Casting For Next School Play Will Begin March 9th

Casting for "Thieves Carnival," a four act play, will begin Mar. 9 at 3 PM in the auditorium.

Clyde G. Sumpter, the director, announced the comedy farce by Jean Anouilh, a French playwright, will be presented in the University Ave. campus auditorium May 15 and 16.

Second Presented

The play will be the second major dramatics production in FCC history. The first, "The Tea House of the August Moon," was presented in December.

Sumpter, the dramatics instructor, said the play has 14 roles, including three main ones for women, five principal parts for men, and five minor ones. However, Sumpter may add several other minor roles to the cast.

Sumpter invited any city college student to audition for a part. Copies of the script may be obtained from him.

Class Works Backstage

Sumpter's theater craft class will be responsible for technical work, including sets, costumes, ticket sales and other non-acting affairs. Other students are invited to assist in this backstage work.

Sumpter also announced that the theater craft students and the FCC choir will join forces to present "Cumberland Fair," an operetta by Alec Wilder and Arnold Sundgaard Apr. 22 in an assembly.

The action of the play revolves around a band of pickpockets in Paris in the gay '20s.

Depending on the staging, this farce should prove a delightful novel evening to Fresno City College theatre goers.

Changes Are Made In This Year's Yearbook

Several changes have been made in the Fresno City College yearbook, the Rambler. The changes are few but the staff feels they will result in a bigger and better annual.

Coeditors Joyce Ridgway and Linda Allen reveal that the book will have 136 pages, 20 more than last year. Also, a new advertising layout is being used.

Peter C. Christian, Rambler advisor, explained that in the past, graduate pictures have been taken by a professional photographer at an expense to the students and yearbook.

"This year, however," Christian said, "they will be taken free of charge by student photographers in SC-212.

The Rambler staff have scheduled pictures of students whose last names begin with A through M this week. The following week pictures will be taken of students whose last names begin with N through Z.

Organizations will receive free space this year and should contact Miss Ridgway or Miss Allen as soon as possible regarding pictures.

Five new members have joined the staff this semester. They are Sandra Gaus and Chris Harrison, business staff; Carol Sturica and Roy Ohara, layout, and Richard Roccollini, advertising.

Thieves Extend Book Drive

By LARRY ADAMS

"Charity begins at home" seems to be the byword of a few Fresno City College students.

The joint Alpha Gamma Sigma-Phi Theta Kappa book drive for patients in the Modesto State Hospital has been working on a losing proposition for the last week according to Mabelle Bell, secretary of the AGS.

The drive, which began Feb. 9 and was to last until Feb. 20, had resulted approximately in 25 books by the middle of last week. Upon checking this week only two were left. In the other 23's place were gum wrappers, a discarded stenographer's note book and other collected trash.

With the downfall of the drive has had to be extended an additional week, which will end March.

The two sponsoring societies have been successful in the past in aiding other collection drives.

Friday Is Last Day To Apply For AA

George C. Holstein, the dean of admission and records, warned tomorrow is the last day sophomores may apply for their Associate of Arts degree.

Applications can be made between the hours of 8 AM and 5 PM in the admissions office of the Fresno City College campus.

"Sophomores," said Holstein, "who either ignore the warnings or forget the deadline will be unable to graduate this spring."

"Sophomore class meetings will not begin until the latter part of March," said Lee D. Ross, the class sponsor.

An announcement of the first meeting of the spring semester will be published in the bulletin.

The associate of arts degree is important for those students who do not intend to transfer to a college and for those students who will not complete their college education.

Fall Term Produces 169 Eligible Students For Honor Societies

George C. Holstein, the dean of admission and records revealed the scholastic ability of the students of Fresno City College as improving since October of 1958.

This year 103 students may join Alpha Gamma Sigma, the state honor society. Last year only 39 students were invited to join the society.

Phi Theta Kappa, the national junior college scholastic honor group, has qualified 66 students, only 28 were eligible last fall.

Requirements Listed

Students becoming Phi Theta Kappa's must carry 15 units, with an overall average of B for all colleges work.

The Alpha Gamma Sigma group requires that students must carry a schedule of 12 units and have a B average. They must also earn at least 42 grade points with no grade lower than C on their college record.

The college admissions office computes four grade points for each unit of A, three for each unit of B, two for each unit of C, and one for each unit of D.

Eligible For AGS

The office of admissions and records lists the following students as being eligible for membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma: Constance Amodeo, Richard C. Anderson, Manuel J. Angel, Allan R. Arr, Louis Arredondo, Sonja Austin, Mary Jo Beckett, Mabelle Bell, Noritta Boggs, Gisele Boroyan, Harold Bosteder, Cathy Braga, Bevedeen Breeding, Joseph Caetano, Roberta Calhoun, Gonzalo Chacon, Carol Christiansen, Wayne D. Cloyd, Virginia Collins, Juan Coronel, Mitsuko Doi, Douglas Embrey and Douglas Eudaly.

Others eligible for AGS are Thomas Flannery, Sylvia Gagle, Trinidad Gonzales, Jack Goodman, David Hanna, Florence Harper, Mary Ann Hartmann, Deanna Haw, Wray H. Haydock, Irene A. Hernandez, Carl Ray Hiser, Naomi J. Hobbs, Barbara Hochderffer, Laurie N. Jibelian, Barbara J. Johnson, Diane A. Keller, Douglas W. King, Sylvia Kirby, Douglas M. Becker Will Head Paper This Spring

Gary Becker will again edit the Fresno City College newspaper, the Rampage, for the spring semester.

Returning as assistant editor for the second semester will be Irene Brietigam.

Richard Bruun will drop the title of news editor and will become managing editor.

Those remaining at their present duties are: Alice Alvarez, business manager; David Ruggeri, feature editor; Russell Foote, sports editor; Mabelle Bell, copy editor; Diane Nixon, assistant copy editor; Kenneth Ruth, photographer; John Bezayiff, cartoonist; Joyce Missiklian, assistant business manager; Ronald Sterling, advertising manager; Christine Harrison, exchanges, and Karen McDougald, club news.

Taking a new position on the Rampage staff is Travis Smith as circulation manager.

New secretaries will be Farideh Ghaffari, Patsy Shanan, Doris Maxwell, Margaret Villalobos, Esther Rivas and Adrienne Beltran.

Reporters for the spring semester will be Andrew Ferderico, Diane Nixon, Mabelle Bell, David Hanna, Monte Horner, Marilyn Kelley, Ann Kone, Larry Adams, Susan Hill, Joseph Romero, Marie Casares, Eleanor Patton, Ruth Hakobian, Shirley White, Ronald Moore and Kenneth Coyle.

Chapman Wins Speech Award

Wayne Chapman was the only member of the Fresno City College debate team to receive an award at the Stockton speech tournament.

The tournament held Friday was composed of all the colleges and universities on the west coast.

Competing in these events against delegates from campuses of Nevada, Utah and California were John Red Horse, Sharon Sue Martin, Charles Fairfield, Eric Radonovich, Jerry and Jo Boyes and David Ruggeri.

The members of the team participated in debate, oratory, expository, interpretative reading and impromptu speaking events.

"The members of the debate team," said Frank Weinschenk, instructor of debate at Fresno City College, "are a combination of class members and members of the Forensics club."

STUDENT INTEREST IN ASSEMBLIES VERY LOW

24 persons attended an assembly held a little over a week ago; 24 out of over 3,000.

The purpose of the assembly was to make and discuss changes in the Student Government Constitution. But it seems that the students aren't interested.

Why, some ask, wasn't the assembly held during class time and have the classes dismissed? These people don't realize that it costs anywhere between $800 and $1100 to excuse classes and hold an assembly. If 24 out of those who had no noon time classes is a fair picture, of how many would show up, then to expend such money would be complete insanity.

This isn't the first time that an assembly in the students' interest has brought such poor results. Today's college student just doesn't seem to want to take the time or the effort.

Unfortunately, people have a wonderful aptitude for complaining about things they could have determined; if they had taken the original interest.

When the elections for these changes come up in March, how many will know, or even care, what they imply?

The running of the FCC student government is dependant upon the students. The students support it with their money, and the students allocate the money for student use. The students run the offices and the students elect the officers. Therefore, it is only the interest and the participation of the students which keeps the Student Body Government efficient and alive.

$14,000 Lab For Languages May Be Built

By KAREN McDOUGALD

It is anticipated that a new media of mass communication will be included in the fall semester program at Fresno City College.

A request for funds for the development of a foreign language laboratory at FCC has been submitted to the board of education in Sacramento.

"14,000 dollars is the estimated cost," said John Hansen, the dean of administration at FCC, "for the language laboratory alone."

The Fresno City Unified School District, he further commented, will be required to match all funds provided by the federal government. This is also designated under title three of the National Education Defense Act passed in 1958

Goal of Lab

"The goal of the foreign language laboratory," said William R. Reynolds, instructor of French at FCC, "is to enable the students to succeed in having a complete mastery of the foreign language they have chosen."

"To vitalize the foreign language and the mode of teaching the subject," said D. Lee Ross, Spanish instructor at FCC, "and to give each student an equal chance to participate are a few of the reasons for having a laboratory."

The language laboratory, he further commented, will give the instructors a greater opportunity to help those students who are having difficulties in the language.

Well Equipped

The laboratory, proposed for FCC will be composed of a large room equipped with a modern acoustic system to subdue noise. The room will be divided into thirty cubicles, containing a microphone, tape recorder and ear-phones. This will enable the students to hear the lesson dictated over a master console located in the front of the room, to watch visual aids, such as films on the subjects studies, and to dictate over their individual recorders.

The instruction, contrary to the existing methods of teaching, will be comparable to a tutoring service for each student.

Strong Curricula

The National Education Defense Act passed in 1958, was formed to encourage school authorities into strengthening the mathematic, physical science and foreign language curricula in schools throughout the country as part of the national defense program.

Fresno City College Has 59 Year Long History

By DELORIS DICKSON

In the year of 1910 a very important event took place—the birth of the Fresno City College. Its purpose was to fulfill and meet the educational needs of the community.

It was in the fall of 1910 when the FCC opened its doors and began instruction on the O St. campus, which was then known as the Fresno High School campus.

Begins Small

On a site of less than three acres the junior college was joined with the Fresno High School under a staff of three teachers and an enrollment of 28 students. C. L. McLane, then Fresno City Superintendent of Schools, became the first public school administrator in California to establish a post-high school institution. The purpose of the post-high school was to enable high school graduates to take courses of instruction which would be required in the first two years of a university course.

In 1921, because of a law which made it permissive for a school district to contract with a teachers' college for the maintenance of a junior college, FCC and Fresno Normal School (presently known as Fresno State College) were combined. However, there were still some changes to be made.

Campus Re-established

In the fall of 1948 the Fresno City College was reestablished on the O St. campus. This took effect under the Strayer Report which recommended that "the Fresno City Schools house the FCC in a new plant or in-existing units." The Fresno Technical High School program on this campus was eliminated in 1950. Soon after this took place plans were being made for FCC to acquire the University campus.

By the fall of 1955 the junior college general education division had moved most of its classes to the University Ave. site. A year later the FCC administrative offices and the business education division were moved to the campus.

Fresno City College is the oldest junior college in the state.

Local Groups Use Facilities

Many local organizations, taking advantage of the state Civic Center Act, are making sure that taxpayers of the state are getting their money's worth.

The act states that public school districts shall make free housing available to cultural, educational, recreational and character building organizations who do not charge admission or make a profit. However, the school district is given the prerogative in assigning facilities.

John S. Hansen, the FCC administrative dean, stated that scores of outside organizations use the college's auditorium, classrooms, social hall and other rooms each school year.

Hansen catalogued the use of the City College's facilities from a range of state and county civil service examinations to accom-

Stradel And Staff Of 25 Do Business

Nutrition experts, calorie counters and those who like attractively served food can all be pleased by eating in the City College cafeteria.

Mrs. Nina Stradal, the cafeteria manager, and her staff of 25 serve hundreds of students each day from their modern kitchen. From 1,200 to 1,500 people are served daily in the coffee shop alone.

Open 7:30

The work day begins early for those in the cafeteria. The first daily meal served is breakfast. Although the coffee shop opens at 7:30 AM, food must be ready before that time. Among the breakfast items are waffles and pancakes served with syrup and butter for 20 cents. Coffee or a one-third pint of milk may be purchased for 10 cents. Breakfast is served until 8:45 AM.

The cafeteria and coffee shop reopen at 11:30 AM and serve lunch until 1:30 PM. As a rule, the luncheon menus include a choice of seven different types of sandwiches as well as soup made under the direction of Mrs. Emma Shafter, the head cook. The steam table will always offer a well-balanced meal and a large selection of attractive salads may be found.

Home Bakes

All baked goods are made by Mrs. Bell Slater, the baker, in one of her four large ovens.

Dinner is served from 5:30 PM until 7 PM with the cost of the average dinner 65 cents.

Extended day students enjoy their coffee break in the coffee shop from 7:30 PM until 8:45 PM when the cafeteria closes to prepare for another day of good eating by those at FCC.

Music Group Plans Ahead

The music department of the Fresno City College with C. Lowell Spencer, instructor, and a group of 55 singers, are practicing for two public appearances. They will perform the evening of Mar. 18 and at the morning assembly on Mar. 19.

The choir is presenting "The Seven Last Words of Christ," a cantata by Dubois.

Spencer said the stage-craft class is preparing an unusual stage setting to make the presentation more impressive. He added everybody is invited to hear this dramatic musical presentation of the last statement from the cross.

The second project for this semester is a musical show called "Cumberland Fair," a fun-filled musical. The choir and the stage-craft classes are again joining forces.

On the same program the choir will also sing an arrangement of "Rhapsody in Blue" with Gary Sexton and Judy Monson at the pianos. This program is to be presented for an assembly on Apr. 22 and at the Elks Club on May 1.

A vocal ensemble is traveling to Reedley Junior College to present a program on Mar. 4.

Spencer said the exact schedule for time will be released later.

modating various valley organizations like the Independent Order of Foresters, the Valley Square Dance Association, the Fresno Natural History Society, the Cosmopolitan Club and many others.

School organizations using the facilities range from Fresno State College fraternities and sororities to the city schools' guidance department.

Fresno CC Becomes Melting Pot As East Meets West

Eighty-one foreign students have come to Fresno City College on a visa this semester from 22 countries. The students from the Middle East include 26 from Iran, six from Lebanon, five from Syria, four from Jordan, three from Arabia, two from Baghdad and Iraq, respectively, and one each from Turkey and Palestine.

Residences Vary

The students from the Far East include eight from India, five from Japan, four from Korea and the Philippines, respectively, two from China, and one each from Singapore and Pakistan. The four students from Latin America include one each from Mexico, Brazil, Venezuela and Peru. There is also one student from Holland and one from Canada. A number of students who have been born in foreign countries are now citizens of the United States.

Iran Leads

The students on student visas and their countries include from Iran: Sarkis Abrahamian, Lenson Alchangian, Fariborz Allahyari, Kamran R. Amir-Ebrahimi, Fereydoon Bayati-Kermanshahi, Khosro Djahangiri, Moossa Kivan Ebrahimi, Surur Rohanv Esfandiary, Iraj Farahmand, Goorgen A. Silverman Will Speak To Adult Discussion Group

Dr. David Silverman, a local dentist, will lead a Fresno adult discussion group in American foreign policy at Fresno City College Mar. 2 at 7:30 PM in A-8. This program, presented by University of California Extension Service and the American Foundation for Political Education, meets two hours weekly for a period of eleven weeks. With the guidance of Dr. Silverman the group will explore prescribed readings dealing with problems of foreign policy in an atomic age. As the participants register in this program, they will receive articles bound in book forms which are written by secretaries of state, atomic scientists, senators, Supreme Court justices, economists, and professors.

AMS To Sponsor First Spring Dance March 13

The first dance of the spring semester, the St. Patrick's Day dance sponsored by the Associated Men Students, will be presented Mar. 13 in the student center. Miss Doris N. Deakins, FCC dean of women, said the dance will be from 9-12 PM. Student body card holders and one guest will be admitted free. Miss Deakins reported a dance scheduled for Apr. 24, but at the present no sponsor is listed. The Associated Women Students and the AMS will sponsor the spring formal on May 22.

New Shop Buildings Are Nearing Completion At Fresno City College

By KEN COYLE

"Heads up! Watch that pipe! Bring a level up with you." These are shouts that can be heard above the scream of band-saws and the roar of air compressors next door as construction of the new rigid-frame campus buildings progresses. In every corner of every building the sounds and scenes of industry can be heard or seen. The grinding of cement mixers, the slamming of pneumatic hammers, grunts, shouts and a few occasional curses (even the best carpenters sometimes miss the nail!) are all an integral part of the work. Stacks of lumber, pipe and cement bags; piles of brick and tile; kegs of nails and layers of metal frames are scattered around, apparently in a completely disorganized manner. Things are not as disorganized as they may seem.

These components of the ultimate whole are to be shaped, fitted or forced into the classrooms and offices of our new campus. The architecture of the six buildings is essentially modern, but the concrete encased, tile-red brick walls facing Del Mar and San Pablo Sts. will attempt to blend the old ivy-covered brick building concept with more modern ideas. The building site covers more than a square block with two of the structures going up on the eastern side of San Pablo Ave. When all is completed, it should be impressive enough to make even the villagers take notice! It may be some time before students will be attending classes in the new buildings since painting is not scheduled to begin until early spring. When the rooms are ready, FCC will definitely be "living modern."

Dean Collins Speaks At Honorary Meeting; Forgets Time Of Scheduled Talk For The Group

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. This is the axiom adopted by James P. Collins, the dean of the general education division of the Fresno City College, after meeting with Phi Theta Kappa, the national honor society, Monday noon in the committee room of the student center. Two Appearances Made At the previous meeting Collins came prepared to speak to the group but due to the lack of notice to the membership, the speech was postponed. At Monday's meeting Collins forgot the time for the rescheduled speech. He was present, but without a prepared address. Answers Queries As a substitute for a speech, Collins conducted a question and answer period. In answering a question concerning the changes in the Fresno State College catalog, Collins revealed a close working relationship between FSC and FCC. If changes are made, FCC students courses are not thrown out of line. In explaining the setup at FCC, Collins said the junior college is geared to a two year program. Ordinarily United States History 17 A-B is not offered to the first year student. All courses are offered with the curriculum of the University of California and FSC in mind. Frosh Eliminated "The University of California and FSC are made up of transfer students," informed Collins. "A great number of students at FCC are eligible to attend either institution. "Attending a junior college the first two years gives a student a greater chance of survival as a junior. Most failures occur in the freshman and sophomore years. Fifty-five per cent of one freshman class was wiped out at one of the California universities." The dean of the education division said it was easier to be admitted now, but harder to remain. Triprograming Offered In reply to a question concerning the scholastic standing of FCC, Collins reminded the students that FCC was a comprehensive college—a college offering three programs, a transfer, a vocational and a business program. "Our basis of the success of a student is what success the student attains after leaving FCC," said Collins. "Our basis for an ideal student at FCC is one who would be acceptable under the standards of the Stanford University or the University of California."

FCC Seeks Big Cage Upset (2-0?)

By LARRY ADAMS

Coach Joe Kelly and the Fresno City Rams will travel to Santa Maria Saturday night in hopes of upsetting the league leading Allan Hancock Bulldogs. The Rams have done the trick for the past two years and will be out to keep a perfect record.

If the Rams do win, it will be a moral victory as well as a team victory. All the Rams will have to look up at their opponents as the Bulldogs range from two to six inches in height over the Rams.

For the past two years the local casaba men have managed to keep the Santa Marians from going through their league season with a perfect record. In 1957 the Rams used well calculated ball control to post a 66-59 victory. Last year, two free shots by Polly Carver turned a tie into a 51-49 victory for Fresno.

9-7 Nightmare

The Rams almost upset the Bulldogs once this year when Hancock invaded Fresno, but managed to eke out a 9-7 victory in an overtime.

Using one of his favorite tricks, Kelly had the Rams play ball control and when Hancock refused to come out of their zone defense the game developed into an opportunity game.

With Hancock ahead at the half, 4-0, Chet Bishop brought the first Fresno tally and Johnson followed to tie the game. A free shot by Johnson and a layup by Charles Lowe tied it again at 7-7 and threw the game into an overtime.

In the final minutes of the overtime Bulldog center Dave Mills connected with a 20 foot jump shot to win the game.

Same Starting Five

Kelly remains with his usual starting lineup, with Darnel Mikel at center, Frank Johnson and Lee Stark, forwards, with Charles Lowe and George Sarantos, guards.

At present, Frank Johnson is the leading Ram scorer with 370 points for a 14.2 average. He is followed by Mikel with 323 points; Lowe, 303 points; Stark, 218 points, and Sarantos with 178 points.

Opposing the Rams center will be six foot seven inch center Dave Mills. At forwards will be John Rudometkin, also six feet, seven inches, and John Katrick, at six feet, four inches. The guards will be sharpshooting Jerry Foster, and the smallest man on the Hancock squad, five feet eleven inch, Paul Firth.

If the Rams upset Hancock it will throw the league into a tie, provided the Coalinga Falcons come through the weekend game unscathed.

Fresno at 5-6

The league standings now show Hancock in first with a 9-1 record. Coalinga follows with a 9-2 league record and College of Sequoias has a 7-3. Fresno rounds out the first division with a 5-6 league mark. Porterville, Reedley and Taft are the also-rans in order.

COS could tie for second place by beating Porterville and Coalinga this weekend.

Fresno will warm up for the Hancock game against the Stanford University Junior Varsity in Palo Alto, Friday. The Bulldog game will conclude the season.

Rams Split Two

The hot then cold Ram cage crew split two games over the long weekend. Starting out on the right foot the Rams out-hustled the Reedley College Tigers for a 69 to 60 Central California Association victory.

The Rams, behind the steady scoring punch of Frank Johnson and George Sarantos, built a comfortable 34 to 18 halftime lead and coasted in for the win.

In the second game the Ram cage

FRESNO IN COS TOURNEY

The Fresno City College baseball squad will travel tomorrow to Visalia to take part in the College of Sequoias baseball tournament.

The Rams first game will be against the Bakersfield College Renegades at 2:30 PM.

Coach Len Bourdet has indicated he plans to start Thad Tillotston in the first game. Tillotston, a rangy righthander from Merced High School, pitched six innings against San Jose City College Saturday.

Dale Rudolph, Les Lusk, Don Anderson and Darrel Woolter are other pitchers who are expected to see action during the two day tournament.

The Rams trimmed San Jose City College Saturday on the Romain Playground diamond in a rain filled game.

The Rams had a 5-4 lead in the second inning of the nightcap when it was called because of rain.

Thad Tillotston and Darrell Woolter combined efforts to hold San Jose to five hits while their mates pounded out eight safeties off a pair of San Jose hurlers.

Fresno iced the game in the seventh inning with a four run blast that was highlighted by Terry Hanoian's two run double.

Kalem Barsarian lined a double in the fifth to drive in a pair of runs.

Pete Lango was the big stick for the Rams with a single and a double in four trips.

Fresno's probable starting lineup:
Pete Lango2b
Terry Hanoiancf
Jim Maloneyss
Kalem Barsarian1b
Lupé Ramirezrf
Ron Lombardi3b
Larry Hanoianc
Dan Ramirezlf

Swimmers At Home Tomorrow

The Fresno City College swimming team, still seeking its initial victory of the season, will host Reedley and Bakersfield junior colleges in the Fresno High School pool tomorrow at 4 PM.

Coach Paul Pasteur's Rams lost a close meet in the FHS pool, Feb. 20, to Sacramento Junior College, 44-41. Each school picked up five first place finishes with Chuck Polley winning three events for Fresno, the 100, 200 and 440 yard freestyles.

The results:
Medley relay—FCC, 5:22.5.
220 freestyle — Polley, FCC, 2:20.5.
50 freestyle — Livingston, SJC, 26.3.
Diving—Soltero, SJC, 191.3.
100 butterfly — Yancey, SJC, 1:12.0.
100 freestyle—Polley, FCC, 55.9.
200 backstroke—Pendleton, SJC, 2:47.7.
440 freestyle — Polley, FCC, 5:46.5.
200 breaststroke — Havenhill, FCC, 2:54.0.
400 freestyle relay—FCC, 4:35.0.

crew evidently continued coasting as the cellar dwelling Taft Cougars arose to dump them 77 to 65. Chuck Lowe and Darnell Mikel led the Ram scorers in the losing cause, with 20 and 19 points, respectively.

LARRY NEHRING—of FCC and Neal Yoshida, right, from Reedley, appear to be holding each other up although the objective of each of these 112 pound wrestlers is definitely not so humanitarian.

Ram Wrestlers Will Host First League Meet Today

By DAV HANNA

Fresno City College will host the first annual Central California Junior College Athletic Association league meet today at 2:30 PM in the men's gymnasium.

Hans Wiedenhofer, the wrestling coach, said Modesto, College of the Sequoias and Reedley have indicated they will send teams to the meet.

Larry Nehring, a former Northern California high school champion in the 103 pound division, will wrestle at 115 pounds for Fresno. Nehring attended Fresno High School.

Frank Rodriguez, a two time Northern California high school champion from Madera High School, will wrestle in the 123 pound division.

Davies Undefeated This Year
Eddie Davies will wrestle for the Rams in the 130 pound division.

Davies, a graduate of Fresno High School, is undefeated this year.

Dennis McCauley, another Fresno High School contribution to the Rams, will wrestle in the 137 pound division.

Jim Moore, from Chicago, Ill. and younger brother of Bill Moore, will wrestle at 147 pounds.

Al Cunningham will wrestle at 157 pounds. Cunningham, a former student body president, is a letterman from last year's squad.

Jerry Kirkhart, a letterman and winner in the Cal Poly Invitational Tournament, is entered at 167 pounds.

Bill Moore, the other half of the brother combination, will compete in the 177 pound division.

Manser or Wamhoff

Ken Manser will wrestle in the 191 pound division and Don Wamhoff will wrestle in the heavyweight division, or vice versa.

Manser is a graduate of Madera High School and Wamhoff graduated from Fresno High School.

The Rams are coming into this meet fresh off a 22-8 lacing of the San Jose State College Spartans. The meet was held in San Jose Feb. 18.

The win is the ninth of the season against a single loss for the Ram grapplers.

Rams Lose One

Fresno's only loss this year has been to the Modesto Junior College Pirates, but that loss was avenged by a 20-8 Ram victory.

Results of the San Jose meet:
123 pounds—Rodriguez, F, p Bob Garcia.
130 pounds—Davies, F, d Dave Navis.
137 pounds—San Jose win by default.
147 pounds—Jim Moore, F, d L. D. Bennet.
157 pounds—Kirkhart, F, d Jerry Nelson.
167 pounds—Bill Moore, F, d Fred Yrueta.
177 pounds—Cunningham, F, d Jeff Kolling.
Heavyweight—Fred Rupprecht, SJ, d Manser.

Foot Notes

By RUSS ROOTE, SPORTS EDITOR

The Courthouse Park in downtown Fresno is probably the last place that you would expect to find anything of an athletic nature. Most of the old gang that hangs out there is composed of old retired guys, lots of young retired guys, and mainly guys diligently not looking for work. These folks get most of their exercise by keeping out from underneath the pigeons or debating the results of the Crimean War.

Crowded around a checkerboard under a sugar pine tree (which is unusual in itself, since there are no sugar pine trees in the park) were about a dozen men and a little old lady who I judged to be about 80. She was telling a story.

It seems that she had had 12 daughters, but she always wanted a son so she could raise him to be an athlete. When her daughters married, the offspring had little athletic ability except one, Faragot, the last of her grandsons.

Faragot showed odd inklings from the start; he looked like other kids, but he just did not fall like other kids. At the age of one month he fell out of a second story window of his house, but the fall didn't hurt him at all—he just sort of drifted down to the ground like a piece of Kleenex. Obviously, here was the future down-jumping champion of the world.

Faragot started training young. He did simple things at first, like jumping down short elevator shafts or off telephone poles. Gradually, as his muscles and his head hardened, he tried bigger down-jumps. Once at a Fourth of July picnic, he successfully leaped out of a low flying helicopter onto a slab of cement.

At last he went to the big time, New York. He jumped off of tenement houses, banks, high TV aerials, and finally off the 750 foot high Woolworth Building.

Then after weeks of rugged practice, before 10,000 fans, he stood poised on top of the Empire

State Building. This was the big one. Through radio and TV and power lens telescopes, every eye in the world was on him. (Obviously, no one wanted to get jumped on.) Then, without hesitation, he jumped.

This was the end of Faragot's career. No, he didn't splatter on the sidewalk below; he didn't fall. He just hung there. This time he went too high. I guess the air was too rare up there. (Notice how that last sentence rhymes), and poor Faragot has been hanging up there ever since.
