Board Accepts Retention Of Seismograph

The Fresno City Board of Education in a meeting last Thursday approved the retention of the University of California's seismograph on the Fresno City College campus after the geology department of the Fresno State College moves out to the new campus.

A FCC science department instructor will be the overseer on the mechanism. C. E. Hammer, a retired janitor from Fresno State College, will continue to operate the seismograph.

Last week Walter C. Marion, the head of the University of California geology department, visited the campus. Marion corrected some of the difficulties the seismograph was having in recording data on earthquakes. Someone had broken into the basement and tampered with the apparatus. The seismograph failed to pick up readings on the Japanese earthquake and the last atomic bomb blast.

"The only cost that the seismograph will cost the district will be the cost of that of a 100 watt bulb," stated Stuart M. White, president of the college.

"The Fresno seismograph has recorded over 1,400 distant earthquakes," stated Dr. George Stanley, head of the Fresno State College geology department.

Earthquakes are recorded about once every month in this area, but they are so light, that no one feels them.

The university has had a seismograph in Fresno since 1935 and since October, 1947, has had one in the basement of the administration building.

Besides the station in Fresno, the university also has several other seismographs throughout Northern California. The California Institute of Technology at Pasadena has taken charge of the seismographs through Southern California plus the one in Bakersfield.

Date Of FCC School Play Comes Closer

The time is nearing, the place is here, the event is the John Patrick play Teahouse of the August Moon. Dec. 1 is the date tickets will go on sale in the administration building on the University Ave. campus. The three act play taken from the novel by Vern Schnieder will be presented Dec. 12 and 13 in the FCC auditorium.

The presentation of a student body card will entitle the Fresno City College student to a free general ticket, and with a quarter a reserved ticket will be held for either of the play nights.

High school students from the San Joaquin Valley with the presentation of their respective student body cards may purchase a general ticket for 25 cents and for 50 cents a reserved seat will be held.

The public can obtain their general or reserved tickets for 50 cents and 75 cents respectively by calling AM 4-4721, or by coming to the City College campus.

EARTHQUAKES MEASURED—Dr. Walter Marion, head of the geology department at the University of California, and C. E. Hammer, a retired janitor from Fresno State College, examine the seismograph which is located in the basement of the administration building at Fresno City College.

Business Students Will Compete In Spelling Contest

Miss Ethel McCormack, the dean of the business division, recently announced the participation of Fresno City College business students in a joint Fresno and Madera Counties spelling contest.

The contest is being sponsored by the Fresno Chapter of the National Office Management Association.

Miss McCormack said spelling is a top complaint among the list of clerical inefficiencies, and so, for that reason this contest has come into being.

The contest, which will be held sometime this January, will consist of two 100 word spelling quizzes, with a final spelldown among the high schools.

Miss McCormack stated, "Fresno City College students will not participate in the final spelldown. The reason is that it would not be fair for high school students to compete against students in the college level."

Thirteen FCC students acquired certificates last year, with two of the 13 receiving perfect scores on all tests.

Program Will Be Viewed Saturday

Education for Youth Fitness is to be the theme for a program on KMJ-TV Saturday at 10 AM, sponsored by the Fresno County Schools.

Dr. Paul Pastor, Health and Physical Education teacher at FCC is to be one of the participants in the program.

The program will consist of exercises for youth fitness demonstrated by students and instructors in the Fresno area.

Other instructors to be in the program are Rena Rurbahn, Central High; Dick Francis, Fresno High; Irma Holcomb, Malaga Elementary; Fenton Lawlor, consultant of physical education for the Fresno City Schools; and Hermaning, San Joaquin Elementary School.

Registration Will Begin On Monday

From this day forward, there are 39 days to attend class and 40 days of vacations and weekends remaining in this semester.

The Thanksgiving holidays begin next Thursday. Christmas vacation is scheduled from Dec. 22 to Jan. 2. The fall semester ends Jan. 30. Final examinations are given Jan. 23-29.

President Stuart White announced that returning day students will register during the advanced pre-registration period from Nov. 24 to Jan. 20. Procedures will start in the admission office from 8 AM to 5 PM. Returning night students may enroll from Dec. 1 to Jan. 22 from 6:30 to 9:30 PM.

Schedules of day and evening classes will be available in the office.

New day students will be counseled and preregistered Feb. 2, 3. Registration will be conducted Feb. 4-6. Night students will enroll Feb. 3-6.

Classes for the second semester begin Feb. 9.

'Toyland' Is Dance Theme

The Associated Women Students and Associated Men Students are sponsoring a Christmas Formal Dec. 19 in the student center social hall.

At the joint AWS and AMS meeting Nov. 17 the theme "Toyland" was chosen for the dance. Jack Riley's band will provide the music from 9 PM until midnight.

"To keep with the theme," said Jean Holmes, AWS President, "each student body cardholder who wishes to obtain a bid for the dance is asked to donate a small used toy. These toys will be turned over to the Lions Club to aid in the annual Christmas Toy drive."

Jack Whitting was selected as general chairman for the dance. The other committee heads are Virginia Adame and Bill Long, decorations; Jean Cape, Roxie Lassley and Merle Sons, publicity; Bill Raddatz, refreshments.

New Spring Courses Will Be Offered To Fresno CC Students

An announcement of 24 new spring courses and 10 courses that have never been offered before was made this week by the four division deans of the Fresno City College.

Miss Ethel McCormack, dean of the business division, listed as being only offered in the second semester tax accounting, bookkeeping, products analysis, secretarial training, secretarial problems, economic problems of the valley, American economy, and salesmanship.

Russian Offered At Night

Russian 1A will be offered for the first time for evening classes promised Robert M. Kelly, the dean of the evening division.

"If the class is successful this spring, we will include Russian in the fall evening schedule," added Kelly.

"No new classes are to be added to the technical and industrial division," said Robert P. Hansler, the dean of the T and I division, "but Chemistry 51 and engineering 22 and 25 are scheduled this spring since they are not given in the fall."

Education Courses Broadened

In the educational division, nine new courses and 12 spring courses only have been added, revealed James P. Collins, the dean of the education division.

The new courses are cultural anthropology, regional geography, principles of Journalism, Physical Education 35; Physics 4B, and Speech 4B.

In addition, Political Science 2 is offered for the first time under a new system of numbering. Political science 1 is not prerequisite.

Chemistry 8 has been divided, explained Collins. The lecture and laboratory are separate, and the new laboratory section is called Chemistry 9. Certain students may take either Chemistry 8 or 9 as well as Chemistry 8 and 9.

Psychology 33 is offered to fulfill the lower division psychology sequence for nonmajors. The prerequisite is Psychology 7.

For the second semester only, Collins lists Biology 30, Chemistry 8 and 9, Geography 2, Physical Education 41, competitive baseball, Physical Education 43, competitive track, Physical Education 44, competitive tennis, Physical Education 46, competitive golf given the last 12 weeks, Physical Education 47, competitive swimming, Political Science 2, Psychology 33, and Speech 25.

Although having been offered in the fall, Chemistry 1A and Music 11A has been added to the spring semester schedule.

USC Admissions Director Will Visit City College

John K. Steinbaugh, acting director of admissions at the University of Southern California, will visit the Fresno City College on Wednesday, Dec. 3, 1958.

The purpose of this visit is to inform FCC of the current pre-admission at USC. All students who plan to further their education at the University of Southern California will be able to obtain the college's current pre-admission data from Archie Bradshaw, the dean of students.

Freshman Class And Le Jongleurs Conduct Assembly

Kampus Kapers was the theme of a variety show sponsored by the freshman class and Le Jongleurs last Tuesday at 10 AM in the Fresno City College auditorium.

The setting depicted a yearbook the FCC Rambler with pages opening for the acts. Each act showed some phase of college activity at FCC.

Registration begins the school year. This was followed by fashions, the Ramburger Roundup, the coffee shop, Homecoming Week, the FCC choir, modern dance, the Barn Dance, and Campus night-life.

At the end of the program, the cast of "Teahouse of the August Moon" which will be given on Dec. 12 and 13, sang a Japanese version of "We'll be Coming Around the Mountain."

The show included singing, dancing, pantomimes, and acting. The Teardrops, a singing group from the O St. campus, and singer Hillard Street were two of the acts.

Other participants of the show were Carol Le Redo, Hallie West, Karen Kowan, Lucille Tamura, Caralee Blizzard, Shirley White, Virginia Adame, Angie Casares, Joyce Johnson, Carolyn Kruse and John Adams.

The masters of ceremonies of the production were Les Lusk and Gary Sexton.

Sylvia Gagle, Glenn Marshall, Percy Brown, Bill Smalridge, Daleene Brumfield, Ray Wallace, Barbara Anderson, Judy Kruse, and Myrna Vettling were the committee to select the performers.

Clyde G. Sumpter is the sponsor of Le Jongleurs. Floyd J. Quick and Miss Gertrude Stubblefield are the co-sponsors of the freshman class.

Discussion of plans for the spring picnic and the selection of a committee of five to work on the coming event was the main order of business presented in S-22 of the O Street campus.

"Fresno City College students attended the dance presented by the T and I Club Saturday night. A turkey won by Mrs. Walter Whitmann, Jr., was presented to a needy family," stated Evelyn Lovelace, chairman in charge of the dance. The sponsor of the club is Keith Emmert.

Editor Makes Second Place At Conference

Gary Becker, the Rampage editor, placed second in the sports writing contest in the Northern California section of the 1958 Publications Conference of the Journalism Association of Junior Colleges at San Francisco State College last Saturday.

Besides Becker, others attending the conference were Irene Brietigam, assistant editor; Richard B. Bruun, news editor; Joyce Ridgway, co-editor of the Rambler; and Phillip D. Smith, the Rampage advisor.

Bill Steif, a San Francisco News staff writer and the bay area correspondent for the Variety and Printers Ink magazines, spoke during the morning assembly on "Journalism, Never a Dull Moment."

After the assembly, the group was divided into several interest groups and a group for competition for writing. The writing contest consisted of news, feature, sports, editorial, and advertising. Lunch was served in the San Francisco State cafeteria. Round-table discussions were held in various rooms on campus.

Officers of the Northern California Journalism Association of Junior Colleges are John Gothberg, Oakland City College, president; and Jean Stephens, Sacramento Junior College, secretary.

WOODMAN CHOP—Thirty-six trees around the Fresno City College campus have been removed or trimmed during the past month. Among the many varieties are eucalyptus, pine, casarina, sycamore, cottonwood, willow, pepper, and cherry.

Nursing Provided

Nurses Work At Hospital

By LINDA EUBANKS

The Fresno City College now conducts the only accredited school of vocational nursing in Fresno County which provides a free three semester program in cooperation with the Fresno hospitals.

Robert P. Hansler, the dean of the technical and industrial division, said a new program starts at the beginning of each semester. During the first semester, students will attend classes from 8 AM to 3 PM on the University Ave. campus in McLane Hall. A part of each week will also be spent in the hospitals.

The following two semesters of the course, the students work a 40 hour week and will be on duty from 7 AM to 3:30 PM at the hospitals Monday through Thursday, returning to their classes on Friday.

Vocational nursing holds many opportunities upon graduation. There are many placements open in doctors' offices, nursing organizations, or hospitals. If you are planning on becoming a housewife it is a very good preparation.

The uniforms are a gray pinafore, including white blouse, gray cap, and white stockings and shoes.

Teaching the class are four registered nurses who have been credentialed. They are Mrs. Mary Zanathy, Mrs. June E. V. Pool, Mrs. Josephine F. Hostelter, and Mrs. Mildred C. Bosteder.

City Board Will Landscape Campus After Woodmen Finish Chopping

The tree committee of the Fresno City Board of Education is developing a master plan to landscape FCC's University Ave. campus.

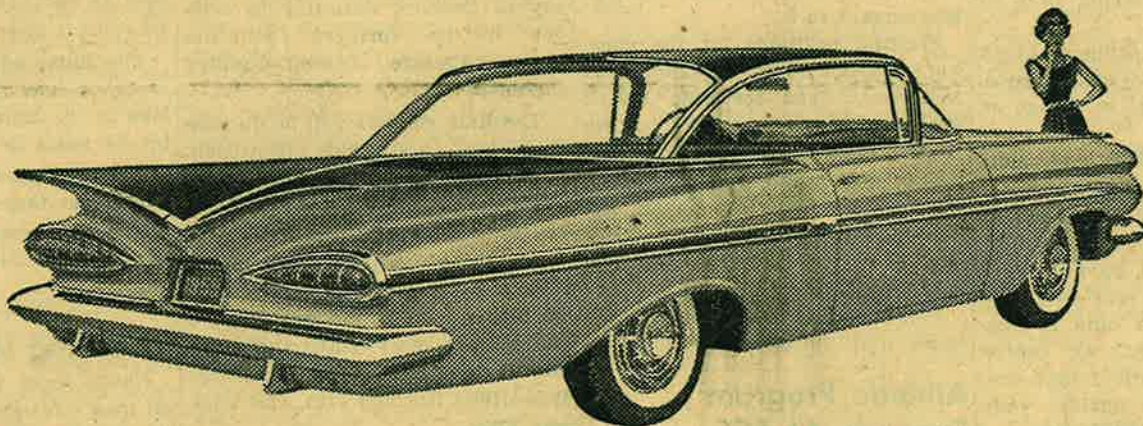

FCC President Stuart M. White said the plan, when approved by the board, will provide for the replacement of shrubs and trees where they have died or need new locations.

White stated that the plan will not only try to beautify the campus but will include recommendations from FCC instructors to add plants that will permit botany classes to study them for leaf identification and for learning scientific names.

Donald McCall, who is in charge of landscaping for the city's park department, will meet with the committee and draw up scale drawings of the campus for the master plan. The drawings will include the six new shop buildings now under construction, which will be landscaped by the architect.

Foot Notes

By RUSS FOOTE
SPORTS EDITOR

Recently, I was fortunate enough to be able to attend (by special invitation) a banquet honoring some of America's top sports personalities. During the course of the dinner, as I was clearing off the dessert dishes, I managed to obtain an interview with one of those famous figures from the sports world.

Here is that interview with William (Billy) Poobah, the Athletic Heckler of the Year for 1958.

Q. Well, Billy, just what is an athletic heckler?

A. He's the guy you see at athletic events who's always yellin' insults at the players and officials; the trouble maker in every crowd.

Q. Oh, you mean the guy who roots has head off for the home team or his favorite players?

A. No, I don't have any favorites; I don't care who wins just as long as I disrupt the game.

Q. I see. When did you first discover you had heckling talent?

A. When I was in kindergarten. I used to wait until there was one marble left in the pot. Then, when the first guy shot, I'd yell "fudges." That always started something.

Q. What do you find to be the toughest sports to heckle?

A. Probably football and golf. At football games with 50,000 people yelling it's kinda hard to make yourself heard. I solved this problem, though, by bringing' my own penalty flags attached to paper airplanes to the game and sailin' them out on the playing field at opportune moments.

The somber atmosphere kinda spoils things at golf tournaments, but I always manage to sneeze on a crucial putt.

Q. What seems to be your most effective heckling phrases?

A. Well, one choice one I use at baseball games a lot is—"Ya mudder sells rootabagas, ya bum ya!" I'm working on a real dilly now—"Ya fadder drinks outa a mustache cup, ya creep!" Of course it'll take time to perfect that one.

Q. What do you consider your outstanding accomplishment?

A. Well, I'm a ventriloquist and at the 1955 World Series I was responsible for having the head umpire clear the entire New York Yankee bench. He said no team was gonna tell him he needed optical attention and get away with it.

Q. Well, Billy, you certainly seem to be an expert on insulting people in the sports world. You sure think up some nasty ones.

A. What! I've never been so insulted! I'm leaving!

Sacramento Game Set For November 29

By DAVE HANNA

The Fresno City College Rams, champions of the Central California Junior College Athletic Association, have accepted a bid to be host team in the first annual Sequoia Bowl game Nov. 29 in the Sanger High Stadium. Fresno will meet Sacramento's Junior College Panthers from the Big Eight Conference.

Coach Hans Wiedenhoefer's eleven finished the CCJCAA play with a 6-0 record and have a 1-1 record in non-league action. They will finish out the regular season Sat. in Salinas against the unbeaten Hartnell Panthers.

The Sequoias Guild of the Valley Children's Hospital is sponsoring the game. All proceeds are earmarked for the hospital fund.

Bands Will Perform

Pre-game and halftime color will be added by the bands from Edison High School, FCC's band, and the band from the opposing school.

Dean of Men Paul Starr announced that FCC students will have to buy tickets because this is a charity game. Tickets for the game will be sold here on campus at $1.10 with the presentation of student body cards on a first come first served basis. The tickets will be available next week at the ticket window in the Student Center.

CC Rams Will End Regular Season

By MONTE HORNER

A battle of the champions is on tap for football fans tomorrow night in Salinas. The Fresno City College Rams will attempt to blast the Hartnell College Panthers from the ranks of the undefeated. The Rams closed out their league season last Saturday by smashing the Hancock College Bulldogs 50-25, to clinch the Central California Junior College Athletic Association title. Hartnell clinched at least a tie for the Coast Conference laurels by dropping a strong San Jose City College eleven 15-6 two weeks ago. The Panthers were idle last week.

Both teams should be at top strength for this battle of the giants and a bowl bid presumably hangs on the outcome. The Panthers, coached by Ken Blue have had feelers from the Junior Rose Bowl and Potato Bowl this year. A victory for Hartnell would considerably help their chances for one of these post-season clashes.

The Rams have already accepted a bid from the Sequoia Bowl in Sanger as a season finale.

Split-T Attack

The Panthers will employ a basic Oklahoma 5-4 defense against the Rams and will go into a split-T offense led by quarterback Wayne Handley. Handley will be supported by fullback Jim Stireman and halfbacks Bob Cabanyog and Dick Juarez, the former Livingston High flash and 20-30-Game star. Both Cabanyog and Juarez are top hurdlers for the Hartnell track squad. Stireman is the bread and butter man for the Panthers and Handley is a top flight passer.

The Hartnell line led by Bob Harrison, Ken Blanton and Mike Porter will be for the most part a veteran crew.

The probable starting lineup:

Fresno	Position	Hartnell
Willie Wheaton	LE	Ken Blanton
Mac Meacham	LT	Mike Porter
Bill Pritchard	LG	Don Rohrke
Pete Mehas	C	Bill Elliott
Chet Rooters	RG	Roger Anderson
Walt Miller	RT	Bob Harrison
Don Oberg	RE	Lon Sloan
Dick Van Galder	QB	Wayne Handley
Dick Lubic	HB	Dick Juarez
Vestee Jackson	HB	Bob Cabanyog
Joe Paris	FB	Jim Stireman

Crosscountry, Water Polo Teams Near Finish Of Successful Seasons

FCC Water Polo Squad Winds Up Good Season

The Rams' water polo team wound up its season with a 5 won, 5 lost, record Friday after being defeated by the Stockton College Mustangs, 8 to 3.

Polley scored two points for the Rams and Sutton scored one.

Athletic Program Expands At FCC

The FCC inter-collegiate athletic program has greatly expanded in the last year.

This fall, water polo and cross country teams have been established; both squads have enjoyed fine seasons. Last spring the first full-fledged track team enjoyed many successes.

These sports have joined such old standbys as football, basketball, baseball, and the minor sports to give the Rams a well rounded program.

Cross Country

Harriers Will Travel To Concord Saturday

At least two members of Coach Erwin Ginsburg's Fresno City College cross country team will journey to Concord Saturday to compete in the Northern California Junior College Cross Country Championships.

The Ram runners will be durable Billy Tuck and Paul Richardson. The race is slated for three miles over the hilly Mt. Diablo J. C. course.

Richardson came in sixth in the league meet at Visalia November 14. Because FCC did not have a complete team at Visalia, they were not eligible in the team scoring. Buss Helm finished 11th, and Tuck was 17th.

Reedley JC won the team title.

Rams Capture League Crown

Fresno City College's Rams clinched the Central California Junior College Athletic Association championship by blasting the Porterville Pirates 42-7 Nov. 7.

Coach Hans Wiedenhoefer's first unit exploded for 20 points in the first 10 minutes and the game was no contest after that.

The Rams added six more points in the second quarter, went scoreless in the third, and then clicked for 16 more in the last quarter.

The Fresno City College Rams closed out their CCJCAA play Friday with an easy 50-25 win over the hapless Allan Hancock Bulldogs.

Wrestling Workouts Start

Coach Hans Wiedenhoefer urges all men interested in trying out for the wrestling team to contact him immediately.
