JC TRUSTEES NAME WHITE TO HEAD NEW DISTRICT

Stuart M. White, president of Fresno City College, was given a four-year contract as the first superintendent of the State Center Junior College District last night at a special meeting of the board of trustees in the Fresno County Schools administration building.

White was named to the post, which carries a $21,000 annual salary, after two hours of executive session as the board closed its doors for personnel discussion. The appointment is effective July 1st.

"I have inquired, and can report very, very high praise indeed from every quarter," said board president Baxter K. Richardson, speaking of White. "He is one of the best junior college administrators in the state, if indeed not pre-eminent."

Experts

Richardson said that the screening committee of three higher education experts had recommended White highly for the post, as well.

Dr. Leland Medsker, vice chairman University of California center for the study of higher education; Dr. Ronald Cox, chief of the public school administration of the State of California, and Dr. Lewis Mayhew spent an afternoon screening applicants for the post.

Richardson also noted that strong faculty support from Fresno City College had influenced the board's decision. A petition with over 100 signatures favoring

STUART M. WHITE
Superintendent

White's candidacy had been filed with the board.

White was hired by unanimous action of the board on motion of Robert Hixson, Reedley trustee, seconded by Alvin C. Quist.

Annual Review

White's salary will be subject to review annually, according to the terms of his four-year contract.

Richardson noted that White will remain an employee of the Fresno City Unified School District until July 1st, when the State Center District is officially formed, but indicated hopes that a working arrangement could be made whereby White could begin part-time work on the new district in the near future.

Receive Commendations

The board commended both White and Clifford M. Boyer, president of Reedley College, for their "invaluable services".

White has been president of City College for the past 11 years, and is past president, and past vice-president, of the California Junior College Association. He has served for six years on their board of directors.

In the fall of 1962, he went to Africa at the invitation of the State Department and the Kenya Ministry of Education to assess the forming of a junior college system in East Africa.

He is currently chairman of a committee on the Coordinating Council for Higher Education, the state group which advises the California higher education establishment.

White has been seven years in teaching, and 22 years in school administration. He is a graduate of Lindsay High School, Fresno State College, and the University of Southern California.

Majority Votes To Hold Election

By BARBARA EHRENBURG

Rampage Staff Writer

Student council has voted, with an overwhelming majority, to hold class elections for the spring semester. An amendment to the passed motion states that the nomination assembly and the election must be held within two weeks from Monday and that an "adequate slate of officers" is necessary.

Previously, associated student president Terry Edgmon had appointed Mitchell Bower and William Bispham to the offices of sophomore and freshman class presidents, respectively. Edgmon stated that since no petitions for class office had been filed, he had constitutional authority to fill the vacancies.

Members of council, however, argued about details that the concurrently run student body and class elections had been so vague that the students were not aware that class elections had been held. Another protest stated that the election ballot provided no place for student body write-ins under the candidates' names and did not state the class office positions available to write-in candidates.

After discussion, the question was called for and the president's appointments were approved by a vote of seven affirmative, five negative and three abstentions.

At Tuesday's meeting Edgmon again brought the matter before council, stating that he had been approached by the respective class sponsors. The sponsors expressed a desire to see the class elections run.

Both affirmative and negative arguments were given by council members and participating students.

Council Okays Largest Budget In FCC History

Student council has approved the spring semester budget as revised by the budget committee.

The committee consisted of Betty Anderson, financial secretary; Joseph King, student council advisor; Milaun Dowell, AWS president; Terry Edgmon, ASB president; Carol Cloves, ASB treasurer; William Bispham and Mitchell Bower.

The budget, passed on Feb. 18, is $3,000 less than the proposed tentative budget that was previously presented to the committee.

The following is the final spring budget:

|-------------------------|----------|

FCC MAGAZINE SELECTS STAFF; NEEDS WRITERS

The staff of Fresno City College's literary magazine, "Potpourri," has been selected for the 1964 edition.

Betty Sue Kenny, an 18-year-old freshman journalism major, has been named the literary magazine's editor-in-chief.

Miss Kenny will be assisted by 18-year-old English major Cecilia McGee, associate editor and 16 students selected to staff positions on the magazine.

The other staff members are: fiction editor, Dennis Jacoby; associate fiction editor, Diana Stewart; feature editor, Richard Simnet; associate feature editor, Lindy West; art editors, Daniel Lopez and Gregory Hernandez; poetry editor, James McCulloch; associate poetry editor, Esther Guerrero; photography editor, Kimio Miki and the publicity manager is Charles Wright.

Other staff members include the business manager, Charles Bain; circulation manager, James Baker and his assistant, William Griffin; illustrators, Doris Pires and Diana Stewart; and the typists are Paulette Poyneer and Corrine James.

Miss Kenny said, "I think we have a fine staff and with a little hard work, we will make this magazine the best ever."

The editor said that "Potpourri" will contain fiction, features, poetry, art and a new feature this year: photography.

The staff was selected by the editor and her assistant, plus the two advisers, Robert Shaver and Rusty Draper.

"Potpourri," which publishes material submitted by FCC students, is in its fifth year of publication.

Miss Kenny added that the majority of the staff is in the creative writing class, but a few members are not.

She said that the staff would like all material turned in as soon as possible. Material may be turned in by any FCC student to either advisor or to any staff member.

Previous copies of the literary magazine may be seen in the library or in room 203 of the administration building.

The publication date for the 1964 edition of "Potpourri" is scheduled for late May.

Two faculty members have been appointed to new positions in the FCC administration by the new junior college district board of trustees.

Arch Bradshaw, present dean of students, will become the new dean of instruction on Mar. 1. Merle Martin, counselor, will take over Bradshaw's job. As dean of students, Martin will be in charge of the operation of student personnel. This includes all matters concerning the students, such as registration and student services.

Bradshaw will now be in charge of instruction and faculty. Dean of instruction is comparable to the office of vice president, which was abolished this year. The dean of instruction has the same duties as the vice president and functions in the absence of the president of the college. He also has a general responsibility over the curriculum development.

"The curriculum should be planned in accordance with student needs," stated Bradshaw. "We need expansion in science, math and the art and music appreciation areas."

Bradshaw added that his new job was a challenge and that he was anxious to move into it. "We can better meet student needs through the curriculum," he added. "We would like to improve the catalogue and registration."

Bradshaw has been at City College since its start in 1948. He began his career as an instructor of history, psychology and business law.

Two years later Bradshaw became administrative dean and, in 1952, dean of men and director of guidance. In 1958 he was given the title of dean of students.

Bradshaw is the author of three books, one is on business law, the second on orientation of freshmen and the third, written while he was an army officer, deals with leadership and command.

Bradshaw got his BA degree in law at the University of Southern California law school. His BA in history was earned while on a military assignment to the University of California at Santa Barbara. On a similar assignment at Oregon State Bradshaw received his MA in psychology and counseling.

Merle Martin is in his first year of counseling at FCC. Prior to that he spent 14 years at Fresno High School as head of the business department and later as head counselor.

Martin has an administrative credential, a pupil personnel credential, and an MA degree. He also possesses a life teaching credential.

"I am looking forward to working in the new independent junior college district," said Martin. "services possible to the students."

REVERSE ACTION GIVES VOTE TO STUDENTS

Tuesday action was taken to reverse the decision of student council to appoint the class officers, positions which are the only class elected seats on council.

Last month the elections for these positions were held concurrently with the ASB elections, or so said members of the council. There was, however, no such election because the positions were not mentioned on the ballot, not even for write-in candidates.

Two weeks ago council appointed the two class presidents, an act which is contrary to democratic principles. Due to certain pressure groups, council Tuesday reversed its decision and will give the students their democratic right to elect their representatives.

Now is the time for all of us, as students, to prove to council that we deserve this right.

Let's all get out and show council that we are not playing under their thumbs like puppets. Run for an office if necessary, but even more important, get out and vote.

NEW PROTEST GROUP APPEARS ON CAMPUS

By JOHN REYNOLDS
Rampage Staff Writer

It seems that a new protest group has appeared on the campus.

They can be seen at noon conducting sit-ins in the cafeteria.

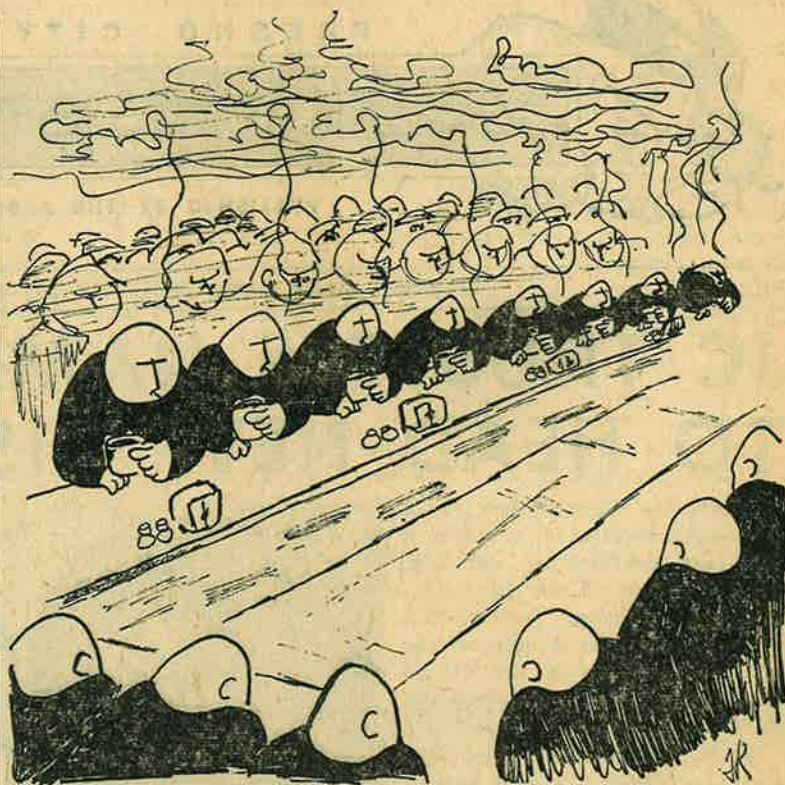

They're not hard to pick out; they're the ones lounging at the counter in the coffee shop, just shooting the bull while the people waiting for a seat wither away from malnutrition. Their comrades-in-arms are doing the same thing next door in the cafeteria, and their lesser brothers can be found lining the walls and blocking the doors and halls on the way in.

The scene brings to mind the picture of an overworked morgue where they've started propping the bodies up against the walls to save space. It's enough to discourage almost everyone from eating. Which is probably their plan, if these individuals do constitute a protest group.

However, the ringleaders of this movement (if there are any) should know that they have overlooked a very important step in their plan of action; they have neglected to tell us why they are conducting their daily demonstrations of inertia.

If those who must stand three deep in line for food every day knew the goal of this hideous plot, they would gladly meet any demands pressed upon them, if only to be rid of the demonstrators and to be able to sit down to their mid-day meal. So what are their demands?

Do they want some new courses instituted in the school's program, like Apathy 17A, or Slothfulness 1A-B? Or are they made because their science professors won't give them credit for cancer research, even though they smoke three packs a day? Or are the more inert members of the group awaiting the kiss of a princess to change them from peat bogs back to people?

Letters To The Editor

CRITIC RAPS STUDENT CONDUCT AT ASSEMBLY

Editor of The Rampage, Sir:

I suppose this has already occurred to you but I couldn't help putting in my two cents worth. I think it would be very appropriate if you mentioned in the Rampage the beautiful conduct of the student body at our last assembly. Beautiful, if we are trying to set a new record for rudeness. I was astonished at the lack of self-discipline and common decency that was shown to Thubten Norbu.

I am reminded of another assembly at which the conduct of the students was highly commendable. The "Russian" representative was shown the respect and courtesy that any speaker should be able to expect from any audience.

We can only hope that Mr. Norbu did not realize that the continual opening and closing of the auditorium doors and that the fact that over 20 students walked out, was an unexcusably breach of etiquette. It is a shame that FCC should have been the one to show this visitor the "wrong side" of America.

Colleges Plan Joint Council

Delegates from Reedley College and Fresno City College set a precedent last night by laying the foundation for a joint student council between the two campuses.

Eight student leaders — Terry Edgmon, student president; Mitchell Bower; Carolyn Poindexter, secretary from FCC and Richard Heath, president; James Conrad, sophomore president; Michael Dillon, freshman president; Margery McKeon, secretary and Ronald Utecht, head cheerleader, from RC—met in the FCC cafeteria committee room to plan a constitution which will be ratified by both councils.

Ideas for joint standing committees composed of members from both campuses was also discussed at the meeting.

Joseph King, FCC council advisor, who was present along with RC advisor Vernon Warkentin, said that by meeting together as a joint council, "we can each learn from the other."

Also discussed was the California Junior College Student Government Association Region Five conference to be held next month at Santa Maria.

Reedley College president Heath said, "When we sit down and talk to each other, we make friends and achieve mutual respect."

In other action of the joint meeting, the student leaders

—Discussed the formation of joint clubs between the campuses;

—Planned their representation at the CJCSGA Regional conference;

—Discussed the possibility of a joint spring formal;

—Planned for the appointment of inter-campus commissioners.

Observers saw this meeting as the first known effort to unite the student bodies of two junior colleges in what was termed "a step in the right direction."

Reedley and FCC were joined as sister schools in the State Center Junior College District by a six to one margin in an election last year.

COUNCIL OKAYS CLASS ELECTIONS

dents. According to Carol Cloves, past commissioner of elections, the matter should be dropped because no interest was shown by students filing petitions.

Barbara Didier, commissioner of scholarships, asked Edgmon for a specific definition of an "adequate slate of candidates." Edgmon replied that an "adequate slate" would consist of more than one candidate running for office in each class.

A motion brought before the floor stated that the election and details should be turned over to the classes. An amendment to the motion, proposed by Bispham, specified that the election should be completed within two weeks. Both amendment and original motion passed with a large majority.

Now that the responsibility of the election has been settled on the shoulders of the two classes, student manpower to run booths and count ballots will be necessary for a successful vote.

Most important are candidates to run for the offices. Offices available in each class are president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, three class representatives and an Inter Club Council representative. Requirements to run are a 2.0 grade average and at least 12 1/2 units. A notice concerning petitions will be carried in Monday's bulletin.

Students interested in serving on election committees or running for office would contact Jonell Nixon, sophomore class representative or Elizabeth Balakian, freshman class sponsor.

"Now, class," said the teacher, "can you tell me one of the uses for cowhide?"

"Sure," said the Quiz Kid brightly. "It holds the cow together."

STATE OF EMERGENCY MYTH DISPELLED

To the Editors of the Rampage and ASB President,
Terry D. Edgmon;
Sirs:

In "The President's Corner" (Feb. 20, 1964) we, the student body, have been notified that a "State of Emergency" exists at FCC. We are told that we must get up off our "posteriors" and "start pulling." I find it incredible to believe that such statements could be made.

The present condition of school spirit on this campus cannot and should not be laid at the feet of the student body. Certain obvious aspects of the situation will not allow it, nor has the Student Council made any effort to encourage school spirit.

With the closing of the student lounge, the last board was nailed on the gallows. The council saw fit to close the lounge on the strength of the actions of perhaps one per cent of the student body. The other 99 per cent were not counted. And even if it was not the decision of the council, the lack of any objections is a condemning action in itself.

To carry this point further, the appalling lack of concern by the council toward the student body opinion, is reflected by the fact that I am unable to find a single student who has been approached for his opinion by a council member. The only poll taken here for opinions was conducted by a Rampage reporter so that the council might be presented with information that it would not itself obtain.

The last nail in the coffin lid was written by the Rampage several weeks ago. Bare mention of this fact is sufficient to prove the council's disregard for the student body. Any group that spends $1,100 of the SB fund on clothes (the student council members uniforms) for themselves has a great lot of explaining to do. Perhaps these members need to remind themselves that they are on the council? I should hope not.

Now, Terry Edgmon says "Mosey on up to the student president's office (if you can find it)." I ask for what purpose? All the students will find there is a sign advertising him, unless he is on that student council, he has no business in Mr. Edgmon's office.

Now really, who is to blame for the lack of spirit at FCC?

Student Ambassador Will Tour Britain

Suzanne Reid is going to the British Isles as a good-will ambassador for the US if she is accepted by the national board for the University People-to-People Student Ambassador Program.

First, along with the other three students selected, she will go to Washington, DC, for an orientation program. Then, they will fly to Brussels, Belgium, where they will separate and depart for their entry program cities.

Miss Reid and Carol Cloves, also an ambassador nominee, will fly to Shannon, Ireland, where their program will start. Their trip includes Ireland, Scotland, England, and Wales. They will be gone approximately three months.

Miss Reid is very enthusiastic about this program because she loves to travel. "It (this program) is really great. It gives you an opportunity to meet people. You get a chance to exchange viewpoints on college and life in general with other people your own age."

There are three home stays planned, and the rest of the stay will be spent in hotels.

The girls intend to "hitchhike through Wales" if they can. Gas is so expensive, about 90 cents a gallon reports one student, that it is more advisable to hitchhike than to drive.

"If you are driving, you can't stay in a hotel," says Miss Reid.

The home stays are with three different families lasting from six to ten days.

Lower Rates

Miss Reid has already applied for her student hotel card and her student identification card. The rates are lower when you have these cards, she said.

She still has to get her passport and wait for her final notification to go. Then she will be ready to see the countries she has wanted to see.

Civil Rights Revolution Ends Prejudice

The civil rights revolution was the topic chosen by Paul Busaka, the program speaker for the Circle K club in room M-122 last Thursday at 12:15 PM.

Busaka, a lawyer with a degree from the University of Santa Clara, became interested in this most recent American revolution by reading and reflecting upon various magazine and newspaper articles.

Cites Proof

Beginning his speech, Busaka cited as proof that the revolution exists a study made in the summer of 1963 which canvassed 1157 Negroes, and revealed 100 acknowledged leaders.

"The purpose of the revolution is to end discrimination, obtain better pay for better jobs, and, most of all, receive the full equality which is already granted them by law," he added.

The majority of the Negroes strongly reject the Black Muslim movement, a group which preaches the superiority of the Negro race. They merely want equality, not to punish the white for past acts.

Justification

Busaka listed as justification for the revolution various historical, political and legal aspects of this dispute.

An important point was that the Supreme Court ruled that "separate but equal" facilities was not constitutional.

He ended his speech by saying in regard to current legislation "The senate will help . . . but the public will not cooperate."

Ram Athletes Trying For Crowns

Tearful Ozier Looks For Tennis Prospects In Third Title Shot

By DON FOSTER
Sports Editor

Should Dan Ozier, the personable tennis coach, at Fresno City College be in tears? (He claims he is.)

Ozier, a former net star at Oklahoma State University, is starting his fourth year at the City College hard court helm.

BUT . . . this spring the flowers aren't going to bloom for FCC's most successful tennis mentor, unless some of the better racquetmen that seem to be hiding around campus make a showing on the new Weldon St. courts pretty soon.

In 1961 Ozier was faced with the problem no other net instructor had been able to overcome—that of making the Ram netters, champion.

Netters Move Up Loop Ladder

The trim speech teacher put his team in the runners-up spot the first year, but then the following year spring glory finally reached the FCC tennis grounds.

The netters went undefeated to give Fresno CC the first crown (CCJCAA). Last season, after the graduation of several class A swatters, had to rebuild his team for competition in the new Valley Conference.

College of Sequoias was the only squad to whip the locals in the VC, and FCC was forced to be satisfied with co-championship.

The talented coach feels that he has two good players in Don Bragonier and Bill Nixon, but a collegiate team is supposed to operate with five netmen. A heart-breaker for Ozier was the loss of Warren Stallings, a vet from 1963.

Bragonier Paces Team In Loss

San Jose City College dropped City College, 5-2, with Bragonier winning the No. 1 single and teaming with Nixon to capture the No. 1 doubles for the only wins of Friday's contest.

The Rams will hit the highways for a weekend duo with Hartnell College in Salinas Friday, and Cabrillo College in Aptos (Santa Cruz) Saturday. The first loop meets are slated for Fresno pavement Mar. 6-7 against American River JC and Sacramento City College.

CONCLUDING SCHEDULE: San Joaquin Delta College (here) Mar. 13, Modesto JC (here) Mar. 14, COS (here) Mar. 20, ARJC Apr. 10, MJC (Modesto) Apr. 11, COS (Visalia) Apr. 17, VC Cham (Sacramento) Apr. 3, SCC (Sacramento) Apr. 4, SJDC (Stockton) pionships (Visalia-COS) May 1-2, Regional Tournament (site unknown) May 8-9, State Championship (Fresno City College) May 15-16.

FCC Host Valley Meet

By JIM ANDERSON

Coach Hans Wiedenhoeffer's Fresno City College Wrestling team added to more wins to their record as they edged past Modesto JC last Thursday in Modesto, and the following Tuesday rolled past College of Sequoias in Visalia, 16-13 and 27-5, respectively.

The FCC Rams, probably the best in Central California, and maybe the state, will host the North-Central California Regionals, at McLane High School Mar. 7, one of four qualifying tournaments for the state tourney.

Diablo Valley Junior College will be the site of the State fete, Mar. 12-14.

There will be nine teams from all over Central California trying to qualify grapplers in the twelve different weight classes for the state meet. (Four can go in each weight class.)

Coach Wiedenhoefer has a strong aggregation that could bring home the championship from Diablo Valley this season. This statement has good backing. The Rams have already proved this true to all the opposing teams in the San Joaquin Valley in rolling up a 12-2 record that probably be 13-2 after tomorrow's meet with an upstart San Joaquin Delta College (Stockton) team (here at 400).

Dave Rocha, 130 pounder; Ron Marquez, 115; Joe Armas, 123; Jim Ashjian, 137; Armando Jacobo, 147; Frank Kerby, 167; Woody Knott, 191 will be trying to qualify in these weights.

Rocha, Marquez, Kerby and Knott were undefeated in 137, 123, 177, and heavy weight divisions, respectively.

"Better Late, Than Never"

Fans Rally In Home Finale; Hughey: 38 Pts.—25 Grabs

"Better late, than never," so goes the old familiar saying.

And it couldn't be used at a more opportune time than now (ask Fresno Bee writer Eddie Lopez, No. 1 critic of FCC cage fans which were fairly scarce up to Friday's home finale).

Lopez hit the Fresno City College fans pretty hard, rightly so maybe, in an editorialized article in last Thursday's Fresno Bee, condemning the fans' poor patronage to their state champions.

The story must have been a gem, because Friday night the spectators (2,200 est.) really flocked to the Weldon St. hardwood to prove that "better late, than never" is a good policy as City College went on to massacre the previously hard-to-beat College of Sequoias quint, 102-66.

State Champs Again

The 26-2 Rams, 1963 state titlists, will get the chance to be repeaters, when they face the Golden Valley champ (either Napa or Santa Rosa) in the opening round of the eight-team fielding 1964 state junior college basketball tournament Mar. 12-14 at Mt. San Antonio College (near Los Angeles).

Lonnie Hughey, 6-7 center, ended a spectacular home career in the finale with COS, stuffing the hoop with 38 points before going out of the slaughter in front of 2,000 appreciative, standing and cheering rooters in the closing five minutes of the game. Hughey also grabbed 25 rebounds.

Hughey's No. 1 side-kick, 5-6 guard George Monreal, concluded his second year of performing in front of local on-lookers, one minute later. The clever playmaker also received a standing tribute as he headed to the home bench for the last time.

In the climaxing game (FCC peppered the Stanford Frosh, 98-80) on the regular season board), reserve forward Ken (Chico) Lewis replaced his brother Ron as a starter, and it seems coach Joe Kelly knew what he was doing, because Chico went on to tally 33 points (13 on foul shots) during the conflux.

Sophs Head Roster

Kelly's crew is headed by Hughey, Monreal, K. Lewis and two Fresno High products, Larry Scott, 6-6 forward and Ed Austin, 6-0 guard. The latter three are eligible for service next season.

Hughey and Scott were the first and second in league scoring with 248 and 164 marks, respectively. E. Austin was ninth. Hughey averaged 24.8 during VC action. City College, 9-1, topped the division in team scoring and percentage with 846 buckets, an 84.6 average. American River JC was the ace on defense, allowing only 64.3 scores per 40 minutes in loop play.

FCC SCORING TOTALS:

(FCC 98, Stanford 80) — Hughey 23, Scott 18, E. Austin 13, Monreal 5, K. Lewis 33, Ken Long 5, Marlin Elrod 1.

(FCC 102, COS 66) — Scott 21, R. Lewis 2, Hughey 38, E. Austin 12, Monreal 7, K. Lewis 8, Elrod 8, Long 2, Cates 2, Bragonier 2.

Pinatas Tell Noche De Fiesta Tale

Floating phone numbers, candy and gum came forth from the red and white clown pinatas which were symbolic of the Noche de Fiesta theme last Friday night.

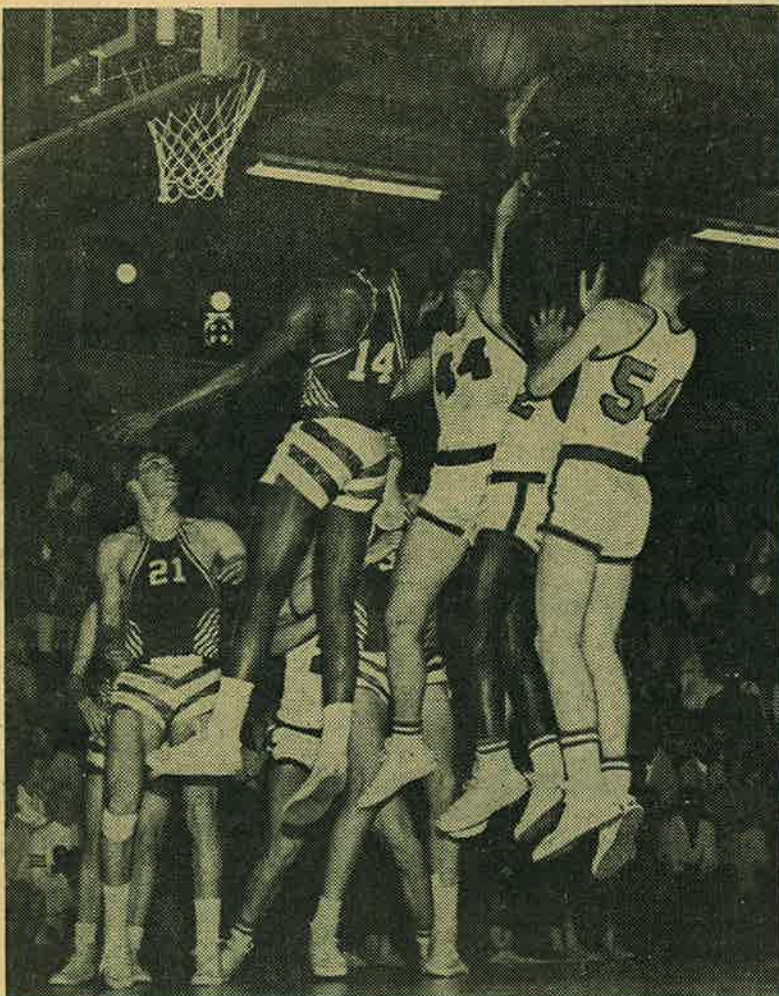

The Noche de Fiesta is the annual dance sponsored by the Latin American Club. The music was supplied by the Adolph Mendoza Combo.

"Gregory and Peck, a campus duo, sang 'What's Your Name' and 'We Belong Together' as part of an encore intermission act," said Dave Pacheco, Latin American Club vice-president.

According to Pacheco, the dance was a large success and he thinks that "everyone had a good time, including the COS students who also attended the dance."

Slim: "For gosh sakes, Jim! I heard you were dead!"

Jim: "Yeah. They did say I was dead. But it was another fellow. I knew that it wasn't me as soon as I heard it."

Baseball—Already?

Seavers, Schmidt Twirl Low Hit Tourney Games

Fourteen freshmen, 10 sophomores fill coach Len Bourdet's baseball roster. Last year's glove-men took an unprecedented third straight state crown, but a major factor in the last two championships was the sturdy right arm of Dick Selma.

Selma, now firing for the New York Mets, may be hard to replace. Bourdet seems to be pending his hopes on vet Howard Schmidt and Tom Seavers, a first year man from Fresno High.

Seavers already has a three-hit shutout (5-0) to his credit, getting it in the San Mateo tournament against Santa Rosa last weekend. Schmidt lost a two-hitter to tourney host CCSM, 1-0.

The mentor, now 2-2 on the season, has a seasoned infield in catcher Brendon Ounjian, first base Don Lembley, second base Don Reimero, third base Bob Shanze, and shortstop George Monreal, now playing basketball. Jim Teter is holding down the position now.

The first home game will be Mar. 7 against Modesto JC. This weekend, the local nine will take to the field in the annual College of Sequoias tournament.

The President's Corner

PRESIDENT PRAISES CAGE TURNOUT

My heart was warmed last Friday night. I discovered that the Ram was not dead but hibernating. I discovered that there were a score of individuals who had a concern for our school and its fine basketball team.

In the face of public criticism we rose to school spiritual heights which brought praise from the lips of our number one critic. It's too bad it got started a little late in the season. Yet now is the time to continue our support. Our team must defend its state championship title in the face of severe competition.

Let's give our squad the feeling that we care, that we will be behind them all along the way as they battle it out for the state championship for the second year in a row.
