for planning it so well; the pep band, and most of all the wonderful people who came and made it such a wonderful get together.

I hope you all enjoyed yourselves and will plan to be at next year's annual Ramburger Roundup.

Sincerely,
Shirley White
ASB President

FCC Students Pledge Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

For the first time in the history of Fresno City College, the pledge of allegiance to the American flag is to be given every school day at the start of 8 AM classes. This is in accordance with the Board of Education and the California Administrative Code, Title V.

An act of legislation adopted May 28, 1959, makes the pledge mandatory in all California schools. John Hansen, Administrative Dean at City College, expressed the hope that all students will adhere to the new regulation respectfully.

Foreign students and civilians should show proper respect to the flag by standing at attention, preferably with their right hand over their heart. Persons in uniform must show respect with a military salute.

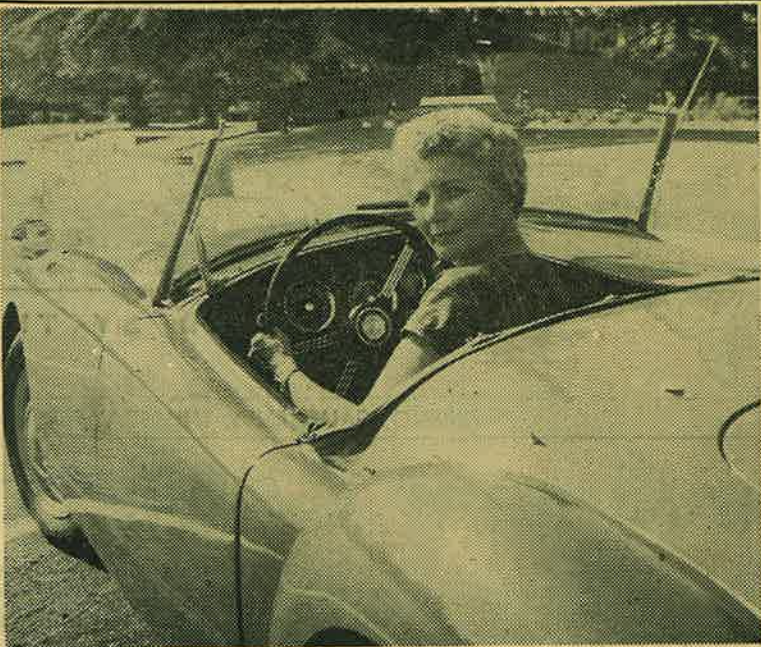

Air Force Starts ROTC Program

Capt. Carlson, AFROTC instructor, reported that a new ROTC program is taking place. The program is set up so that both FCC students and FSC students are trained at the same base. This is the only arrangement known where two colleges are together at one training area. There are five FCC students taking part in the program this year.

A FCC student wishing to join the ROTC must enroll at FSC first. Capt. Carlson said that perhaps in the future FCC students can register at FCC for the ROTC program.

The first two years of ROTC are basic training in which the students learn the fundamentals of air science; the next two years are advanced training. After a student has completed the ROTC program, a minimum of three years active duty is required. A student may also learn to fly while in the ROTC.

Fresno City College opened its doors in the fall of 1910 with a staff of three teachers and 28 students.

SPORTS CAR TRIP — Mrs. Louise Hazelton, English teacher, and her husband toured Alaska and Canada in an MG sports car during their summer vacation.

Teacher Takes Trip; Visits New State Via Alcan Hiway

Mrs. Louise Hazelton, CC English instructor, and her husband, Earl F. Hazelton, toured to Alaska this summer in an MG sports car.

Mrs. Hazelton said in a period of five weeks they covered 10,000 miles, saw many interesting historical sites and observed the beautiful Canadian and Alaskan countryside.

In Dawson City, located on the Yukon, they stayed in a hotel which had been built during the gold rush in 1898. Mrs. Hazelton commented that Dawson City at its pinnacle had a population of 50,000, since then it has decreased to 700. The people of this town, she said, deserted their homes and stores, taking only what they needed.

One of the most important aspects of the trip was the scenery. "The glaciers," Mrs. Hazelton said, "were so close to the road that they could be touched. The Alcan highway is located among the numerous snow capped mountain peaks of Alaska and Canada. For this reason the scenery is said to look very much like Switzerland."

On their trip Mr. and Mrs. Hazelton visited Lad Air Force Base, Circle Alaska, and Valdez, where they saw an old Russian church, which was built there by the first Russian settlers. They also drove to the base of Mount McKinley, which is the highest mountain in North America.

Mrs. Hazelton said the Alcan highway is an excellent dirt road which is maintained by the Canadian army in Canada and is paved in Alaska.

Courtesy Needed In Cafeteria

Mrs. Nina Stradal, cafeteria manager, explains that the cafeteria and coffee shop are for student use.

"Good food and service is our aim," Mrs. Stradal stated. "All who are working in the cafeteria are cooperating but we need cooperation from the students also."

Mrs. Stradal said, "The problem of books on cafeteria tables has always existed. I don't blame the students for bringing their books into the cafeteria. Some books have been stolen from the shelves that are provided. What we need are more book shelves closer to the cafeteria tables so it would be possible for a student to keep a watch on the books while eating."

What Is New?

By ANDREW FEDERICO

He was at the front of his English class in the library at Fresno City College, when he said, "Valor is the better part of discretion."

And some of the students, out of habit, quickly wrote the quotation down in their note books, while others looked haphazardly out of the window. One student, who had hesitated, suddenly jumped up and asked, "What does discretion mean?"

There was an evident wince on the instructor's face, but he replaced it with his mannerism of pushing his lower lip towards his nose and releasing an incoherent sound, something like an "mmm, mmmmm."

"I don't want to be sarcastic," the instructor finally said in a tone that seemed to have a smile behind it; "It's not good for an instructor to be sarcastic. But this is an English class, and one of the required texts for this class is a dictionary. I suggest you use it. Who knows? One of these days you may find it to be a valuable source of information. I'm assuming, of course, that you already know how to use it, and I'm sure you do."

Speaks To Class

The instructor paused, leaned back in his chair, and started to speak to the entire class.

"You have all got to labor in the vineyard," he said, now dropping the connotation in his voice. "I don't know how much English you will learn in this class. And I'd be a very poor instructor if I said I didn't care, but the truth is how much I do or don't care will not help you with your progress of the language. It all depends on how much you care, and by caring to labor for the need of knowledge."

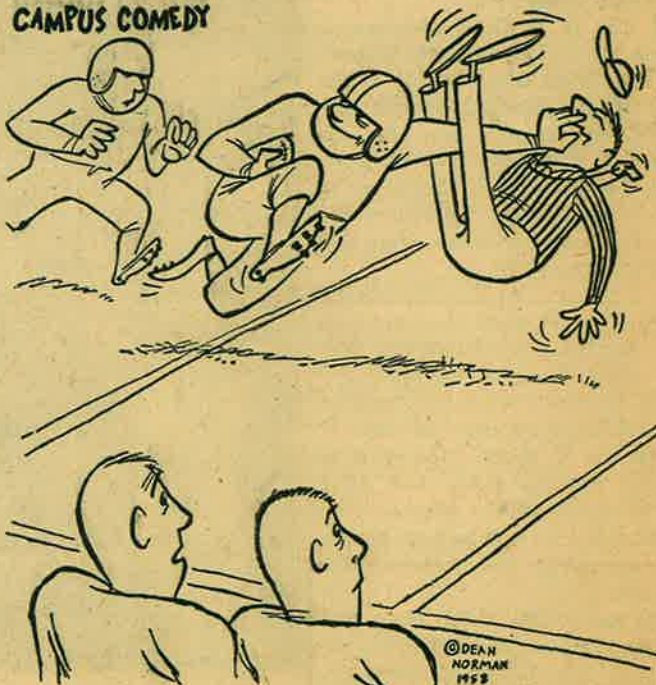

Waits For Attention

He waited to see how much attention he was getting, and then continued.

"No man is completely right or wrong, good or bad; rather he is each of these things in order of their sequence and through his own effort. If any of you here have decided to be anything at all, then you have also decided to labor in the vineyard, although it is possible that some of you do not know this yet."

The instructor's name was Paul L. R. Mueller (pronounced Miller). Until last spring, before he died, he taught English and literature at the Fresno City College. Nobody knows exactly what he leaves behind until he has left, and then maybe it is a fine thing like to remind those of his time that Shakespeare a long time ago said, "Valor is the better part of discretion."

Yearbook Is Edited By Ten Students New GI Bill Helps Vets Fix Classes

Arthur H. Margosian, yearbook advisor, announced that the 1960 yearbook will be edited this year by a staff of ten students.

The book, which will have 132 pages, will cost $2.50. The yearbook staff will begin taking orders on Monday in the student center foyer.

The yearbook editor is Eddie Wax. He will be assisted by Rae Pyatt, administration and faculty editor; Christine Harrison, activities editor; Michael Randall, art editor; and John Rea, sports editor.

The photography editor will be Mary Caldwell, who will be assisted by Richard Hansen, staff photographer. Gary Oberti is business manager and Shirlee Hogadone, typist-composer.

Veterans attending FCC under the Korean GI Bill may make a change in course of study under a new law giving more liberal rights to pursue advanced training.

Mrs. Louis Murphy of the veterans office said public law 86-150 enables a veteran to move from one GI course to another where the first "is prerequisite to, or generally required for" the second without being charged with his one-and-only change of course.

Before the new law was enacted, the Veterans Administration had no choice but to charge a veteran with a change of course, even if his first course of study was prerequisite to his second.

CC To Meet Giants In League Opener

By RICHARD KRIKAVA

The 1959 Central California Junior College Athletic Association football season will get under way Saturday night when the Fresno City College Rams meet the College of the Sequoias Giants in Visalia at 8 PM.

Head Coach Clare Slaughter of the Rams informed his team that "the party is over." He went on to say that the team would have to start "getting tough" and "show some signs of spirit" if they were going to get anywhere in this league.

Both the Rams and the Giants will be out for their first win of the season. COS has suffered defeats to Monterey Peninsula College of Monterey, 14-6, and to Mt. San Antonio, 27-7.

The Rams tied Fullerton in the opener, 6-6, and lost to highly rated Stockton College, 34-18. Both teams have met non-league "toughies" but the crying towel is not out at FCC.

Rams Do Or Die

Slaughter felt that the Rams had great opportunities of beating both Fullerton and Stockton. But once again it was Mr. Fumble that ruined their chances. Mr. Ball Control was in the Ram camp all week trying to take care of the matter, but the chips are down for the Rams for the COS game is a league contest.

The Fresno team holds an 8-2-1 record against the southern school. Ever since the 1948 Olive Bowl game against the Giants in which the Giants won 20-0, the Rams have dropped only one game and that was in 1949. In 1957 the two teams tied 20-20.

According to the "books" the Giants are ranked second behind Fresno in the league. The Giants are also rated 59th in the nation.

Giants Prove Strong

Scouting reports show that the Giants use the single wing with an unbalanced line to the right. Their interior line on defense has been reported as strong. They like to run up the middle and off tackle. They are basically a running team but they do throw. Their line isn't big but they can be tough. Both teams have plenty of speed but the Rams have more power.

One of the most dangerous weapons in football today is the quick kick, and COS has it. They used it with great results against Mt. SAC. This of course is one of the Rams weaknesses and the Giants will hold the edge in the kicking department.

Beagle To Start

On the other hand the Rams will be in good physical shape. They didn't suffer any major injuries in the Stockton game and they will be aided by the return of Cliff Beagle, who will start at tackle.

A backfield change could be in the making. Bob Guzzo, who had a 7.0 yard average per carry against Stockton, might crack the starting lineup at either halfback or at fullback.

Last year the Giants finished the season with a 4-5 record. The Rams defeated them 26-6.

Other league games will see Hancock at Taft, and Coalinga in Porterville. Neither Coalinga nor Hancock has suffered a defeat this year.

FCC Track Opens With Tri-Meet

Coach Erwin Ginsburg will take eight freshmen cross-country runners into their first run this year at Roeding Park. The tri-meet with College of the Sequoias and San Jose City College will be held tomorrow on a two and one-quarter mile course.

The races will start at the amphitheater, near the zoo, continue around the Roeding Park boundary, and conclude near Fort Miller.

The eight freshmen tracksters are Jim Hart from Roosevelt High School, Art Cardoza from Fresno High, Frenie Montanez from Central High School, Bill Hall, Jim Barnes, Maurice Sango, Bill Greene and Zackie Kepler, all from Edison High.

Water Polo Under Way

Coach Paul Pastor has put the call out for all water polo players. The team has already started workouts and will try to outdo last year's record. This is the sophomore year for polo at FCC.

An official schedule has not yet been released but contests are planned between Stockton College, College of Pacific, Fresno State College, and local high schools.

Players out this year include co-captains Chuck Polley and Frankie Franko, Steve Brooks, Eddie Fitzgerald, Roy Havenhill, Ken Hatch, Jerry Opperman, Mike Satterberg, Ed Seagle, David Denney, Ave Minasian, Lane Hatcher and Larry Psaltis.

Mustangs Down FCC Rams 34-18

The Stockton Junior College Mustangs downed the Fresno City College Rams, 34-18, in a high scoring non-league game at Stockton Saturday night. It was the final non-league game for the Rams before meeting College of the Sequoias in the league opener Saturday.

Again it was fumbles that ruined the Rams. The Mustangs turned two Fresno fumbles into two touchdowns. One of the Rams' TD's came on a recovered fumble.

FCC hit paydirt first in the first quarter. A poor Mustang punt gave the Rams the ball on the Stockton 28. Halfback Gene Bamburg carried for 14 yards from the 23. A pass from quarterback Bob Hart to halfback Willie Turner was good for the nine yards needed for the score.

Stockton tied the score minutes later with a recovered fumble. Waymond Hall went 29 yards for the Mustang tally.

Another recovered fumble put the Mustangs out in front to stay. John Nisby recovered a fumble by Hart on the 24. Hall went over on the next play.

Stockton Scores Twice

Stockton added insurance in the third quarter with two more tallies. One was a 31 yard run by Mac McKenzie and the other was a four yard drive by fullback Ken Schnell.

The Mustangs added their final TD in the early minutes of the final quarter.

Fresno Tallies For Two

The Rams came to life in the remaining minutes of the final quarter. A recovered fumble and a pass from quarterback Don Stockton to end Ron Leimbach was good for one touchdown.

With a few minutes left Tom Nonini intercepted a Stockton pass on the Mustangs' 30 yard line and ran all the way for the score.

Bob Guzzo and Gene Bamburg were outstanding offensive performers. Guzzo netted 42 yards in his first appearance for a 7.0 yard per-cary average. Bamburg added more yardage and now has netted 108 for a 5.1 average.

The scoring:

Fresno	6	0	0	12	— 18
Stockton	12	0	14	8	— 34
