

Sumpter Picks Leading Roles For Wilson's 'The Boy Friend'

Drama director Clyde G. Sumpter has announced the leading roles for the upcoming spring production, "The Boy Friend."

Diane Benbrook, Stephen Berglund, Kathryn Thomas, Anna Tooakoian, and Richard Fagundes will play the leads in the first musical attempted by the FCC Drama Department.

The musical comedy will be presented May 23, 24 and 25 in the student center social hall during FCC's second annual Fine Arts Festival.

Supporting Roles

Others cast in supporting roles include Margaret Thomas, Deanna Passmore, Carol Schaeffer, Doris Pires, Michael Quijada, Jo Ann Rizzo, Ronald Scott, Ronald Baker, Rodger Johnson, Doreen Kruger, Lubberta Meursinge, Carmen Rodriguez, Robert Russell, and Linda Jones.

The stage crew and other non-acting positions will come from Sumpter's classes in theater craft and rehearsal and performance, plus a few members from Delta Psi Omega, FCC's drama club.

"Since 'The Boy Friend' is FCC's first musical, it will be a new experiment," said Sumpter, "but our cast is very eager to do a good job."

"The complete cast consists of seasoned performers who have appeared in numerous productions and others who will be appearing in their first play," added Sumpter.

Complete Cast

Sumpter also remarked, "We have a complete cast and have begun rehearsals. At present we are working on the choreography under the direction of Dezie Woods, our choreographer."

"The Boy Friend" was written by Sandy Wilson as a musical satire during the 1920's. The setting is the French Riviera at a girls' finishing school during carnival time. The central theme of the play is the basic problem of every girl getting her man.

Art-O-Rama Scheduled May 20-25

As a contribution to the FCC Fine Arts Festival May 20 to 25, the art department has scheduled their third annual Art-O-Rama.

The Art-O-Rama will consist of an outdoor exhibit of paintings, drawings, ceramic sculptures, and portraits created by students in Dean A. Draper's fall and spring art classes. The site for the proposed display is the rally shack.

"The Boy Friend," a musical comedy to be staged on May 23, 24 and 25, will be the drama department's project for the Festival, while constructing the scenery for this production will be the stagecraft classes' responsibility.

A concert on May 20 will be the presentation of the music department.

Student Lounge Reopens To FCC Students

The lounge in the student center has been reopened by the Student Council.

In the regular meeting held last Tuesday, the members voted to open the lounge as long as students can use its facilities properly.

The resolution states that the lounge will be open on a probationary basis, as long as the rules are followed.

The rules for the use of the lounge state that no eating, drinking, or card playing is allowed in the lounge.

"Potpourri" Selects Staff Positions

Nancy Drioane has been selected as the editor of Potpourri, the FCC literary magazine.

Potpourri is published by the students each spring, containing the works of the student body.

Short stories, essays, or student art work may be submitted to the editors of the magazine for inclusion. Jo Beth Jackson, publicity manager of the magazine, announced that students who want material in this year's edition of Potpourri should get it in as soon as possible to permit time to select the best material.

No date has been set as of yet for the deadline for contributions, according to editor Drioane, or for the sale of the magazine. She did state that the deadline would be set soon.

Choir Presents Program

Two Easter Assemblies, Apr. 3-4, with no charge to the invited public will feature the Fresno City College choir directed by Lowell Spencer.

Jim Scott, commissioner of assemblies, announced that tryouts for the Apr. 25 talent show will be held at noon, Apr. 16.

NINE VISITORS inspect FCC's facilities and visit classes. They are (L-R) Neil Nordstrom, Mrs. Mary Margaret Crowe, John Britton, Maruin Meitenry and Jack E. Mulkey.

FCC Debate Team Wins Awards At State Tourney

The FCC debate squad won 14 awards of achievement at the California State Junior College Debate Tournament which was held Mar. 15 and 16 at the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Franz Weinschenk, debate coach, said outstanding performances were given by JoAnn Rizzo and Marlene Smith who placed second and third in oratory, Karen Hayes who won third place in extemporaneous speaking and by the debate team of Jo Beth Jackson and Miss Smith who tied for third place in women's debate.

Robert Rogers received a certificate of superior performance for his oration and Karen Hayes received the same award for impromptu speaking.

Certificates of excellence were awarded to Richard Anderson and Ronald Manuto in debate, John Harker in extemporaneous speaking, Chuck Overs and Anderson in oratory, Diane Fillpot, Miss Jackson, Harker and Rogers in interpretive speaking.

"Approximately 250 students representing 23 California Junior Colleges competed in the statewide competition," said Weinschenk.

Delegates Represent FCC At Bi-annual Conference

Twenty-one delegates represented FCC at the biennial regional student government conference held in Porterville.

At the International Relations and Foreign Students workshop headed by FCC student Rick Wrightson, the delegation from FCC introduced a resolution asking the member schools to join the People to People program. The resolution suggested that the program was a help to foreign students and American students alike, and would be a benefit to the campus.

Motion Approved

This motion was approved and will be forwarded to the state conference to be held April 18, 19, 20, in Disneyland.

Aiding Wrightson was Frank Conway, the regional director for People to People.

At the Intramural Sports workshop FCC recommended that at least two hours a week be set aside for intramural activities at each school.

Resolutions For Confab

This meeting of the Central California Junior College Student Government Association at Porterville was held to prepare resolutions for the state conference to be held in two weeks.

Nine Visitors Inspect FCC Facilities

Nine visitors from Dos Palos Joint Union High School District were on campus Mar. 18 to inspect the college's facilities and visit classes in the three divisions, announced Stuart M. White, FCC president.

The Board of Trustees for the district were shown slides telling the story of FCC, then went to the Business Division, the Letters, Arts and Science Division, and the Technical and Industrial Division.

The five board members and their companions also toured the new gymnasium, the library, and the foreign language lab.

The trustees who visited FCC were Richard E. Des Jardins, president; Robert E. Wood, clerk; Lawrence Wolfson, Robert McTaggart, and John Britton.

The Dos Palos representatives were accompanied by Jack E. Mulkey, district superintendent; Neil Nordstrom, the high school's principal, and two citizens from the district, Marvin McHenry and Mary Frances Crowe.

Coffman Speaks In Palo Alto

"The Hydraulic System Points the Way to Mechanical Failure," was the topic of a speech given by Charles M. Coffman, FCC auto shop instructor, yesterday in Palo Alto.

Coffman, an instructor at FCC for eighteen years, was a guest speaker for the Automatic Transmission Builders Association of Northern California.

He spoke at the Cabaña, a Hotel-Motel in downtown Palo Alto.

"Dead Week" Starts Tomorrow

Feel like butting your head against a stone wall? Has the pressure of "dead week" got you down?

Well, fellow Rams, comfort yourselves with the thought of what it would be like without "dead week."

You see, this is a fairly recent development owing its beginning to the student body.

"About three years ago, students requested that we have a 'dead week,'" related Miss Doris N. Deakins, dean of women. "Since then, the policy has been not to schedule any social activities, including club meetings, during this time."

Since the results have proved so successful, Miss Deakins sees no reason for a change in the present policy.

So, fellow students, before you groan and gripe about the pressures of school work this week and next, count your blessings. In so doing, include "dead week" at the top of your list.

P.S. By the way the Rampage, classified as an activity, will also have a vacation next week and will continue its publication April 4.

Squirrels Would Add Class To Campus

Trees, trees everywhere, but not a squirrel in sight! Such is the situation in Courthouse Park in downtown Fresno. For years the lush green lawns of the park were dotted with the furry little animals, scurrying hither and yon, much to the delight of onlookers. But recently all the squirrels disappeared, either at the hands of predators or of natural causes.

This condition caused Assemblyman George Zenovich (D), Fresno, to launch a campaign to replenish the supply by importing a pair of squirrels from the grounds of the state capitol in Sacramento. Zenovich's plan has met stiff resistance, as expected, from the capitol, but he is not discouraged.

It was this controversy which brought to our attention a similar situation at Fresno City College. Despite the abundance of trees and bushes, there is not a squirrel to be found. And why not? What would do more to add to the "ivy league" look of the campus?

All that would be needed, theoretically, is one male and his mistress to propagate the population.

George Johnson, head custodian at FCC, said he would be in favor of the proposal to plant squirrels on the campus. "There used to be a few large squirrels on the grounds, but we haven't noticed any recently," he said.

Johnson believes there is plenty of food and forage on the campus to support a colony of squirrels. "If not," he said, "we could arrange to plant containers full of nuts in the trees for them."

So only one obstacle remains to be overcome—obtaining the squirrels.

Any suggestions?

Publishers Release Last Book Of Frost's Poems

The late Robert Frost, highly honored by reciting a poem at the inauguration of President John F. Kennedy, presented his first collection of new poems in fifteen years, "In the Clearing" (Holt, Rinehart and Wilson, 101 pp.).

Frost unceasingly composed in a fresh provocative style and displayed diversified ability by expounding on subjects from fields and farms of New England to great deeds and universal truths.

He hesitated to call himself a poet and proclaimed, "It's for the world to say whether you're a poet or not."

The world has openly and rightly recognized Frost as an outstanding poet by honoring him, four times, with the Pulitzer prize.

SHE ONLY HAS ONE CLASS, BUT SHE WANTS HIM TO FEEL USEFUL

Bulletin Boards Provide View Of Campus Life

By DAVID PACHECO

The posters, banners, and bulletins plastered all over the walls of FCC's buildings reflect the hectic college life of its students.

Anyone taking a stroll through our campus would seemingly be amazed to see the campus walls wallpapered with every conceivable type of poster, pamphlet, or leaflet of every imaginable size, shape, and design. Imagine a citizens' group fighting a red hot campaign to abolish posters on our scenic highways taking a tour of this campus!

Of course, this paints an overly exaggerated picture of how the campus looks, but it does give a good idea of how it may look to visitors.

This does not suggest that these posters, banners, and bulletins should be done away with, or that they do not serve their purpose, because they do.

The college student has two sources of information on campus activities, the school newspaper and the bulletin boards.

The posters, bulletins, and banners inform students on current activities, clubs, and club meetings.

Variety

Every type of announcement that covers almost every subject is somewhere on display. Everything from traveling to Mexico to learning how to be a smoke jumper. No matter what your interest, you'll find it somewhere.

Interested in washing your car? You'll probably find a car wash poster. Looking for a job? There are several opportunities listed on the bulletin boards. Interested in selling or buying cars and books? You'll find plenty of these announcements. Want to join the Navy or the Peace Corps? Maybe you'd like to know if you made the honor roll? You'll find many more posters such as these all over the campus.

More Variety

If you are not interested in the literary aspects of the school life you might take a look at the interesting displays around the campus.

How about taking a stroll through FCC's art department? displays? You'll find spring art creations in the form of scrolls depicting various forms of animal life. You'll find brightly painted owls, rabbits, ducks, butterflies, chickens, and grasshoppers on scrolls hanging from walls and ceilings.

Rabbits To Baseballs

In the business department there are numerous displays such as baseballs, baby dolls and rabbits. If you're interested in rocks, guns, harpoons or knives you'll find some on display.

If you have a spare moment between classes or before and after school take notice of the posters and bulletins around our campus. Try walking around campus and look at the bulletin boards, you may find something of interest, and also keep pace with current events.

Keep in mind that the price one pays to keep well informed is not much, especially when it's free.

Draper's Pupils Try Hand At Ceramics

By DENNIS HAGOBIAN

One of the popular classes at FCC and increasing in its popularity every day is Dean Draper's ceramics class. Ceramics was started in the fall of 1960 at FCC and in these two and one-half years has become one of the most popular classes.

This semester's ceramics classes were closed after two hours of registration. Next semester there will be an addition of classes to provide for the students turned away during registration because of "closed classes."

Many Refused

Draper said that at least 30 students were turned away this semester.

Why the strong interest in ceramics?

Draper said that many students have seen the work of the amateur craftsmen and want to give it a try themselves.

"Ceramics explores the creativity of an individual and discovers and brings out natural instincts."

The instructor said that ceramics is designed so students can create an end product without vast background of the subject.

During the first semester there is a program of projects to be created but after that the students have freedom to explore.

Exciting Moment

One of the most exciting parts of the class is when the product is taken from the kiln (oven for firing). There is an air of anticipation as to how the work is going to turn out.

Then, Draper said, there is the old reliable community chest, an old wine barrel where clay is kept with a wine aroma in the atmosphere. The barrel has clay at the bottom and water at the top. To get to the clay two feet of water must be penetrated, by hand of course.

This May the art department will put on its annual Art-o-Rama. Students will put up their finished pieces for sale to the public.

Ever long to be a campus hero? It's easy. Just grab a hefty hammer and smash the nearest piano to bits. For this is the latest craze to engulf the college crowd, a successor to bed rolling, telephone booth stuffing, goldfish swallowing and any number of other harmless capers which have caused those on the "outside" to look at us on the "inside" as a carefree lot, simply upholding the traditions of intra-campus competition. Healthy and wholesome, to be sure.

But now washing machine twirling has gone "out" and piano smashing has come "in" and this writer wants "out." I am not musically inclined, to be sure, and I don't have the slightest appreciation for any music that can't be pounded out by the "Rumblers" or some similar stompin' combo.

But I have nothing but respect for those with more tone taste than myself, and refuse to be associated with the wanton destruction of a fine piano, no matter how worn or outdated. A grand mahogany piano, with sparkling ivory keys and artistic designs, deserves a more respectful finale than being reduced to kindling by a bunch of hammer wielding fans of fadism (or is it sadism?).

NEXT WEEK is "dead week," a period set aside for peace and quiet supposedly to allow for concentration on studies in preparation for mid-terms. This idea is very effective at some colleges, but we're wagering it won't cause any noticeable change around here. I think someone way back in the good old days forgot to note that dead week was over, and we've been observing it ever since!

At the dance Carolyn Soares and Vecente Riojas were selected the best cha-cha'ers by a committee headed by Mrs. Sara Dougherty.

Both Dave Dubel, of the Rally Committee, and Anne Marie Bernheim, of International Club, stated that the dance was a success, and that all students that they talked to at the dance enjoyed it very much.

Enrollment Shows Decrease Of 449 Students Over Fall

The admissions office has released the official spring enrollment figures showing a decrease of 449 students over the fall semester.

There are now 5,250 students enrolled at FCC as compared to 5,679 in the fall semester. In the spring semester '62 there were 4,827 students compared to 5,213 in the fall semester '61, a decrease of 386 students.

"There is usually a decrease from the fall to the spring semester," stated George C. Holstein, dean of admissions and records.

This semester the men students more than outnumber the women students by two to one. There are 3,553 men students and 1,697 women students. Last spring there were 3,367 men and 1,460 women students.

There are 1,725 full time students and 3,525 part-time students. Part-time students are those carrying less than 12 units. Last spring there were 1,924 full-time and 2,903 part-time students.

Ram Baseballers Lead Loop

By BILL HORD

Fresno City College took a tighter grip on the Valley Conference baseball lead Tuesday, outlasting American River Junior College in a make-up game, 3-1. It was the seventh straight win for the Rams.

The game was originally scheduled as the bottom end of a double header last Saturday but was rained out.

Because of the make-up game, the Rams had to postpone a game with Hancock in Santa Maria until April 2. Hancock is not a member of the Valley Conference, but FCC will see plenty of loop action Saturday when they travel to Stockton for a twin bill with Stockton Junior College.

Bix Hayden fashioned a one-hitter against the Beavers from American River Tuesday and didn't allow an earned run. It marked the second straight game ARJC hasn't been able to find the hitting range against the Rams as Dick Selma tied the Beavers in pigtalls Saturday with a masterful three-hit shutout, 2-0.

Pryor Hits

Second baseman Jack Pryor was the big hitter for the Rams Tuesday, collecting two clutch hits and two runs batted in.

Pryor's first hit came in the second inning after third baseman Bob Schanze had doubled into left field. Pryor's single over second base drove Schanze in with the first run of the game.

The Beavers tied it up in the third inning when a base on balls, a stolen base, and two wild pitches advanced ARJC centerfielder Jim Gray across the plate with the only run off Hayden.

Fresno didn't break the tie until the sixth inning of the scheduled seven inning game when Hayden led off the bottom half of the frame with a single to left centerfield.

Monreal Singles

Hayden was forced at second when a sacrifice attempt by centerfielder Howard Martin failed but shortstop George Monreal single to send Martin to third.

Larry Silva walked and Schanze hit a sacrifice fly to shallow centerfield where ARJC fielder Gray made a beautiful diving catch to save one run for the visitors.

Pryor then walloped his second hit of the day between short and third to score Monreal from second base. Reliever Don Brown who took over for Beaver chucker Mike Faught, got Ron Oliver to ground out to the second baseman.

Hayden made short work of the visiting hitters in the last inning getting the first two hitters to fly out and fanning Brown for the final out.

Pick-Off

Two men reached base on Hayden in two innings other than the third but catcher Oliver and Monreal combined to pick a runner off second base in the top of the sixth inning and Monreal threw a runner out in the first frame to end the inning.

Hayden gave up four walks and struck out eight in seven innings to boost his Valley League record to two wins and no losses.

Selma's pitching performance in the first game against American River featured 12 strikeouts and only one walk as the veteran moundsman proved his superiority to the average JC hurler.

He struck out every ARJC batter at least once in the seven inning game.

Major Martin, rightfielder for the Rams, came through with the big hit against the Beavers who are 2-2 in loop play.

In the first inning, Martin dumped a single over first base to score Tom Avakian who had advanced to second on Silva's infield single. Avakian reached base on a fielders choice.

The Rams finished off the scoring in the second inning on an error by American Rivers' center fielder Jim Gray. Gray dropped a fly off the bat of Howie Martin to let Oliver score from second base.

Faught pitched his best ball of the two games for the remainder as the big righthander set the Rams down with ease.

Selma gave up two singles in a row in the sixth inning but rallied to strike out Makel Fardas and Faught on sliders.

Pryor Hitting .381

Pryor boosted his batting average to a hefty .381 to top the Ram regulars, however, Chris Heintz, a hurling southpaw, has four hits in eight trips to the plate for a .500 average.

Schanze, Howie Martin, and Hayden are the other .300 hitters for the Rams (plus Monreal who has one for three at the plate). Schanze leads the team in hits with 15 in 45 appearances.

In overall games, Selma has a fantastic 0.23 earned run average on the mound, giving up only one earned run in 38 innings pitched. Hayden, who has a 3-1 record, has 1.64 in the ERA department with six earned runs in 33 innings.

Heintz has given up only one earned run in 15 innings for a 0.60 ERA. Selma and Hayden lead the strikeout department with 52 and 32 respectively.

The Rams have an 8-4 record on the season and a 4-0 mark in league play. Their team batting average stands at .235 compared to .176 for FCC opponents.

COS LOOMS AS VALLEY POWER

Rams 2nd In Loop Relays

By BOB CAUDILL

College of Sequoias looms as the power of this year's Valley Conference track race after rolling to a wide victory in the first annual Valley Conference Relays Tuesday at Modesto.

Winning four of eight regular events and five of seven relays, the Giants from Visalia amassed 98 points, compared with 70 for Fresno City College, 26 2/3 for Modesto, 18 1/3 for Stockton, 18 for Sacramento, and 9 for American River.

The meet had originally been scheduled for Saturday at Ratcliffe Stadium but the weekend washout forced postponement.

FCC showed good overall depth in addition to scoring heavily in the hurdles, discus, and pole vault, as they established themselves as the conference's probable runner-ups.

Bob Jacobs won the discus for the Rams with a best mark of 151'1", placing him among the top JC platter men in the state. He is unbeaten.

Bill Parks copped the pole vault (13'), Al Williams clipped to a win in the high hurdles, and the sprint medley and shuttle hurdles relay teams also grabbed victories for the Rams.

The shuttle hurdles team, made up of Al Williams, Odel Williams, Fred Teixeira, and George Moore, blazed to a 57.4 seconds clocking, breaking the FCC record by more than two seconds.

Coach Erwin Ginsburg was generally pleased with the Rams' showing at Modesto and hopes that their strong finish will provide incentive for further improvement.

FCC will be at Berkeley Saturday for a triangular meet against the University of California freshmen and American River. The dual meet score between the Rams and American River will count as an official Valley Conference meet.

Larry Maggard of Modesto garnered the only first place not won by either FCC or COS as he hefted the shot 50'1 1/4". Still, COS took second, third, and fourth in that event to win it point-wise.

FEARLESS PROGNOSTICATOR

Tank Mentor Predicts Tight Win Over ARJC

By DON FOSTER

Fresno City College swim team 48, American River Junior College Mermen 47—that's what FCC is going to edge ARJC by in tomorrow's tank contest in Fresno High's pool at 3:30 PM. Anyway that's the way Darryl Rogers, tutor for the Ram finmen, foresees it in his crystal ball.

The aqua swami of optimism also predicts that if his aquamen make it past the Sacramento school, they will be on their way to the Valley Conference crown.

Karl Klavon, an all-America on last season's medley relay team; Karl's brother Vernon, a frosh from McLane High School, and another freshman Doug Bradford have been the pacers for Rogers this year.

The former Fresno State football star now in his sophomore year at FCC, compiled a 10-3 record last spring as a frosh coach. Lack of depth kept his crew out of the championship rankings.

This year's team has more depth on the boards with two divers. FCC had only one last year and was without one in many contests.

The local natators also lost three top flight swimmers through graduation. Ed Wilde and Doug Peargin, two FCC all-Americans, are now giving a big boost to FSC tankers.

Also lost is Dennis Rogers (not related to the coach), an all-American and former student body president at FCC now a student at Claremont College.

This year's squad has 10 members including the two Klavons, Bradford, Mealey, Sharp, veteran Steve Garberson, Bill Filippini, Don Denny, Corky Vandersluis and Richard McGee.

In the last meet Friday, a double dual-triangular affair, the Rams took top honors by trouncing Reedley Junior College 89-9,

Bill Cowings of COS moved among the state's top sprinters with a 9.7 time for the 100 yard dash. Hurdlers Charlie Leathers, and Tom Powell, quartermiler Norm Coleman, and miler Frank Recendez joined Cowings as the important cogs in the Giants' relay victories.

Summary:

Team scores (on basis of 5-3-2-1 for regular events; 10-6-4-2 for relays): COS, 98; FCC, 70; Modesto, 26 2/3; Stockton, 18 1/3; Sacramento, 18; Am. River, 9.

Netmen Run Win String To Cool 23

Dan Ozier's netmen added Stockton to their string of 23 victories last Friday as they easily obtained their fourth shutout of the season. Saturday's match against American River Junior College was rained out.

In the singles against Stockton, Rick Flori defeated Don Hoffman 6-1, 6-2, Fred Moberly downed Rick Lazaro 2-5, 7-5, 6-4, Warren Stallings dumped Steve Curnow 6-2, 8-6, Bill Nixon smashed Larry Lazaro 2-6, 7-5, 7-5, and Dave Koon triumphed over Tom Shaw 7-5, 6-1.

The doubles proved to be a breeze as Moberly and Koon teamed up to sway Hoffman and Lazaro 6-1, 6-2, while Nixon and Flori mastered Lazaro and Curnow by the same score.

The hard court men will travel to the College of the Sequoias Friday for the Valley Conference Tennis Meet.
