

Growth Of FCC Is Discussed By President White

The growth of the Fresno City College student body was the subject discussed by President Stuart M. White when he spoke before educators and civic groups during Public Schools Week.

White predicts a new enrollment at FCC will be 4,130 students in the fall of 1959, 4,430 in 1960, 4830 in 1961 and 5,230 in 1962. In 1963 the student body is expected to number 5,630.

Began With 388

In 1948, the year FCC was re-organized as a separate institution from Fresno State College, the college had a student body numbering 388. By 1948 students totaled 868; 1,348 in 1950; 1,122 in 1951; 1,512 in 1952; 1,693 in 1953; 2,224 in 1954; 2,770 in 1955; 2,832 in 1956; 3,161 in 1957, and 3,730 in 1958. By fall of 1958 FCC's enrollment exceeded 4,000 but several hundred students had withdrawn by the time the official total was computed Oct. 31.

Will Total 9,000

In 1955, at the time of the city bond election, it was predicted that FCC would have 3,743 students in 1960 compared to the 4,430 students are now expected. Arthur Selland, mayor of Fresno, has predicted that the student body will total 9,000 by 1963.

White spoke before the Fresno city board of education, the FCC citizens advisory committee and administrators of the Fresno city schools at a luncheon held in their honor on Apr. 29.

On Apr. 30 the college president spoke at a dinner meeting held in honor of the college business division and their advisory committee.

Students Urged To Preregister

Fresno City College students who are planning to be counseled for the fall term are urged to make appointments with their counselors.

John S. Hansen, administrative dean, said reservations cards will be issued by counselors to insure students of being able to preregister for classes of their choice.

Reservation Cards Needed

Returning students with cards may preregister on Aug. 25-26 from 8 AM to 12 PM and 1-4 PM. Students should bring their reservation cards with them at time of preregistration. Students who do not hold reservation cards will preregister Aug. 27-31.

Archie Bradshaw, dean of students, has announced the test procedure and schedule for entering freshman as follows:

Test Dates Given

The English placement and college aptitude test will be given on May 23, June 6, Aug. 17, 18 and 20 and Sept. 2 at 7 PM.

The basic mathematics test which is required by some majors, will be given on all the above dates except May 23 and June 6. The vocational nurses test will be given on Aug. 19.

Parking Plans Approved By Board

The Fresno city board of education has approved preliminary plans to put in additional parking space on the University Ave. campus of the Fresno City College.

Stuart M. White, president of the college, stated that negotiations will be made with the city and state authorities shortly.

Will Make More Room

He said that the additional parking spaces will make room for 269 on University Ave. by reducing the lawn in front of the library, the playhouse, the front of the administration building and Mc-Lane Hall. The parking strip in the middle of University Ave. will also be removed.

"In addition," President White said, "there will be 99 additional parking space from off-street parking by the new shop buildings." Some of the spaces will be provided by the buying and removing of four houses near the college industrial shops.

White Stated

White stated that bulldozers will start clearing the space, which is 1,200 feet long and 30 feet wide, after the school year ends. The project will cost $57,282, plus approximately $45,000 for the houses.

There will be room enough for 1,282 cars at FCC next semester. The estimated parking shortage for the 1959 fall semester is 432 cars.

Honor Code System Established At San Jose

San Jose State College is studying the idea of an honor code testing system. There will be one thousand students questioned regarding their attitudes on taking examinations under an honor code. The survey will be headed by Victor Matson, a sociology major.

Noon Dance Slated May 13

"Let's dance" says Jack Whitting, commissioner of rallies.

Fresno City College students will be able to indulge in a little pleasant social recreation at the noon swing session planned by the rally committee May 13, from noon to 1 PM.

Whitting, in his outline of the committee's noon dance, said the rising young campus singer, Hilard Streets, will be featured in the vocal spotlight. The Tabs Combo, led by De Andre (Chubby) Andrews, will do the instrumental dance numbers.

The admission is free, the dress is casual and the rally committee cordially invites all students to mingle.

Fresno City College students are invited to attend the annual Blue Key Carnival at Fresno State College tomorrow. Admission to the 7 PM to midnight affair is 25 cents.

The site of the carnival will be marked by a searchlight just west of Shaw and Maple Aves.

Blue Key, an upper division men's honor organization, sponsors the carnival as a highlight of the spring campus activities on the eve of each West Coast Relays.

Twenty-eight FSC clubs, fraternities and sororities will have booths at the carnival featuring such things as rat races, chess games, glider obstacle courses and a number of food and drink concessions.

The College Y has plans for an auto wrecking concession for frustrated mechanics who want to take a whack at somebody's car with a sledge hammer, while the FSC Chinese Students Club will have a tea, fortune cookies and confetti egg concession.

Lack Of Interest Shown By Number Of Candidates

There is a definite lack of student participation in the student body elections at Fresno City College. One candidate is running for president; two for vice president; one for secretary; one for treasurer; 11 for the 10 posts as representatives at large; one for the Associated Men Students president; and one for the Associated Women Students president.

What is the matter with the students? Why aren't there more people running?

Douglas Eudaly, student body president, stated that many students have said that for the four top offices and the representatives, the grade point average is too high. The four top officers are supposed to have maintained a 2.5 grade point average, which is no more than a C-plus average. The representatives must have a 2.0 average, which is nothing more than a C average.

Eudaly stated that anyone could run for office if they only had the initiative.

There is also a definite lack of appreciation for the work of your student council members. How many students actually know who the student council members are?

Organizational meetings, such as the Associated Men Students, the Associated Women Students, the student council, and the sophomore and freshman classes, are open to the whole student body. But who attends them?

There is also a lack of voting interest among the student body. Remember voting is a sacred privilege as citizens of the United States and should be exercised. The student body elections will be held on May 11 in the student center foyer of the University Ave. campus, on the O St. campus and the Edison campus. Let's see everyone voting for their candidate!

Congratulations Extended To Honor Sophomore Graduates

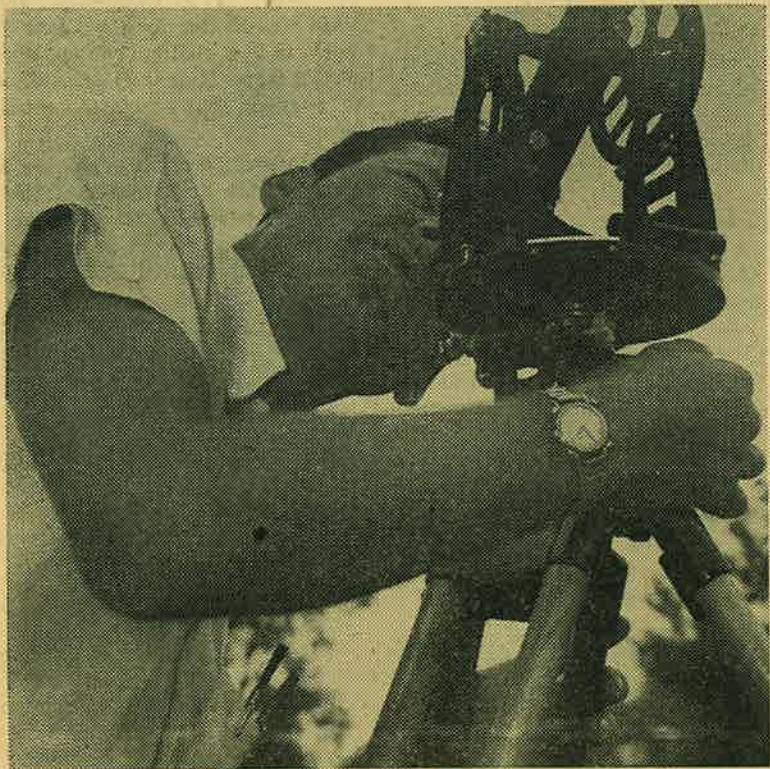

This week an impressive list of honor graduates in their various fields was released from the dean of students' office. Statistically grade point averages are cold, impersonal figures. To the student who finishes above the 3.5 grade point bracket, it represents 18 months of study, attending classes five days a week, and burning the proverbial oil many hours of the night.

According to Webster's Dictionary, June 12 is just a beginning, a regular procession of good things to come. Some will continue on in a four year college; others will terminate their formal education and find employment.

For whatever success the future holds, your beginning was here at Fresno City College where you have proven your ability to succeed. The promise extracted is a promise to make your future spiral upward and outward.

Congratulations and good luck.

LAND MEASURING—Surveying requires lots of patience and preciseness. Two classes of surveying are offered at Fresno City College. The student demonstrates the use of the transit in measuring roads.

Just let me catch somebody walking through my flowers.

'Thieves Carnival' Play Date Coming Up, May 15 To 16

By SHIRLEY WHITE and ELEANOR PATTON

It was noted in Herb Caen's column in the San Francisco Chronicle that the San Quentin drama guild, like our own Fresno City College, is presenting Jean Anouilh's "Thieves Carnival." Here the similarity ends for they, unlike city college, had little difficulty casting the show.

It might be supposed that if an actor in the San Quentin production failed to memorize his lines, a week in solitary might help. Clyde Sumpter, the director, approves of this idea and is endeavoring to find a way to put this plan into operation.

In four weeks the '20's will live

Surveying Described As 'Uneventful'

By LARRY ADAMS

"Mainly routine, precise and uneventful." These were the words used to describe the surveying classes by the instructor, Ernest Wolf. Although routine, precise and uneventful these two classes are required of all engineering majors, with the exception of chemical engineering students.

The introductory course to surveying is engineering 1-A, and is used to familiarize the students with the instruments he will use in the coming years. Some of these instruments, valued anywhere from 25 cents to $800 are the transit, level, chain tape, chain bob, leveling rod and many others.

In the second class, engineering 1-B, the future engineers get into the open air. They take solar observations with the transit, more accurate than the familiar sextant, do property surveys, and layout horizontal and parabolic curves. The parabolic curves have to do with grades, both up and down hill.

Although not designed to turn out surveyors, many students who have taken the courses have found good jobs waiting for them on survey parties, usually as chainmen. A few have been able to get to the top, party chiefs, in a very short time, but this is a rare case.

After completing these courses the future engineer will further his studies with advance classes in route surveying, aerial photography and interpretation and many others.

again when Anouilh's Thieves Carnival will be presented in the FCC auditorium. The show is loaded with humorous whims, romance and masquerades.

Have you ever wondered what goes into producing such a show? The itinerary runs like this: seven weeks of rehearsal, four weeks of fitting, sewing and buying costumes; four weeks of building and painting sets, and, in the meantime, planning such things as lighting, makeup, publicity and ticket sales.

Tickets for "Thieves Carnival," the college play to be given May 15 and 16, may be purchased at the ticket window located in the student center.

Clyde G. Sumpter, director, said students may purchase reserved seats for 50 cents while non students will pay $1.00.

The play, the second such production to be given in school history, revolves around a band of pickpockets in Paris in the gay '20's.

Leading male roles will be played by Sid Mosesian, Mike Parker, Mel Wright and Ben Tayan. Barbara Anderson and Shirley White will play female leads.

The theater class, under the direction of stage manager Tom Westerfield, will do all of the technical work on the play.

Sumpter's staff includes Allan Kennedy, business manager; Shirley White, Barbara Anderson and Jo Ann Obata, light and costume designers; Angie Casares, makeup, and Claudia Andresen and Dick Esajian, properties.

RALPH TROSI

Green Thumb Philosopher, Iron, Speaks

By DAVE RUGGERI

All it takes is a green thumb and the know how. That's what Ralph Trosi will tell you about gardening.

Trosi is a five foot two, 64 year old Italian whose chief love in life besides his wife is gardening and keeping things beautiful. He left Napoli, Italy when he was 15 years old to come to America.

Trosi has a right to be proud of his horticultural achievements. This campus looked like "a jungle" when he first came here when the City College moved from the O St. campus.

Litterbugs are Trosi's pet peeve for a number of reasons.

"If people would only keep the gardens clean. This campus is another home for the students. They live more here than they do at home, so why don't they keep it clean?"

"If the students would only help us keep the place clean, the gardeners would have more time to beautify the rest of the campus. Three men spend two hours a day picking up papers. That's six hours a day wasted. That time could be spent on doing something constructive."

Trosi said, "I like to raise gardens (he has also raised four children) because gardens are beautiful."

"Flowers are like a pretty girl." When it comes to pretty girls, Trosi will be the first one to stop you and say, "Hi, good look-in" to your girl friend.

Of course, the green thumb is somewhat of a philosopher. When you ask him about the world situation, he'll lean on his rake, push back his hat, scratch his head and say, "The world? She's fine. If you do good, then you can look back and say you're doing good; then if you do bad, you look back and say sheesh! What a mess I made."

The Futile Poet

By DICK BRUUN

I was driving down the road just relaxing at the wheel, when I saw this dead end street and beyond it was this field. Now I couldn't make the turn and I didn't want to die, I decide then and there that I'd go ahead and try. To the left there was a tree, to the right there was a pole, right between them, in the middle is where I set my goal. I hit the tree, and blew my tire and I hit the pole and rolled, when they found me...I was dead, such a story very old. MORAL: Never try to accomplish an obviously impossible goal.

Language Laboratory Will Be Installed For Fall

A $14,516 modern language laboratory will be a part of the fall curriculum at Fresno City College. School officials announced that approval has been given for matching funds of $7,257 applied for under Title III of the National Defense Education Act of 1958. The Fresno Board of Education approved the matching fund for $7,259 Feb. 12.

The project will be used for day classes in first two years of Spanish, French, Russian and night classes in first year Spanish, Russian and possibly German.

Varied Use Planned

The laboratory will be furnished with acoustic tiles covering the ceiling and half the walls. Electrical and audio wiring will be installed under the floors to eliminate outside noise.

The rooms will be provided with partitions called fold-away booths, each equipped with dual language recorders, student microphones, dual headsets and supervisory in-the-booth listening posts.

The equipment will enable each of the students to hear the lessons dictated over a master console located in the front of the room, to observe movies and plays, a cultural appreciation through the use of recorded material in music, literature and drama and to answer questions posed by the addition of a foreign language commentary which will play through the student tape recorder.

Purpose Explained

School officials stated that the main purpose for the project will be that a student can converse with a native, can actually think in the language, can read and write and have a general grasp of the culture of the country.

Another objective is to provide more effective instruction for the rapidly increasing number of Fresno City College students who will be required to take foreign languages in view of the reinstatement of the foreign language requirements in some departments of California state colleges.

Lab Aids Student

D. Lee Ross, instructor of Spanish at FCC, stated that he believes that the laboratory will prevent passiveness on the part of the students by a more active participation in the laboratory.

Instructors in the foreign languages who will preside over their respective classes in the language laboratory are D. Lee Ross, instructor of Spanish, William R. Reynolds, instructor of French and Mrs. Irene Ryzev, instructor of Russian.

Exhibit Displayed At Bakersfield College

The Emery Whilton Herbarium is now on display in the south reading room of the Bakersfield library. The exhibit was originally located at the Lebec Museum. The herbarium contains over 1,600 specimens of Western vegetation and is valued at several thousand dollars.

By DAV HANNA

The Fresno City College Rams will trek to Visalia Saturday with the hopes of clinching the Central California Junior College Athletic Association baseball championship. The Rams will play a morning-afternoon doubleheader with the College of Sequoias Giants. The first game will start at 10 AM.

A double win by Fresno would give the Rams undisputed possession of the championship. Reedley and Coalinga, who are tied for second place in the CCJCAA with 6-2 marks, will play two games Saturday which may have a bearing on the championship. If the Rams lost both games to COS, either Reedley or Coalinga could vault into first place with a double win. A split in the Reedley-Coalinga series and a double loss by the Rams would throw the lead into a four way tie with these four teams.

The Rams stretched their league leading record to 7-1 with a sweep of a doubleheader with Allan Hancock Saturday. The Rams easily won both games by scores of 14-5 and 2-1.

Anderson Whiffs 13

Don Anderson hurled six hit ball to win the nine inning opener. Anderson fanned 13, walked 5 and gave up only one earned run.

Dan Ramirez and Kalem Barsarian were the big guns for the Rams. Ramirez had four for six and Barsarian had three for six.

Thad Tillotson hurled the first six innings of the nightcap to pick up the win. Tillotson struck out 12, walked two and gave up four base hits.

The Rams broke up a 2-1 ball game in the fifth by scoring 10 runs and completed the rout with eight more in the seventh.

Jack Goodwin, Pete Lango and Jim Murphy each collected two hits.

Fresno Spikers In 1959 WCR

Voyce Hendrix and Frank Fiorentino will lead several members of Coach Erwin Ginsburg's Fresno City College track and field team in the West Coast Relays Saturday at Ratcliffe stadium.

Hendrix, whose best effort is 14 feet 1½ inches in the pole vault, has a chance to better the West Coast Relays pole vault record of 14 feet ¾ inches. Fiorentino, school record holder in the shot put has an excellent opportunity of placing in his event.

The Rams will have little possibility of figuring high in the team scoring. Bakersfield College, Glendale, Santa Ana, and Mount San Antonio are the teams to beat among the 41 schools entered.

PAUL PASTOR'S successful Ram's swimming team practices in the newly rebuilt FCC pool.

Fresno will be in Porterville Saturday.

Badminton Play Begins At FCC

Miss Margaret Tylor, girls P.E. instructor, announced that an intramural badminton tournament will start next week. It is open to women's and men's singles only and two out of three games will constitute a match.

The tournament will be on the elimination basis and will be held in the gym next Mon., Wed., and Fri. at noon.

Trophies will be given to the two top players.

Anyone wishing to participate in this tournament should sign up with Miss Tylor in the gymnasium.

Swimmers Vie In State Meet

Coach Paul Pastor will take his Fresno City College swim team tomorrow to Santa Monica to compete in the California state meet for junior colleges. The meet will be held tomorrow and Saturday.

Men May Cheat At The Golf Game To Win, But The Gals Don't Have To; They Play Another Type Game

By IRENE BRIETIGAM

Golfing is one of the national pastimes in the United States, along with baseball, football, soccer and marbles. Men are not generous enough to explain the rules of golf when the women are nice enough to accompany them to the golf course.

So with this in mind and to encourage the women, a simple glossary of golf terms has been given here which are frequently used in the game.

First of all stroke means any forward motion of the clubhead to hit the ball, also used in swimming as a back stroke.

Addressing the ball is a phrase used by golf players to tell the ball what hole it is to land in next time on the fairway.

Rough is how the guy in front of you sounds when you hit him in the head with the golf ball.

Foot Notes

By RUSS FOOTE
SPORTS EDITOR

Any person going to college should try his best to keep himself in good physical condition. So, three times a week, I go down to Harold Zinkin's Gymnasium for a good hard shower. On days when I feel particularly good, I use soap. Yesterday after a very rugged 40 minute hot and cold shower, I went out on the gym floor and sat down on a bench (which later turned out not to be a bench, but rather one of the weightlifters doing an extremely slow pushup) to watch everybody work out.

What a fantastic array of physical prowess! In all shapes, sizes and positions. Over in one corner, lying on his back on a bench and pushing a barbell up from his chest, one of these muscular heroes was making such fierce grunts and groans that they only could suggest terrific strength or acid indigestion.

In another corner, in front of a mirror, another potential muscular-type hero was measuring his arm muscles. It was quite obvious he had only been working out a short time, because before he flexed he looked around to see if anyone was watching. The more confident-type heroes walked all over the gym flexing whenever they had the opportunity, like one guy who kept brushing the hair out of his eyes even though he had a crew cut.

18 Inches

This guy was really built, a 50 inch chest and 18 inch arms. He had much courage. His stomach measured 45 inches. Boy, did he have guts!

Anyone who pays money and joins Zinkin's (They let me in free, because I'm a good example of how bad you could look if you didn't take a Zinkin's course) is introduced to a new method of body building such as dynamic tension exercise (lifting weights), contraction-extension dynamics (lift-weights) and cartilage concentration (weightlifting).

The most heroic body builders work out in the back room. Holy Moses are they ever strong! Two of 'em were having a contest to see who was the most strong the other day. With wheat germ oil dripping out of their mouths and protein pills emerging from their ears, they lifted every weight in the place, they started lifting other weightlifters, they did bench presses with the instructor and finally they went outside and ripped the building right out of its foundation. But little do they know I'm the strongest of them all 'cause I don't turn the water on when I take those showers!
