Polls, America's Choice Match To Elect Johnson

Two Campus Polls Indicate Nation's Electoral Choice

Two Fresno City College polls and the national choice for the next President elect of the United States coincided Tuesday to keep Lyndon B. Johnson in the top executive chair.

Two independent campus polls—one conducted by Joseph King's speech classes and the other taken by the Rampage—indicated a landslide vote for Johnson, even though his Republican rival, Senator Barry M. Goldwater, led in the Rampage poll until last week.

By 4 PM PST Tuesday, unofficial reports from 2 per cent of the nation's precincts reporting showed Johnson leading over Goldwater by almost a 270,000 vote margin.

Projects Results

The National Broadcasting Company, on the basis of these results, conceded the election to the President with a landslide margin of 60 to 70 per cent.

Johnson was the first candidate to carry a state, taking Kentucky's nine electoral votes by 3:45.

Goldwater followed and by 4:30 had accumulated Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina for a total of 25 electoral votes.

King's polls gave Johnson about 66 per cent of the vote on campus and Goldwater 34 per cent.

In the Rampage poll, however, the President did not make as strong a showing, taking only 52 per cent of the vote and the remainder going to the Senator.

Propositions

King's poll also covered the propositions which confronted California voters. According to it, Proposition 2, the statewide bond issue which provides 50 million for junior college improvements, passed by a considerable margin. The proposition was passed statewide.

Failed

Proposition 14, which a campus group had opposed, failed in King's poll but passed statewide.

"These issues have been thoroughly debated by the classes," said King, "and I think the students really knew what they were voting on."

Both polls also showed incumbent Democratic Senator Pierre Salinger leading George Murphy.

Carpetbagger

But California voters expressed their discontent for carpetbagging and balked the campus polls. By yesterday morning Murphy had accumulated a slim margin.

The major news services pooled their resources to form the Network Election Service, which reported returns to the networks and wire services.

Junior College Group Winds Up Fall Meeting

The California Junior College Association wound up a three day meeting in Fresno committed to the idea of leaving state jurisdiction of junior colleges within the state department of education.

The group's finance and legislation committee, chaired by Stephen Epler, made a series of recommendations to the CJCA board of directors, which approved them at their Oct. 27 meeting. The recommendations included:

—Supporting the reorganization of the state department of education to center junior college affairs in one office.

Local Control

—Emphasize the importance of local control of junior colleges through local boards, and oppose any move to create a state board for junior colleges until all aspects and implications have received careful study, to eliminate the possibility of centralized power and diminished local control.

—Work for less restrictive credential requirements for junior college staff members, and exemption of junior colleges from the pupil personnel credential requirements.

The board also accepted two proposals of the committee to increase state aid toward the 45 per cent goal outlined in the state's master plan for higher education.

Proposals

One is to eliminate the "defined adult" category, enabling students with less than 10 units to be counted as student for computational purposes. The other is to reduce the computational tax on the foundation program from 25 cents to 20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Council Stalls Court Action

The Student Council voted Tuesday to delay action on the controversial student court until next week.

James Shipman, representative at large and chairman of the judicial committee, brought the amendment before the last council meeting for its approval.

Several council members thought it better to postpone further discussion until next week.

Ronald Primavera, also a representative, moved "to table further debate until 12:16 PM" Tuesday.

The student court was proposed by last semester's council to review legislation and recommend disciplinary action for student violations of Fresno City College regulations.

Fresno Mayor Declares Operation Lifeline Week

Drive Begins Sunday

"Operation Lifeline Week" was officially proclaimed by Mayor Wallace D. Henderson last Monday. Henderson commended Fresno City College for the project.

He stated that Operation Lifeline was very much worthwhile. He set Nov. 8-14 aside in hopes that Fresno's citizens would become aware of and help further the project.

The week will be dedicated to collecting clothing and canned food for Father John Shea's orphanage in Viet Nam.

Students bringing donations should leave them in Room 230 in the student center.

Radio, TV

The radio and television stations broadcasting interviews will also be accepting calls for those who wish their donations picked up.

Members of various clubs and the Student Council will be picking up the donations as calls are received.

Chairman of publicity Diane Heller stated that interviews with radio and television stations are being arranged. Heard on the interview will be Chairman of the Blood Drive Ron Primavera; chairman of the orphanage drive John Vlahakis; assistant chairman Jim Shipman; assistant chairman of publicity Carol Cloves and Miss Heller.

Progress

Concerning the progress of the drive, Vlahakis said, "So far the drive is going as well as we expected. We hope that FCC students will take part in the operation and contribute by donation clothing and food for the war orphans in Da Nang."

Competition between clubs is steadily being built up on the FCC campus. Trophies will be given to the club and the organization with the most members donating blood and the club or organization with the highest percentage of members donating.

The trophies will be shown in Room 230 in the student center. Pledges will be available on the same desk.

Time Set

The blood bank drawing will be held 10 AM to 1 PM, Tuesday, Nov. 10 in the Social Hall behind the cafeteria.

Members of the California Blood Bank and Veterans Hospital will be present to draw the blood.

Students must be 18 years old and weigh at least 110 pounds. Their medical record should exclude any sign of jaundice, malaria, tuberculosis, diabetes, high (See Lifeline, Page 3)

SIGNS PROCLAMATION—Joseph Barela, a Fresno City College student, looks on as Fresno Mayor Wallace B. Henderson signs a proclamation declaring next week as "Operation Lifeline Week." Barela's tales of his experiences in Viet Nam sparked FCC students to initiate an all out drive for an orphanage in the small Viet city of Da Nang. A "blood drawing" is also scheduled for Tuesday in observance of Veterans Day.

RAMPAGE DEFENDS RIGHT TO PRINT ALL NEWS

"In the beginning was the word," goes the Biblical quotation, and when it moved men to action, the word became a deed.

The Rampage has written many words in what it hopes is for the betterment of the students—the public, so to speak, of Fresno City College. Often these writings have drawn bitter repercussions from members of the student body.

The subjects touched upon have ranged from the parking problems to the controversial student court, which is due to be brought before the students soon.

Certain council members have accused the Rampage of trying "to fight the council."

Nothing can be further from the truth.

It is the right, and indeed, it is the duty of every newspaper to interpret and analyze for its readers the events which make news. This is the purpose of editorials and editorial pages.

But we have been told to emphasize the good, or at least to stress the situations which may indicate the better. In other words, we have been told to be like Voltaire's Professor Pangloss.

We have no such truck. We do not make the news; we merely report and interpret it. If the news is good, we are just as happy as the next student. On the contrary, if the news is otherwise, we feel it our duty to let our readers know.

Events don't get better by writing the good parts or editing out the bad parts. The weatherman doesn't make the weather better just by predicting the better part of it.

On our editorial page we make no pretense of walking down the middle of the road. Our comments and interpretations are made from a definite point of view. We believe in the individual, in his decency and courage.

We have been told that we are the only voice of student council and that we should present them in a favorable light.

Indeed, if we are the only voice of the student council, the fault lies not with us, but with the council itself. It lies with the clubs and organizations of FCC. Not once in the past three years has a council member made a campus speech outside of a council meeting. Seldom has a club or organization invited a council member to speak at a meeting.

As a student newspaper, we must be two things: we must be specialized, yet, as editors and staff members, our interests must be as varied as the American landscape.

Compare our position with that of the medical specialist. He has a specific function to perform, and in order to perform that function he must have at his disposal a complete and detailed knowledge of the human anatomy.

Just so our newspaper deals with student affairs, and we must have all the news. Our specialty is selection and treatment. We must tell — we are obligated to tell — what we find, not merely what is pleasant.

CLUBS ARE CHALLENGED TO DISPLAY INTEREST

Three times this semester the clubs and organizations on this campus have had the opportunity to make themselves known.

The first of these occasions came at the beginning in the form of a membership drive, in which very few clubs benefited due to their lack of interest. The second opportunity came in October when the Inter-Club Council sponsored the 1964 homecoming.

The Rampage would like to commend the clubs and the organizations for the outstanding enthusiasm they showed during that week. If only the members could hold on to that spirit instead of letting it drop when there is no personal gain or recognition.

The third chance the clubs and organizations were given was a complete flop due to no interest whatsoever. This was the Mr. Ugly contest which was to support Proposition 2.

Next week the members will again have a chance to show their interest in their clubs, and their school by giving their support to "Operation Lifeline" to take place on November 10.

It will be interesting to see if the organizations will take advantage of this challenge, or if once again there will be those who prefer to say, "Fresno City College never does anything."

Senate Rules Faculty Body

Did you know that there are 24 senators walking the courts, corridors and paths at FCC?

These 24 people comprise the recently composed faculty senate, according to Franz Weinschenk, president of the organization. This group had its first meeting Thursday Oct. 29, which served as an organizational meeting.

The officers of the club are: Weinschenk, president; Hugh Galloway, vice-president; and William Reynolds, recording secretary.

The senate plans to meet once every month, while the constitution requires a minimum of three meetings a semester.

Donald Wren, president of the faculty organization, stated, "The senate is the policy making branch of the faculty."

The first order of business is revision of the faculty manual, according to Weinschenk. This group is being chaired by John Castine.

Weinschenk announced that the next meeting date was, as of yet, undetermined. However, he added, it is expected to be in the later part of November.

Brumley Fills One Of Council Posts

Ronald Brumley, a graduate of Clovis Union High School, has been selected to fill a vacancy on the student council.

Brumley, a business administration major at City College, will serve as a representative-at-large.

In high school he served as junior class president and as president of the student body.

Applicants for council are required to maintain a 2.0 average during the semester. They are also required to be carrying at least 10 class units.

Application blanks for student council are available in Room 229 of the student center.

One representative post and the seat of commissioner of athletics are still vacant on the legislative body.

Contest Gives Theater Pass

What is the value of an art film? A competition of critiques regarding art film value is currently being sponsored by the Fine Art Theater and the Rampage, according to editor Charles Wright.

The student writing the best critique will be awarded a pass for two for all Fine Art Theater showings. The pass will be good for the duration of the semester, according to theater manager, Ted Isaac.

The winning critique will also be published in the Rampage. All entries must be submitted to the Rampage office by Nov. 20.

"We have consented to conduct this contest in order to stimulate interest in the writing of critiques and criticisms," stated Wright. "It takes practice and effort to put thoughts into words and make the meaning clear."

WHERE SHOULD FCC PLAY FOOTBALL?

Should Fresno City College play its football games in Ratcliffe Stadium?

The argument against doing so is the cost. The rental of Ratcliffe Stadium would cost an additional $150 per game above that now being paid for the rental of McLane Stadium. For the four home game football season in 1965, this means an additional $600 rental, which would have to be paid by the State Center Junior College District.

This $600 is a considerable sum of money — and, in fact, actually doubles the amount now being paid for McLane Stadium.

However — and it is a large "however" — there are other compelling considerations.

First, the scheduling of Ratcliffe Stadium on Saturday nights (when Fresno State plays away) and on Friday night (when they are in town) would increase attendance at City College football games. This is obvious: the Rams would no longer have to compete against the top game in town, as they do on four occasions this year. Furthermore, local football fans would be offered an opportunity to see the second best — and in some years, the best — football in town without having to miss one or the other. It seems certain that the increased attendance would more than offset the $600. (After all, this only means an additional 600 spectators all season long.)

Secondly, there is what might be called the validity of such an action.

Fresno City College is a junior college, and junior colleges — by virtue of the California Master Plan for higher education — belong to the college world, not to the high school world.

People are known by their associates. So it is with schools. As long as FCC plays in a high school stadium, it has not identified with higher education. It is still "sort of" a high school in the eyes of the community.

Thirdly, there is the question of proximity. Ratcliffe Stadium is within easy walking distance of FCC, which makes it very desirable in regard to social affairs held after a football game. There is no problem of driving clear across town, which tends to dampen the spirit.

Lastly, Fresno City College athletics are exciting to watch. This year, all the Ram home football and basketball games are being televised LIVE, as they occur. If we are to continue to merit this kind of attention, we should play in the best available facilities. Our basketball gymnasium is superb; our present football field is not.

But the time to act is NOW. Soon Ratcliffe Stadium will be scheduled full for next year, and there will be no choice. The Rampage urges the board of trustees to give this matter highest priority.

Someday, quite possibly, we will have our own stadium. It's the intervening years which worry us.

FEAR IS USUAL REPLY FOR BLOOD REQUESTS

Traditionally, Americans are a hardy people, undaunted in the face of any danger. The people who pioneered this country did not know the meaning of fear or cowardice.

Why, then, is it that the reply, "No, I'm afraid," is heard so often around the campus when students are asked if they are going to give blood in the Operation Lifeline Blood Drive for Veteran's Day?

All the blood donated in this drive will go directly to the Veterans' Hospital here in Fresno.

This means that Fresno City College students will be helping directly the Veterans of Foreign Wars in this area.

These veterans, the people who will be benefitting from the blood drive, are the returned protectors of the United States.

These men were courageous enough to risk their lives in war for the United States; FCC students should be brave enough to let a trained nurse take a pint of blood from them to help the veterans.

No one who would be harmed by the loss of a pint of blood is allowed to become a donor, so there is no danger involved.

Every FCC student who is a "Red Blooded American" should be glad and proud to give blood to help this worthy cause.

Letters To The Editor

Editor of the Rampage:

Recently Student Council, alias the Blueblood social organization, has been criticized as being a bunch of social climbers, guiding hands, and various other things. It also has been criticized for criticizing the Rampage.

It is my opinion that a newspaper has the right to present its opinion, be it biased or unbiased, as long as it is constructive and not used solely as a space filler or as a controversial item in order to increase circulation. Criticism is an incentive for improvement and I welcome any constructive criticism as long as the person or persons presenting such censure have viewed both sides of the issue.

The Student Council meets every Tuesday at noon in the student center. I cordially invite all interested parties to attend one or more of these meetings then arrive at their own conclusion as to the validity of the Rampage's strictures.

Enrollment Increases

Enrollment at California's public junior colleges has jumped 26 per cent from last year.

These figures came to light at the fall session of the California Junior College Association when released by Dr. Henry Tyler, executive secretary of the group.

Based on reports as of the third week of instruction this fall, the comparison shows the University of California up 11 per cent from last year with an enrollment of 71,963; the California state colleges up 16 per cent from last year at 109,670; and California's junior colleges standing at an estimated 465,000.

This is a one year gain of 97,000 students.

The figures were contained in a report by the Coordinating Council of Higher Education last week, and read by Tyler to some 450 junior college educators assembled for their fall conference.

The junior college figures show an average daily attendance (ADA) of 308,500, projected from twenty reporting junior colleges. However, to achieve comparable enrollment figures, a ratio formula must be applied.

Midterms Stifle Club Activities

By SANDRA McCLURG
Rampage Staff Writer

Mid-term exams are having a definite effect on club activities. Many of the clubs and organizations are slowing down their activities so that members may turn their full attention to mid-term exams.

Among the duties of the ASB Vice President is to chair the Inter Club Council. Chairman of ICC Suzi Holloman stated that the Council meets the first and third Thursday of every month.

The goal of the council is to have the student body work as a whole while meeting in groups which satisfy the individual members' interest.

When an important and worthwhile project is presented all clubs work together to support it. The main project now is Operation Lifeline.

ICC will elect officers today.

International Club

Officers of the International Club are President Shay Meghame, Vice President Hector Herrera, Secretary Treasurer Kathy Burk.

On Nov. 20 the International Club will sponsor a student body dance. Admission will be free and the dress will be semi-formal. A dance band will be present.

During the two intermissions there will be international entertainment. The dance will begin at 8 PM.

Chairman of the dance is Shay Meghame, Chairman of entertainment is Micheal Saadloo, and Chairman of Decorations is Kathy Burk.

ICC representative Jim Lewis stated that International Club meets every other Wednesday at noon. Any foreign student or American student interested in International affairs and relationships is welcome to attend.

People to People

The Fresno City branch of the People to People Organization will send six delegates to the Regional Conference in Chico Nov. 7-8. They are Samsu Habib, Suzi Holloman, Stephenie Prosser, Paula Siemens, Shay Magahame and Georgia Mehas.

President of People to People Samsu Habib stated that the purpose of the organization is to discuss the activities of each chapter and to meet and get to know people.

Associated Men's Students

The AMS and AWS will hold a joint executive meeting today at noon. They will meet to discuss the Christmas formal.

blood pressure, syphilis, heart disease or undulant fever.

All unmarried students under 21 must fill out and present a pledge card to the doctor in attendance. Students are also asked not to consume anything but black coffee at least four hours before the drawing.

Refreshments

Refreshments will be supplied by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary and served by campus coeds.

All blood collected will be given directly to the Veterans Administration hospital in recognition of Veterans Day.

"The courage of Americans has always been recognized as one of their most desirable traits," said Primavera. "This will be a chance for students to show they are truly Americans. After the student overcomes the initial fear, giving blood is a very simple matter."

Rams Must Win After Loss To AR Beavers

'SUICIDE SQUAD' IS OVERPLAYED

The score read American River, 28; Fresno City, 20. Another Friday night defeat had passed for the Rams. But there is no reason why Fresno should have lost this game. The Rams this year have the material to win the Valley Conference crown. Since the days of Chuck Caldera and Levi Owens, Fresno fans have been waiting for the Rams to win another championship.

Against American River the Rams led 20-8 going into the fourth quarter. Could it be a Friday night jinx, or could it be a few of the Rams started counting their chickens before they were hatched? The latter seems to be a pretty good guess. Anyway, the Sacramento team came on and scored 20 points in the frustrating fourth quarter.

The question remains if the Rams can bounce back and defeat Sacramento City College Saturday night. If the Rams can win their final two games they will at least tie for the VC crown. Fresno will have Sac. at home, and it will not be on a Friday night, so the Rams might be able to win the game. If the Rams do not win the crown this year they will probably find it pretty hard to win it next year. The American River team will have its entire backfield coming back again next year. Maybe next year Fresno will play it on a Saturday night.

There were a few interesting comparisons before the game. American River went into the game leading the conference in rushing with 523 yards (Fresno had 418) and total offense with 737 yards (Fresno had 707).

Fresno started the game leading the conference in passing with 289 yards (ARJC had 214), rushing (defense) 110 yards (ARJC had 399) and total defense with 389 yards (ARJC had 534.)

The simple fact remains that Fresno must defeat Sacramento SATURDAY NIGHT in order to tie for the Valley Conference championship. And if we do down Sac., let's not overlook Delta Junior College the following SATURDAY NIGHT.

—Don Mencarini

Scott Austin Boost Team

Coach Joe Kelly's Fresno City College Ram basketball team are busily preparing themselves for their season opener against the always powerful Allan Hancock JC Bulldogs of Santa Maria November 28 on the FCC hardwoods.

Coach Kelly's squad is spiced by the return of three of last year's starters in Ed Austin, Kenny (Chico) Lewis and Larry Scott. City College will also have three other returning lettermen in Marlin Elrod, Fred Austin and Don Matt, the latter two only eligible the first semester.

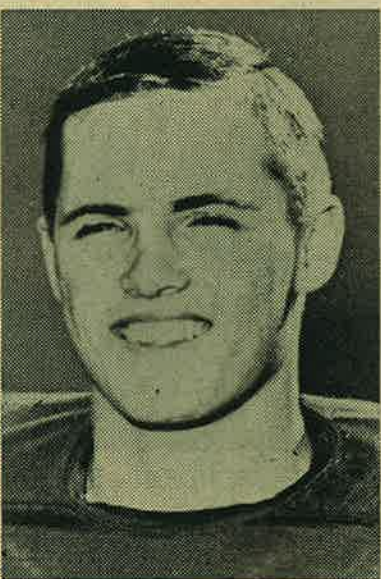

The Rams will have a good crop of newcomers this fall such as Frank Davie (6-2½, 190 Guard), Rick Belardinelli (6-0, 190 Guard), Pody Field (5-8, 150, Guard), Phil Hamm (6-2, 165, Forward-Guard), Bobby Lee (6-3, 180, Forward-Guard), and Paul White (6-3½, 185, Forward).

The Fresnoans will also be bolstered by the addition of John Toomasioan as Joe Kelly's assistant. Toomasioan was the assistant coach two years ago when Fresno won their last state crown.

Missing on this year's team will be all state center Lonnie Hughey and guard George Monreal.

Rams Face Sac. In Must Victory

Coach Clare Slaughter's Fresno City College Ram football team will try to play the roll of being the nasty host this Saturday night in McLane Stadium when they battle the Frankenstein forward wall of Sacramento City College with the game scheduled to start at 8 PM.

TOP DEFENSIVE HALFBACK this year is Mike Freeman (former McLane star).

"Their linemen will try to physically beat you, and with a forward wall like theirs they can very easily do it," said Line Coach Don Kloppenburg, "And when they do that they will be playing our type of football."

Panther Line

Coach Kloppenburg also singled out Ed Maxie (6-2, 230, Sophomore), and Percy Green (5-10, 225, sophomore) and Curtis Williams (6-3, 260, sophomore) as being the Panthers' best linemen thus far.

According to the scouting reports the backs to watch out for are quarterback Larry Zenker (5-10, 170, Freshman) and Horace Latona, a block busting 5-10, 200 pound fullback for SCC.

Undefeated

Sacramento (3-0), is the only team in the Valley Conference which hasn't lost a game in conference action, while the Rams are

Harriers Face Sac.

Bob Van Ingen, Ram harrier ran the three mile course at Millerton lake at a record setting pace (16:59 school record) to help FCC stay undefeated.

San Joaquin Delta was the victim this week but Coach Erwin Ginsburg's cross country team haven't got time to relax. In Sacramento the American River Beavers are waiting for them this Friday. The Beavers are also undefeated.

Results of the Delta meet are as follows: Steve Garcia, FCC, 17:17; Ron Nelson, Delta, 17:20; Ron Smith, FCC, 17:29; Richard Torres, 17:39.

HARD HITTING HALFBACK Ron Cox has been one of Coach Slaughter's top defensive men this year.

DOING A TREMENDOUS job this year has been this fine offensive team. Ken Long has carried the ball for 532 yards in seven games for an average of 6.04 yards per carry. Ernie Nolte leads the team in scoring with 32 points; he has caught five touchdown passes. Fred Figueroa and Ken Long have scored 28 points apiece for the Rams.

in a tie for second place with American River, the other Sacramento school in the VC, at 2-1.

Teams: Even

Sacramento on the season has a 5-1-1 record while FCC supports a 5-2 record after last week's stunning loss to American River Junior College.

If Fresno can conquer Sac. they can throw the Valley loop into a three way horse race with the ARJC Beavers being the other team in the picture.

Possible Tie

Next week the Panthers will have to travel to Beaver territory to battle American River, while Fresno travels to Stockton to play the powerful, upset minded, San Joaquin Delta College team. If Fresno wins and the two Sacramento schools tie the Rams will have the Valley crown outright, or it will be a two way tie for the crown if one of those two schools come out victorious.

Polo Team
Faces Foe

Experiencing the best year in its young existence is Coach Gene Stephens' water polo team.

This week the aquamen will journey to Stockton to take on San Joaquin Delta College Friday afternoon and then will compete against Modesto Junior College in Modesto Saturday.

Water polo, which can be played with either six or seven men depending on the size of the pool is fairly new at FCC.
