

Professor At UCLA Is Speaker

B. Lamar Johnson, professor of higher education at the University of California at Los Angeles, has accepted an invitation to be the commencement speaker at Fresno City College's graduation ceremonies May 10.

The topic for Johnson's address is "Commencement: To What End?"

Johnson last year made an eight-month trip around the world, traveling more than 40,000 miles and visiting more than 30 different countries in Asia, Africa, Europe, and the Islands of the Pacific.

In New Zealand, the Philippines, Southern and Northern Rhodesia, Nyasaland, and South Africa, Johnson was on an assignment for the United States State Department. Johnson lectured and did consultant work with educational and government officials on his tour.

Johnson is a member of the Commission for Accrediting California Junior College and has served two terms as a member of the Executive Committee for the Western College Association.

In 1956, Johnson served as President for the Association for Higher Education.

Joseph B. Woodman, sophomore class sponsor, said the deadline for ordering announcements is Apr. 15. Announcements may be ordered in the bookstore at any time up to that date.

Mrs. Jewel Herbert, the bookstore manager, said the Apr. 15 deadline is also the deadline for ordering class rings.

George C. Holstein, the dean of admissions and records, said this graduating class may well be smaller than last year's. The last class numbered 231 and this year's applicants for the AA degree number 231 also. He said it is virtually certain that not all of these will qualify for graduation.

Business Division Is Featured On TV

Fresno City College's business division will take part on the television program University of the Air, this Saturday at 4:30 PM, on Channel 12.

Ethel McCormick, head of the business division at FCC, said that the primary purpose of the program will consist of an overall picture of the business department and what it offers to prospective students.

A film, which was taken here last week, will be shown over the program. Some of the teachers in the business divisions have been asked to explain certain details of the business departments as the film is being shown.

They include: Francis J. Svlich, business administration, accounting, and accounting machines, Gertrude S. Stubblefield, secretarial and clerical fields, Gilbert M. Peart, marketing, and Gervase A. Eckenrod, who will explain our placement center.

Nigerian Commission Plans Campus Visit

A Nigerian commission on post-secondary and higher education will visit the FCC campus on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

President Stuart M. White said, "During the commission's three days in Fresno it will be our objective to show our visitors the total functions of a junior college and the type of program offered. We will attempt to have them observe as many classes as is possible and to revisit any classes of their choosing."

Three Days

The commission's three day visit to FCC is part of their itinerary for a three-week tour in the United States to visit several universities throughout the country. Bakersfield College is the only other junior college to be included.

The visitors will include the Honorable Shettima Kashim, Chief Minister of the provincial government of Bornu, one of the large northern provinces; Dr. S. D. Onabamiro, faculty member of University College, Ibadan; Dr. G. E. Watts, Principal of Brighton Technical College, England, and Dr. and Mrs. John Lockwood.

Dr. Lockwood is the Master of Birkbeck College of London University. M. K. S. Flanagan, former education officer in the Nigerian government and currently serving as secretary of the commission.

Alan Pifer of the Carnegie Corporation was on the campus Oct. 13 to look over the college facilities and make plans.

Previous Visitor

FCC was visited by a Nigerian educator, Stephen Awokoya, last December. Awokoya was interested in the way high schools and colleges of America have handled the technological subjects of food, health, communications, business, and science.

The Nigerian school he heads is comparable to our American junior colleges, but teaches only science and mathematics courses.

Casting For New Play Is Complete

The casting for the spring play "Antigone" has been completed.

Clyde Sumpter, the director of the play, said the role of the nurse maid has been changed; Bette Ward will play the part. The Page will be played by Gregg Getchell. Tim Brooks will be cast as Chorus.

Greek Chorus

Sumpter said the chorus was a vital part in Greek plays. The general chorus was made up of 50 to 100 men who acted as a verse choir was a leader.

The choir acted as commentator for the audience and also served as a conscience for the characters of the play.

Sumpter said one man will serve as Chorus in "Antigone." He will serve the same functions as the Greek choruses did in the past.

Hallie West, Bette Ward, and Beverly Phelps will compose the costume committee. Mrs. Norma Carpenter's dress making classes will help with the costumes, Sumpter said.

Stage Crew

Lighting will be directed by Marvin Castagna, Robert Roe, and John Topolian.

The sets will be made by Ronald Eddington, Carl Wheeler, and Ben Tayan.

Laurie Monson and Jan Reeves are in charge of the stage properties.

Board Places Bond Issue On June Ballot

The Fresno City Board of Education voted to place the $17,512,760 school bond issue on the June 7 ballot.

The FCC share will be $1,403,320 if the bond is accepted by the voters.

Construction of new physical education facilities will cost $850,000. This is for a 42,000 square foot gymnasium costing $750,000 and a $100,000 swimming pool. Site acquisition for these facilities will cost $206,000.

Other Additions

Cafeteria additions will require $143,350, $90,000 for an additional 5000 square foot dining area, $28,350 to increase the kitchen space by 1050 square feet, and $25,000 for refrigeration.

For contingency, an estimated 5 per cent of construction cost, $49,668, is set aside. It is estimated that $104,302, or 10 per cent of construction cost, will be needed for professional services, fees and tests. Furniture and equipment for the new facilities will cost $50,000.

Committee Formed

A citizen's fact finding committee was formed at the request of the board of education to help determine the present and future needs of the school system.

Robert E. Greelis, chairman, said the committee substantiated the administration's prediction of a growth in city school enrollment from 49,000 to 63,000 in the next five years.

President Stuart M. White predicts there will be an enrollment of 6,364 students for the fall semester at FCC if the present trend continues. There were 3,730 students enrolled for the fall semester in 1959.

White also has made new projections for full time and part time enrollments.

8 Attend CJCSCGA Conference

By MARY GULKE

Six FCC students and two advisors will meet students from 64 other California junior colleges today, tomorrow and Saturday in San Diego for the California Junior College Student Government Association conference.

This semi-annual three-day event will take place at the Hotel del Coronado and will be hosted by

San Diego Junior College. Co-hosts are Imperial Valley, Oceanside-Carlsbad, Palomar and Palo Verde.

Welcome Banquet

Democratic Congressman Dalip Singh Saund from Westmorland, California, will highlight the conference with his talk at the Welcome Banquet today at 6:30 PM. He will emphasize the tremendous advantages of American citizenship in his talk entitled, "What America Means To Me." Saund, born in India, has established a brilliant record in and outside of Congress.

Saund was elected to represent his district in 1956, reelected in 1958, and is now a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee and the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committees.

Saund toured the Far East and Pacific in 1957 as official representative of the House Foreign Affairs Committee to study the Mutual Security Program and foster good relations between the United States and these countries. For achievements in this field he received the annual Lord and Taylor award.

Student Workshops

The conference will include five student workshops where students will discuss the problems of their colleges. The workshops will cover such areas as student activities, student government, student finance, publications, and athletics.

The FCC delegates are David Hanna, student body president; Diane Nixon, vice president; Carrol Jacobsen, state coordinator; Tamra Koerner, representative at large; James Aldredge, commissioner of athletics; Robert Roe, parliamentarian, and Joseph W. King, and Doris Deakins, student council advisors.

Former Students Make B Average

John S. Hansen, the administrative dean, reported that 17 former FCC students attending the University of Southern California in Los Angeles made a combined B minus average for their fall semester grades.

Glen C. Wilcox, USC's director of school relations, said the grade point average for the students is 2.87.

Hansen said that the average is an excellent record.

Four of the students are majoring in education, three in geology, and two in business administration. One student is majoring in each of the following: journalism, geography, pharmacy, industrial management, marketing, library science, mechanical engineering, and electrical engineering.

Little Interest Shown In School Activities

Once again Fresno City College is faced with the problem of not having enough participants for the planned activities.

For the second week in a row, the FCC tennis team was forced to forfeit the women's singles match, because of lack of participants. And for the second week in a row it resulted in the team's losing.

Earlier this year an attempt was made to form a women's golf team, but this attempt failed because not enough interest was shown. The problem is not that there aren't enough qualified women golfers, but that students on the whole do not feel that participation in school functions is beneficial to them.

How wrong they are. It is not only the academic achievements that will benefit them when they graduate from college. An employer will also look for the scope of a person's outside activities.

A person's personality is greatly magnified by the total achievements that he has attained throughout his entire school career. It is essential that a person have the necessary academic requirements and ability, but outside activities help make a more-rounded person.

The school offers so much, but it can give you only what you take.

A Short Story

Aunt Hattie's Frequent Visits Cause Disaster

By BEVERLY PHELPS

It was a beautiful morning; spring was in the air and the sun was shining brightly.

I opened the window and looked out at the daffodils. The curtains, white and crisp on the window, seemed to blow with anticipation. Everything seemed to be in harmony with this early spring day.

Door Bell Rings

I had just left the window when the door bell rang. I opened the door and was pleased and surprised to find my Aunt Hattie standing there. It had been such a long time since I had last seen her. She was dressed in a black coat and a black shawl. I invited her in and made her feel welcome.

We sat for two or three hours drinking tea and talking about the past and news of the day. I made her promise to return soon. With a quiet smile and a nod of her head she departed as gracefully as she had come.

A few days after Aunt Hattie's visit, death cast a shadow over our house. Oh, how I needed Aunt Hattie!

Second Visit

It was several weeks later when Aunt Hattie made her second call. She wore the same black coat and black shawl.

This visit seemed to follow the same pattern as the first one. Aunt Hattie, once again, promised to return.

I realized after she left, that it was I who had done all the talking during both visits. I made a promise to myself not to chatter so during Aunt Hattie's next visit. I really felt quite flattered to think of all the relatives, she had called on me.

It wasn't too long after Aunt Hattie's second visit that death struck again. I was broken hearted and a little angry to think that when I needed her most, she didn't come.

Everything seemed to be getting back to normal when the door bell rang and I answered it. I was surprised to see Aunt Hattie standing there, dressed in the same attire as before.

I don't know what came over me, but I just knew that I couldn't let her in.

I slammed the door and was horrified to see Aunt Hattie's gloved hand caught in the doorway. I opened the door just a crack and gently pushed her fingers out.

Was Frightened

What had come over me! Why had I been so rude to poor old Aunt Hattie? I don't know when the thought of death and Aunt Hattie's visits became synonymous, but I was frightened and shaking at the thought of letting her in.

I looked out the window to see if Aunt Hattie had left. To my surprise there were two of her friends pointing at me and smiling!

I could hear Aunt Hattie pushing on the door; what should I do? I couldn't let her in, I couldn't!

Locks Doors

I ran from door to door making sure they were locked. As I ran back to double check the front door, there was Aunt Hattie standing in the room.

I had to be calm, so much seemed to depend on it. I slowly approached her, putting my hands on her shoulders; I turned her around and pushed her out the door.

Looking out the window, I saw Aunt Hattie and her friends staring at me. I pointed my finger at her friends, trying to tell them to go away.

They all smiled at one another, turned around and walked away, arm in arm.

I leaned against the door, trying to collect my thoughts. After a few minutes, I remembered! Aunt Hattie was dead; she had been dead for years!

What's New

TV Offers Big Variety

By ANDREW FEDERICO

I get a bang out of television. Recently I watched Nancy Allen's movie matinee show in which old Wallace Beery was hamming his way through one of those 1930 movies of his.

In the movie he was supposed to be the town's loafer with six kids and a wife who was forever getting on him to find himself a job.

"Okay, Ma, I'll go into town today and see what I can find," old Beery would say, mugging the screen.

Goes Fishing

Then he would go out and take his fishing pole from hiding and head for the river. The movie goes on to be about all sorts of things that couldn't possibly happen but do, and old Beery winds up a rich man but still as unhappy as when the movie started.

Every once in a while Nancy Allen will come out to do a commercial, and somehow she'll always manage to look as if she just stepped out of the kitchen, or as if she had just slapped her kids while sending them off to school.

She seems like a real down-to-earth announcer. On live camera, she is nervous and can make mistakes better than Ed Sullivan. I think she does a good job.

American Bandstand

After the matinee Dick Clark will come on with American Bandstand. The part I get a kick out of is when the camera catches a teenager on the sidelines with his hand on his chin watching everyone else dance. At times this is better photography than the Swedish director Ingmar Bergman can produce. On the dance floor the teenagers are always cutting up all over the place, so that the viewer never knows who is dancing with whom.

So television speaks a soft language. But it can also turn into a roar, as it did last Friday night when it showed the adaptation of Ernest Hemingway's "The Snows of Kilimanjaro." I guess, getting down to it, there's something in television for everybody. One thing for sure, it's here to stay.

And in the line of humor there is always the slap-stick comedy of Red Skelton. When the written lines of humor fail the immortal Mr. Skelton will begin an impromptu act that is more side-splitting than anything that could be written on a piece of paper.

Instructor Receives Fulbright Fellowship

Noel D. Frodsham, FCC history and cultural anthropology instructor, will teach American history, civilization, and literature in Denmark during the 1960-61 school year under a Fulbright teaching fellowship.

He has received a sabbatical leave from the Fresno City

Board of Education. Frodsham and Edwin C. Kratt of the Fresno City Schools were notified by J. Manuel Espinosa, chief of the professional activities division of the state department's International Exchange Service.

All recipients are appointed by the Board of Foreign Scholarships, which was chosen by President Eisenhower. Teachers are recommended for the board's consideration by the U. S. Office of Education. In Denmark the program is administered by the U. S. Educational Foundation in Copenhagen. Frodsham will teach in several Danish gymnasiums and teacher training colleges.

The funds used for the program are certain foreign currencies or credits to or owned by the United States. Under executive agreements with foreign governments, programs involving American teaching are currently in effect in Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Burma, Chile, Colombia, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Iran, Italy, Luxembourg, Japan, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, Peru, Thailand, Turkey and the United Kingdom.

The Frodshams will leave Fresno June 13 and fly to New York, where they will take the French ship Liberate to England. They plan to tour Wales and then pick up a German station wagon in Hamburg July 11. They next will visit Lapland in the northern parts of Finland, Norway, and Sweden. Frodsham plans to study cultural anthropology while in Lapland.

His school term starts Aug. 15 and continues until June 20. They will visit other areas during four holidays. After spending most of the summer of 1961 in Europe, they plan to drive across the U. S. to return in September, 1961.

Frodsham said a Danish gymnasium is comparable to the senior year of high school and the first two years of college in the U. S. Most of the Danish students study or understand English. In the past the literature and history of Great Britain have been stressed in Danish schools; today it is felt American studies should be included.

Frodsham will be asked to give talks to study groups and other organizations, to participate in community activities, and to mingle with his Danish colleagues after school hours.

Art Gets Too Exotic

Has bizarre modern art run its course?

A number of art teachers from southeastern universities recently agreed that it had, saying that paintings are getting so they can't be understood, and that there is too much imitation.

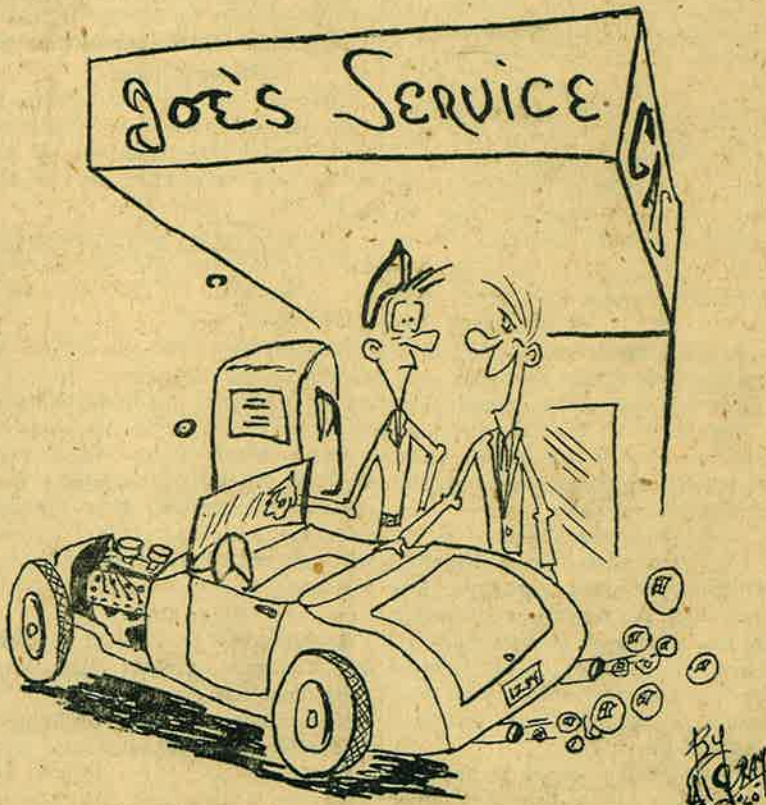

When asked about this, Walter E. Witt, FCC art instructor, said that modern art has reached the point where it all looks alike. "At some of the big shows one gets the feeling that all the work could have been done by one person," he said.

"The individualists have defeated their purpose," Witt said, "but as long as handwriting is different we're going to have different expressions in art."

Where does Witt think art will go from here? "If I knew I'd be a rich man in five or 10 years."

Witt was reminded of a saying he had heard, "The modern artist is like an oyster fisherman, he has to go farther into the water for each catch."

As an afterthought, he added, "And some of them are in over their heads," and will drown fast if they don't watch out.

"My own fuel mix, highly detergent."

Students To Visit Sonora

On April 3, FCC students taking California History will travel to Sonora.

The trip, under Mr. Noel D. Frodsham, FCC history instructor, will cover a thorough exploration of the Mother Lode country near Sonora.

The Mother Lode Country is a series of eight counties, which had its beginning in 1848-49 when gold was first discovered.

Today, the Mother Lode Country is a recreational area which offers the charm of the old mining towns to its visitors. It is credited with having built the foundation of this state's civilization.

The students will get a chance also to view some of the earliest historical landmarks, such as the earliest county seats, the longest covered bridge, and the Downieville Museum Building.

Club News

Business Club Takes Three Day Field Trip

By JOHN CRIDER

Phi Beta Lambda, the business club at FCC, will conduct a field trip to Los Angeles on April 13, 14 and 15.

Robert Reiter, PBL president, said that the purpose of the trip will be to create an interest in club activities and to study the operations of large businesses.

FCC Offers 36 Awards For $1,580

FCC is offering 36 scholarship awards worth $1,580 for the 1960-61 academic year.

Archie Bradshaw, the dean of students, said most of the scholarships are open to high school seniors. May 1 is the deadline for filing applications. Several scholarships are restricted to returning students.

Application Blanks

Applications and a brochure describing the scholarships may be obtained from high school principals or counselors or from the FCC counseling center.

Bradshaw said applications will be judged on scholarship, citizenship, leadership, and need.

Ten $50 scholarships are new this year. They include five from the Fresno Optimist Club, two from the Fresno Evening Opti-Mrs. Club, two from the Fresno Council of Parents and Teachers Association, and one in honor of the late Dean Emeritus James M. Malloch.

Applications for 31 awards totaling $1,380 are to be sent to the FCC scholarship committee. They should be sent to the FCC business division for three $50 awards of the National Secretaries Association, the American Business Women's Association, and the Fresno Business and Professional Women's Club. Applications for two $25 scholarships from the Fresno Auto Parts Company should go to the FCC technical and industrial division.

More Scholarships

Other scholarships include one of $100 from the FCC Faculty Club, and 11 of $50, including five from the Fresno Central Labor Council in honor of the late Chester Cary, two from the Fresno PTA Council in addition to its two new awards, two from Mrs. F. C. Blosser, one from the North Fresno Kiwanis Club, and one from the Women's Auxiliary of Fresno Post 509 of the American Legion.

The Fresno Council of Jewish Women is giving a $30 award. Eight $25 scholarships are being offered by FCC's student and interclub councils.

AWS Plans Spring Fashion Show-Tea

The Associated Women Students cordially invite all women students to attend its next meeting next Thursday at noon in B-6.

The Spring Fashion Show and Tea is coming up and all women interested in modeling for this show must attend the coming meeting.

Virginia Collins, the AWS secretary, said the club is open to all FCC women students, and meets the second and fourth Thursday

Businesses such as Standard Oil Company and United Air Lines are on the agenda. Any member interested can go.

Reiter said that Gary Waller and John Johnson have donated their cars.

William Billeter, sponsor of the Phi Beta Lambda, is also taking his car. He and his wife will be chaperones.

Delta Psi Omega

Delta Psi Omega, the FCC drama club, is having a meeting April 6 at 7 PM in the student lounge.

Tom Westerfield, DPO president, said that during their monthly meeting they will select and discuss a play which is to be given late in May.

This year's play will be given for the Printing Pressman local union.

Westerfield said that they will also discuss a swimming party and barbecue for the May meeting.

Forensics Club

The Forensics Club is sponsoring the first annual FCC Club and Organization Speaking Contest Apr. 28 at 11 AM in Room B-7.

Marvin Castagna, FC president, said that the deadline for entry is Apr. 21. He said that the purpose of the speech contest is to encourage beginning speakers. Anyone who has had or is taking speech 25 is disqualified.

The topic of the speech will be on how the speaker's club helps students become better citizens.

The sponsoring club and the winning speaker's name will be inscribed on a perpetual trophy and given to the winner. Certificates of merit will be awarded to placing speakers.

Alpha Gamma Sigma

Alpha Gamma Sigma, the honorary scholastic society, held its annual state conference at Fullerton Junior College last Saturday.

The conference was opened by Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, state president of AGS, and the delegates were welcomed to the convention by Dr. H. Lynn Sheller, president of Fullerton JC.

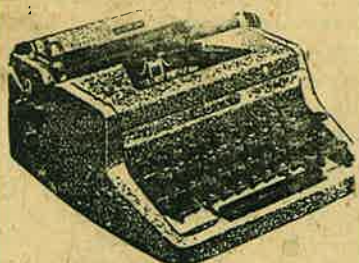

Representing FCC were Daniel Opperman, AGS president; Charles Overs, Jr., scholarship chairman; Shirley Pacheco, treasurer; Gisele Boroyan, secretary, and Shirley Kauffman, member. Dr. Paul Pastor, AGS advisor, also attended.

Overs said the students took part in workshops dealing with "Scholarship Incentive in the Soviet Union," "Nurturing an Intellectual Heritage," and "Some Problems for Writers in Twentieth Century American Fiction."

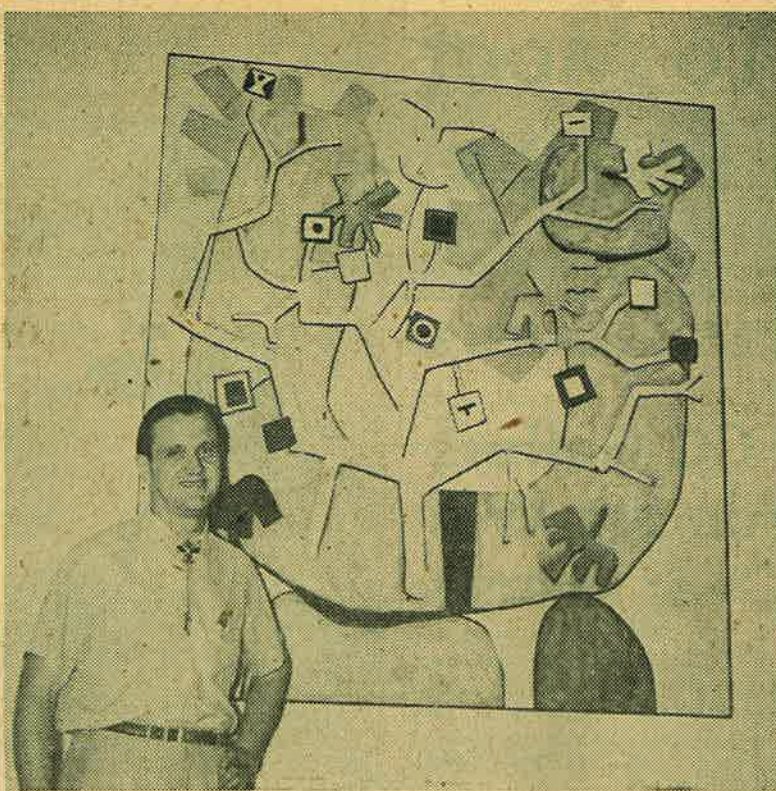

Overs reported that the amounts of scholarships available to AGS members were increased.

FSC Summer Session Offers Many Classes

By ROY JIMENEZ

Fresno State College is offering over 600 classes this year in the four summer sessions to be conducted in Fresno, Bakersfield, and Visalia.

More than 450 of the classes offered will be given at the Fresno State College campus from July 25 to Sept. 2, and a post session will be held from July 13-22. Bakersfield classes will be held on the Bakersfield College campus from June 13 to July 22.

In Visalia the classes will be at the College of the Sequoias from July 18 to 22 for the pre session and then the regular session from July 23 to Aug. 26.

Classes will be offered in the following fields: agriculture, art, biology, business, criminology, education, engineering, English, foreign languages, geology and geography.

Others are general studies, health education, industrial arts, journalism, mathematics, physical education, philosophy, physical sciences, social sciences, and speech.

Some of the added special features that have been scheduled include workshops in clothing construction, language arts for secondary teachers, child study, wool and wool industry, and religion in public education.

Dr. Edward M. Spencer, the dean of the summer sessions, said that a list of all the classes which will be offered may be obtained by addressing request to the Dean of Summer Sessions, Fresno State College, Fresno 26, California.

Dr. Spencer stated that Fresno

State College's new residence halls will, for the first time, be available to summer session students. The halls will be operated by the college at a charge of $7.50 a week for double occupancy and $9.50 a week for single occupancy.

Those interested should write to the Student Housing Office, Fresno State College, Fresno 26, California.

Deadline For Graduation Announcements Is Apr. 15

the sophomore class to get over to the book store and sign up for the caps and gowns. Last year only 164 graduates signed up and he would like very much to see that sign-up surpassed.

He explained the importance of signing up early lies in the fact that the costume house from which the college rents selects the caps and gowns from their racks by size as soon as they receive the orders.

The colleges which are late get the outfits that have not already been put aside. Naturally, the outfits left for last are usually those which are least desirable.

Veterans Have New Procedure

A special bulletin released this week by George C. Holstein, the dean of admissions and records, advises veterans of important changes in the procedure to be followed in competing their monthly application for funds.

Holstein said that beginning with the April certification, a system of using IBM cards will be used. Previously, the veterans had to complete a rather complicated form, he said. Now the details of claim numbers, veteran's name, and the month he is signing for will be punched in on the IBM card.

Mrs. Louise Murphy, the secretary in the veterans office, emphasized that if veterans want to get their checks on time they must come in earlier to sign up. She said April 6 is the deadline for turning in signed attendance reports if the veterans want to get their checks on time this month.

Mrs. Murphy said she will work from 6:30-9 PM Apr. 4, 5, and 6 to assist in filling out these new forms and to answer any questions.

This new method of processing claims of veterans attending school under Public Law 550, Korea GI Bill was first put into effect in the Los Angeles area on a trial basis. Mrs. Murphy said the trial proved successful and the method is now being introduced all over the United States.

School Must Have Absense Slip Ritual

The student council received a suggestion criticizing the absence slip requirement.

The school is paid on an average daily attendance basis, and the absence slips are audited by the city and county. If the students get their absence slips signed the school can claim average daily attendance on them, but if they miss a class and it is an unexcused absence the school cannot claim average daily attendance on them.

Paul H. Starr, the dean of men, said, "A student is entitled to three unexcused absences in a class that meets three times a week, and after that the student is eligible for disqualification. Absences will be excused if they can be verified, but the students are still responsible for makeup work."

Thinclads To Meet Porterville Pirates

By JOHNNY NOBLE

The Fresno City College Rams will travel to Porterville Saturday to meet the Porterville College Pirates in a dual track and field meet, at 11 AM.

This meet should prove to be an interesting one for the Ram fans, as well as the team.

Bill Hall, a former Edison High School star sprinter, is expected to have double wins in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Hall is a 22 year old, 164 pound sprinter who has continuously run the 100 in less than 10 seconds flat, and 21 seconds in the 220.

Harry Edwards, a six feet, eight inch, 243 pound "giant" from East St. Louis, will be throwing the discus. He tossed the plate over 160 feet, and if anyone around can better the National Junior College discus record, this is the man.

The Porterville team will have their eyes on Ron Tinkler, a former Clovis High School hurdler who has a time of 16.8 seconds in the 120 high hurdles, and 24.6 in the low hurdles.

Clark Bridgman, one of the Ram baseball stars, will be running with Hall in the 100, and will be almost as strong a threat as Hall for first place.

Cliff Pickens, also formerly of Clovis, and Fernie Montanez, a former Central Union High School distance man, are a double threat in the 440 yard dash. Both have covered the circuit in 51 seconds flat.

Another star from Edison is Chet Rooters, who will be throwing the shot put and discus along with Benney Benneyan, a former weight man from Fresno High School. Both men have thrown the discus over 140 feet, and have tossed the shot close to 50 feet.

Well worth watching in the broad jump will be Percy Brown, and Lamont Whittle, who have had jumps well over 20 fet at Edison.

Porterville will be out to avenge the loss they suffered at the hands of the Rams last year.

This meet should be an excellent warm-up for the improving Ram squad before they participate in the Easter Relays in Santa Barbara, Apr. 16

Lowe, Jacobsen Placed On All-CCJCAA Team

Charlie Lowe, high scoring guard for the Fresno City College basketball team, was chosen to the first team of the coach's All-Central California Junior College Athletic Association basketball team.

Tom Jacobsen, freshman forward, was chosen to the second team of the all-star cast.

Neither Lowe nor Jacobsen were unanimous choices. Lowe tied with College of the Sequoias center, Howard Coleman, for his berth on the imaginary team. Jacobsen shares his honor with three other men. Tied with Jacobsen were Titus White and Pete Rodriguez of Porterville and Ron Schiller of College of the Sequoias.

CCJCAA winner, Allan Hancock placed the most men on the team, four, with second place Porterville, getting three and Fresno, two.

The announcement of the All-Star team came from the office of Dr. Ivan Crookshank, league president, of College of the Sequoias.

First Team

Jerry Foster, Allan Hancock; John Morgan, Coalinga; Paul Firth, Allan Hancock; Dave Jones, Taft; Lowe, Fresno, tie Coleman, COS.

Second Team

Tom Farrell, Allan Hancock; Gene Coggins, Porterville; Bill Wilson; Allan Hancock; tie, Jacobsen, Fresno; White, Porterville; Rodriguez, Porterville, and Schiller, COS.

FCC Golfers Almost Win Over Giants

In their first league meet, the Fresno City College Ram golf team nearly pulled one of the biggest upsets of the season when they were edged 19 to 17 by the talented and clutch swinging College of the Sequoias Giants.

Today the Rams will meet Reedley College in another CCJCAA meet in Kingsburg.

In Friday's match at Muny, Gary Bauer of COS shot the lowest 18 hole score of 73 while FCC's lowest total was shot by Bill Byrd with a 75.

The results:

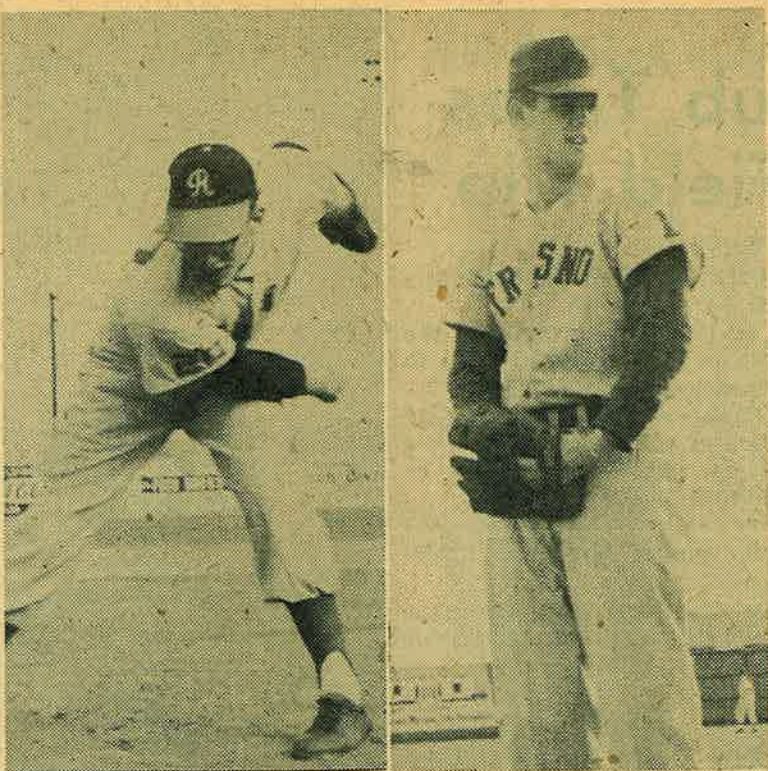

Jack Bright, COS, d Jerry Weil, F, 5-1; Bauer, COS, d Paul Allison, F, 6-0; Byrd, F, d Gary Nolan, COS, 4-2; Bob Dwell, COS, d Jim Corbet, F, 5-1; Willis, F, d Gary Blecher, COS, 5-1; Taber, F, d Don Miller, COS, 6-0.

Rams Surprise Falcons With Double Victories

By LARRY ADAMS

Surprises never cease. One of the biggest and most welcome of these never ending surprises came Saturday when the Fresno City College Rams upset a very baffled Coalinga College nine in Coalinga. The Rams not only won the first game of the two-night double-header but came back to take the other end of the twin-bill.

The double wins came as a soothing shock to the few fans that have followed the Rams games this year. After a fair start the Rams went into a premature middle season slump, and were showing no signs of coming out of it last week as they fumbled themselves into a 3-7 season record.

In Coalinga the mistakes they

The Fresno City College baseball team will get a two week vacation from league play. They were scheduled to play Taft College Saturday but Taft didn't field a team this year. Today the Rams will meet the FSC JV's at Euless Park and will play them again Monday on the Fresno State diamond.

the field, committing four in the first game and two in the second. Coalinga committed one in the first and two in the second. Coalinga also pulled off three double plays and the Rams executed one.

Tennis Squad Will Begin Second Half

The Fresno City College tennis team will open the second round of league play in the Central California Junior College Association tennis schedule against the Coalinga College Falcons in Fresno today.

Tuesday, the Rams will host the Porterville College Pirates in the second match of the second round of CCJCAA play.

In their last meeting, Fresno was downed by Coalinga 3-2. Again, the Rams were forced to forfeit women's singles due to no entry in this event.

Tom Haverty of FCC defeated Mike Nell of Coalinga in men's singles, 6-2, 6-1; Haverty has won every match that he has competed in this season.

Jenice Rotere and Becky Arnbrister of the Ram netters were downed by Regina Feigel and Susan Garret of Coalinga 7-5, 6-4.

Bob De Armonde and Dick Heselick from the Falcons defeated Wayne Kernohan and Fran Ragghanti of the Fresno team, 6-1, 6-3.

In mixed doubles Gertie Frisch and Murry Taylor of the Rams defeated Linda Eaton and Jim Hatdner of the Falcon team, 6-1, 6-4.

Tracksters Win Meet From State

In the first home meet of the track season, the Fresno City College Rams made a clean sweep in a dual meet with the Fresno State College Freshmen by winning with a score of 77 to 42. The meet was Saturday in Ratcliffe Stadium.

Harry Edwards, Ram discus ace, set a new school record of 159 feet eight inches. This is his best throw of the year, but it's early in the track season with ten meets remaining.

Some of the better "campus critics" expect Edwards to break the National Junior College record before the end of the track season.

Bill Hall again showed his superior talents on the cinders by turning in a time of 9.9 seconds in the 100 yard dash and 21.3 seconds in the 220 yard dash.

Hall has come close to setting a new national record in the 220. Earlier in the season in the dual meet with Reedley College, he was clocked 21 seconds flat, which was only five tenths of a second away from the present record.

The Ram weight men, Chet Rooters, Benné Benneyan, and Edwards, carried away first, second, and third place honors in the shot put and discus.

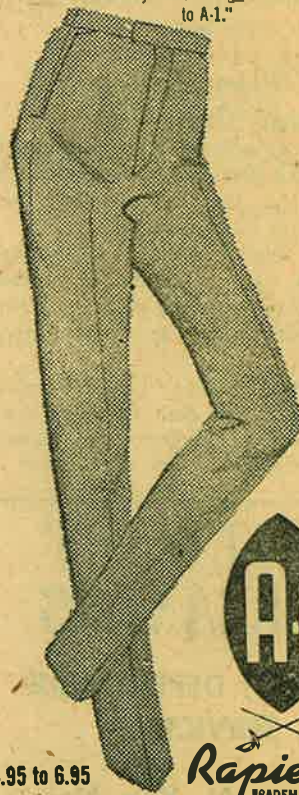

Cliff Pickens took first in the 440 yard run, and Ron Tinkler captured first place in the 120 yard high hurdles, and the 220 low hurdles.

Second place honors went to Lamont Whittle in the 220, Fernie Montanez in the 880 yard run, and Neil Hollebeck in the mile run. Montanez ran his fastest time of the season with a 1:58, and finished just a few steps behind the first place runner, Dick Wood of the FSC Freshmen.

"LOOK WHO'S A LOVER"

"Girls used to just smile. Now they pucker. It happened so suddenly, the day I put on these new A-1 Rapiers, the continental slacks in 'wash'n wear cotton, with concealed waistband adjustment, angle pockets, narrow no-cuff leg and me inside. Sorry girls, my heart belongs to A-1."
