61 Honor Students Attend FCC

High School Students Seek College Credit

Sixty high school seniors and one junior from high schools of the Fresno area are attending Fresno City College under the honors program.

Three of the students are attending a night course in psychology and of these three one is also attending a day course, according to FCC officials.

The honors program, carried on by several other junior colleges of California in addition to FCC, allows high school seniors to attend a junior college for credit which will be applied to their college transcript, and high school juniors to attend for high school credit.

Of the 61 students, 16 are from Bullard High, 22 are from Fresno High, seven are from McLane High, two each are claimed by both Edison and Fowler High and 12 are students of Roosevelt High.

Courses attended by honor students are general psychology, introduction to sociology, analytical geometry and calculus, principles of economics, beginning Russian, intermediate Russian, college algebra, cultural anthropology and human anatomy.

Students are recommended for this program by their principals and teachers. Most of them are carrying one three unit class with the exception of those enrolled in Russian, a four unit course.

The honors program is aided by a state law which allows junior colleges to permit up to one-third of its average daily attendance to be high school students.

In 1960, sixty seniors, three juniors and one sophomore were enrolled in the program. In 1961 there was a total of 80 students in the program attending FCC.

Student Insurance Still Available

Students' Accident and Sickness Medical Expense Plan Insurance is still available in the counseling center or the health center, according to Arch Bradshaw, dean of students.

This insurance will provide up to $1,000 for medical expenses within one year of the date of an accident. Other benefits of the plan include $18.50 per day for hospital room and board up to 30 days, surgical treatment, medical attention and ambulance service.

The plan is available on three levels: full year, college year or semester. The deadline is 30 days from the opening of each semester.

Student Body Budget Largest in FCC's History

A $32,970 associated student body budget, the largest in FCC history, was approved by the student council Tuesday.

The money comes from the sale of student body cards, profits from the bookstore, cafeteria and coffee shop and funds from former years.

Each of the student body activities such as social affairs, Ram, Rampage, and assembly committee submitted a budget request to Jo Jackson, student body secretary, at a finance session last Thursday. The requests were submitted by student body commissioners or faculty advisers of the activities.

Miss Jackson then printed a tentative budget which was approved last Tuesday and will go into effect immediately.

The largest account this year is football, which will get $6,155. Running second is the Rampage fun, which will receive $3,500.

This provides transportation for all areas of the associated students such as competitive sports, rooter buses, debate and drama trips, band, choir and journalism.

Over one-fourth of the total budget goes to sports as follows: baseball, $137; basketball, $2,461; cross country, $465; tennis, $175; water polo, $655; wrestling, which will receive $3,500.

Oral arts will receive over $2,000. The breakdown is as follows: band, $800; choir, $500; debate, $650, drama, $200.

Money available for assemblies and dances has increased over last year by $200. Assembly committee will have $500 this year; a jump of $150; the social affairs fund has increased by $50. The social affairs budget provides $1,100 that can be used by any campus club or organization to stage dances.

Over $1,500 will be spent on awards: $1,330 for athletic awards, letters and a banquet; and $300 for leadership awards. These are in the form of student body scholarships for returning students.

$4,600 will go to campus publications. Potpourri, the school literary magazine, will get $100; Ram, the yearbook, will receive $1,000, and the Rampage will get $3,500. The literary magazine and yearbook will receive larger sums later as their printing dates are during the second semester.

Associated Men Students will get $625 and Associated Women Students will receive $700.

$910 has been set aside to cover costs of student government and leadership conferences and $100 has been allotted for student activities secretarial help.

$1500 for laundry and cleaning fees pays towel fees for all students. These cost 50 cents per student.

Dr. Nielsen Takes Presidency As White Surveys in Africa

While President Stuart M. White is in Kenya, Africa, on an educational survey, Dr. Paul Nielsen the vice president, is in charge of Fresno City College.

President White is studying the needs for higher education in Kenya and seeing if a two year college can be set up. He also will see what arrangements must be made to start such a school.

The four man team of which White is a member is making the study for the Kenyan government and is sponsored by the University of California. It is under the auspices of the United States Agency for International Development. The study should be finished by mid-October.

"Students took a tremendous part in registration," stated Dr. Nielsen, "and did many things that the faculty could not have gotten along without. We are off to a good start for the year."

Dr. Nielsen was superintendent of the former Scandinavian School District before he was appointed Fresno City School District educational services. He served in this position for one year then was appointed City College vice president last year.

Weinschenk Releases 1963 Debate Schedule

Mrs. Helen Nelson, Governor Pat Brown's Consumers Council Advisor, stated recently in a lecture at Fresno City College that consumers are being misled.

She emphasized the modern changes of today, economically and socially, have put a "tremendous shift in the method of living" and a "tremendous increase in money management problems as consumers."

Mrs. Nelson pointed out specifically that there is great evidence insofar as we could have a great deal more skill in crediting ourselves. For example, people probably spend more money on automobiles than homes or house buying.

"An average family is expected to buy from 12 to 15 automobiles in an entire lifetime," Mrs. Nelson continued, "and therefore pay an exceedingly high amount of interest on a car moreso than they would on a home."

Spending More Important

According to Mrs. Nelson, how you spend your money is a far greater responsibility than earning a pay check. "We have to learn how to spend our pay checks since your earney money represents food, clothing and shelter."

Mrs. Nelson also stated an average person makes over one-quarter of a million dollars between the ages of 20-65. She clearly mentioned that we need to know how to spend our money wisely.

Top Job

Mrs. Nelson's job as representative for the consumers office is to advise the Governor's recommendations on all matters affecting consumers. She is also affiliated with the state legislature and investigates consumer problems and reports to the public, besides appearing before boards and commissions as an "official consumer lobby."

In conclusion, Mrs. Nelson said, "We are all going to have to do a great deal to train ourselves to spend our income."

Fresno City College can take the lead in promoting an awareness of world events on the campuses of Central California junior colleges, says Fred Faieta, student body president.

He feels that this can be accomplished by joining with other college and university students who take a keen interest in national and international affairs. These students are active in the 400 member colleges of the National Student Association.

The NSA is an alliance made up of and run by student government leaders on the various campuses. Faieta attended the National Student Congress of this organization this summer and has returned to Fresno City College with reports of the conference.

"One of the main purposes of the NSA is to act as a sounding board for the opinions of American students and to encourage them to take an interest in community, national and international affairs," he said.

Faieta wants the FCC associated students to join the NSA on a one year's trial basis. This will allow other Central California junior colleges to observe the merits of having the NSA on a campus on this type.

He said he will propose this plan at the California Junior College Student Government Association conference at Asilomar in November. He hopes that after the trial period, the entire California association will join the NSA as a bloc.

Students in Fresno City College will have an opportunity to vote on whether to join the National Student Association in November.

Fresno City College has already shown that it is a leader in this field by sending a delegate to the student congress this summer. FCC was the only Fresno institution to have a representative at the congress.

Faieta is the first delegate from a Central California junior college ever to attend the confab, which was held at the Ohio State University from August 13 to 30.

The National Student Association offers information, leadership training and personal assistance in activating awareness programs on member campuses. The organization hopes to stimulate discussion, debate and controversy on college campuses about topics that affect college students.

"Education is an awareness of the world and involvement in the world. We cannot isolate ourselves on a college campus and expect to be educated persons," he said.

Government Trains Welders On Campus

Twenty-four men are now being readied at FCC in the fields of welding, blueprint reading and machine skills as a part of the Federal Manpower Development Act, passed early this year.

The men are being trained in a 42 week program, at a cost to the federal government of $32,318. F. E. McCulley, of the Department of Employment, who is serving as regional co-ordinator for the program, said that the act was passed as part of the President's program to provide training for the nation's unemployed.

Robert Hansler, dean of the Technical and Industrial division, said the courses are being taught by Dean Larsen, Merle Suns and Shannon Smith.

Raw Salmon and Seaweed, Ugh!

Adventurous Nixon Comments on Japan

By RICHARD SALAIS

Persuaded by her former Japanese students and willing to sacrifice a few of her belongings, jovial Mrs. Jo Nell Nixon, an FCC English instructor, has recently arrived on the local scene with plenty to talk about after an adventurous journey to Japan the past summer.

Mrs. Nixon, who spent more than seven weeks abroad, originally got the idea from her Japanese students who urged her upon making the trip. However, in order to finance the journey she courageously (due to the modern world of today) sold her late model automobile. This in itself, besides the other paraphernalias, supplied the financial backing to Japan.

"I suddenly got the idea and sold my car to collect enough money for my trip," commented Mrs. Nixon in a joking fashion.

Flies Luxuriously

Flying in four diferent jet airliners, Mrs. Nixon covered the Seattle World's Fair, Anchorage, Alaska and Honolulu, Hawaii besides visiting the vast areas of Japan. While in Japan, Mrs. Nixon toured through the well-known cities of Tokyo, Hara, Kyoto, Kamakura and many others.

"Of all the cities in Japan I think Kyoto impressed me the most," Mrs. Nixon continued.

In Kyoto, a city noted as a cultural center, she met an unusual Japanese friend who loaned her a guide and a late model Chrysler (air-conditioned) to help her tour the city. In the cities of Kamakura, Nara and Kokedera the great Buddhist statues, consisting of bronze, mercury, coal and lined with pure gold and towering as high as 53 feet impressed her tremendously.

"The Buddhist statues, dating back as far as the year 749, was an appalling view."

"The famous moss gardens in Kokedera was an interesting place to see also," Nixon sighed.

Takes Sumi Lessons

In Tokyo, the land of over 11 million people, Mrs. Nixon engaged in the fine arts. A student in the O'Hara Institute, she spent two months studying the art of Sumi painting. Sumi painting lessons consist of applying ink and water on rice paper.

"I enjoyed the lessons once a week and admired my teacher—the well-respected Yoshio Horiuchi."

Incidentally, Sumi painting at the O'Hara Institute allows only students of Japanese descent, however, Mrs. Nixon was granted tutoring under a special school for foreigners.

The food in Japan was rather an exotic experience for Mrs. Nixon who admits it made her unpleasant at times, moreover, special prepared dishes which included raw salmon, sprinkled with boiled rice and seaweed made it even worse.

Gion Festival Exciting

Besides visiting the famed Mt. Fuji, Mrs. Nixon was thrilled to witness the oldest festival (dating back to the year 869) in the world located in Gion, Japan.

"The colorful floats, lanterns and costumes at the Gion Festival, I will always remember."

All in all, the pleasurable jaunt to Japan will always bring back memories for Mrs. Nixon who, for some unexplicable reason, plans to tour the world in the near future. First, she must buy another car!

Kingston Trio To Perform Tonight

What was disaster to Tom Dooley was the big break for the Kingston Trio, who will appear tonight at 8:30 PM in the Memorial Auditorium, along with the Martin Denny group.

For Tom Dooley, the victim of a necktie party, brought the Kingstons their first million record sale and the beginning of a meteoric success story. Two Salt Lake disc jockeys, playing the record and getting many requests to hear it again, were instrumental in setting the shock waves in motion.

was the hit record of 1958. There followed an extended tour of the nation's college campuses and the reputation of the Kingston Trio was secure.

Since that time, five of their albums have gone over the million mark in sales.

As a further sign of success, the members of the trio—Nick Reynolds, Bob Shane and John Stewart — have such lucrative sidelines as a music publishing firm, a restaurant complete with docking facilities for yachts, and a line of men's clothes.

Government Bosses Pick Fall Commissioners

Student body government has been in full operation since before school started, with the student council helping at registration.

Commissioners appointed for the fall semester are Douglas Yavarian, athletics; Ann Ehrenburg, publications; Leslie Guenzel, scholarships; Luella Wilde, social affairs; Carolyn Poindexter, student welfare; Kathy Murphy, elections; and Gayle Edmondson, assemblies.

Also new this semester is Eleanor Bock, secretary. The commissioner of oral arts is yet to be appointed.

Officers elected last spring are Fred Faieta, president; Fred Martin, vice president; Jo Beth Jackson, treasurer; Richard Anderson, Mitchell Bower, Randy McCarthy, Richard Fagundes, Kathy Haas, Margaret Persh, Jo

Anne Terry, Diane Benbrook, Jim Anderson, and Philip Ginsberg, representatives at large; also Janice Jackson, AWS president. The position of AWS president is yet to be filled.

Student council meetings are held at noon Tuesdays in Bungalow eight. Faieta stated that the meetings are open to all interested students.

Club News

FCC Groups Starting Elections

Phi Beta Lambda

Phi Beta Lambda, Fresno City College's club for business students, held its first meeting last Friday, the 21st in A-221.

The nominations of officers were opened during the meeting and will be left open for the meeting to be held today at noon.

At last Friday's meeting, Kathy Klepper, a sophomore, was nominated for the office of president; Judy Scott and Janice Mello were nominated for 1st vice-president; Carmen Rodriguez, 2nd vice president; Kathy Gutierrez, Jackie Martinez, Marlene Okada and Judy Scott, secretary; Carol Schaeffer and Alnita Schmidt, treasurer; Alice Rivas, reporter; Gishla Henderson, historian.

There are no nominees for the office of parliamentarian, but the voted and elected Carol Klepper for the office of ICC representative. Those nominated at the meeting to be held today will be announced at a later date.

The purpose of Phi Beta Lambda is to develop business leadership; to strengthen confidence of young people in themselves and in their work; to help young people in choosing a business occupation; to develop character; to train for useful citizenship; to foster patriotism; and to encourage and practice thrift.

According to Mrs. Mary Miller, sponsor of the club, "Not only does Phi Beta Lambda provide assistance and confidence to those students interested in the business field, but it is also a very active club in social activities." Mr. Wohlgenuth will act as co-sponsor of the club.

Circle K

DeWayne Zinkin and Albert Weitz will report to Circle K at a meeting tomorrow noon in the conference room of the student center. They will report on the seventh annual Circle K regional convention held in San Diego, Aug. 28-30, 1962, which they attended.

Circle K was organized last semester and is starting its first full year at City College. The returning officers are Fred Faieta, vice president, and Zinkin, secretary. Remaining officers will be elected at the next meeting.

The Circle K is a service organization sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, and has so far this year helped with the City College registration and on Sabin Oral Sunday, last Sunday. Other service projects will be carried out during the year.

"Prospective new members," stated Kenneth Wood, club sponsor at FCC, "are welcome to attend and learn more about Circle K."

Associated Women Students

Associated Women Students will hold their first meeting today at noon in B-6. The purpose of the meeting is to announce the year's program of activities.

Election of officers will be held at next week's meeting. Janice Jackson is presently serving as AWS president.

According to Miss Doris Deakins, dean of women and sponsor of the club, "The first activity of the year is an installation dinner for all officers and for all women who wish to attend."

Adds Miss Deakins, "We hope that AWS will be active in homecoming this year. We will soon be on the lookout for a

Tenth Anniversary Shows Gains in People, Books

By INEZ MARTA

More students than ever before? You bet! And you know where they're going? To the library of course!

According to Mr. McCarthy, head librarian, there have been more students visiting FCC's library this year, than any other year since its founding in 1952, when it started with a total collection of 2,000 books.

Now on its tenth anniversary, the library contains some 13,948 books and hard bound magazines. Every year even more books are added to the collection, such as the 2,476 which were obtained last year.

Yearly polls have been, and are, being taken regularly to determine the number of students visiting the library. During the school year of 1960-61, the number was counted at 185,676, and during the year of 1961-62 approximately 204,003 students attended.

Mr. Carthy stated that he expected the attendance would keep right on growing with the school.

In case you're wondering how a population census is taken in a library, an answer is forthcoming. A count is taken of every student in the library on the half hour of a class hour. This is the method used that brings in the most accurate count.

The library, which is located on University Avenue across from the school, is open from 8 AM to 5 PM, Monday through Friday, and from 6:30 PM to 9:20 PM on Monday, through Thursday.

Also provided in the library, besides books and magazines, are private listening stations and tape recorders which are provided by the school for use by students.

Some of the personnel working in the library are Mrs. Cahn, assistant in charge of reference; Mr. Wolfenden, assistant in charge of circulation and reserve room; Mrs. Pate, audio visual; and Miss Garcia, in charge of ordering books. Some 20 students enrolled in the library science class also help to keep FCC's library running efficiently.

Advisor Returns From Italy

After spending a year teaching at the University of Trieste in Italy, Phillip Smith has returned to FCC as the journalism instructor.

Replacing Smith while on a year sabbatical leave from FCC was Ivan Jones. Jones not only supervised the Rampage but filled in for Smith as journalism instructor, and public information officer.

When asked to compare Italian students and American students Smith stated:

"The Italian students are very immature and irresponsible as far as schooling is concerned! when a student doesn't want to go to school he doesn't go.

"I had a ball while I was in Italy, and hope to return again sometime in the near future," Smith concluded.

Faieta: Elections, Voting Important

By FRED F. FAIETA

One of the most important events of this semester is now upon us. It is the opportunity you have to enhance student citizenship and student government. It is an event that can make or break us as a college community. I am referring to the class elections, at which you are to exercise your right to vote.

The related article on this page will give you an idea of the available offices for freshmen and sophomores.

These offices are an important factor in the realization of our aims. Therefore, the correct choice must be made. It is your responsibility.

If you know someone who you think would make good officer material, approach him (or her) and discuss it. And what about you? No previous experience is necessary, only a desire to work and serve in a fiduciary capacity.

If you do not consider yourself capable, at least respect the vying candidates by listening to them, voting for your choice and above all, by SUPPORTING them with your presence and participation in class ventures.

Remember, next semester and, more so next year, your ASB president and his council will be elected from the returning students. If their experience includes a class office they shall have been well trained and ready for the responsibility. So choose well now!

Further information on elections can be obtained from Kathy Murphy, Commissioner of Elections, Miss Doris Deakins, or little 'ole me!

Non-Petitioners Cause Election Schedule Change

The nominations assembly originally scheduled for today has been postponed until next Thursday at noon in the auditorium.

All interested candidates for freshman and sophomore class offices were to have turned in their petitions by Tuesday. However, at that time there were no candidates for any office in the sophomore class, according to Mrs. Jo Nell Nixon, sophomore class sponsor.

The election will be held Monday, October 8th, which was originally scheduled for October 1st.

Commissioner of elections Kathy Murphy has urged interested students to file petitions for the various offices. They may be obtained in Room 108 of the administration building.

Jaguars Ambush Rams; Oakland Next

Jag Conversions Costly

ALLEY OOP! . . . Frosh scatback Dave Ruiz leaps in vain for a Caldera aerial as two San Jose defenders and an amazed referee look on in bewilderment.

Too bad they don't take statistics into consideration when they total up the score of a football game.

Coach Clare Slaughter and his Ram eleven were ambushed by the San Jose Jaguars 14-12 in their grid lidlifter even though the locals outplayed the visitors in the stat department.

The San Jose loss was one game toward experience . . . not much, but a step forward for Coach Clare Slaughter's young grid squad which will travel to Oakland tomorrow for another non-conference test.

Two missed pat's were the margin of difference as San Jose kept their perfect record against the Rams intact. The Jags were victorious in the only previous meeting of the two clubs by a 32-0 margin in 1959.

The Rams outgained the visitors from the North in total yards, passing yardage, complete passes, intercepted to misguided Paguar aeriels, was penalized fewer yards and even fumbled more often.

Caldera Stars
Quarterback Chuck Caldera was brilliant in defeat and teamed with frosh scatback Dave Ruiz to spark the Ram offense. Walt Yarborough, sophomore letterman from Clovis high led both squads in aerial snags, hauling in five for 115 yards and one touchdown. Employing a well oiled straight T offense the Slaughtermen, often riddled the Northerners' line with off tackle slashes and cross bucks run by Levi Owens and hard running Woody Knott.

Fumble Hurts

Knott's fumble on the Jaguar 26 set up the winning touchdown as San Jose fullback Phil Monk exploded through the center of the Ram line on a 32 yard jaunt to the Ram 13. With 11:23 remaining in the final stanza Monk slithered through the Ram defense for the final crushing blow on a four yard plunge to the promised land.

Inexperience, a disease that strikes every football team periodically, has hit the Rams.

Patience And Practice

Unfortunately, football specialists have found no quick cure for this athletic bug and only practice and game time will heal the Rams in time to make a strong bid for the Valley Conference title.

Slaughter was pleased with the performance of his charges, remarking "I thought they did a real fine job" and added, "Actually, people don't realize how we've had to start from scratch.

Green Linebackers

"With a college team, you assume there is plenty of experience on hand, but two of our starting linebackers had never played that position before."

To summarize the early season plan, he stated, "We're going to have to start slow and move slowly."

Line Changes

Slaughter and aides Don Klopensburg and Darryl Rogers plan only a few changes in the starting lineup for tomorrow's game with Oakland City College.

Levi Owens will join Chuck Caldera, Artie Cox and Woody Knott in the offensive backfield to replace halfback Paul Richards.

Owens returns to the Rams after a year layoff and was named most valuable football player at Barstow High School during his senior year.

Caprellian Helps

Defensive changes find Marv Caprellian and Jim Lane at ends and Dave Ruiz in the backfield.

Tomorrow the Rams journey to Oakland's Youell field to do battle with the top rated Oakland City College Thunderbirds. Coach Clare Slaughter is expected to alter his defensive line in an attempt to tighten the slightly porous Ram defense.

Winter Baseball

Dick Selma and Bix Hayden, the one-two punch of FCC's state champion baseball squad, are still firing.

Hayden, righthanded throwing sophomore, picked up his first victory of the Winter Baseball campaign while strikeout minded Selma registered a save.

Hayden, playing for the Twins, saw his squad edge the Fresno Rams 5-4. Bob Shanze led the winners with two hits in four tries while frosh receiver Don Lemley chipped in with a pair of safeties for the losers.

Action will continue this week with a full schedule of games.

Ron's Roundup

By RON DELPIT, Sports Editor

WHAT'S THIS THING CALLED EQUALITY?

When we win it's taken for granted. When we lose it's news. That's the story in FCC sports and is exemplified by the coverage given us in the local newspaper. Last season as the grid eleven rolled along at a phenomenal .700 pace we got little or no space in the daily paper. Accounts of the games were often found buried deep in the sports section while FSC games got top priority.

Deserve Coverage

Our opening game loss to San Jose was still "second class" material in the newspaper but the fact that it was the first lidlifter we've dropped since 1956 rated mention in the lead of the story.

We should get coverage equal to that of FSC. We deserve that in view of the fact that Fresno City College has been in existence as long as Fresno State has and at one time was combined with Fresno State.

Player Shakeup?

The gridsters loss is not entirely disheartening, after all a number of the boys have had a years layoff and are bound to be a bit rusty. Coach Slaughter is a veteran of many grid campaigns, and the venerable mentor can be counted upon to rectify the offensive and defensive weaknesses of his squad as the season wears on.

He may have the platoon ballplayers ala Casey Stengel or he may even retreat to the other extreme and use the same 11 men both ways, but whichever way he does it you can bet he'll field a winner.

Dave Ruiz, freshman halfback from Sanger high, showed plenty of gridiron savvy Saturday and should prove to be a real gem in games to come.

Ruiz Top Runner

Ruiz leads the team in average yards per carry with a mark of 3.8. Woody Knott is not far behind with a total of 3.7.

Walt Yarborough showed signs of brilliance on kickoff returns as he fielded three for 190 yards including a 60 yard beaut in which he almost went all the way.

Tomorrow's game against the Oakland CC Thunderbirds will be played on Youell field, the home grounds of the Oakland Raiders. The game will begin at 2:30.

Oakland Tough

The Thunderbirds annually field one of the finest teams in the Northern section of the state and should prove to be a formidable obstacle in the Rams bid for their first win.

Following the Oakland game the Ram warriors will return home to defend their shield against streaky Reedley JC of Reedley.
