Christmas Cotillion Is Formal Theme

The annual FCC Christmas Formal will be held at the Del Webb TowneHouse from 9 PM to 1 AM on Dec. 17. The theme will be "Christmas Cotillion."

The dance will be sponsored by the Associated Women and Associated Men Students. Louise Cayton, AWS president, said, "We have been working on this dance for quite some time, and everything is going very well. We expect to see a lot of students there."

Tony Materie and his orchestra will provide the music.

Dean of Women Doris Deakins said, "Tony Materie is more well known on the East Coast, but he plays very well and I believe that his music will appeal to the students."

The dress for the dance will be formal. However, Dean Deakins emphasized that men may wear dark suits instead of tuxedos.

Miss Deakins said, "We always have an excellent turnout at all our formals, and we believe this trend will continue. This will be our biggest occasion of the semester, and we encourage all students and faculty members to attend."

Students can get their bids in the foyer of the cafeteria from 11 AM to 1:30 PM. They are free to all students who present a student body card.

Council May Ask Opinions On Viet Nam

Fresno City College students may be asked to give an opinion on the United States foreign policy in Viet Nam.

The Student Council delayed action Tuesday on considering placing more questions on Viet Nam on the ballot in January's student body elections.

John Porter, representative-at-large, proposed the motion.

Porter originally had planned to make the motion that the Student Council express an opinion on the federal government's Viet Nam policy.

Porter approached Ron Primavera, student body president, with his proposal and was asked to make the motion.

"The purpose of putting the questions on the ballot is to give FCC students the opportunity to express their opinion on the government's Viet Nam policy," Porter said.

Porter's proposal was criticized by some members of the Student Council because they said it appeared to be a proposal with no purpose but to attract publicity.

"Although this question on the spring ballot may attract publicity to FCC," he said, "my purpose in making the motion was not for publicity."

The original question was "Do you agree with the present U.S. policy in Viet Nam?"

Additional questions now being considered for the ballot are Do you feel the U.S. should assume a more aggressive role? Do you think we should return to an advisory role? Do you think we should withdraw?

Pavement Sought For Parking Lot

The Faculty Club of Fresno City College requested that the administration set aside funds to hardtop the Faculty parking lot behind the old gymnasium.

Today that same parking lot remains unchanged.

Tom Marshall, Faculty Club president, expressed concern over this growing problem.

He said the present faculty parking lot is not up to the general standards of the school. He also commented on the dirtiness of the parking lot.

"During the recent rains there were puddles six inches deep which were not only muddy but quite hazardous," Marshall said, "and it was especially frustrating to the ladies who complained that their heels were getting stuck in the mud."

Garland Peed, district assistant superintendent of businesses, explained the reason for the delay in repairing the parking lot.

He said the board of trustees has not yet decided where and if new classrooms will be installed.

Peed said that if the board decides to limit enrollment to 6,000 full-time students for the spring semester, the present parking lot probably will be repaved.

He said if the enrollment exceeds this figure, the present parking lot may be used for additional buildings and a new site would be chosen for faculty parking.

Dr. Rae Hits Education Bill

"The Fisher Bill threw a bombshell into education."

This is the opinion of Dr. Thelma Rae, student teacher supervisor at Fresno State College.

Dr. Rae spoke at the monthly meeting of the Student California Teachers Association Tuesday in the Fresno City College cafeteria.

Under the Fisher Bill Dr. Rae said that students are required to have five years of college education in order to obtain both elementary and secondary teaching credentials.

She said recent legislation makes it possible to teach after four years of school and earn the extra units while teaching within a seven-year period.

Dr. Rae suggested that students preparing to teach should choose a major early in order to know exactly what units to take.

She said students with an academic major no longer need to have a minor to obtain a credential.

Long since removed, this sign used to greet students during the Christmas season two years ago. Should another be erected?

Debate Tournament Scheduled For FCC

The fourth annual Northern California Forensics Association Tournament will be held on the FCC campus tomorrow and Saturday.

Students of 12 colleges and universities are expected to participate. They are Western Washington State College, Sacramento State College, San Francisco State College, West Valley Junior College, University of Southern California, College of San Mateo, University of the Pacific, Fresno State College, University of San Francisco, Brigham Young University, Reedley College and Fresno City College.

Three Events

The competition will consist of three events, according to Franz Weinschenk, director of forensics at FCC. The debate will be on whether law enforcement agencies should have more freedom in crime investigations and prosecutions.

The oratory will be based on an original speech on any political, social, or economic problem. Orators will have a maximum time limit of 10 minutes.

Special Subject

In the six minute extemporaneous speech of "U. S. Relations to Southeast Asia" each student will be assigned a specific subject in this general area.

Scoring of all students and debate teams will be on an accumulative point basis. "We will try to use forensics coaches, Fresno City College faculty members, and competent community people as judges. With the exception of coaches, they will be paid $2 per round," said Weinschenk.

Team Limit

"To enter," he said, "a school must have at least one team of six students or three debate teams. All students competing must enter each of the three events."

Trophies will be presented to the four highest scoring schools in both the four and two-year college division.

Student Card Fees Not Compulsory

By KATHY MOULTHROP

Student body cards are not mandatory in California junior colleges.

If resolutions two and 10 from the recent California Junior College Student Government Association convention at Sacramento are taken to the California State Legislature, the cards may become obligatory.

Resolution 10 urges the State Legislature to enact laws giving each California public junior college the "right to adopt its own policy on the subject of mandatory student body fees."

Resolution 10 is in favor of employing an assistant to the California Junior College Association legislative advocate in Sacramento to allow the advocate more time on "issues such as the mandatory student body card."

Kenneth C. Clark, an FCC student council adviser, placed emphasis on the fact that "each junior college will have autonomy in the matter."

Card Restrictions

Student body cards at Fresno City College would probably be confined to students with more than a certain number of units, he added.

Another resolution which will bring change if enacted by the Legislature is one which advocates the separation of the junior college from "secondary school limitations."

Ron Primavera, FCC student body president, said, "The junior college wants to be considered a separate entity."

Also of note is the resolution to establish open forums on the junior college campus.

"It would not affect FCC particularly," Primavera said.

Clark added that FCC has no restrictions of that nature anyway. "Any group can come and talk on campus, for there are no laws against it, he said.

Those Attending

Fresno City College delegates attending the Sacramento conventions were Steve Noxon, presidents' workshop; Lynn Irons, philosophy and function of student government workshop; Darryll Kahn, reoccurring problems workshop; Myra Aten, the changing student workshop, and Carol Andrews, the role of campus organizations workshop. Primavera attended as Area 5 president.

Clark said the CJCSGA holds the convention biannually and sends those resolutions which have passed on the floor of their general assembly to their parent organization, the California Junior College Association.

The CJCA turns the resolutions over to a subcommittee which decides which resolutions should be sent to the State Legislature.

Day Students Begin Spring Registration

First semester day students are eligible to pick up their routing envelopes at the Admissions Office.

Alvan E. Perkins, FCC counselor, said that there are four procedures for spring registration.

First, make an appointment with your faculty adviser.

Second, fill out a tentative program form before keeping your appointment. Forms are available on the counseling center bulletin board.

Third, pick up your routing envelope at the Admissions Office just before your appointment. Take it with you to your advising appointment.

Fourth, return your routing envelope to the Admissions Office after your appointment there and pick up your line card.

FCC Hears Speech On Viet War

"We have no problem of communication with Hanoi, but the government of Hanoi has refused a cease fire agreement."

These were the words of John E. Horner, director of public services, bureau of public affairs, of the United States State Department.

He spoke at an assembly Tuesday noon in the FCC auditorium.

Horner said that the committee wants to control all of Southeast Asia.

"In 1955 Viet Nam asked the United States for help," he said. "We are there because we have a commitment to Viet Nam as well as ourselves."

He said Viet Nam has the right to its own form of government. "To understand why we're there we must explore self-motivation in the satellite countries," Horner said.

He explored the following aspects of motivations responsible for the conflict in Viet Nam:

- Marxism as opposed to democracy,
- The thinking of Hanoi and Peking,
- Colonial empires of the past,
- The possibility of world annihilation in the event of nuclear war,
- The quest for world order through the United Nations.

Student Council Seeks Opinion On Viet Nam

Students at Fresno City College have had little opportunity to express their feeling toward United States foreign policy in Viet Nam.

Until recently, only two projects have enabled FCC students to show their reaction. One was Operation Lifeline, a project carried out in the 1964-65 school year in which 3,000 pounds of food and clothing were sent to orphanages and flood victims in Viet Nam. The second was A Bit of Christmas from Home drive conducted last November which collected baked goods and food for marines who will be in the war zone this Christmas.

Insofar as these projects turned out successfully, they provided only a means for students with favorable attitudes toward Viet Nam to express their feelings. Now the Student Council is curious to find out the percentage of students who favor the U. S. policy and the number of students who feel otherwise.

The Student Council is considering placing on the ballot in the student body election in January four questions which, it feels, will best sum up the general feeling of the student body toward this country's policy in Viet Nam. The four questions will be: "Do you agree with the present U. S. policy in Viet Nam? Do you feel the U. S. should assume a more aggressive role? Do you think we should return to an advisory role? Do you think we should withdraw?"

If students start thinking about their attitude toward Viet Nam now, the election could prove very interesting. Let us hope that enough students turn out for the election to provide a true picture of their sentiments about American policy in Viet Nam.

Inspector General Good, Draws Small Audience

The Fresno City College Drama Department is to be congratulated on another fine effort — an entertaining and imaginative rendition of the old Nicholas Gogol comedy, The Inspector General.

Unfortunately, only a few persons were apparently interested enough to find out just how entertaining and imaginative the production was. Despite much advance publicity, the three performances of the play last Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the social hall drew less than 500 people.

But if the cast was discouraged by the small turnouts, their faces did not show it. And for that matter, neither did their performances.

Zorro Ohanessian's portrayal as the crooked, power-mad mayor and Cherie Franklin's performance as his nagging wife, along with Ken Kennedy's fine characterization of the phony inspector general, were easily the highlights of the play.

Mark Atkisson, Alex Hakobian, Francis E. P. Sullivan, Al Cirimele and Ron Comer did excellent jobs in portraying the corrupt village officials. Dan McGeorge and Ronney Shatto, as the village's penny pinching elders, were also very convincing in their respective roles.

Teresa Leal seemed perfectly cast as the mayor's attractive daughter. Not only did Miss Leal attract the inspector general's attention, but her appearance during an otherwise dull third act seemed to give the play added interest at the time when interest was needed the most.

Another factor that helped save the show during its final segment was Malcolm MacGregor's polished performance as the shrewd servant. Although playing only a secondary role, MacGregor presented one of the play's best performances.

Frederick Johnson, FCC drama instructor, should be commended on another excellent job of directing. But credit must also be extended to set designer Charles T. Wright and to all members of the production staff who helped prepare the play for showing.

Swarm Of Bugs Perils Hallowed Brick Halls

"The litterbug menace on the Fresno City College campus is still a serious problem," said George Johnson, supervising custodian.

"Despite the fact that there has been a substantial improvement in recent months, the situation could be much better with individual effort."

He believes the main problem stems from students who persist in refusing to utilize conveniently situated receptacles for rubbish.

A great number of students seem to be unable or unwilling to differentiate between a trash can and a cigarette receptacle, since the latter has been observed to contain such refuse as orange peels, apple cores, candy wrappers and drinking cups.

Common decency and local laws make it incumbent on everyone to exercise utmost care in keeping one's surroundings as sanitary as possible.

Let the deportment of every student be commensurate with his accepted level of intelligence, and let each one do his best to keep the college campus clean.

Present parking lot facilities at FCC. The University Ave. lot no longer will accommodate the majority of cars. What will be done?

'Epidemic' At FCC Awaits 'Medicine'

By PAUL SULLIVAN, JR.

FCC ranks high in several fields of education, but it suffers from dunlap disease.

It's done lapped over its parking facilities!

Parking is at a premium both for faculty members and for students. Although more than 80 percent of the day students drive cars — according to Dean Paul Starr—there are only facilities for parking approximately 600 vehicles on campus.

Board Of Trustees

"Presently the board of trustees is awaiting a recommendation from Superintendent Stuart M. White before taking action," said Starr.

Faculty members have suggested various remedies such as doing away with physical education and allowing parking in the swimming pool area and tennis courts. It was not made clear whether this is to be with or without water and diving boards or nets.

In retaliation the physical education instructors have mentioned that academic instructors might model their transportation method after the courses they teach.

Elephants And Amoebae

This, however, might prove disastrous as we might have western Civilization instructors on Hannibal-type elephants or biology instructors racing in chariots pulled by a thousand screaming amoebae.

Mathematics instructors might come on rollable slide rules, while philosophy instructors might think themselves to school.

It's A Problem

Amusing or not, there is a problem about parking.

"What time is your first class, son?"

"Ten o'clock, Mom."

"Why do you leave at five in the morning?"

"Why to get a parking place on campus, Mom."

"Well, couldn't you leave at nine o'clock?"

"Sure, Mom, I love the walk from Blackstone and McKinley to the Administration Building."

The solution is not an easy one. If you think you have one, mention your idea to the Student Council office in the student center.

Dean Of Women Holds Twenty-Seven Jobs At FCC

Many jobs, one woman, might well be another title for Miss Doris Deakins, dean of women and associate dean of students.

In general, her job as an associate dean of students is to build and maintain high standards of student conduct. But 15 other duties also are assigned to her.

Counseling women students is one of the jobs of the dean of women. She also coordinates the activities of campus clubs and organizations. Miss Deakins is adviser for the Inter-Club Council, the Student Council, the Student Cabinet and the Associated Women Students.

But don't stop there! In addition, she maintains a calendar of student and college activities and a current housing list for all students. She also helps plan all FCC social events.

Miss Deakins also serves on eight committees. Of these, she is chairman of the assemblies and the cafeteria committees.

Miss Deakins said FCC students are now more serious about their education than former students were. She stated that student leadership has improved in the last two years, crediting this to better acceptance of responsibility.

MISS DORIS DEAKINS

Trinidadian Attends On Visa

Wallace Edward Drakes, a Fresno City College foreign student, recently told a Rampage reporter what he thinks about the American way of life.

Drakes is a 25 year old Negro from Trinidad, a British Island in the West Indies. He has been in America 15 months and has about 3 years left before his student visa expires.

Drakes is an international relations major and is very interested in public speaking.

Does Well In The Arts

"I do better in the Arts than any other subject," said Drakes.

When Drakes was asked about his personal feeling towards America he replied, "The odds are against the Negro here and although I have not been mistreated, there is often a feeling of resentment from others."

When asked what he thought of the US involvement in Viet Nam Drakes said, "Even though the US has made a promise to the people of South Viet Nam to protect them from Communism it seems that the US might have tried harder for negotiation, which would draw more respect from the rest of the world."

The one thing that Drakes says has impressed him the most is the technological growth of America.

Lack Of Machinery

"We have none of the machinery you have," Drakes said. "Manned labor is used on all of the farms in Trinidad."

Asked what the major sports in his country are Drakes replied, "Soccer, cricket, and we also play basketball. Soccer is the most exciting of our sports and many world championships are played in Trinidad."

He said that the climate in Trinidad stays about 80 degrees and allows the people to be outside all year.

Drakes plans to go to the University of California at Berkeley after FCC. When he returns to Trinidad he would like to work for the national government.

Assembly To Honor Christmas

The Fresno City College a cappella choir, under the direction of Charles Spencer, will present the annual Christmas assembly to the FCC student body Wednesday at 12 noon in the Auditorium.

The choir will perform a part of "The Chamber Maid" by Rivaldi, "When the People Praise Thee" by Jean Burger with Ron Franklin and Tom Linstrom accompanying the choir on trumpets, "The Last Words of David" by Randall Thompson, and "Organus for the Group" by Marvin Stilliens.

Soloists

Charlotte Giese, Bob Fowler, Dan Ormandsy, Lynn Workentin, Roy Smith, Ann Bryant, Carolyn Kelly, Susan Bennett, Buddy Tackett, and Larry Stocks will sing solos during the program.

Christaine Heinrich will perform a piano recital before the choir begins, said Spencer. She will play "Praeludian" by McDowell.

"A vocal ensemble made up of a select group from the choir will sing a few numbers," Spencer says. "This group will be very busy in coming weeks, said Spencer, performing for various clubs and groups around town."

Tradition

"It is our pleasurable duty to buy and decorate the Christmas tree for the foyer in the administration building every year," Spencer said. "The tree is later donated to charity."

"We will have a very fine program this year. The mass by Rivaldi which the choir will sing was a very popular number for many junior colleges throughout the state last year at the music festival in Long Beach."

Specimen displays are placed in the classrooms to interest students in taking biology courses, but the increase in enrollment has caused problems for the department.

Enrollment Increases Produce Shortages

By DENNIS MCCARTHY

The enrollment boom at Fresno City College this fall has thrown great demands on all educational divisions. But no division has probably felt this impact as much as the science department. Or, more specifically, the biological science department.

Christmas Buffet Offered

The cafeteria will offer students a Christmas luncheon buffet style next Thursday from 11 AM to 1:30 PM for 75 cents. The luncheon will also be available from 5:30 to 7 PM for evening college students.

Tickets must be obtained in the main foyer of the cafeteria next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 9:30 AM to 3 PM.

The increased number of students currently enrolled in biology classes has created a number of problems as far as classroom facilities and laboratory equipment is concerned. Most classes have long since reached capacity.

The main reason for the increase is really no mystery: students must complete a certain number of natural science courses to fulfill the requirements necessary for graduation. But this reason alone should be enough to convince the board of trustees that more facilities and equipment are vitally needed.

Students Earn Credit For Part-Time Jobs

Fresno City College students who hold part-time jobs may be able to receive college credit for their work.

Gervase Eckenrod, dean of the business division, stated that students majoring in marketing, data processing and secretarial science may earn three units of credit for on-the-job experience.

Under the program marketing students work in local department stores and receive wages.

"It is one of the strongest work experience programs in the state," said Eckenrod. "If we recommend a student the employer knows we stand behind the student and have confidence in him."

Many Remain

He added that 95 per cent of the marketing students continue working for their part-time employer when they graduate.

"Each work experience class includes a lecture class. Marketing students must take a salesmanship class which meets two hours a week. It is also required that the students in each program work a minimum of 15 hours a week with pay."

"Office practice could become the strongest of the three programs because we have so many majors in the field," noted Eckenrod. "We're just beginning a pilot program. We received funds from a vocational education grant for the class."

Five Enrolled

Eckenrod said that the data processing class was the most limited portion of the program. It is difficult to find employers who can hire part-time help.

Those in this phase of the program must have taken or be presently enrolled in a data processing machine class.

Students interested in any of the three programs may contact the coordinating instructors. They are Dr. Gilbert Peart, marketing; Joseph Safer, data processing, and Mrs. Mary Miller, office service.

Petitions Available

Petitions for spring semester student body offices will be available Monday in the Admissions Office.

Miss Doris Deakins, an associate dean of students, said the Jan. 12 ballot will list 18 officers. A nominations assembly is scheduled for Jan. 10 at noon in the FCC auditorium.

She said candidates for student body president and vice president must have a 2.5 grade-point average. Students running for the other offices need a C average.

In February the new student body president will appoint 12 commissioners, who must be confirmed by the council.

Miss Deakins said after a candidate obtains a petition, she signs it and after he obtains 45 signatures, he returns it to the Admissions Office by Dec. 17.

Club News

Religious Club To Sponsor Film

A film entitled The Story of Christian Science will be shown Dec. 16 at noon in Room 209 of the Administration Building. The Campus Religious Association is sponsoring the film.

Daniel Jensen will answer any questions pertaining to the film during the question and answer period. All faculty and students are cordially invited.

Also meeting today are the following organizations:

The Latin American Club in Committee Room B of the cafeteria and the Inter-Club Council in the student lounge. Both will meet at noon.

Phi Ro Nu, the FCC nursing club, is holding a bake sale today in the cafeteria from 9 AM-2 PM.

Alpha Gamma Sigma will discuss the pros and cons of the United States foreign policy tomorrow at noon. Alpha Gamma Sigma is the FCC chapter of the California Junior College Scholastic Honorary Society.

A panel composed of Hugh Golway, William Rumley and David Hendrickson will direct the question and answer period. Any students interested may attend.

Circle K, a service club, will welcome new members next Wednesday. Bart Turner, club president, said that Sunday the club will put lights on the two trees in front of the Administration Building to give FCC a Christmas atmosphere.

The club will meet at noon in Committee Room A of the cafeteria.

Phi Beta Lambda, FCC business club, will meet Wednesday in Committee Room B at noon.

Teachers Raise Crusade Funds

The FCC faculty gave $1,322 in their support of the United Crusade of Fresno.

Thomas A. Marshall, drive chairman, announced this was a 10 percent increase over last year. Marshall is the Faculty Club president.

Marshall said the faculty and staff are to be congratulated on their support of the Crusade.

He said credit for the success of the drive should be given to the faculty committee who helped. They were Mrs. Mary Miller, Jess Baker, Robert Winter and Phillip McElroy.

Hoopsters Resume Action With Two Home Contests

By VERNON PETERS

Rampage Sports Editor

The Fresno City College basketball team will resume action at home this weekend as they face the Indians of San Bernardino Valley College Friday and the Riverside City College Tigers Saturday. Both games are slated to begin at 8 PM.

The Toomasian-coached Rams will travel to Coalinga Tuesday for a game against Coalinga Junior College.

The games this weekend promise to be excellent contests. Both San Bernardino and Riverside have a height advantage over the Rams. This should mean that FCC will have to utilize their fast-break offense to take up the slack.

So far this season the Ray Blake-coached Indians of SBVC have compiled a 2-1 record. Following an opening 83 to 74 loss to Southwestern College of Chula Vista, SBVC beat the Los Angeles State College Junior Varsity 93 to 61, and Pasadena City College 94 to 67. The Indians were scheduled to play the University of Redlands Junior Varsity Tuesday.

SBVC Veterans

Coach Ray Blake will have three veterans in the starting line-up who were instrumental in last year's SBVC 77 to 68 victory over FCC. The veterans include 6'6" center Tim Oliverius, 6'5" forward Ernie Powell, and 6'4" guard Roger Strasburg.

Riverside City College will present a team which is working its way toward a possible third consecutive state championship.

Last year the RCC Tigers downed the Rams twice in their only meetings. Each game was determined by two points as FCC lost 81 to 79 in the first meeting and 69 to 67 in an overtime game for the state championship.

Former Fresnan

Riverside is coached by Jerry Tarkanian, a former Fresno State College athlete and coach at San Joaquin Memorial High School in 1956-58.

The Tigers are undefeated in four games this season. They opened the year with a 94 to 64 triumph over Pasadena City College and have followed it with a 93 to 67 win over Southwestern College, a 97 to 58 win over Grossmont College and a 72 to 60 win over Allan Hancock College.

Tarkanian will present a starting line-up that averages better than 6'5" in height. The members of RCC's starting team are center Larry Bunce, 7'; guard Fred (Lucky) Smith, 6'4"; guard Steve Barber, 6'1"; forward Jim Gardner, 6'5"; and Curtis Cooper, 6'7".

tournament, pinning three of his four opponents. Brase's performances earned him the heavyweight title.

Fred Contreras, wrestling in the 115-pound division, placed in the runnerup spot behind San Jose City College's Dick Vaughn, himself a runnerup in the State Tournament last year. Vaughn declined Contreras in the finals, 2-0, to win the title.

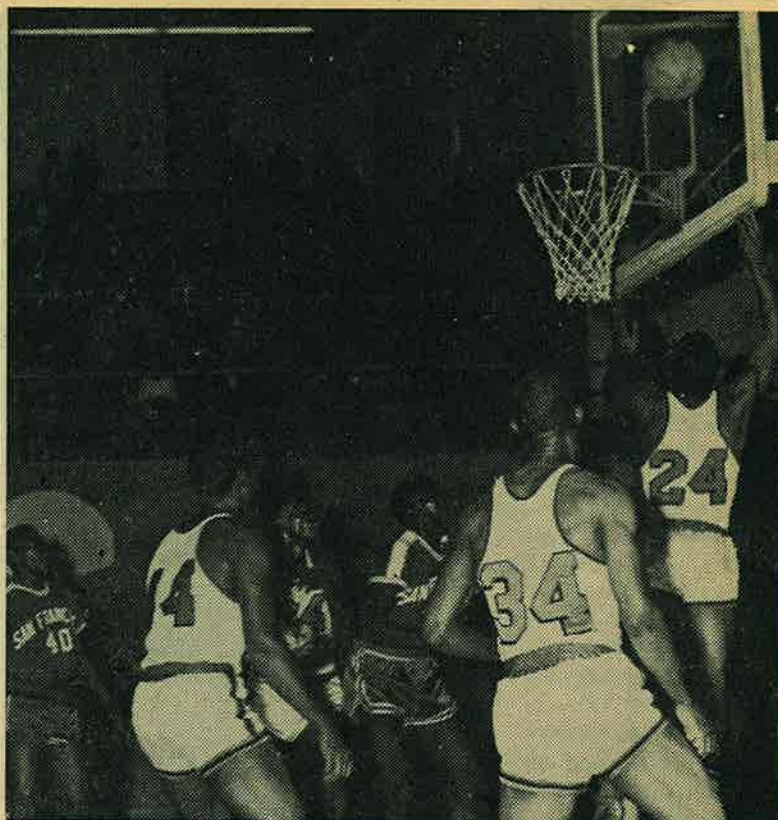

Other Winners

Ron Lott, wrestling at 145 pounds, and Al Binatna, at 166, both finished third in their respective divisions. George Peverill finished fourth in the 130 pound division as did Roger McClaghry, competing in the 177 pound bracket.

The tough Bakersfield College Renegades pinned the first defeat on the Rams last Thursday, with a 25-14 nonconference victory in the FCC gymnasium.

The Gades captured seven out of 11 matches, winning two by pins.

In one of the four FCC match victories, Brase pinned opponent Vic Supertino in the first round. It was the only Ram victory scored by a pin.

Three Ram cagers move in for two points during the finals of the 11th annual Bakersfield Tournament.

FCC Cagers Place Second In Tournament

The Rams of Fresno City College lost the basketball game but no stature last Friday night when they bowed to the City College of San Francisco 74 to 56 in the championship game of the 11th annual Bakersfield Tournament in the Bakersfield College gym.

Even though the Rams of Fresno lost the championship, they posted two impressive wins in the BC Tournament as they beat Hartnell College 102 to 67 and Chaffey College 64 to 58.

In the winning games the Rams were paced to the victory by the fine shooting of Bobby Lee, an all tourney pick, Jimmy Hart Polk and Don Slade. Lee and Polk scored 22 points and Slade added 19 points to help the Rams in their scoring in the Hartnell game. Lee tallied 21 points in the second game while Polk and Slade chipped in six and 10 points respectively.

In the championship game the Rams of FCC faced a highly touted team and came out on the short end of the score as they were outmanned and outrebounded.

All tourney pick Ed Wilson and Gene Williams teamed up to pace CCSF to victory with their fine shooting and rebounding.

The winning of the championship by the Rams of CCSF was their first since they entered the tournament in 1957.

Ram Wrestlers Eye Tournament Victory

Coach Hans Wiedenhoefer and his Fresno City College wrestling team will travel to Westwood this Saturday to compete in the annual UCLA Southern California Collegiate Wrestling Tournament.

The Rams, who own a current
