Forensics Club Sponsors FCC Speech Tournament

Students interested in participating in FCC's second annual all school speech contest should contact Franz Weinschenk in M-128, by Nov. 17.

Weinschenk, sponsor of the Forensics Club, announced that the club will sponsor the second annual speech tournament Nov. 24, at 11 AM. All officially enrolled FCC students are eligible to participate.

Speech Rules

Weinschenk said the only contest rules are that the maximum length of speeches shall be six minutes and there will be no minimum length. He said sparse notes and charts may be used; however, students are cautioned not to use too many notes.

At present only eight students have signed up to participate. They are Frank Tierney, Carole Chenault, Charles F. Overs, Jr., Larry Hackett, Glenda Mae Parker, Adolf H. Jaskiewicz, James W. Brazil, and Ronald G. Eddington.

Weinschenk said he expects more students to sign up for the contest.

Contest Prizes

The prizes for the contest will be on display Nov. 1 in the showcase in front of the student center. A perpetual trophy has been donated by a local trophy shop. On it the winner's name will be engraved. Wayne Chapman was last year's winner.

A local gymnasium has donated three $25 gift certificates, and a local service station has furnished a car wash and lubrication.

Five members of the club are in charge of arrangements. They include Marvin Castagna, president, and Charles Overs, awards and trophy; Reggie Marcellino, judges; Beatrice Dunkin, and Eugene Salazar, publicity.

The other Forensics Club officers are Charles F. Overs, Jr., vice president; Beatrice Dunkin, secretary-treasurer; Reggie Marcellino, ICC Representative, and Eugene Salazar, public relations chairman.

New Clocks Start Ticking

The final spark enabling the mute bells at FCC to ring will be administered within a week. The adjustment of the clocks and bells will be made by a qualified technician.

John S. Hansen, administrative dean, made the announcement and said that until now the only thing lacking in the IBM electrical system, controlling the clocks and bells, was a qualified technician.

Melvin S. Norwood, supervising engineer, will have a technician at FCC within the week.

The new IBM electrical system will control approximately 60 clocks here. The system is regulated so that the clocks and class bells will be in unison.

As soon as the system is in operational order the clocks will automatically correct the time. The fire alarm will also be controlled by the IBM system.

This turn-to-automation at FCC will also mean that in the future, and by the use of the IBM system, the lawn sprinklers may be turned on or off with a touch of a button.

The system may also some day control the lighting system and the secretion of water in the urinals, all automatically.

The only clocks that did not need to be changed are in the library and student center.

Hansen said the things that can be done in the future with the system will be of great benefit to the school's manpower.

Businessmen Visit School Classrooms

Education-Business Day on Nov. 4 will take a different approach this year than it has in the past two years at FCC.

Even the name has been changed from Business Education day to Education-Business day. John S. Hansen, administrative dean, said that the reason for the change is because business men will visit the school classes this year.

In the past two years all schools were suspended so that the teachers could visit the different types of businesses and industries. Instead, businessmen will see the teachers at work, this year.

Out of all the schools in the tour FCC will have the most visitors. Seventy businessmen have chosen to visit FCC.

All 8:00 AM and 11:00 AM classes will be interchanged because of the tour. Hansen said the reason for the change is so the shop classes will be in action when the businessmen tour the campus.

The day will start out at Roosevelt auditorium. The businessmen will stay there from 8:30 AM to 9:30 AM. At 10:00 AM they will go to their desired schools; from 10:00 AM to 10:30 AM they will be given an orientation of the school.

Panel Evaluates Secondary Schools

By ROBERT L. VOSS

A five member panel moderated by Dr. William Wayne discussed and evaluated the future of business education in the secondary schools in the light of Dr. James B. Conant's report, "The American High School Today." The panel discussion was at the Central Section of the California Business Education meeting Saturday on the FCC campus.

The panel members indicated a well rounded program in business education should be emphasized as there is a need for the student to have a broader background in business education.

The panel suggested a survey of high school educators and business men be made to determine if two year courses are needed in such subjects as typing and shorthand,

Queen Will Win Crown Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the last day of Homecoming Week. It will feature crowning a queen, the Homecoming football game, a rally, and a dance.

The queen and her four attendants will be chosen by popular vote of the student body at the polls today from 8 AM to 3 PM. The queen will be crowned by Sylvia Gagle, the 1958 queen, during the half-time ceremony of the homecoming football game with Reedley College at 8 PM tomorrow in Ratcliffe Stadium.

Following the game will be a dance in honor of the queen and her four attendants. Jack Martin's band will play. The dance will officially end Homecoming week.

The candidates and their club sponsors are Mary Caldwell, Rally Club; Brenda Gail Daum, Campus Christian Fellowship; Deanna Dominguez, Latin American Club; Jo Ann Fragus, Associated Women Students; Sandra Lynn Getchell, Delta Psi Omega; Laurice Jibelian, International Club; Myrna Mikesh, Associated Men Students; Vernie Morison, Alpha Gamma Sigma; Janice Louise Pistacchio, Newman Club; Sherry Lyn Smith, Technical and Industrial Club; and Joanne Whittaker, California Student Teachers Association.

Sam The Ram

Sam the Ram, FCC's mascot, will be presented at the rally tomorrow at noon. Sam will also attend the football game.

An assembly today at 11 AM began the wind-up of the week's activities. Sidney Craighead was master of ceremonies of the program, which consisted of the introduction of the queen candidates, yells led by Reedley College and City College yell leaders, and speeches.

Shirley White, student body president, welcomed retired members of the faculty and alumni. Other speakers included Clare Slaughter, head football coach, and Carl Grace, an alumnus.

Alumni Luncheon

Immediately following the assembly was a luncheon for retired teachers and alumni. Archie Bradshaw, dean of students, welcomed the guests, and Miss White acted as mistress of ceremonies.

The co-chairmen of the Homecoming dance are Allen Graves and Sidney Craighead.

or if the student could spend this time to better advantage by studying a solid subject.

Many students are taking some business courses to help them with their overall academic program.

Dr. John Linn, California Business Education Association treasurer, talked about the CBEA's fund for the advancement of business education, a non-profit organization.

Some business organizations have shown an interest in the program and offered financial assistance.

The organization is in the formative stage with a committee being set up to determine the mechanics of the job, the type of research that will be beneficial to industry and the advancement of business education.

'Brave New World' In Fear, Unrest

The world is full of strife, fear and unrest. You hear these words in many forms each day. Your daily paper is a world of print full of unrest and your newscaster tells of fear even if he never actually utters the word.

Strife, fear and unrest come in many forms and means different things to different peoples. The people of free countries share a common fear.

There is one place in the world where they apply just to your own thoughts and not to the rest of the world.

When you walk upon a college campus you enter a world within a world. To a college student strife is applied only to the work of improving their minds, his only true fear is concerned with the possibility he may not obtain his professional objective, his unrest is due to not having reached his life's goal.

Perhaps he has entered college to postpone entering this world of worry for just a few more years. Before he graduates he will have learned something his instructors knew all of the time. That all men will obtain lasting peace through knowledge and by no other means. Not knowledge of strife, fear and unrest but knowledge of other men's minds and ambitions.

Students, enjoy your world of peace while you may and learn as much as you can so that in time you will be able to understand your fellow man better. And when you leave your college campus each day take a little of your eagerness for life and knowledge into this world of uneasy men.

WHITE, HANSEN AT FALL CONFERENCE

Fresno City College will be represented by President Stuart M. White and John S. Hansen, the administrative dean, Erwin A. Dann, a Fresno City Schools assistant superintendent, and Philip Smith, who will act as public information officer at the annual fall conference of the California Junior College Association meeting. The meeting will be held Oct. 27-29 at the Ahwahnee Hotel in Yosemite National Park.

Harold H. Enarson, the director of the Western Interstate Commission for higher education, will make the keynote address. His subject will be, "The Meaning of Quality and Economy in Education," the theme of the conference.

White, vice president of the organization, said reports will be made to the opening session by Gilbert A. Collyer, the chairman of the commission for accrediting junior colleges, and three CICA committee chairmen. Edward Simonsen, athletics; Roy C. McCall, legislation; and John W. Dunn, constitution revision.

Other speakers will include Assemblyman Gordon H. Winton, Jr., of the 31st district; Roy E. Simpson, the state superintendent of public instruction; Edmund J. Gleazor, Jr., executive director of the American Association of Junior Colleges; State Senator Donald L. Grunsky of the 23rd district; and John Carr, state director of finance.

Clothing Class Finds 'Short Cut' In Sewing

Is it possible that FCC coeds are overlooking the many advantages that might be theirs if they were to enroll in one or more of the courses offered in the field of clothing?

The new sewing room, AD-134, has a layout for efficiency and work simplification which ties in with the new "short cut" method of sewing. Mrs. Norma Carpenter, the instructor, said this course includes the study of all types of clothing care.

A place has been provided for a complete laundry installation because laundering and stain removal are taught in this course. The sewing room will be used also for the study of home decoration.

Series of Lectures

Because everything worn cannot conveniently be made, Mrs. Carpenter's class includes a series of lectures on consumer buying. This knowledge becomes increasingly important with the invention of more and more man-made synthetic fabrics.

Mrs. Carpenter came to FCC from Alexander Hamilton Junior High School, where she had taught for the past two years. She graduated from Oregon State College, then taught high school and adult classes approximately 10 years in Oregon.

Mrs. Carpenter said there is a great turnover in teacher personnel in the field of home economics. She said that this could be due to the fact that girls well-versed in home economics tend to marry and retire from teaching for a few years. Another possibility may be because there just are not enough home economists to fill all the jobs, so the well-trained person is free to pick and choose. This leads to a rapid turnover as the girls seek the positions which seem the most advantageous to them.

Shortage Of Economists

There is a shortage of home economists in every field. Besides teaching girls might enter the fields of business or demonstrations. A home economist can just about pick her own area.

Now there is just one class being taught at FCC, which is a beginning class — even though many of the girls have had experience in sewing in high school. Mrs. Carpenter stated that the projects will be geared to each girl's individual need.

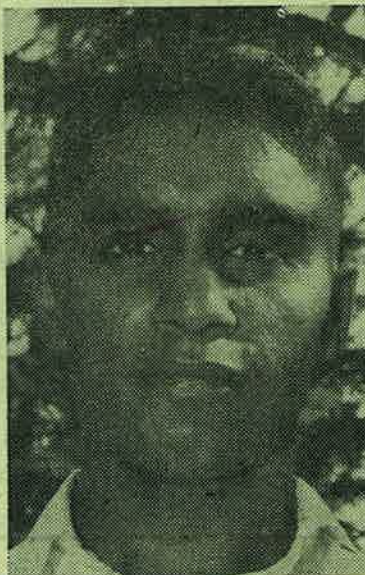

The first project will be a fairly simple cotton.

New Sewing Machine

Clothing selection was covered while the classes were in the bungalows because of the lack of machines. Now the classroom has been provided with 10 new electric sewing machines, with facilities for 18-20 if the demand warrants the increase.

Each table has a wealth of drawer space. There is a roomy dressing and storage room. A floor length three-panel mirror helps the sewers with their fittings and wardrobe planning.

"We try to stress management and the easiest way to do things, if the easiest way is the best," Mrs. Carpenter said.

MUKHTIAR SINGH

American Sports 'Dis-Turban' Sikh

Sikhs, because of their religious beliefs are not required to remove their turbans during the pledge of allegiance in 8 AM classes.

According to Sikhism the last prophet wore a turban and never cut his hair. This philosophy is adhered to by male members of this religious faith.

The turban is never removed in public.

Mukhtiar Singh, a Sikh student on the campus decided the physical education requirements of the college and the turban were not compatible.

Singh came to class last week with his hair cut and minus the turban.

Singh said he could not engage in sports on an equal basis with other students because the turban was a hindrance in rough and tumble games.

Singh came to this country from Malaya. When he returns to Malaya he said he will again let his hair grow and wear a turban.

BUSSES AVAILABLE TO FOOTBALL GAME

Eric Radanovich, FCC rally commissioner, has announced that two busses will be available for student transportation to the FCC-Porterville football game, Nov. 7.

The buses will leave the front of the administration building at 5:30 PM and will return to the FCC campus at about 1:30 AM. Passengers will be required to make a $1 deposit, which will be refunded on return to Fresno. Radanovich said that about 100 students could be accommodated.

What Is New?

By ANDREW FEDERICO

A one act play. The cartoon that goes with the play shows Fresno City College President Stuart M. White with his shoulder against the inside of the front door of the school's gymnasium.

There is also a young fellow with a high school diploma in his hand and his foot in the door. The caption under the cartoon reads: "Sorry, all filled up."

The curtain rises and on stage is a fellow carrying a large stack of books and trying to open the front door of the FCC gymnasium.

He opens the door wide. From inside comes much hollering by the students undressing. (Anyone on the sidewalk can easily see into the gymnasium.)

"Hey, close that door!"

"What's the matter with you?"

"Will ya close it!"

The fellow at the door gets so excited he doesn't know what to do—whether to go in or out. He finally jumps back, closing the door and dropping his books.

He looks around to see if anyone had been passing on the sidewalk while the door was opened. There had been no one.

The fellow picks up his books and tries again, this time opening the door just wide enough to get in. He gets a big round of applause from the students who were undressing.

There are three parts to the FCC gymnasium, locker space, standing space, and an encircled area where from the wall come the shower pipes.

Filled Showers

The fellow with the books is having a hard time getting to his locker. There is a group of students waiting to get into the shower area. The rest are in the small space between the lockers trying to get on or take off their clothes.

Everyone is having a hard time doing whatever they have to do with the amount of space available to them.

One of the students is walking back and forth, not knowing what to do to get to his locker — he's got an English test next period, and he keeps muttering about it.

"Will you let me through?" he keeps saying to the students in his way.

A Wrong Move

The fellow with the books finally gets to his locker. There's no place to put his books so he lays them on the floor. His basket locker is close to the ground, so he has to bend over to open it.

As he does so he bumps into the fellow next to him who was about to put on his trousers. The fellow without the trousers loses his balance and falls against the fellow next to him. They're all on the floor, and much commotion is caused by it.

"What the hell?" the student on the bottom shouts.

"Watch what you're doing buddy," the fellow without the pants said.

Confusion At Bell

Someone in the group hollers out that there is only three minutes before the next class. Everything begins to happen at once: fellows in the showers rush out; those without clothes struggle to get them on; the fellow with the English test sticks his head through the wrong side of his sweater; new faces coming to their gym class arrive; there is a strange silence that is tempered only by the moist sound of bare feet.

The fellow with the books gets disgusted with the whole thing and starts to leave.

15 Attend Journalism Conference

Thirteen FCC students and two advisors will represent the Rampage and the Ram staff at the fall conference of the Northern Section of the Journalism Association of Junior Colleges which will be held at Sacramento City College Saturday.

The keynote speaker will be Arthur Robinson, who writes a column for the Sacramento Bee.

Students may enter one of several contests to be held in the fields of photography, news writing, sports writing, feature writing and headline writing.

Delegates for the Rampage will be Diane Nixon and David Hanna, the co-editors; Andrew Federico, the feature editor; Larry Adams, the sports editor; Eleanor Patton, the news editor; Mary Gulke, the club news editor, and Joyce Jarret, the librarian.

The representatives from the yearbook staff will include Eddie Wax, the editor; Rae Deane Pyatt, the administration and faculty advisor; Michael Randall, the art editor; John Rae, the sports editor; Gary Oberti, the business manager and Richard Hanson, a photographer.

Philip Smith, the Rampage advisor and Arthur Margosian, the Ram advisor, will accompany the students.

Last year's Rampage editor, Gary Becker, finished second in the sports writing contest in the Publication Conference held at San Francisco State College.

FCC Provides Job Placement

The Placement Bureau is a public relations project at Fresno City College.

Gervase A. Eckenrod, placement director, feels the purpose of the Placement Bureau is well justified.

The main purpose of the placement bureau is not only to find jobs for students, but to match each person with the job that best fits that individual.

A student who is looking for a part time or full time job should see Eckenrod. He interviews each student before fitting him with a job.

Eckenrod feels that part time jobs are very important to students because the first thing an employer wants to know is how much experience one has had in the past. The student can get valuable experience working part time.

Last year there were 395 applications made out, 131 full time and 264 part time jobs. There were 656 interviews made which shows that some students were interviewed several times. Some 119 job orders were filled and 260 were not filled, giving a total of 397 jobs.

The many types of jobs available for men are service station work, truck driving, sales work, messenger work, clerks, mail boys, receptionist and tutoring.

The type of jobs for girls are fewer. These are general office, typist, waitress, sales work and stenographer. In the general job classifications stenographer retains the lead.

In the non-stenographic office position, employers are consistently asking for more training combinations.

Eckenrod said the Placement Bureau doesn't end with graduation. The graduate student can come back if he isn't satisfied with his job and Eckenrod will help him find a more suitable position.

Club News

Newman Club Meets Tonight

By MARY GULKE

Future meetings of the Newman Club will be at the Sacred Heart Church, 2140 N. Cedar on Thursdays at 7:30 PM.

Executive meetings are held on Thursdays at 11 AM in B-5.

The sponsors are Lawrence W. Martin and Francis J. Silvich.

Father Dodson is the chaplain.

The committees and committee chairmen are religion, Esther Lima, and Janice Pistacchio; membership, Carol Dias, Irma Rojas, Thomas Carothers, Jo Ann Fragus, and Joy Clark; Finance, Georgeanne Deveze, Richard Albers, Carol Radish and Larry Hackett; campaign, Colleen Clark, Geraldine Coccicola, Carol Vucovich, Ardavast Aghoyan, and Robert Hooper; social, Leonard Mattos, Gary Oberti, Ernie Gomes, Larry Guillano, Delores Guisti, and Virginia Delena.

Meetings were held Oct. 21 and 22 to make posters in support of Janice Pistacchio, NC Homecoming Queen candidate.

Student Teachers

A speaker from the County Schools Superintendent's Office will speak on "The Certification of Teachers" at the next meeting of the California Student Teachers Nov. 3. This meeting should be of interest to all education majors.

CSTA members are requested to pay their dues to Elson Bruce, club treasurer.

Campus Fellowship

"Christianity in Higher Education" was the theme of the talk given by Dean James M. Malloch last Thursday at the Campus Christian Fellowship meeting.

Dean Malloch said that this is an age of religious illiteracy and the American public school, due to its secular philosophy, is partly responsible.

He believes religion should be a subject of instruction in our schools.

Latin American Club

Five poster committees and a presentation committee were appointed by Latin American Club President Ernest Martinez at the Oct. 22 club meeting to support Deanna Dominguez for Homecoming Queen.

Arthur Fernandez and Richard Nunes provided entertainment.

No meeting will be held today, due to the Homecoming Assembly.

Delta Psi Omega Club

A masquerade party will be held Halloween night in the home of Angelina Casaras for Delta Psi Omega club members only.

Each of the club members will be responsible for bringing refreshments.

Delta Psi Omega is a drama club headed by Clyde G. Sumpter, club sponsor.

TV Program Features College

The Central California University of the Air featured FCC, for the first time, on channel 12, KFRE-TV, Saturday.

John S. Hansen, the administrative dean, said FCC was the second college to present a program. Fresno State College presented a program on national sciences on Oct. 17.

The program pertained to the public junior colleges in California, and dealt specifically with FCC. Several pictures of the campus were shown.

Campus Litter Bug Problem Improves

The litter bug situation is almost under complete control.

George Johnson, the head custodian, said that the litter bugs of FCC campus are few, but a few problems do trouble the custodians. Johnson said the main problem is cigarette butts. He said, just outside every building there are trash cans, and if the smokers would drop the cigarette butts in the cans, the custodian's job would be easier. Also students are still smoking in the buildings.

There are 25 men and two women on the custodian staff of FCC. Their job is to keep the campus and buildings neat and clean.

City College Conducts An Enrollment Survey

A Fresno City College survey recently reported that 4,348 students are enrolled at FCC.

The survey showed that of the 4,348 students enrolled at FCC, 253 have withdrawn, making the current enrollment 4,095. The survey also showed that there are 2,872 men and

Homemakers Receive New Classrooms

Home economic classes began the move to their new location this week. The sewing class, with its move to AD-134, had the distinction of being the first to get settled in the new quarters.

The emphasis, in modern homemaking classes, is on efficiency and work simplification. Mrs. Norma Carpenter, the home economics teacher, said that these new rooms have been built with the layout necessary to carry out this emphasis.

The two large rooms are arranged with Mrs. Carpenter's office in between them. They have an eastern exposure and are light, bright, and cheerful appearing. The cabinets are of modern design, and in the kitchen unit the appliances have been installed to give students the benefit of various experience with different types of layouts.

The kitchen will be used for nutrition management, and cooking classes. It contains four units, one of which can be used for demonstration purposes.

The sewing room will be used for classes in home decoration as well as for the study of clothing.

The coeds do not have a monopoly on this efficient work and study area. Mrs. Carpenter said there are five men in the nutrition class, three in the home living, and one fellow enrolled in the foods class also studies home decoration.

"We love to have them," Mrs. Carpenter said. "It makes for a more realistic situation. Homemaking is not exclusively a woman's job, with the world as it is now. With so many women working, men find more and more homemaking coming their way."

1,223 women this year. Records from last year's survey shows that 3,984 students attended FCC in the fall of 1958.

Approximately one-third of the students attending FCC have graduated from high schools in the Fresno Unified School District.

The survey showed that 578 students are from out-of-state, 79 are from foreign countries; and 521 are non-graduates. Most of the people who are not high school graduates are in the technical and vocational training programs.

Graduates from high schools in Fresno include Fresno High, 599; Roosevelt, 487; Edison, 187; San Joaquin Memorial, 122; Fresno Adult School, 78; Bullard, 62, and Continuation, 13.

Graduates from other high schools in this area include Clovis, 200; Madera, 110; Washington Union, 99; Sanger, 93; Central Union, 85; Fowler, 62; Chowchilla, 58; Selma, 52; Kerman, 40; Dos Palos, 16; Hanford, 22; Merced, 29; Tranquillity, 23; Sierra Union, 57; Caruthers, 21; Kingsburg, 12; Porterville, 7; Riverdale, 7; Los Banos, 5; Tulare, 17; Parlier, 7; Lemoore, 10; Exeter, 3; Laton, 2; Lindsay, 2; Dinuba, 18; Mariposa, 7; West Side Union of Los Banos, 5; Mt. Whitney of Visalia, 6; Orosi, 4; Reedley, 25; Strathmore, 4; and Woodlake, 1.

Allen Graves, the temporary chairman, was elected president of the sophomore class at the meeting last Thursday.

The other elected officers are Rodger Dunham, vice president; Lladona Miller, secretary; Evelyn Evans, treasurer; and Robert Evans, Inter Club Council Representative.

Roger Dupzyk, Horace Evans, Daniel Opperman, and Arlene Osterhout were elected to the four member publicity committee.

SPORTSTALK

By LARRY ADAMS

Although the game is lost and over it might be to an advantage to recap some of the highlights that took place Saturday night at McLane Stadium when the FCC Rams met the Coalinga College Falcons.

The Falcons were without the services of their star halfback, Ronnie Lee. The speedy back was injured last week in Coalinga's game with College of the Sequoias, but he did suit up for the FCC game. Throughout the contest Coalinga's head coach, Sam Vokes, had Lee warming up on the sidelines.

Many Coalinga fans, after the game, said the score would have been different if their star had been in. It might have, but it should be remembered that the Rams were without the services of fullback Harry Miller, and after the second half, and in part of the second quarter, they did without first string quarterback, Jim Murphy.

Slaughter Pleased With Team
Ram head coach, Clare Slaughter, was well pleased, and deservedly so, with the work of reserve quarterback, Keith Smith, who throughout the second half spelled Dan Stockton on defense. It might well be brought out that Don Leimbach, Eddie Gomes, Dennis Scott and Ray Merrill did one of their finest defensive jobs of the season against the Falcons.

Leimbach had a busy night, catching seven passes, and scoring one of the Rams' TD's.

Mike Martin, who booted the only conversion of the night, might have been the hero of the game had the Rams tallied another touchdown in the final period, but as it went, it was just another point.

Gene Bamburg, who was nosed out of his starting position by A. B. Kimble, played an alert game, both offensively and defensively. His best effort of the night was a 55 yard punt return which was called back by a clipping penalty.

Nonini Draws Praise
Not to be left out in praises is fullback Tom Nonini. Although not the fastest back he made his presence felt. He would gain that extra yard or so by jumping over would be tacklers or jumping into the middle of the defensive line.

In all the Coalinga-Fresno game was the best team effort made by the Rams this year. One of the biggest things against them was the Coalinga line, which had depth on the bench, and gave the Falcons the margin. Although losing, the Rams should have a lot of pride for the magnificent game, a job well done.

FSC JV's To Play Ram Baseballers

Fresno City College's winter league baseball team will attempt to get back on the winning ledger Sunday when they play the Fresno State JV's on the Roosevelt High School diamond. The game will start at 2 P.M.

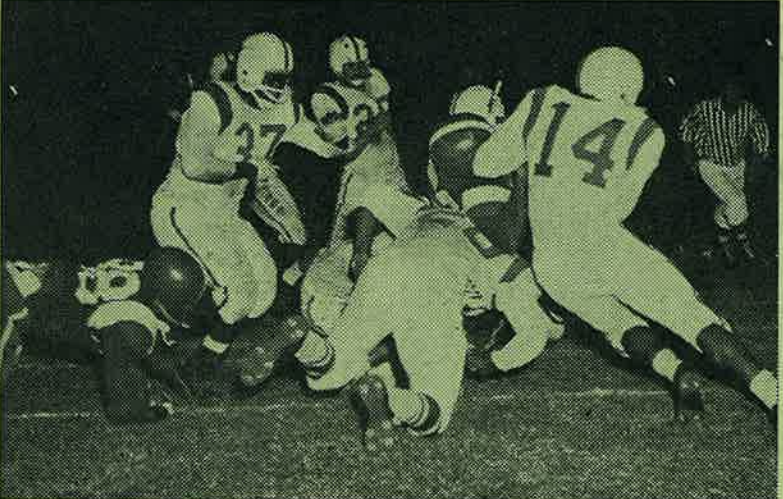

The FSC Frosh used a seven hit pitching performance by FSC varsity pitcher Bob Scholz and Dick Cole to edge the FCC Rams, 3-2, in the fifth winter league baseball game for both teams.

Rams Come Close To Pulling Big Upset

The Fresno City College Rams came within 12 yards of pulling the upset of the season over the league leading Coalinga College Falcons Saturday night but dropped their second Central California Junior College Athletic Association game to the Falcons, 18-13.

Trailing in the fourth quarter, 13-18, Ram quarterback Dan Stockton passed the Rams from their own 30 to the Coalinga 12 yard line. From the 12 the Rams had four chances at hitting paydirt. On those four plays Stockton tried four passes but never got them off. In that series of plays he was thrown for a total loss of 44 yards, mainly through the efforts of Coalinga's defensive end, Jim Curtis.

The win for Coalinga was the first over Fresno in football in Coalinga's 27 year history, and the only win in eleven meetings of the two teams. The Rams and Falcons battled to a 13-13 tie in 1956.

Rooters Sets Up Score
The Rams started the scoring in the game when Chet Rooters grabbed a bouncing punt on the midstripe and returned it to the Falcon five before being hauled down. Lamont Whittle went over two plays later for the score.

Seconds before the first quarter ended the Falcons hit paydirt in one play. From their own five yard line, halfback Gregory Baines took a handoff from quarterback Eddie Vasconcellos and romped 95 yards to a touchdown, tying the score, 6-6.

In the second quarter the Falcons went out front to stay. Again it was the running of Baines that put the Falcons in front. A Ram punt was blocked by Coalinga's Joe Perozzi, and the Falcons took over on Fresno 18. Halfback Adolphus McGee carried to the eleven and in three plays Baines went over from the one. The halftime score remained 12-6 in favor of Coalinga.

Coalinga put the finishing touches on their scoring midway in the third quarter when they blocked another Ram punt. Coalinga's Bob Buffalo blocked a punt attempt by A. B. Kimble and Coalinga's end, George Williams fell on it in the end zone. Coalinga's conversion attempt was blocked for the third time, but the Falcons led 18-6.

Midway in the final quarter the Rams hit paydirt again. Dan Stockton, who had replaced injured quarterback Jim Murphy, found end Ron Leimbach with a pass on the Coalinga 25 and Leimbach went all the way for the score, after picking up a key block from Willie Turner. Mike Martin booted the extra point.

Previous to Stockton's pass to Leimbach, Gene Bamburg had gone 55 yards on a punt return for a touchdown but had it called back because of a clipping penalty.

Modesto Beats Ram Harriers

The Fresno City College cross country team suffered its first loss of the season at the hands of the Modesto Junior College Pirates, 27-30, in a thriller in Modesto Friday afternoon.

Rich Myers of Modesto covered the three mile course in a winning time of 16:35.

The Rams took second, third, and fourth place honors with Fernie Montanez, Jim Hart, and Art Cardova finishing in that order. Other Fresno runners that finished were Zack Kepler and Bill Hall who crossed the finish line tenth and eleventh respectively.

Fresno will try to avenge their loss next Friday when the same two teams meet in Roeding Park.

FCC vs. Tigers In Last Home Tilt

The cards are stacked against the Fresno City College Rams for their annual Homecoming game tomorrow night with the Reedley College Tigers. The game will be played at Ratcliffe Stadium, starting at 8 P.M. This game is the final home contest of the season for the Rams.

Added to the list of injured, besides Harry Miller, Cliff Beagle, and Bob Hart, are Jim Murphy, Tom Nonini and Woody Gregory. Nonini and Gregory will suit up for the game but are doubtful starters.

For their fifth game the Ram line will be outweighed. The Reedley forward wall averages close to 200 pounds per man. The backfield of the Tigers will also outweigh the Rams with an average weight of 185 pounds per man.

Starters In Backfield

With two key injuries the Fresno City College backfield will be at a disadvantage. Dan Stockton, who did a terrific job under pressure last week will start at quarterback. Stockton has completed 13 of 31 passes this season for 204 yards and two TD's and his passing arm will be depended on heavily in the game.

Halfbacks will be Abe Kimble and Lamont Whittle. Both became starters only a short time ago. Kimble has netted 110 yards in three games for an average of 5.9 yards per carry, while Whittle has netted 47 yards for an average of 9.4 yards per carry.

Willie Turner, the leading ground gainer for the Rams, will start at fullback. He will have little rest in the game with his number one relief, Tom Nonini, on the injured list. Turner has netted 227 yards in 51 carries, for an average of 4.4 yards per carry.

Line Starters The Same

The Fresno line will remain the same. Starting at ends will be Willie Wheaton and Joe Williams, with Ron Leimbach seeing a lot of action. Tackles will be Rooters and Dennis Scott. Eddie Gomes and Ray Merrill will hold down the guard position and Jerry Nimmo will start at center.

Starting for Reedley in the backfield will be Bob Hayes, a 200 pound quarterback, Richard Cohee, a 183 pound sprinting fullback, and halfbacks, Wilbur Beecher and Cliff Stahl. Also expected to see action in the Reedley backfield are Jim Fisher and Clarence Ortega.

Line starters for Reedley include ends, Joe Drakulic and Stan Beach, tackles, Larry Rocker and Jim Grumbles, guards, Ed Donahue and Harold Beno, and center, Frank Brunson.

FCC Intramural Tennis Matches Start Today

All entries are now in for the intramural tennis matches. The matches, under the direction of Miss Tylor and Miss Irwin, will feature both men's and women's singles and will start Oct. 29 and will run through Nov. 5.

Trophies will be presented to the first and second place winners.

The contestants will play two-out-of-three sets to complete the match. Miss Tylor said that everyone is welcome to watch the matches, and that the beginners should be on hand to get pointers and tips from the games.
