

White Defeats Dupzyk To Gain Vice Presidency

Approximately 235 students of the total student body went to the polls to elect the officers of the associated student body for the fall semester.

Elected to hold the office of associated student body president was Eric Radanovich. Shirley White was elected as vice president, with Diane Nixon repeating the same position as secretary for a second term and Carroll Jacobsen becoming treasurer.

Pete Farmer was reelected to his position of president of Associated Men Students and Barbara Warrington became the new Associated Women Students president.

The representatives at large elected were Barbara Anderson, Lawrence Cobb, Sidney Craighead, Allen Graves, Al Gray, David Hanna, David Opperman, Fred Randall, Johnny Smart and Tom Westerfield.

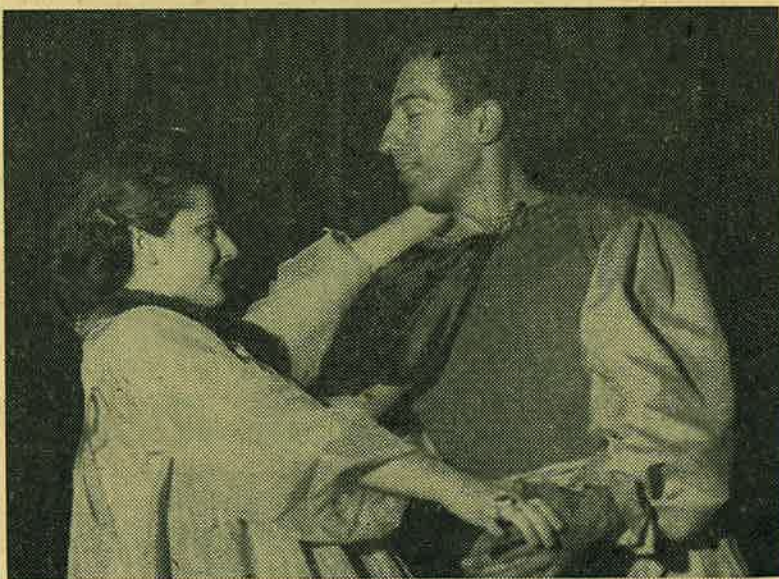

KATHY SHARUM

Kathy Sharum Is Named Queen Of Coast Guard

Kathleen Claire (Kathy) Sharum of 503 Rall Ave., a student at the Fresno City College, is the queen of the Coast Guard Reserve and by virtue of the position will dedicate a $1,000,000 swimming pool in the coast guard training center on Government Island, Alameda, next Monday.

Miss Sharum was chosen as Miss Coast Guard Reserve of 1959 from among four finalists by a vote of the reservists at the second annual dance of the Fresno Reserve group last week in the training center.

She also won the sweetheart title of the Associated Men Students of Fresno City College.

THIEVES CARNIVAL PRESENTED — Anna Tookoian and Sidney Mosesian prepare for the spring semester presentation by the drama department of "Thieves Carnival." The play will be seen in the Fresno City College auditorium tomorrow and Saturday night.

Entrance Exams Will Be Given Beginning May 23

A series of entrance tests will be given to all entering freshman students wishing to attend Fresno City College this fall.

The English placement and college aptitude test schedules were announced by Archie Bradshaw, dean of students. They will be given on May 23, June 6, Aug. 17, 18 and 20 and Sept. 2 at 7 AM in McLane Hall.

The basic mathematics test will directly follow the English placement and college aptitude tests. This test, which is required of some majors, will be given on all the above dates except May 23 and June 6. The vocational nurses tests will be given on Aug. 19 at 9 AM.

John S. Hansen, administrative dean, said reservation cards will be issued by counselors to insure returning students of being able to preregister for classes of their choice.

Returning students with cards may preregister on Aug. 25-26 from 8 AM to noon and 1-4 PM. Students should bring their reservation cards with them at the time of preregistration. Students who do not hold reservation cards will preregister Aug. 27-31.

New President Reveals Plans

Eric Radanovich, the newly elected associated student body president, has revealed his plans concerning next semester.

"I am very pleased and honored to have this opportunity to serve you as your student body president," Radanovich said, "and I am fortunate in having an outstanding group of people to work with in the student council. I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the students who exercised their right to vote in selecting this council."

Radanovich reminds the students that the student council meetings are open meetings and that any student may attend.

"As associated student body president, I plan to put the student back into student government. I would like to build up school spirit and continue to work with the problems that are always present at a two-year college," commented Radanovich. "Any problem brought before me will be given the consideration it deserves. I am looking forward to what I feel will be a very successful fall semester."

Radanovich has held the office of commissioner of elections for the last semester, is on the debate team and is active in church work.

Drama Class Presents Second Production, Thieves Carnival

By KAREN McDOUGALD

The curtain will go up at 8 PM for the second dramatic production of the year. The event is the four act satire "Thieves Carnival" by Jean Anouilh, to be presented in the Fresno City College auditorium tomorrow and Saturday evenings. The play is under the direction of drama instructor Clyde Sumpter.

The story is set in Vichy, the southern part of France, during the late 1920's at the villa of Lady Hurf. The main characters of the story are three charming thieves, a country bumpkin and the two nieces of Lady Hurf.

Shaping Up Well

"The play," said Sumpter, "is a totally new kind of experience in direction for me. It is shaping up well and we hope to have a full house for both performances. The production is completely different in comedy than the 'Teahouse Of The August Moon,' which was presented in the fall."

The leads for the play are Sid Mosesian as Peterbono, Ron Eddington as Hector and Mike Parker as Gustave, the three thieves. The feminine leads are Shirley White, as Juliette and Barbara Anderson as Eva, the two nieces, and Anna Tookoian as Lady Hurf.

Supporting Cast Listed

The supporting cast is Gary Sexton, Dupont-Dufort senior; Mel Wright, Dupont-Dufort junior; Ben Tayan, Lord Edgard; Richard Bruun, towncrier and policeman; Angie Casares, little girl; Claudia Andresen, nursemaid, and Alen Kennedy as the musician.

"Tickets," said Sumpter, "will be sold every day before the comedy and will be sold the night of the production as well. They may be bought at the box office in front of the student center. Prices for the tickets are 50 cents for students with the presentation of their student body card and one dollar for non-students."

Refreshments will be sold in the foyer during intermission by members of the drama classes. The project is being held to provide funds for the equipping of costumes lighting for the stage.

"The play," said Sid Mosesian, one of the male leads, will keep the audience in stitches throughout the performance."

Delegates Return From Student Government Meet

Eight delegates from Fresno City College attended the California Junior College Student Government Association conference in Long Beach last week.

Each delegate attended one of the five workshops which included student government, campus activities, athletics, finance and public relations.

Diane Nixon, secretary of the FCC student body, stated that these conventions are held each semester and that the facts learned from the exchange of ideas with other school leaders helps the delegates to bring back beneficial ideas to assist with the governing at FCC.

The delegates were Douglas Eudaly, president; King Morris, vice-president; Diane Nixon, secretary; Carrol Jacobsen, commissioner of assemblies; Pete Farmer, AMS president; Eric Radanovich, commissioner of elections, and Miss Doris Deakins and Joseph King, the council advisors.

The delegates also participated in recreational activities and had an opportunity to tour Disneyland.

NOMA Spelling Contest Is Hosted By Fresno CC

Fresno City College was the scene of a spelling contest sponsored by the Fresno chapter of the National Office Management Association Saturday.

Beverly Ensher of Roosevelt High School collected 50 dollars and a plaque for first Carolyn Blue of Roosevelt High School received 25 dollars for second and Judy Martin of Fresno High School received 10 dollars for third place.

The Story Of A Story That Shouldn't Be Told; Or, An Unhappy Fairy Tale

Once upon a time there was a land. It was a great country. And this country was like no other country because it had a type of government better than any other. It was democratic.

And in this great democratic land there was a small place at a big city. And this place was somewhat like all the other places in the land because it was under the same kind, benevolent, democratic government.

The people in this place believed in the good democratic government of the great land.

But then one day something happened. Great wonderful democratic heroes came into the big city. They looked around democratically and decided they wanted the little place for their very own.

So the council elders put their collective democratic heads together and ruled that the big wonderful national heroes could have the little place.

But there was only one problem. The tenants of the little place had to be removed.

So the democratic council decided to democratically evict them.

Now, there was a family that had only one payment more on their house.

But they were evicted.

There was a family with five children and no place to go.

But they were evicted.

There was an old lady with her crippled husband in one house.

But they were evicted.

There was a mother's plea to keep her home so her children could be raised properly.

But she was evicted.

And democratically!

Too bad that this story is true.

The place: Chavez Ravine, Los Angeles.

The heroes: The L.A. Dodgers.

And it was all done so democratically.

Not All Important Questions Are Answered In College

We learn so much, yet we know so little.

For all our learning and all our knowledge the real questions of life are never answered in the class room. These are the questions which count the most and they shall always remain as questions to us all.

"Where did I come from? Where will I go?"

The child of seven asked these questions. As he searched for their answers, he sensed the narrowness of the cleft between his present and the source of that small spark that glowed in his soul.

The light from that spark illuminated his ignorance. The shadows it cast hid the knowledge of his presence from the eyes of eternity. Yet, because of that shadow and that glow, he yearned to know more and to be known. Then he looked up at the vastness of the sky. He sought the answers to his questions from the Source of Truth which he had never seen but always believed. Perhaps the answers would come tomorrow.

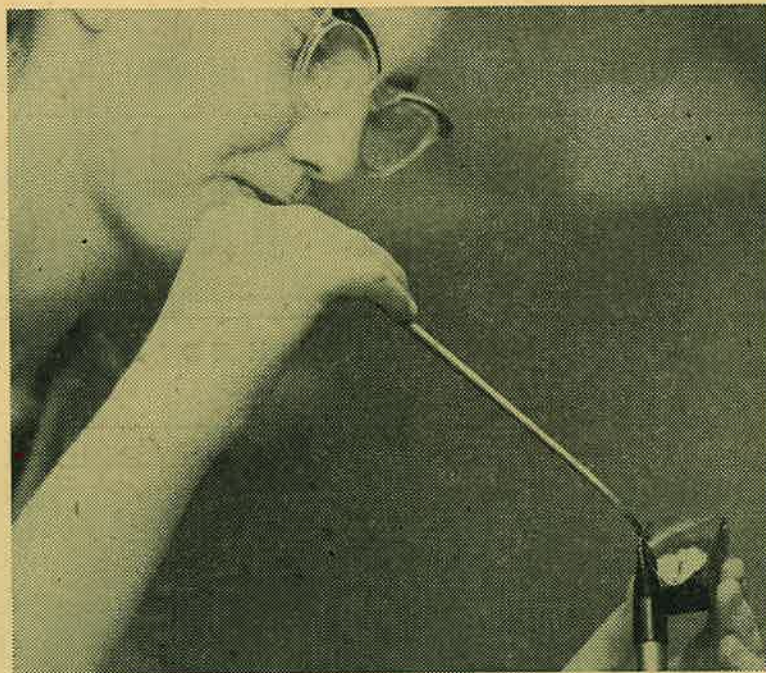

But the answers did not come tomorrow, and the man of seventy still seeks them. Still this man is ignorant, and his realization of everlasting fame remains shrouded in darkness. Even so his yearnings still prevail, and they are ever turbulent. He senses that his Creator is near. The interregnum is once again small.

And the man looks up at the sky and asks his questions.

"Where did I come from?"

"Where will I go?"

GEOLOGY BLOWER—Barbara Hochderffer, a mineralogy student, demonstrates the use of a bunsen burner with a blower. The rock in the black block disintegrates.

Four Field Trips Highlight Four FCC Geology Classes

By LARRY ADAMS

Four field trips a semester, covering the Mother Lode country in Mariposa County to the north and Drum Canyon in Tulare County to the south. These are offered in Fresno City College's four geology classes. One trip is offered to the physical geology class, 1-A, one in historical geology, 1-B, and two in either mineralogy class.

These are the more glorified parts of the class. Also included in most of the trips are encounters with the deadly desert rattlesnake, horrible, ugly-looking horned toads, scampering and ill-tempered lizards of many varieties and many more reptiles and mammals.

Geology, much like the other natural science courses, doesn't prepare the student for a career upon finishing the four courses offered at FCC. They are mainly geared to prepare the student for university level work. The only early accomplishment a person could gain from taking the first two years of geology would be an average rockhound, with certain advantages and disadvantages.

Early this semester the geology 1-B class, historical geology took their field trip to the fossil rich Coalinga region on the westside. This weekend the Geology 1-A, physical geology, will take their field trip to the Kings River Canyon and the Hass Power Plant. Over the Memorial Day weekend the Mineralogy class will go to the Mother Lode country in Mariposa County.

Francis Leyden, instructor of all geology classes, said that of all the enrollment at FCC there are only ten or eleven geology majors. Most of the students in his classes are the curious ones or are trying to satisfy the science requirement for graduation.

IRAN

Nahid Hadjian Explains: This Is Year 1338

With a smile that seems to keep saying "hi" and meaningful green eyes, Nahid Hadjian, a foreign student at Fresno City College, explained why in Iran the year is 1338 and why the first day of spring begins the new year.

Miss Hadjian said that in Iran the year is 1338 because it has been that long since the Moslem prophet, Mohammed, began teaching from the Koran bible. The birth of Mohammed starts the calendar year for Iranians.

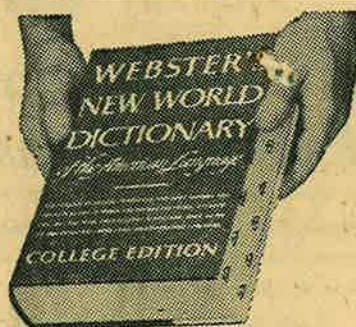

"Because spring is the time of new things," she continued, "we feel that this is when the new year should start. You know, all things change in the spring. The trees are in bloom, weather warms, flowers blossom, and everything gives off a clean, fresh appearance."

Learning and speaking English are Miss Hajian's biggest problems. Especially catching on to American slang.

"What is this, 'get on the ball,' 'let's make it to a flick,' and 'crazy man'? I do not understand," she inquired, gesturing with her hands as if they were going to say as much as her speech.

About her country, Miss Hajian's feelings ranged from gaily to that hidden, but always evident, emotion of a person who is distant from home.

The FCC student said, "I do not know how to express the freedom I have here in America. It is something I never knew in Iran."

'Rendezvous In The Stars' Chosen As Formal Theme

By RON MOORE

"Rendezvous in the Stars" will be the theme of this year's spring formal dance to be sponsored by the Associated Men and Women Students of Fresno City College.

The dance will be held May 22 in the student union from 9 PM until midnight. Admission will be free upon presentation of student body cards.

Publicity chairman Eugene Salazar said, "The spring formal promises to be one of the best dances of the year. We have contracted a top band from Hollywood for the affair. So, don't waste time, ask your favorite gal and let's go."

The publicity cochairman is Angie Casares. The decoration committee is headed by Fred Randall and Barbara Warrington. Assistant chairmen are Bob Hopper, Dick Leyh, Roger Dunham and Richard Robinson.

Lackey Makes Trip To Thailand During Summer For Year

Curtis E. Lackey, the apprenticeship training coordinator of the Fresno City College, has been selected by the University of Hawaii to go to Thailand to assist in establishing a vocational training program in the 18 colleges of the Siamese kingdom.

The program will be under the auspices of the Southeast Treaty Organization, which includes the United States and nine other nations. Lackey will have his headquarters in Bangkok, the capital of Thailand and will set up an apprenticeship training program in vocational education.

Lackey is one of 10 educators, three from California and seven from Hawaii, chosen by the university to pioneer the program. He will have the rank of associate professor.

The Fresno City Board of Education has granted Lackey a year's leave of absence.

Lackey said that he and his family will fly to Hawaii in June for a three day orientation session at the university and then to Thailand, via Tokyo and Hong Kong. His departure date is uncertain for his wife, Jean, is expected to give birth to a child about the middle of June. They have two other children, Christopher and Cheryl.

Lackey took a similar leave in the 1956-57 school year to go to the Philippine Islands to assist in setting up a vocational training program under the auspices of Stanford University.

Two Rams Place In WC Relays

Tony Fiorentino, Fresno City College shotput ace, upped his own school record by flipping the iron ball 51 feet, eight inches, while placing third in the junior college shotput in the 33rd annual West Coast Relays held in Ratcliffe Stadium last Saturday.

Voyce Hendrix of FCC tied for second place with Dick Gear of College of Sequoias in the junior college pole vault at 13 feet, 11 1/4 inches.

The outstanding event in the JC division of the relays was the distance medley relay, won by Bakersfield College in the time of 10:09.8, shattering the former national record of 10:14.9. Jim Bates of East Los Angeles Junior College was voted the outstanding JC performer for his record tying 9.5 in the 100 yd. dash.

Swim, Golf Teams Conclude Seasons

Chuck Polley and Roy Havenhill represented the Fresno City College last week in Long Beach at the State finals but failed to come up with any points. Polley, swimming his favored 220 freestyle, had the fate of swimming with Gary Heinrich, who set a new national mark in the event. The same fate befell Havenhill.

Last week's meet ended the season for FCC's mermen, but two other things are on tap for the coming weeks. Already started at the pool is a life saving class. Tentatively set up for May 25 will be an exhibition of skin diving and SCUBA operations by Havenhill and YMCA instructor, Wayne Rey.

Coach Hans Wiedenhoefer's Fresno City College golf team will host the California State Junior College golf meet Monday on the Fresno Municipal course.

The Ram linksmen qualified for the meet by defeating Porterville May 3.

Paul Allison, Jim Trent, Dave Kelz and John Zahlis are the low shooters for this year's squad.

Rams Show '59 Slate Hatch Tops Intramurals

Hans Wiedenhoefer, recently appointed director of athletics, issued the 1959-60 Fresno City College football schedule. The Rams will again have three non-league games and six league games.

The Rams will open their four home game schedule Saturday, Sept. 19, against the Fullerton Junior College Hornets. The game will be played at the new McLane High School stadium.

The City College footballers will then go to the road for two games. Saturday, Sept. 26, they will play the Stockton College Mustangs. Oct. 3 heralds the opening of the league season. The Rams will be at Visalia to meet College of the Sequoias Giants.

Back to Fresno Oct. 10, where FCC will met the Taft College Cougars, again on the McLane field. The Rams pick up a new opponent Oct. 17 when they travel to San Jose to meet the San Jose Jaguars.

Returning to McLane field in Fresno Oct. 24, the Rams will host the Coalinga College Falcons and Friday, Oct. 30, they will meet the Reedley College Tigers at Ratcliffe Stadium.

The last two games, league tilts against Porterville and Alan Hancock, will find the Rams traveling to Porterville and Santa Maria, Nov. 7 and 14.

Ken Hatch, with wins in the 25 and 50 yard butterfly, took top honors in the first intramural swim meet held at Fresno City College. The meet was held Wednesday, with swim coach Paul Pastor and tennis coach Margaret Tylor officiating.

The meet was highlighted when Roy Havenhill, star breaststroker for the Rams swim team, set a new pool record of 1:14.9.

Rams' Season Ends In 16-5 Defeat

The Fresno City College Rams lost a playoff game to the Coalinga College Falcons, 16-5, Tuesday in John Eulless Park. The playoff game was necessitated when the Rams lost a doubleheader Saturday to College of the Sequoias by scores of 3-0 and 4-3.

Coalinga plays the winner of the Reedley-COS game tomorrow to decide the winner of the Central California Junior College Athletic Association. The winner will continue in the state playoffs.

The Falcons jumped on Ram starter Darrell Woofter for four runs on five hits in the first inning and were never headed after that.

The Rams came right back in their half of the first to score two runs on three walks, an error and a sacrifice fly by Kalem Barsarian.

The Falcons kept up a persistent attack, scoring at least once in every inning except the fourth.

Fresno would have clinched the league title if they had won one of the two games against COS Saturday. COS won the first game, 3-0, behind the three hit pitching of Gene Graves, and then posted a 4-3 win in the 13 inning night-cap. Graves was the winner in the second game, also, as he pitched the last seven innings in relief of Morris Yates. Thad Tillotson, the leading pitcher on the Ram squad, lost both games.

Foot Notes

By RUSS FOOTE
SPORTS EDITOR

Rain, snow and other stormy circumstances have caused the postponement or interruption of various athletic events. Here are some of those other stormy circumstances:

"... wearing white trunks with black trim, Floyd Patterson. And in this corner weighing 185 pounds and wearing ... Holy Toledo!"

"They certainly have the shot put ring close to the stands at this stadium. O'Brien is ready for his final put. It's only 65 feet from the front of the ring to the crowded front row of the stands. O'Brien throws ... and it's a tremendous 70 foot effort."

"Neuman goes in at fullback. Big Al was on the pre-game interview show, and for his time we gave him a large box of our sponsor's candies. There's a pitchout to Neuman. He crosses the 20, the ten, the goal line; he is still running all the way to the dressing room."

"You boys are familiar with the rules of the New York State Athletic Commission. I want a clean fight ..."

"Just a second, I'm not. What are they?"

"Two out, last of the 18th inning in the Little League World Series. This game could go on all night. The way these boys have been pitching it may last another 18 innings. What's that I hear in the street? Why, it's the ice cream man."

GOOD LUCK!
