

Play Uses Old Boy-Girl Theme

By JOE McGEHEE

"Bus Stop," FCC's third play, was presented Friday and Saturday nights in the FCC auditorium.

The play by William Inge gives the old boy meets girl story a new treatment. William Inge writes a story of the unbelievable romance of Cherie and Bo and in the same play he presents the frank realistic situations that might occur in real life. The tragedy of Dr. Lyman, the disillusionments of Elma the schoolgirl, and the implications of the situation that existed between the bus driver and the owner of the cafe were the realistic elements of the play.

They were balanced against the lighter unrealistic romance portrayed by Cherie and Bo. The results were entertaining and timely.

The male lead, Bo, was given an excellent interpretation by Rodger Dunham. Bo, an impetuous young Montana cowboy, had never had a romance until he met Cherie, portrayed by Shirley White, and at that moment he decided to marry her. One thing leads to another and the couple find themselves in a roadside cafe waiting for a storm to pass so they can be on their way. Bo tries to make love to Cherie and she gets mad. About this time the sheriff comes to her rescue. Bo, the egotistical cowboy who has never been beaten at anything, is beaten up by the sheriff. After being humbled by the sheriff, Bo forgets his pride, apologizes and the problems between Bo and Cherie are settled.

During the confusion the characters, delayed by the snow storm, put on a floor show to break the monotony.

Cherie makes a feeble attempt to carry a tune and Virgil, played by Tom Westerfield, carries it to extremes.

Also included in the cast were Laurel Monson as Elma, Lorraine Barnes as Grace, Garth DeLeon as Dr. Lyman, and Mike Parker as Carl.

Nursing Plans Are Postponed

John S. Hansen, the administrative dean, has announced that the nursing course scheduled for the fall of 1960 has been postponed until the fall of 1961.

The college has been unable to locate a qualified director of nursing who can begin work in time to prepare the course for next fall's schedule. State law requires that these classes be prepared one year in advance of being taught.

Hansen said a pilot study made by several two year colleges has proven the value of the junior college nursing course.

These students will be able to continue studying in colleges and obtain a degree qualifying them to teach classes in the nursing field.

Local need for nurse's training has become acute since the Fresno County Hospital discontinued their training program.

City College Offers Five New Courses

Five new courses are being offered at FCC for the first time in the spring semester.

John Hansen, administrative dean, related that the new courses are being offered for the purpose of increasing the electives for FCC's students and bettering the education program.

The new courses being offered will be anthro-cultural anthropology, creative writing, pan Pacific history, and fundamentals of interpretation.

Cultural anthropology is a three unit course. It will be at 12 noon, Monday, Wednesday and Friday and will be taught by Noel Frosham.

The creative writing class is a two unit course which will meet twice a week on Tuesday and Thursday at 1 PM in room A-205. The course will be taught by Robert Shaver and will be used in helping to start a literary magazine which will begin in the spring.

In History 15 the Pan Pacific history course will be three units. Hugh Golway will teach the class from 9 to 10:15, Tuesday and Thursday in room A-109.

Principals of journalism, a two unit course, was offered once before in spring semester of 1958. This course is often called Mass Communications and will cover newspapers, magazines and books, motion pictures, television and radio, news writing and news reporting, advertising, public relations, entertainment, copy preparation, and printing and typography.

Journalism, English or other mass communications majors, as well as students interested in creative writing should enroll in this course. The course will be at 10 AM on Tuesday and Thursday and the instructor will be Phillip D. Smith, journalism instructor.

ELECTIONS ARE SET FOR JANUARY 8TH

Elections for student body offices will be held Jan. 8 from 8 AM to 3 PM in the foyers of the student center and administration buildings. Students must have their student body cards to be eligible to vote.

Candidates for office were introduced at a nominations assembly today at 11 AM in the FCC auditorium.

Barbara Anderson and David Hanna accepted the nominations of student body president.

Linda Carol Miller and Marge Neufeld are competing for secretary. Carrol Jacobsen, the current treasurer, is running for reelection against Sidney Craighead.

Diane Nixon, who is running for vice president, is the only uncontested candidate for the major offices.

Virginia Collins and Brenda Daum will compete for Associated Women Student president. Allen Graves is the only candidate for president of the Associated Men Students.

Fifteen candidates are seeking

Annual Christmas Formal Starts Tomorrow At 9PM

Choir Will Present Christmas Assembly

The FCC choir will present its annual Christmas assembly Tuesday, Dec. 22. C. Lowell Spencer, FCC choir director, said that the theme will be "Christmas Traditions set to music."

Two of the songs, "T'was the Night Before Christmas," and "The Twelve Days of Christmas" will be pantomimed by Mrs. Sara Dougherty's modern dance class.

Another selection the choir will sing is "The Shepherds Had An Angel." The soloist will be Kathleen Crider.

Several numbers from Handel's

"Messiah" will be presented, including the "Hallelujah Chorus." Spencer said the "Messiah" is one of the universal traditions of Christmas music.

The solos from the "Messiah" will be sung by Edward Megerdichian, tenor; William Gardner, bass; Joan Alexander, soprano; Janet Alexander, soprano; Barbara Blayney, soprano; Shirley Kumano, soprano, and Deanna Miller, alto.

Richard Cencibaugh, organist, will accompany the choir and Betty Nelson and Gary Sexton will play the piano. Clarence Heagy, music consultant of Fresno schools, will play the English horn.

The assembly will be free of charge, and will be presented at 11 AM for the student body, and at 8 PM for the general public.

Faculty Tours Shop Buildings

The Fresno City College technical and industrial division was host to the faculty Tuesday.

President Stuart M. White and Division Dean Robert P. Hansler explained the functions of the division in a meeting of the faculty in room M-200. After the meeting the 110 full-time instructors toured the $1,500,000 shops and classrooms.

Shop instructors explained their classes, their functions and equipment. The new buildings, which have a total of about 103,000 square feet of floor space, make possible eight new programs which were described during the tour.

The courses include day and night classes in sheetmetal and diesel and heavy duty mechanics; day classes in industrial electricity, geriatrics, air frames; classes for electronic technicians and night classes in fuel technology and plastics.

The annual FCC Christmas formal will be held tomorrow night in the social hall of the student center from 9 PM to midnight.

Students who have not yet secured bids for the dance may still do so by bringing a toy to the student center from 9 AM to 1 PM today. The bids will be given in exchange for a toy.

Students and their guests will be admitted to the dance upon presentation of student body cards and bids.

The toys may be new or repairable. The Lions Club will fix all toys in need of repair and distribute them to needy homes throughout the community.

Nearly 800 white balloons sprayed with glitter will be suspended from the ceiling. Behind the band will be a panoramic winter scene depicting a 12 foot tumbleweed snowman, a cabin made of cardboard and wood, and a sled in which the students may have their pictures taken.

Ernie Bender and his Rhythm Kings will provide the music for the dance.

Nancy Gray, co-chairman of the decoration committee, said that the Associated Men and Associated Women Students are working hard to make this year's Christmas formal the most beautifully decorated dance in years.

Other committee members include Robert Roe, co-chairman of the decoration committee, Pete Farmer and Barbara Warrington, general co-chairmen.

Larry Cobb and Diane Carroll are the co-chairmen of the publicity committee.

Presidents Extend Yuletide Greetings

The faculty and administration join with pride in extending to all Fresno City College students a most sincere wish for a merry Christmas and New Year.

It is our hope that your Christmas, more than anything else, will be a day of appreciation and good thoughts for those with whom you associate.

As you leave your classroom for the holiday, we trust that you will enjoy the period of rest and relaxation and that your resolutions for the coming year will be fulfilled.

STUART M. WHITE
President of Fresno City College

Christmas, more than anything else, is a day of appreciation. It provides an opportunity for me to extend my appreciation to the FCC faculty and to the many students who have helped me carry out my duties as president of the student body.

It is my wish that you have a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year. Return to school after the holiday with fresh spirit and the enthusiasm to carry you through to the next semester. HAPPY HOLIDAYS.

Shirley White
President of the Student Body

Nigerian Guest Tours City College Campus

Stephen Awokoya, a Nigerian educator, visited FCC last week as part of his nine week tour of educational institutions in the United States and Canada.

Awokoya, the principal of the Emergency Science Training Center in Lagos, is a former education minister in the Nigerian western region government. The Nigerian school he heads is comparable to an American junior college but teaches only science and mathematics courses.

He is looking forward to his homeland as it holds a general election, a major step toward its impending independence. Nigeria's transition from colony to independent nation has come about peacefully, he said, adding there have been "hot words but no bombs." The 50 year rule of Great Britain will end next October.

The Nigerian, who was educated in his own country and in Britain's London University, was interested in the way the high schools and colleges of America have "tackled the technological subjects — the fields of food, health, communications, business and science."

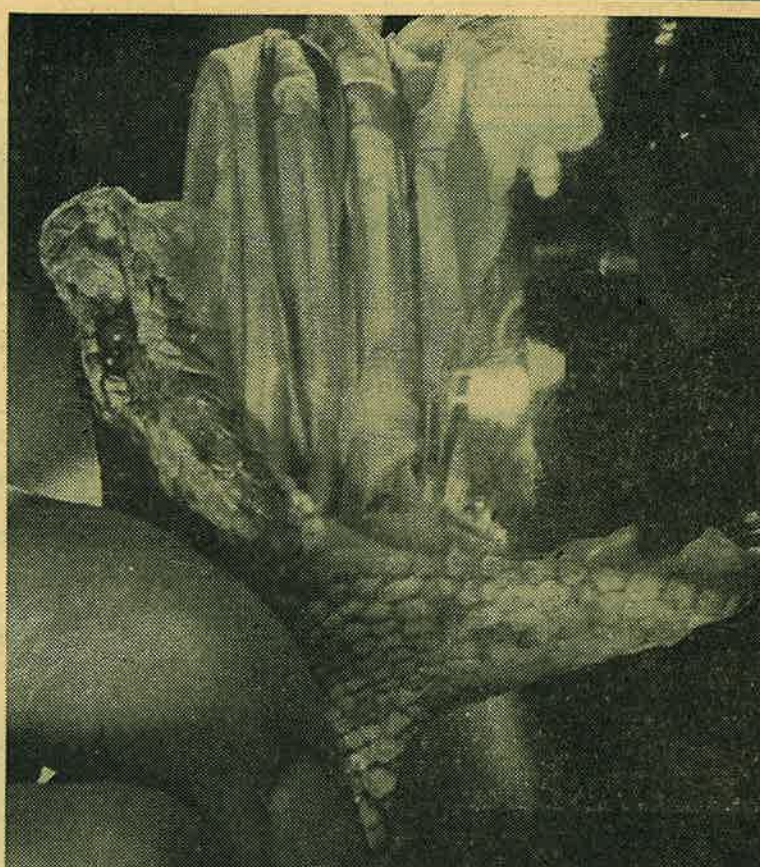

Nigeria is a country of 35,000,000 people who live in an area roughly the size of North Dakota. In the more educationally developed areas, about half the population is literate.

Children are able to attend school for six years at government expense but beyond that parents must pay for their education.

Awokoya wanted to visit FCC because he was told by Alan Pifer, an executive associate of the Carnegie Corporation, that it was one of the California junior colleges he should inspect. Pifer toured the campus on Oct. 13 to arrange for a visit in March of three Nigerian members of a commission of educators of Nigeria, Great Britain and the United States.

SNAKE VENOM — Wyman McDandel uses caution as he places his hand close to rattlesnake's fangs while he milks the snake venom into a glass jar.

Student Experiments With Snake Venom

Wyman L. McDandel, a student enrolled in Lewis A. Follansbee's Zoology 1A class, is launching an experiment dealing with injections of rattlesnake venom into white mice in an effort to have the mice gain complete immunity.

McDandel extracts the venom and stores it at temperatures less than 40 degrees Fahrenheit. When he is ready to inject the venom into the mice, he puts the venom into a centrifuge, a machine using centrifugal force to separate materials of different densities, and to remove impurities.

Mice Will Be Injected

The mice will get injections about every two weeks for a period of three months, when a small amount of blood will be extracted from the mice and spun in the centrifuge. This spinning will separate the corpuscles from the blood; in the residue anti-venom will be removed and injected into the mice.

McDandel hopes that temporary immunity will be achieved, and says he hopes eventually to attain complete immunity.

Is Preparing Mice

At present McDandel is preparing his 20 white mice for the experiment. With the aid of vitamins and high nutritional foods he is getting them into good condition.

Junior Colleges Expect Increase Of Enrollments

California junior colleges are expected to enroll 300,000 students in 1975. The present enrollment of 100,000 is one third of the expected enrollment.

The new Master Plan, proposed to deal with the increased enrollment of the war babies, calls for a switch of some 50,000 lower division students now attending the state colleges and universities to the junior colleges.

The underlying belief of this proposal is junior colleges can teach lower division courses as well as state colleges and universities.

The survey team, headed by Dr. Arthur C. Coons, the president of Occidental College suggests a reduction of enrollments at colleges, and that the high school grade averages used for determining admission to colleges be concluded by college preparatory courses almost exclusively.

FCC STUDENTS RAISE ROOF OF NEW HOME

No, it's not another housing tract budding up between shop buildings three and four, it's the annual project of Merle L. Sons' carpentry 51A students.

The students, 16 of them, are building a 1,400 square foot house, which has three bedrooms and one and three-quarter baths.

Sons said the house will be finished only on the exterior, and will be of v-rustic wood siding with a shingle roof. All wiring is done by John M. Wagonhalls' electrical class, and ducting is done by the sheetmetal class under the direction of William A. Marks, instructor.

This year's house, the seventh built by carpentry students in an eight year period, was designed by Harold Tufenkjian. Tufenkjian was an architectural student at Fresno City College last year.

Sons explained that a housing plan is selected from those submitted by architectural students each year.

The house will be finished and put up for bid sometime next spring, reported the carpentry instructor, and will sell for approximately $3,500.

The students also have other projects. They recently finished putting partitions in electronic classrooms, constructed 6,000 Christmas tree stands for the YMCA, and made 300 cradles for the Lions Club toy drive.

What's New?

'Bus Stop' At FCC Gives Fine Show

By ANDREW FEDERICO

There is something about a play that can make a member of its audience walk out of the theater and feel like he should click his heels and say, "That was a helluva good play."

Bus Stops At FCC

Last Saturday I went to see the FCC production of William Inge's play, "Bus Stop." The worst thing about it was that it wasn't played in an auditorium with better acoustics.

I couldn't hear many of the key lines spoken by Garth DeLeon, who played the doctor of philosophy, although, he did a good job of being drunk most of the time. The trouble with acting drunk, though, is that it hampered his speech, which is understandable, but coupled with the poor acoustics, difficult for the ear to grasp.

When I couldn't hear what he was saying my attention drifted over to another member of the cast. At one time I found Tom Westerfield, the bowlegged guitar player, trying unsuccessfully to light a match by rubbing it against the leg of his Levis. This got an unexpected laugh.

Monson Is Noticeable

In all, I liked the play. I liked Laurel Monson as the innocent school girl. She gave the play that which would have been lacking if she hadn't been there. In a way she seemed like a hidden gem which suddenly slips out and becomes very noticeable.

And when Shirley White, as Cherie, got on top of a table and started to sing, "The Old Black Magic" — singing it like a little girl playing "theater" in her back yard with the neighbors — I don't think that too many eyes wandered to another member of the cast.

Roger Dunham as the cowboy who knew what love was, but didn't know how to explain, the way it made him feel, did a good job with his part. And Lorraine Barnes was almost as sexy as Cherie, who in the movie version of the play was played by Marilyn Monroe; although Barnes gives sex a clever twist.

Michael Parker, the walking bus driver, and Carl Wheeler, the tough peace officer, gave the play plenty of support.

Good To See Show

When I left the theater I didn't exactly feel like clicking my heels, but I did think it was a good thing I had seen the show.

Next semester I'd like to see what director Clyde Sumpter and his cast could do with "The Time of Your Life" by William Saroyan. It would be a good thing to see the stage lights go on and hear an actor say, "In the time of your life—live, so that in that happy time there will be no sadness or sorrow for whosoever life your life touches..."

Marine Officers Outline Program

The Marine Corps aviation and line officer programs will be outlined for FCC students on Dec. 15 in the student center foyer.

Captain Richard C. Schulze, USMC, and Captain W. O. Bonnell, USMC, will conduct interviews from 9 AM until 3 PM. They will discuss both aviation and line officer programs.

Training for qualified freshmen, sophomores and juniors is conducted under the Platoon Leaders Class. This training leads to a commission and advanced training and is conducted during the summer at two, six-week instruction periods.

Many Clubs Plan Yule Activities

Class bells and Christmas bells may both be heard about the campus next week as parties evolving from the holiday atmosphere are given at FCC.

▲ Christmas party for faculty and all personnel working at FCC will be held in the faculty lounge from 2:30 to 4 PM on Dec. 23.

C. Lowell Spencer, FCC music instructor, will provide Christmas music for those who want to sing carols.

Delta Psi Omega

Delta Psi Omega, the drama fraternity, will hold a combined initiation and Christmas party Dec. 21 at the Desert Inn.

As this is the club's first year on campus, charter members as well as students eligible for membership will be initiated.

The members planning the Christmas party and initiation are Barbara Anderson, Ben Tayan, Shirley White and Hallie West.

Latin American Club

The Latin American Club will hold a party in the student lounge Dec. 21 from 8 to 12 PM. LAC has invited Newman Club members to this affair.

Rampage Staff

The Rampage staff will hold a Christmas party in the student lounge Dec. 22 from 2 to 4 PM for staff members and guests. Humorous games in the form of entertainment are being planned.

Phi Beta Lambda

Phi Beta Lambda, the business club, is giving a Christmas dance Dec. 21 from 8 to 11 PM in the committee room for club members and their guests only.

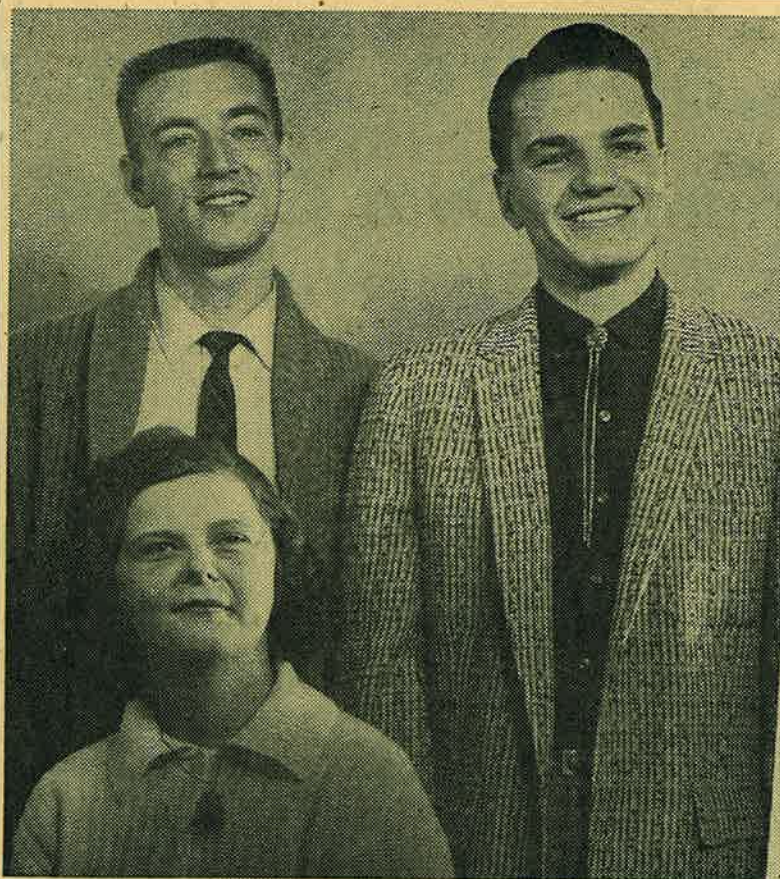

All members are required to have their dues paid or pay them at the door before the dance. The admission price is 50 cents.

Phi Beta Lambda Holds Christmas Tree Sale

Phi Beta Lambda, the FCC chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America, is conducting a sale of Christmas trees. Their lot is located on the corner of Palm and Shields.

The money netted from this sale will be used to sponsor a field trip to Los Angeles.

The trees are being sold every day from 11 AM to 9 PM. They will be sold through Dec. 24. The trees range in size from one to 12

WINNING SPEAKERS—Ronald Eddington, left, and Charles Overs, Jr., placed first and second respectively in the recent speech contest held on campus. Eleanor Patton, seated, was the third place winner.

FSC Summer Session Courses Available Soon

The 1960 summer session at Fresno State College will begin June 13 and run through July 22.

Dr. Edward M. Spencer, the summer sessions dean, said a preliminary program of courses for the summer session will be available in January. The catalog is expected to be ready by the first of March.

The session at Bakersfield residence center will follow the Fresno schedule. The Visalia session at the College of the Sequoias will run from July 23 to August 26, with a pre-session from July 18 to July 22.

The FSC post session will be held from July 25 to September 2.

Students may make up deficiencies acquired during the regular school term at the summer sessions or take additional units.

Students Fail To Keep Dates With Advisors

Students who have signed for counseling and preregistration appointments should keep the appointments with their counselor.

E. Harrison Hall, FCC counselor, explained the problems that the student who misses the appointment creates for the counselor.

"Each full time counselor has approximately 325 counselees. The counselor has six hours a day of counseling time meaning that a maximum of 12 students can be counseled in one day.

Taking time to work on the schedule decreases the effectiveness of the counseling program. Students who know they are going to miss an appointment should inform their counselor at once.

Journalism Class Hears Lecture On Libel Law

The retractive clause of the California libel law was discussed by Dr. John D. Duke, who recently spoke to the Journalism 8A class. Dr. Duke is a professor of journalism at Fresno State College.

"Thorough knowledge of libel laws are essential to anyone wishing to enter the field of journalism," said Dr. Duke.

Library Displays Christmas Scenes

The display cabinets in the foyer of the FCC library are decorated with the theme of a Christmas card, and with the remembrance that "Christmas is Dickens."

This Christmas, for the first time, two students taking the library course decorated the cabinets in the library. In past years the job was done by library officials. The two students are Dorothy Impertise and Dan Leonard.

The cabinet exhibiting the Christmas card is done with a white and blue background. The cabinet, dedicated to Charles Dickens, shows some of the author's Christmas writings.

Jackson C. Carty, the head librarian, also praised Rollin Scott for his work at the library and Miss Edward Horch, a staff official, who each Christmas contributes something for decoration.

Carty reported that the library would not be open during vacation. Carty said his staff wishes to extend a Merry Christmas to all the students.

Students May Select Best Pose For Ram

Sophomores who had pictures taken for the Ram may select the pose they want to be published from 10 AM-12 noon through Wednesday in the student center foyer.

Eddie Wax, the Ram editor, said the editors will select the pose if the students haven't made a selection by Wednesday.

The California libel law, as revised by 1945 legislation, protects the publisher more than the libel laws of many other states. The California Newspapers Publishers Association sponsored the changes that were written into the original law.

Dr. Duke visited newspaper offices and schools of journalism across the United States last year while on sabbatical leave from Fresno State College.

He discovered that nearly all newspaper offices are just about the same, whether they are in large cities or in small towns.

The Chicago Tribune was one of the few newspapers that was different. He told the class that when he entered the Chicago Tribune offices he looked for the reporters in the city room, but found the room was quiet. When he inquired he was told by the editor that all reporters were out on their beat and that they called their stories in by using an underground cable system.

Dr. Duke also told the class of his big complaint against newspapers. He said that large, noisy city rooms are evident even in the most modern newspaper buildings. He hopes that reporters of the future will be aided in their work by having small private offices in which to do their writing.

Dr. Duke emphasized that working for a large newspaper wasn't much different than working for a small town newspaper. In other words, Duke felt that a man competent on a small newspaper could handle the work on a "big time" paper.

Ram Wrestlers Capture SJ Tournament

Rams Drop Two Games In South Grapplers Triumph Over Cal And Other Four-Year Institutions

The Fresno City College Rams dropped two games last weekend on their road trip to Southern California. Friday night the Rams were nipped by the San Bernardino Valley Indians, 58-54, in an overtime. Saturday night the Rams were beaten, 64-48, by the semi-professional basketball team, Kirby Shoes, in Los Angeles.

Although losing the games, head coach Joe Kelly was well pleased with his team. He said that overall the team's defense was much improved but a lot of work is needed on their offense. He was extra pleased by the defensive and offensive work of team captain Charlie Lowe.

San Bernardino
Against San Bernardino the Rams couldn't find the bucket. In the overtime they had more than one chance to put the game on ice, but failed. In the entire game the Rams came up with one of their poorest shooting averages of the season.

In getting the overtime the Rams overcame a 28-23 halftime deficit to gain a 52-52 tie at the end of the regular time.

Kirby Shoes
The Fresno team stepped out of their class Saturday night in Los Angeles against Kirby Shoes but added a moral victory by holding down the highly rated Kirbymen.

In this game the defensive work of Charlie Lowe was at its best. He held down the high scoring Bob Buck and scored 13 points himself, against Buck.

The scoring:
San Bernardino (58) — Greer 13, Johnson 14, Davis 6, Thimmes 8, DeLao 1, Flowers 11, Brown 2, Foley 3. Fresno (54) — Jacobsen 6, Mikel 18, O'Leary 2, Lee 4, Lowe 14, Bishop 8, Nowell 2.

Kirby Shoes (64) — Torrance 11, Roberts 2, Clutaka 9, Buck 11, Acres 7, McIntosh 12, Pounds 12. Fresno (48) — Jacobsen 7, Mikel 4, O'Leary 7, Lee 5, Lowe 13, Stark 2, Allen 1, Farnsworth 5, Taylor 2, Nowell 2.

Coach Hans Wiedenhofer got a pleasant surprise Saturday when his Fresno City College Rams won the San Jose State College Invitational Wrestling Tournament in San Jose. They outscored the University of California's Golden Bears, 41-37, to cop the title. The Rams warmed up for the big meet at the expense of College of the Sequoias when they beat them, 33-0, in a meet held in Fresno Thursday.

Cagers Wrap Up '59 With Four Tilts

Now that the year is rapidly coming to an end the FCC basketball schedule is being accelerated. In the remaining days of this month the Rams will play four single games and at least two tournament tilts.

Of the four single games, the first, against Bakersfield College, tomorrow night, will be in Bakersfield but the remainder will be played in McLane High School's gymnasium.

Heading the list of on-coming games will be the Long Beach City College-FCC tilt Saturday night. Long Beach is the defending state champion, and has some of last year's team back.

As an added attraction to this game, the McLane High School Highlanders will play the Sierra High School Chieftains in a preliminary game. This game will start at 6 PM. The LBCC-FCC game will start at 8 PM.

Finishing out the schedule will be: Chaffey Junior College of Ontario, Calif., Dec. 22, at 8 PM in McLane Gymnasium, and Sacramento Junior College, Dec. 23, at 8 PM in McLane Gymnasium.

From Dec. 26-30 the Rams will play in the Sam Berry Tournament in Glendale. This will be the fourth time the Rams have appeared in this tourney. In one of the meetings, in 1957, the Rams captured the consolation trophy and in 1956 they came in second to Glendale.

Starting out the new year, 1960, the Rams will travel to Santa Maria Jan. 5 to open their league season against the defending league champions, the Allan Hancock Bulldogs. Next on the list will be the Modesto Tournament, which will be held Jan. 7-9.

The Rams provided an interesting picture at San Jose by taking first place. Besides downing the best that UC could offer they beat the best from San Jose State, Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, which has one of the best four-year wrestling teams in the state, Chico State, University of California at Davis, Treasure Island Naval Station, and the College of San Mateo, the only other junior college in the tournament.

Another added surprise came when the Rams captured second place in the open division, which was won by the San Francisco Olympic Club. The SFOC boasts five nationally ranked wrestlers including one member that represented the United States at the Pan-American games last year.

Posting wins for the Rams at the San Jose meet were Jim Moore and Eddie Davies. This was Davies' twenty-first consecutive win in junior college competition. Other Ram point getters were Larry Nehring, third place, Ed Seagle, fourth place, Errol Johansen, third place, Jim Markarian, second place, Joe Aquino, third place, and Lorenzo De Santiago, fourth place.

Markarian, although losing his final match, met one of the state's best wrestlers and managed to fell him before the experienced San Francisco Olympic Club man won on points. After the match was over it was learned that this was the first time in many years that the SFOC man had been felled.

Against COS Thursday all Ram wrestlers won their matches. Larry Nehring, Eddie Davies, and Joe Aquino pinned their opponents.

Modesto, Reedley Next On Docket For Fresno Rams

The "winningest" team in FCC history, wrestling team that is, traveled to Modesto today where they will meet the Modesto Junior College Pirates in a non-league match. Tuesday afternoon, starting at 4 PM the Rams will meet the Reedley College Pirates in their second league match of the season.

Modesto, which placed fourth in the state tournament last year, will be a tough team for the Rams. They have many returning lettermen and are backed by a good crop of freshmen.

Reedley, which finished fourth in last year's first Central California Junior College Athletic Association, will provide some competition with a fair group of returning lettermen.

SPORTSTALK

By LARRY ADAMS

As time passes the Central California Junior College Athletic Association face gets more and more complicated. Upsets, loss of key players, and many other factors enter into the picture.

College of the Sequoias, which was picked to battle with the best, lost their key player and tallest man, Howard Coleman to grades. This seems to be the beginning of COS's sudden downfall.

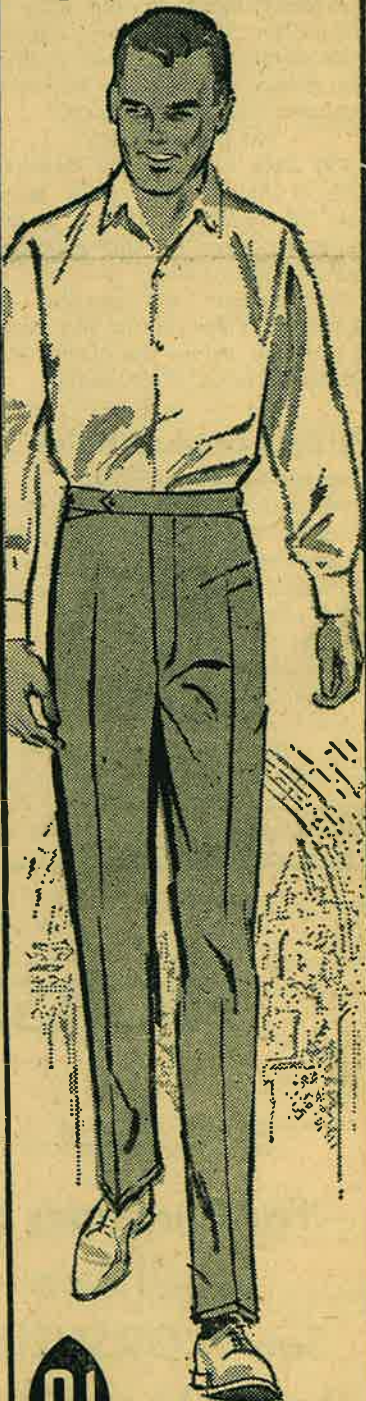

Porterville, still riding a winning streak, has found their answer to height with six foot, nine inch Titus White.

Allan Hancock, the perennial favorite in the league race, is still riding high and downing their opponents, one by one.

Coalinga, which got a late start due to their performance in Bakersfield's Potato Bowl, has bounced two formidable foes and has only a loss to the CCAC.

Reedley and Taft bounce back and forth with wins and losses and seem to be holding back, maybe awaiting the opening of the onrushing league season.
