

HONOR BAND SOUNDS OFF

Seven FCC student musicians ranked among the state's finest last week with their participation in the annual All-California Junior College Honor Band.

The Fresno band members, Robert Hubbard, cornet; Robert Muntz, bass clarinet; James Cone, bass; George Kamburoff, french horn; Richard Bagby, clarinet; Jess Murillo, trumpet; and Arthur Balli, baritone saxophone, all competed for their berths in the two-day event.

The honor band is an organization which selects the finest musicians of the California junior colleges, groups them together under some of the best directors in the nation, and gives them the chance to play challenging and more advanced music.

Members from 19 California junior colleges vied for the coveted positions Friday afternoon in preparation for the Saturday night concert.

At Redlands

The honor band was held this year at the University of Redlands in conjunction with the Western Division of the College Band Directors National Association annual convention, and was attended by directors of great college and university bands from all over the nation.

Mr. Keith Wilson, Director of Bands at Yale University and National President of the CBDNA, conducted the honor band during its rehearsals and concert.

Entertainment

Between the students' rehearsals and the convening band directors' clinics they were entertained by concerts by the University of California and Los Angeles Concert Band, San Bernardino Valley College Band, San Diego State College Band, University of Southern California Trojan Symphonic Band, and the University of Redlands Concert Band.

The Honor Band's concert Saturday night consisted of seven difficult pieces and was recorded on tape for the purpose of making special 12-inch records for their participating bandmen and directors.

One of the pieces, "Festival Overture" was written especially for the Yale Band at a European music festival, and the Honor Band was the only other band ever to play it. "Sussex Psalm," another of the numbers, was written by Russell Howland of Fresno State College.

FCC Director of Bands, Marvin Belford stated, "This was a wonderful experience for the students, and I'm sure one that they will always remember."

Belford attended the clinics, auditioned the French horns.

P-To-P Board Selects Four To Represent FCC Abroad

Four students have been accepted to represent FCC abroad in the University People-to-People Student Ambassador Program.

Barbara Didier, Thomas Kerber, Carol Cloves, sophomores, and Suzanne Reid, freshman, have been approved by the FCC chapter board of review, and their applications will be sent to national headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. for final acceptance. They will receive notification of final approval by March 10.

"The applicants are usually considered accepted unless some extreme incident occurs," stated Frederick Wrightson, III, chairman of FCC's chapter of People-to-People.

Personal Contact

"The ambassador program gives active People members a chance to go abroad and meet their foreign counterparts in the home situation," continued Wrightson. "The ambassadors establish extensive personal contact with foreign students and stay with them in their homes."

The board of review who interviewed the applicants consisted of Wrightson, an ambassador in last year's program; Thomas Marshall, chapter sponsor and psychology instructor, and Flo Brenninger, English instructor. All the board members have traveled in Europe.

Interview

According to Wrightson, the ambassador applicants were interviewed to find out the extent of their motivation to travel, their interest in the area they wished to visit, and their knowledge of the area and a foreign language, if needed.

The six areas of travel for this year's program are France and Belgium, Israel, Greece, British Isles, Scandinavia and the Netherlands. Barbara Didier plans to visit Belgium and France; Suzanne Reid and Carol Cloves will travel to the British Isles, and Thomas Kerber will visit Scandinavia.

Internationals Attend Bay Confab

Campuses from FCC to Oregon State University were represented at the Northern California Regional People-to-People conference held last weekend at Contra Costa College.

Paul Cookingham, executive director of the People-to-People Organization from the national headquarters at Kansas City, Mo., spoke to the group on the structure of the national organization. Other speakers included Frank Conway and Tony Babb, Northern and Southern California regional representatives, Rafer Johnson and the Indian Consulate representative, J. N. Vat, from Kashmir.

"We've got something that's powerful, great and very meaningful. And it's people like ourselves who are making it," said Frank Conway to the delegates in summing up the conference's ideals.

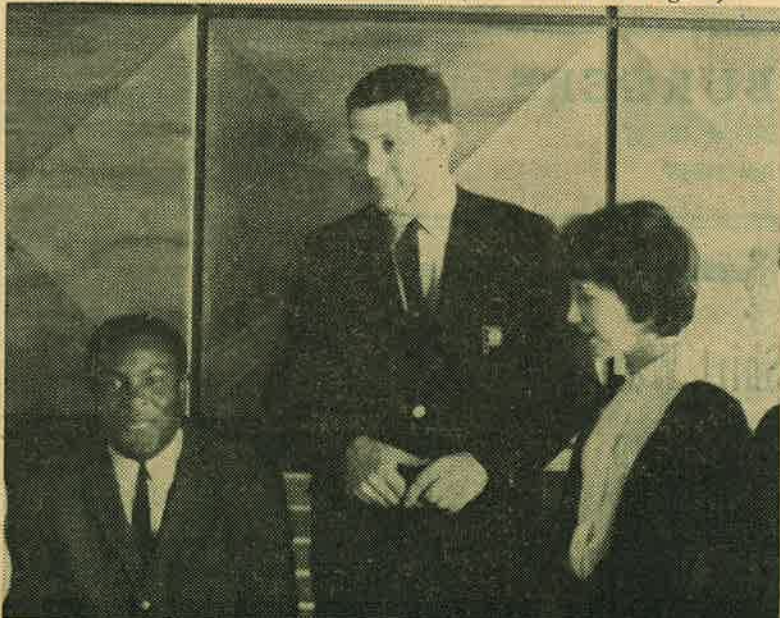

Ten delegates and Thomas A. Marshall, People-to-People advisor, and his wife represented FCC. Student ambassadors—Carol Cloves, Barbara Didier, and Thomas Kerber—and past ambassadors Kathy Murphey and Frederick Wrightson represented People-to-People along with Mitchell Bower, who represented the Rampage and Suzi Holloman, Ram representative. Rodriquo "Rudy" Dar, Dorothy Feldmann, and Samsu Habib participated as foreign students from the Philippines, Canada and Uganda, respectively.

The conference began Saturday morning when the delegates met in two workshops: one to discuss the charters for schools wishing to become affiliated with P-to-P and the second to relate the ways in which the program is operated on the various campuses. The workshops continued in the afternoon by studying the objec-

FCC SHOWS RIDE WAVES

Two radio programs, one produced and the other sponsored by Fresno City College, are currently being broadcast, and production of a third program is now underway.

"Invitation to Learning," a 30-minute program sponsored by FCC, is being broadcast at 11:30 PM on Sundays by KFRE.

Originating in New York City, the show features discussions with nationally-known authors, educators, and personalities.

A second show, entitled "Sunday Punch", is produced on campus. It features talks with faculty, administration, and students. It is primarily concerned with campus programs.

"Sunday Punch", also broadcast by KFRE, runs for 15 minutes and can be heard at 10:45 AM on Sundays.

Third Show

The third show, currently being produced by Tim Welch, Rampage advisor and public relations officer for the school, is tentatively scheduled for weekly broadcast sometime in March.

"My Favorite Lecture" will be the name of the show, and it will feature talks by various faculty members. Welch said the speakers will bring up "Some points in their field which they feel strongly about."

Optimistic

Welch is particularly optimistic about the success of "My Favorite Lecture" and suggested the possibility that the show may be nationally syndicated.

"KFRE advisors are discussing transmitting the program to all five of their own stations," Welch said, "and have even suggested the possibility of syndicating the program."

If this were to materialize, Welch pointed out that the program could be submitted for national recognition, such as the Peabody awards.

"I'm eager for it (the program) to be that good," Welch said.

Summer Production

Production for the program is scheduled to continue through the summer vacation.

The programs are broadcast as a public service by KFRE with no cost to the school.

Welch said the hope is that the programs will call attention to FCC, and to get people to understand "That we have a good academic school."

AMS Will Elect Aides For Lee

In accordance with their constitution, the Associated Men Students held nominations for their officers at the first meeting of the semester last Thursday.

Nominations for the offices of vice president, secretary and sergeant at arms were entertained by Irving Lee, AMS president elect, with elections to follow at noon today in room 109 of the technical and industrial buildings.

The sole nominee for the office of vice president is John Reynolds. Albert Fox and Mitchell Bower are vying for the position of secretary and the lone candidate for treasurer is Michael Reynolds. Contesting the office of sergeant at arms are Charles Bain and James McLaughlin.

"AMS is a social club for all men students that have interest in school activities," commented Lee.

This spring semester plans include a bowling league, available to all of the clubs on campus, and a banquet held in late spring for active members of the club to receive their awards. The AMS co-sponsors the spring formal with the AWS.

PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS STATE OF EMERGENCY

As student body president of Fresno City College, I proclaim that a State of Emergency exists on campus. It has been my observation to find that the RAM is dead. This campus is as lifeless as a grammar school over Christmas vacation. We have a championship basketball team and a brand spanking new gym. I guess that's nothing to get excited over, or can we students get "excited" anymore?

Where are the students? Where are those souls who follow the teams, make the campus swing, go around spreading that long forgotten feeling called "spirit"? I see people walking around, lots of them, but they are not "students". The real student, the man who is proud of his school, is the one who is out to better not only himself, but to give a little to make his school better than the next one down Highway 99. Man, this school has potential! That's the funny part. You as a student have potential! But you have to get up off your behind and start pulling instead of going along for the ride. Get out and dig. Join a half-dozen clubs. Mosey on up to the student president's office (if you can find it), or better yet attend a council meeting or two to see what the active people are doing. If you don't like what you see, say something, then do something. The point is, we need you folks. We need to know that what we are doing is right, and that there are others who are proud of our school too. We are here to serve you, but speak up or move a finger once in a while so that we can tell if you are still alive.

MENDOZA COMBO TO PERFORM AT NOCHE DE FIESTA EVENT

By DAVID PACHECO
Feature Editor

The Latin-American Club will sponsor their annual "Noche De Fiesta" dance tomorrow from 9 PM to midnight in the Fresno City College Social Hall.

Adolph Mendoza, a former FCC student, and his eight piece orchestra will furnish the music. The orchestra specializes in Latin rhythms, cha-cha's, rumba's, and mambo's, but plays other types of popular music, including swing, waltz, twist, and rock and roll.

The highlight of the evening will be the breaking of two "piñatas"—one by the boys and one by the girls.

The piñatas will be filled with straw, candy, gum, and boys' and girls' telephone numbers. Students interested in smashing the piñatas, which will be suspended from the ceiling, will attempt to break them while blindfolded.

Latin-American Club President Henry Peralta said, "It's the first big dance of the spring semester, and I am sure everyone will have a great time. The entire faculty has been invited to the affair; everyone will be admitted free with his student body card, including a guest."

Red, green, and white crepe paper decorations have been selected to adorn the Social Hall and two large "piñatas" will be hung from the ceiling. Other decorations include stage flats, used for scenery by the drama classes in the past, on which will be painted scenes of Spanish culture.

Edward Hibler and Kenneth Clark, sponsors of the Latin-American Club, will attend as well as the dean of women, Doris Deakins and dean of men, Paul Starr.

The dance decorating chairman is Dixie Sikovits, and the dance committee consists of the entire club.

Esther Elizardo is chairman of the publicity committee.

David Pacheco, vice-president of the Latin-American Club, is in charge of the "Noche De Fiesta" dance and will be the master of ceremonies.

The dress for the dance consists of sport coats for the men and school clothes for the women.

Punch, cookies, and chips and dips will be prepared and served by the cafeteria staff.

The Latin-American Club's officers are Henry Peralta, President; David Pacheco, Vice-President; Cruz Rodriguez, secretary; and Maureen Urrutia, treasurer.

Filippino Enjoys Track, Folk Songs And Palmistry

By JEANNE BANTA
Rampage Staff Writer

Rodrigo (Rudy) Dar came to this country from the Philippines almost seven years ago, and he has never been back since. He lives with an aunt who teaches at Fresno State College.

"The reason my aunt brought me over is that her husband is in Okinawa working for the US government and she needs someone to help her do the work around the house," says the brown-eyed, blackhaired Filipino.

Family In Manila

Dar's family, his mother, two brothers and his sister still live in Manila in the Philippines.

Dar attended junior high and high school in Fresno. He was voted the most valuable track man in one year of junior high and one year of high school. He also participated in sprints, hurdles, broad jump and relay. Basketball and soccer are popular in the Philippines; but Dar prefers football.

At the end of his second year at FCC nears, Dar is making plans to transfer to FSC. He is majoring in agri-business and minoring in English.

Teach College

"I hope to return to the Philippines and teach at an agricultural college after I complete my education," said Dar.

He is the president of the International Club and is also a member of People-to-People.

Last weekend he attended the Northern California Regional Conference at Contra Costa along with other representatives of the

RUDY DAR
Track Star

People-to-People Organization at FCC.

He also has some active hobbies, such as playing the guitar and ukelele and he also sings folk songs. He can sing in his native language but he often doesn't remember the meaning of all the words. Every weekend he and a group of friends get together for a hootenanny. Dar has some quiet hobbies, like reading. He likes to read anything from palmistry to travel books, but prefers to read books that teach him something useful.

gram is not a summer tour, according to Wrightson. Ambassadors follow a pre-planned itinerary which includes home stays and orientations.

The ambassadors will receive some orientations on campus and others in Washington, DC. The group will fly to Brussels, Belgium, and from there depart for their entry program cities.

The entry program is a week of meetings with students, discussions with top personalities and political figures, parties and several days with families. After these sessions the ambassadors will begin their traveling.

"The evening banquet was one of informality and friendliness," said Dar, president of the FCC International Club. "There was no featured speaker and the discussion and entertainment were spontaneous." A newly formed group, the T-R & Trio, sang folk songs to guitar accompaniment and Fernando Cordero of Cabrillo College played guitar solos. Frank Conway concluded the banquet by singing "I Left My Heart In San Francisco."

SPRING CLASS PRESENTS SJ VALLEY PROBLEMS

An unusual course of interest to students who are planning to enter business, teaching, marketing, or the social service in this area, is being offered this semester.

"The course, Economic Problems of the San Joaquin Valley," according to Dr. Gilbert Peart, business division dean, "has value in informing people so that they may vote more intelligently, and also in aiding people to understand what they read in the newspapers so that they may converse more effectively."

Offered only in the spring, the course has had to adjust to current changes in the San Joaquin Valley for the past six years. It has several unique features, including outside guest speakers, field trips, and carefully selected films on the subject. There is no textbook, but the students submit weekly reading reports based on suggested readings.

This semester's activities will include guest speakers from the Bureau of Reclamation, PG&E, State Departments of Employment and Public Welfare, the Chamber of Commerce, the Sierra National Forest, Agricultural Extension, and a Consulting Engineer. Field trips will be to the Producers Cotton Oil Co., General Box, the Container Corporation of America, Berven Rug Mills, Sun Maid Raisins and the County Planning Office.

Nurses Discuss Local Clinic Planning

Six nursing instructors from Fresno City College discussed the planning involved in selecting local clinical facilities during a special workshop at Foothill College Feb. 14-15.

Miss Mableclaire Norman, director of the professional nursing program at City College, headed the panel discussion.

Workshop

The workshop, titled "Regional Planning as a Cooperative Endeavor", was open to deans, instructors and directors of professional nursing programs from colleges throughout the area.

Friday's program featured extensive discussion on the planning for associate degree nursing programs, and included a talk by Dr. Virginia Barham, chairman of the workshop.

Panel Member

Stuart M. White, president of FCC, served as a panel member on a board which discussed the problems related to an existing associate degree nursing program.

A special question and answer session climaxed Saturday's activities.

Smith Returns From Fulbright Fellowship

Philip Smith, last year's English and journalism instructor, has returned from his Fulbright Fellowship to Greece.

Fulbright Fellowships are awarded by the board of foreign scholarships of the US State Department.

During his first month in the country, Smith and other Fellowship recipients that were to teach in Greece studied the language of the country on the island of Syros. The second month, Smith and his wife spent traveling around Greece.

In October he began teaching English to three classes of high school girls.

Smith said that he found the girls very difficult to teach because they talked continually. On one occasion, Smith said, "All hell had broken loose." Deciding to make an example of three of the girls, he sent them to the principal's office, later finding that they had not reported to him. The principal sent for the girls and in the presence of Smith, slapped each of the girls several times on the face. They were then expelled from school for four days.

Smith contacted Stuart M. White, president of FCC and asked if there was a position that he could fill during this semester. When a position was guaranteed, Smith then requested that his leave be terminated at the end of the fall semester.

Brother Of Dalai Lama Scheduled For Tuesday

Thubten Jigme Norbu, brother of the Dalai Lama of Tibet, will appear in the FCC auditorium Tuesday at 10:30 AM to lecture on the customs and culture of Tibet.

Norbu will also present a film showing the escape of the Dalai

Lama from Tibet, a country now dominated by Red China.

Norbu, the eldest brother of the Supreme Spiritual and Temporal Leader of Tibet, gives the first family account ever presented in America of the ceremonies and sanctuaries of Tibet, including a brief description of life in the Dalai Lama's palace.

Norbu's description of the Dalai Lama's dramatic escape from the Red-Chinese and gripping account of his own earlier flight is said to be thrilling. For many months he was held prisoner in a monastery, with two Red-Chinese constantly at his side.

Graphically he tells how the Chinese generals attempted to bribe him into overthrowing his brother in return for becoming head of Tibet under Red domination. He told his brother of the Red plot and fled his country.

Despite this, Chou en Lai on a visit to Nehru later sought Norbu out and attempted to woo him into returning to Tibet to quiet unrest there. Thubten Norbu chose to remain in the West, to assist the thousands of Tibetan refugees.

His autobiography, "Tibet Is My Country," published by E. P. Dutton has been described by Lowell Thomas as "a fabulous story" and by the Christian Science Monitor as "the very volume which communist powers would like to see kept off the market."

The auditorium doors will close as soon as all of the seats are filled.

New Cafeteria Moves Toward Completion

The present cafeteria may have its problems, but the solution to them is moving steadily toward its completion.

The new cafeteria, with a brick facade up and the roof in place, is looking more and more like its model every day.

According to the architects, Walter Wagner and Partners, the cafeteria will be completed by August and will be in use for the fall semester.

"The new building will be a noon gourmet's dream," said one observer. The new coffee shop will serve 240 people, a boon to the hurried student. For the leisurely eater, the cafeteria, which will serve 430 students, will be the answer.

The kitchen facilities for the cafeteria, costing approximately $85,000, are the most modern available, and built to be adequate for years to come.

Hughey Snares Third Scoring Mark (See Carton)

COS Invades In Final Homestand Bout

By DON FOSTER
Sports Editor

Two giants, one 6-7—the other 5-6, can be seen for the final time by home fans Friday night before the FCC beanstalk falls for the roundball pair.

This sophomore duo of course is composed of nationally sought-after Lon Hughey, FCC's high scoring, all-state pivot man and his clever ball handling team-mate George Monreal, who has been responsible for many of his taller mate's points.

Friday's contest with College of Sequoias is not only the final home game for coaches Joe Kelly and Ray McCarthy's crew, but also their concluding tilt in the Valley Conference, which Fresno City College captured Saturday night with a 93-53 win over Modesto JC.

Hughey needs only 20 tallies to surpass last year's all-time, single season, scoring champ Rich Turney, who piled up 703 points over a span of 38 games. Against Modesto, Hughey pumped in 15 marks before fouling out, but this was good enough to break Gary Alcorn's two-year high of 1,180 by 15 tallies.

The century level in scoring was met by the Rams for the first time this season when they floored Reedley College, 100-74, Tuesday evening. The locals now sport a 24-2 season record, and an 8-1 VC mark.

COS and the Stanford Frosh are the only teams left on Fresno slate, but now that FCC has won the right to defend their state championship by taking the loop crown, they will have several more in the state playoffs.

The state JC tournament will be at Mt. San Antonio College Mar. 13-15. Last season the event

Soph Fiori Only Ram Turf Vet

Coach Hans Wiedenhofer and his untried golfers will swing into action this year with only one returning letterman from last year's valley conference champions.

Bill Fiori, an eight handicapper who was No. 4 on last year's squad, is the only returning letterman.

Wiedenhofer figures to have two of the best individuals from last year's high school crop in Dennis Makasian and Terry McCabe.

Makasian was the No. 1 man for Fresno High. Among his many titles are the 1962 Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce title, and medalist in the 1962 North Yosemite League championships.

McCabe was the No. 2 man on the FHS squad. He won the 1963 Northern California Junior Chamber of Commerce title.

BOARD WORK—Ken Long, reserve forward (No. 40), is tipping in two for Fresno City College against San Joaquin Delta College of Stockton Friday night. Lon Hughey is the other Ram in the picture. Fresno knocked over the school 90-79, and walloped Modesto JC, 93-53, the following night. Tomorrow night FCC will face COS and Saturday the roundballers will trek to Palo Alto for a contest with the Stanford Frosh. (Clark Photo)

Matmen Lose Two Matches; Win Tri-Meet

By DON MENCARINI

After winning six straight dual matches, the Ram matmen were finally defeated by the Bakersfield Renegades, 14-11, Jan. 24 in Bakersfield.

Following the loss to Bakersfield, the wrestlers lost their second straight match to San Jose City College by a narrow 16-15 margin. And then on Feb. 8 the grapplers returned to the floor to pin San Quentin Prison, 21-10.

Coach Hans Wiedenhofer: "The Renegades just out wrestled us."

On Feb. 11, the Rams returned home to meet the Reedley Tigers who FCC bashed, 38-0.

Scoring pins for Fresno was Ron Marquez, 123; Dave Rocha, 137; Jim Ashjian, 147; Frank Kerby, 177; and "Woody" Knott, heavyweight.

Wiedenhofer stated that this was one of the finest showings his bonebenders had put on this year.

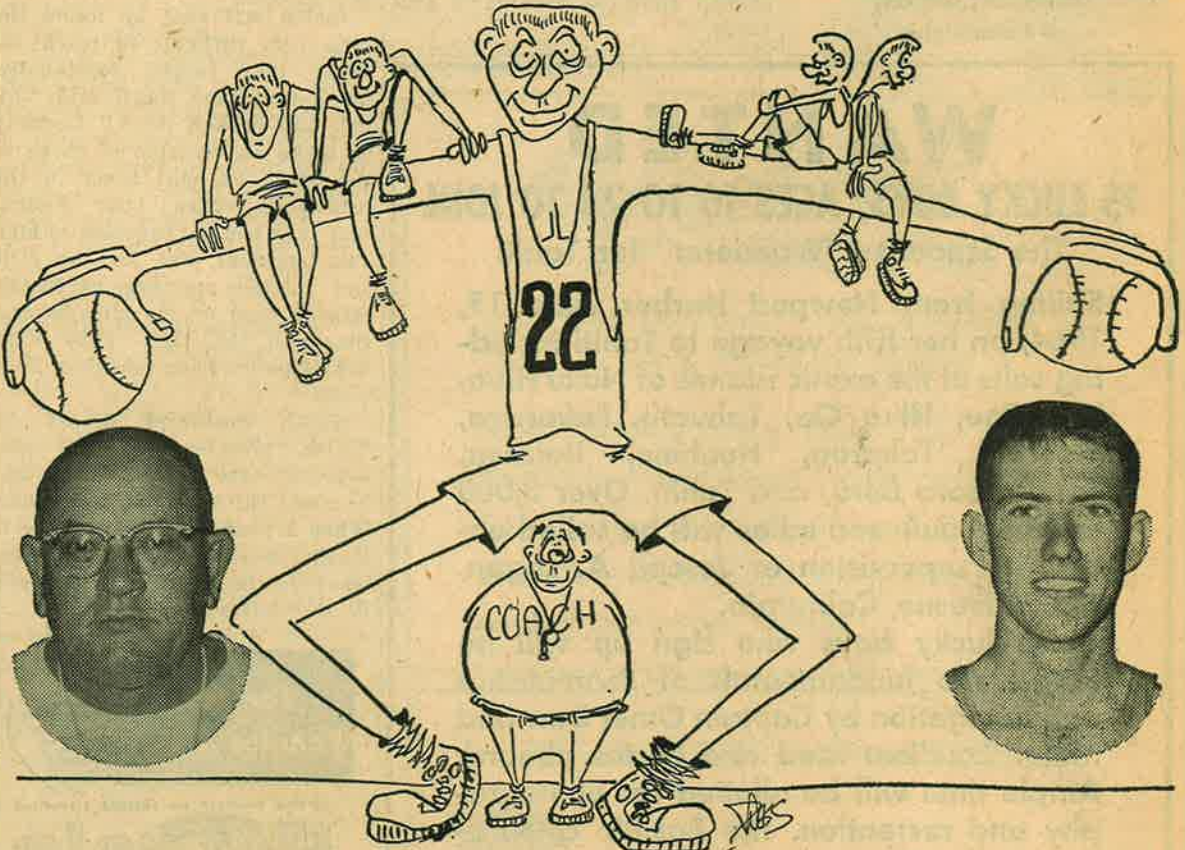

Last Friday the Rams defeated both Hartnell and Cabrillo before the Ram basketball team defeated Delta.

Hartnell went down to defeat, 36-0, and the Rams did just about the same against Cabrillo by downing them, 27-3.

In the Hartnell match, Dave Rocha, 137 pounder; Jim Ashjian, 147 pounder; and "Woody" Knott, all had pins for the Rams. Fresno did not give up a single point in the meet.

Against Cabrillo, Ron Marquez got the Rams off on the right foot when he decisloned Terry Yorita, 3-0, in the 123 pound class.

The only loss for Fresno was in the 147 pound class, when Charles Ballard defeated Ken Binatena, 3-0.

CAGE KINGS—Fresno City College basketball mentor Joe Kelly (left) has one of the top (if not the top) hoppsters in the country in 6-7 all-state center Lon Hughey. Hughey, after his year's points were re-added (which outdates above story), has now surpassed Rich Turney's single season scoring record by one tally. This was accomplished Tuesday night against Reedley College when the star hit 24 points. He now has 704 for the year, and 1,330 over two seasons—also a record. His 53 marks against Reedley in their first meeting game is the FCC single game high.
