

Council Attends Parley

Twenty-one members of the Fresno City College Student Council and student organizations attended the Area Five Student Government Conference at Reedley College Saturday.

The conference was also attended by students from eight other junior colleges, Allan Hancock, Bakersfield, Coalinga, College of Sequoias, Porterville, Reedley, Taft and Cuesta.

Next Semester

Tim Mancini, the president of the FCC student body said there would be another conference held next semester, probably at Taft Junior College. The locations of the seminar are arranged in alphabetical order so that one college does not have to provide for the conference too often.

Mancini said the conference was informative in regard to running a successful student government.

Workshops in philosophy and functions, student presidents, campus organizations, publications and public relations and philosophy and functions of student government were included.

In Attendance

Those who attended included Tim Mancini, Richard Machado, Mary Ponzo, and Rodney Haron, all student council officers.

Other representatives from the council, various FCC clubs and committees, were, Jim Chappel, elections; Martin Growden, athletics; Linda Yazizian, publicity chairman; Gloria Tucay, international relations, and Winnie Ihde, AWS president.

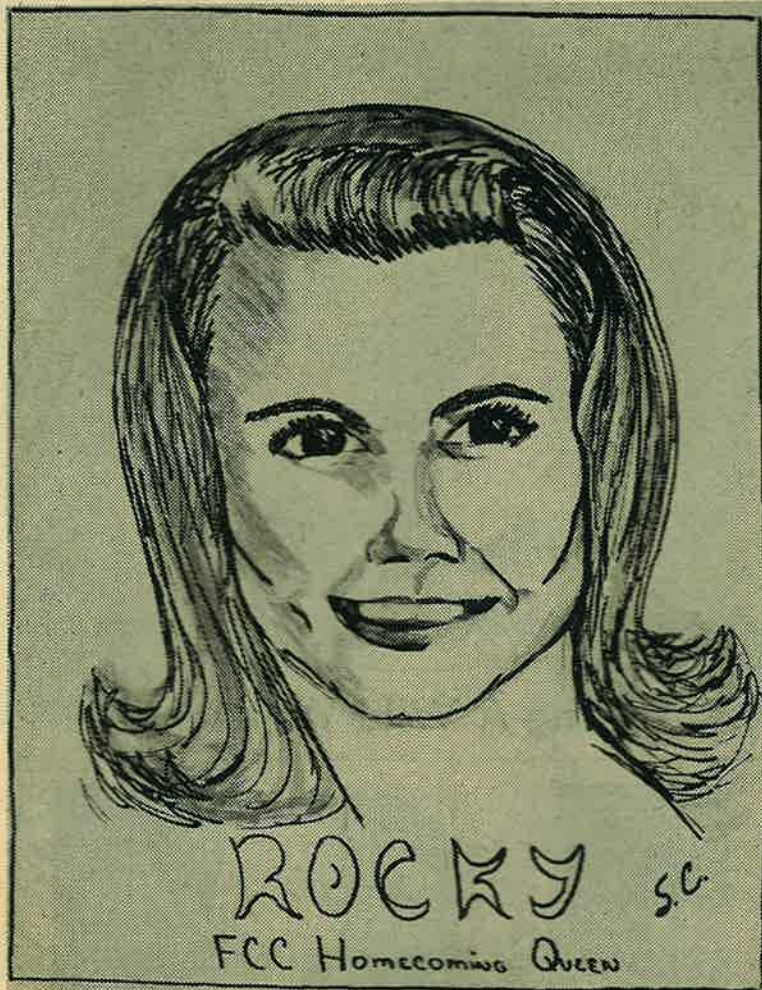

Others from FCC at the conference were Ken Bundy, Chuck Brietigam, Terry Corbett, Tim Hensleft, Darryll Kahn, Ron Linneberger, Steve Mattos, Dennis Major, Bart Turner, Jane Hill and Maria Cabrera.

Modern Dancer Will Give Lesson

Modern dancer David Wood will be at FCC Tuesday to give a modern dance "master lesson" to all interested persons. The session will be held in the Gymnasium between 1:30 and 3 PM.

Wood is a member of the Martha Graham Dance Studio in New York City. He started his dancing career when he was 22 years old. He was born in Fresno and graduated from Fresno High School.

The Martha Graham Dance Studio is one of the well-known companies of modern dance.

Increased Requirements

FCC Foreign Students Represent 15 Countries

There are only 40 foreign students on visas from the state department this year at FCC.

Six years ago there were 106 foreign students enrolled. The decrease is due to the higher entrance requirements, according to the Admissions Office.

Foreign students interested in attending FCC are required to take an English proficiency examination.

The test is given by foreign consulates representing the American Language Center of the American University of Washington, D.C. The center is sponsored by the state department.

There is a tuition fee of $5 per unit each semester for all out-of-state and foreign students.

The foreign students represent 15 different countries. There are 11 students from Iran, seven from Japan, six from Hong Kong, four from Greece and two from the Philippines. There is one student from each of the following countries: Brazil, England, Ghana, Iraq, Italy, Korea, Kuwait, Mexico, Portugal and Venezuela.

The 11 students from Iran are Dalkalnejad, Heidar Jabari, Shahrar Maghame, Manouchehr Natanian, Albrik A. Nicholas, Firouzeh Nouri, Ali Nouri-Kermani, Farid Sapir, Reza Sheikzadeh and Morteza Yazdi.

Students from Japan are Yuhachiro Mori, Hideaki Moriyasu, Akiko Ohara, Yoshiko Sato, Emiko Taketomo, Kayoko Yamamoto and Hideki Yokota.

Eugenia Assimakidou, Nicholas Kalogridis, Natalia Kouyoumdjian and Maria S. Mavrikou come from Greece.

The two students from the Philippines are Evelyn S. Canete and Evelyn C. Estranero.

James Clare Appiah is from Ghana, Hameed M. Behmen from Kuwait, Carlos Delgado from Venezuela, Michael J. Giovannetti from Italy and Richard M. Graham is from England.

Hector E. Herrera comes from Mexico, Abdul Khayat from Iraq, Kwang Kih Minn from Korea, Zili Pombeiro from Brazil and Luis B. Xavier is from Portugal.

Similar To U.C. Regents

Junior Colleges Propose Board

Progress has been made toward establishing a state board of governors for two-year colleges, which will be similar to the state college board of trustees and the University of California Board of Regents.

The new board, if established by the Legislature, would remove the two-year institutions from the control of the state board of education and the state department of education.

In a 71 to 3 vote, with four abstentions, the delegates attending the California Junior College Association convention in Los Angeles last week, gave significant approval to the proposal.

Supporting Vote

The vote supports proposed legislation for the formation of the new board, which is also a recommendation of the Coordinating Council for Higher Education.

The CCHE was established by the State Legislature in 1959 to oversee the carrying out of the state master plan for higher education. The council also serves in an advisory capacity to the UC regents, state college trustees and the state education board and department.

The Los Angeles Times said that the primary concern of the junior college boards was that they would lose autonomous control with the formation of a junior college state board. The convention delegates felt, however, that this would be overridden by the status to be gained.

Even Competition

The Times said that consensus at the convention was that if the legislature does form the board of governors, the junior colleges will be able to compete favorably with the state colleges and universities for money and other essentials.

The CJCA vote coincided with a similar approving vote by the California School Boards Association section on junior colleges. The CSBA also met in convention at Los Angeles at the same time as CJCA. Both organizations want to present a united front at the upcoming session of the state legislature.

Veterans Blood Drive Set For Next Week

Blood donations from Fresno City College students are requested by the Veterans Administration Hospital and the FCC Student Council.

The blood bank drawing next week will be held on campus on Nov. 10, the day before Veterans' Day, in Student Center 233 from 10 AM to 1 PM.

It was announced at a recent Student Council meeting that the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 884, headed by Even McPherson, will be awarding trophies for participation.

Two trophies will be awarded—one to the club or organization that donates the largest number of units at the drawing, and one for the largest percentage of members involved.

Dr. C. E. Carter, director of the VA Hospital, said that the donations will be used by the Viet Nam veterans who are presently in the hospital. Carter said that out of 150, many of the men need blood in their treatment.

The hospital has been admitting on the average of 20 veterans a month since Mar. 3. Carter said that FCC students can be of great help to the veterans through their donations.

Students over the age of 18 and under 21 will be required to have parent permission slips.

Carter and Tim Mancini, student body president, are in charge of the drive.

Journalism Expands Its Program

"I would like to invite all interested FCC students to join the staff of the student newspaper, the Rampage, in the spring semester."

This invitation is extended by Phil Smith, Rampage adviser.

"Students who would like to be reporters and editors should take Journalism 4 news writing. Those interested in nonwriting, noneditorial jobs on the staff should enroll in Journalism 5, newspaper staff," Smith said.

State Center District Master Plan Reaches Taxation Stage

By BILL PEYTON

Joe Mueller, director of the Fresno County Taxpayers' Association, recommended that a 25-cent override tax and a $7 million bond issue be placed before the voters to finance the building needs of the State Center Junior College District.

The suggestion was presented to the board of trustees at their Oct. 27 meeting and included a recommendation that they review the cost of a proposed third campus.

Preliminary estimates pegged this campus at $24 million.

Money would also be used to expand facilities at Reedley College and Fresno City College.

Tax Increase

The 25-cent tax means that for every $100 of state center campus property value, 25 cents would be added to the usual school taxes.

"We hope we can use this 25-cent tax entirely for construction," Stuart M. White, superintendent, said.

Architect David Horn has developed a master plan for possible expansion of FCC's campus by 1970.

Railroad Divider

The present railroad tracks, belonging to the Santa Fe Railway Company, would split the campus with the section to the east of the tracks being used for parking.

The increase in land area would be bounded by McKinley Avenue on the south, Blackstone on the east, Maroa and College Avenues on the west and Yale Avenue on the north. The proposed expansion would take in 52.8 acres.

$31.7 Million

Garland Peed, assistant superintendent of business for the district, said that the total apportionment for expansion in the junior college district totals $31.7 million.

The board also authorized the district administration to seek bids for the repair of FCC's unused Auditorium.

Hazy Idea

Poll Shows Students Misjudge ASB Council

It would appear from the replies in this week's inquiring reporter that a segment of the student body has a rather hazy idea of the functions and the personalities of the Student Council.

We ask one simple question — why? The Student Council meetings are open to the student body. They are held each Tuesday noon in Student Center 230.

Council members are easily identified on Tuesdays by their blue blazers.

Why then this lack of communication between the council and the average student? There seems to be two answers to this question. Both of them unfortunately come under the heading of apathy.

How often has a council member asked a fellow student to attend a council meeting? On the other hand, how many students have sought out a member of Student Council for information on the same subject?

How many councilmen have done some Cafeteria polticing?

Generally it is a fact that the public is and has been apathetic where politics is concerned. This, therefore, puts the burden on the council member.

This is not to indicate that we feel council members are or have been lax. It is merely meant to point out that they have to work harder because of their position.

If the burden of work is to fall on the shoulders of the council member, he ought to have some help from the student body. Give him a civil reception because he's the one who has the gumption to do the job.

St. Peter's Cathedral Interesting Highlight

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fourth in a series of articles by Managing Editor Jay York on his experiences in traveling through Europe.

A four-hour charter flight from Athens brought our European Seminar group to Rome's cooler, damper climate. Our clothes, after finally drying out in Greece, would be damp from here on, no matter how long we dried them.

St. Peter's Cathedral and the Vatican were the most interesting sites in Rome, even though I didn't get to see them thoroughly. However, I think it would have taken about a week to do so.

Italian police, like German police, are clad in solid white and "conduct traffic" as if it were an orchestra.

Drive "Coffins"

Italians drive their small "coffins" (often Fiats) like idiots; I speak from personal experience. I guess they have to drive so fast to recharge their batteries, since they use their horns as much as they do their accelerators.

Some of the most famous Italians are buried in Firenze known as Florence to most Americans. Among them are Dante, Rossini, Machiavelli, Michaelangelo and the Medici.

In this city art is integrated into the very fabric of its culture instead of being separate as it is in most places. Florence was the center of the Renaissance world.

Road Dreaded

The road over the pass into Switzerland was dreaded by Jon, our Dutch driver, and we soon found out why. We could sometimes see as many as eight tiers of traffic at one time as we switch-backed over the pass. The bus often required three or four tries to get around corners.

We spent about a week in Lauterbrunnen, near the Jungfrau, one of Switzerland's highest peaks. The cog train was about the only means of transportation, and some of the surrounding villages didn't have cars and were accessible only by cog train.

Except for the unique Swiss church steeples, Lauterbrunnen looked very much like Yosemite Valley, complete with El Capitan and a "new" waterfall coming off its face.

Key Role

Geneva played a key role in the Reformation and was frequented by leaders like Calvin, Knox and Luther.

Switzerland is a wealthy, productive country with a strong, stable economy and many banks. It is noted for its chocolate and time pieces which can be had in or on just about anything.

It is unique because of its lack of a single national language, Italian, French, German and Romansh (a Latin dialect) being spoken in the area nearest the respective country.

Popular Image

By now we had learned that the popular American image of most European countries is usually found only in the rural section of a country. For me the Swiss rural scenery and atmosphere far outweighed the watches, clocks and history offered by the larger cities.

Our contact with the French was limited to Paris because we traveled from Geneva to Paris in a single day by bus. After all we had heard about anti-American feeling, we were almost disappointed by a seemingly cordial reception. We either ran into all the right people or the French judged us as individuals rather than Americans.

FCC Students Discuss Attitudes Toward Council

By MARILYN THRONBERY

Question: What is the Student Council and what does it do for you?

Sheila Izmirian, 18, a first semester sociology major: "They run the city college government. It gives the students a chance to have responsibility in running the government. Pertaining to what it does for me, it doesn't turn me on."

Michael Weimer, 26, fifth semester student majoring in industrial arts education: "I haven't paid the slightest bit of attention to what the Student Council is. I think they should represent the students in any matter pertaining to the school."

Bill Scalzo, 18, a first semester history major: "I haven't the foggiest idea of what the Student Council does for me. In high school I presume it was to keep the students informed on what was happening at the school and presenting new things to the council. At college, no one has told me anything the council is doing. I don't even know who my representative is."

Kathy Yager, 20, a fifth semester general business major: "The Student Council is beneficial for the students, especially when it gives students a chance to have a voice in government. The Student Council is composed of many departments that make-up the application form and rules for Homecoming activities."

Ross Homer, 19, first semester student, anthropology major: "It is a student organization made up by students to enforce student rights and makes rules and regulations concerning student activities."

James Niell, 18, first semester art major: "I feel that the Student Council makes policy and standard rules for all the student body in general. It's hard to keep in contact with what they are doing."

Wilcox Helps Counseling Staff

Rev. John Wilcox of the Episcopalian Church is now available as an FCC adviser and counselor.

Rev. Wilcox's office in Administration 156 is open on Tuesdays from 8-12 AM and on Wednesdays from 1-4 PM.

Rev. Wilcox, a full time college Chaplain, has spent the last five years at the College of the Sequoias.

DECA Sponsors Breakfast

The FCC chapter of DECA, Distributive Education Club of America, will join with 75 other chapters throughout the United States, Puerto Rico and District of Columbia in observing National DECA Week from Nov. 6-12.

Dr. Gilbert Peart, sponsor of the campus chapter, said the FCC organization prepared for DECA Week by holding the annual Employee-Employer breakfast Tuesday in a local restaurant.

Humorist Speaks

Speaking before 75 students and student employers was Harlands Larson, a humorist whose topic was "Pity the Poor Politician."

FCC students attending the event were acting or past members of the merchandising field experience class. Members of this class must be employed by either a retail or wholesale firm.

The purpose of the breakfast, as Dr. Peart explained, was to acquaint students with their employer and educate the employers on the purpose and function of DECA.

Posters Distributed

The FCC chapter is promoting National DECA Week through the distribution of posters, car stickers and buttons.

"DECA's purpose," Dr. Peart said, "is to promote leadership in merchandising distribution."

Dr. Peart noted that this is the first year that the FCC merchandising field experience class has been affiliated with the national DECA organization.

Preregistration Schedule Set

Students who have completed 24 or more units prior to the fall of 1966 may preregister with their faculty adviser from Nov. 7-18.

Eric Rasmussen, a counselor, said that all other presently enrolled students at FCC may preregister from Nov. 21 to Dec. 21.

Program Forms

Tentative program forms, which list step-by-step instructions concerning preregistration, are available near the bulletin boards in the Administration Building, McLane Hall, the Gymnasium and in Technical and Industrial 100.

Rasmussen said following the directions printed on the preregistration sheet will insure the students' successful registration. "Needless to say," he said, "early preregistration means a chance at the classes and hours the student wants."

Students Compete

As of Jan. 6, all students who are not preregistered will find themselves in competition with the new students enrolling in the early part of January, he said.

A. E. Perkins, the associate dean of guidance, said, "If students wish to take advantage of the priority of early registration they should complete their preregistration by Dec. 21."

Students who do not know the name of their adviser may find out in the Counseling Center, Administration 118.

12 Colleges Gather For Conference

By GLORIA RODRIGUEZ

Twelve colleges will gather at Fresno City College Saturday to participate in the second annual Phi Beta Lambda fall state conference.

Phi Beta Lambda, a business fraternity, will host the event, commencing at 8 AM and ending at 5 PM. A social activity has been arranged for those arriving tomorrow.

The 12 colleges attending will include: California State College at Los Angeles, Cerritos College, Foothill College, Fullerton Junior College, Los Angeles Pierce College, Palomar College, Rio Hondo Junior College, San Jose City College, Santa Barbara City College, Sierra College and Fresno City College.

Fine Arts

Members of the Fine Arts Club and students interested in music and art are rapidly paying the bus fare for the tour of three museums in San Francisco Nov. 18.

Two buses will depart from FCC to San Francisco at 6 AM and return to Fresno late that evening. Nov. 10 is the deadline for students to pay the $3.50 bus fare.

Curtis D. Draper, club adviser, warns that the deadline may be sooner, for one bus is already filled.

The group will visit the San Francisco Museum of Art, the San Francisco Institute of Art and the De Young Museum in Golden Gate Park.

The FCC chapter of Distributive Education Clubs of America sponsored their annual employer-employee breakfast on Tuesday.

Special Weekly Bulletin Available

A special weekly current events bulletin is now available for the benefit of evening students.

The bulletin, similar to the regular day class bulletin, is available each Monday morning.

Robert Kelly, dean of the evening college, said that the bulletin is designed to "indicate all that is happening of interest to evening students and faculty."

Subjects covered in the bulletin include: counseling and grade information, current happenings and important events.

Students may pick up a copy during the day in Administration 107. In the evening the bulletins may be obtained in the admissions office.

Rocky Priseler Chosen Homecoming Queen

Rocky Priseler is the FCC Homecoming Queen.

She was crowned during the halftime activities of the football game between Modesto Junior College and FCC.

Miss Priseler was co-sponsored by Lambda Alpha Epsilon, campus police, and technical and industrial division students.

Susan Crossley was 1st runner-up; she was sponsored by Associated Men Students. Patty Weaver of Collegian Hall was second runner-up. Reba Scruggs and Beldy Champion placed third and fourth. Miss Scruggs was sponsored by Associated Women Students and Miss Champion was sponsored by Latin American Club.

Business Major

Queen Rocky is 18 and a freshman business major. Miss Priseler doesn't believe she will transfer to a state college. She graduated from Sierra Joint Union High School.

Stan Qualls, co-chairman of the Homecoming activities, crowned Miss Priseler. She also received red roses, while each runner-up was presented with a shoulder corsage by Qualls.

Rally Club and Collegian Hall were the co-winners of first place in the float competition. The float on which Miss Priseler rode won third place.

"Wow"

"Wow!" was all Miss Priseler could say when she was chosen queen. She said she was happy she had won, not for herself but for her sponsors.

Miss Priseler said she had stiff competition. She also said she didn't get to know the other queen candidates too well.

"I am a happy going person," she said, "I like people and want everyone to be happy."

Too Excited

Miss Priseler said she was too excited to watch the game. "The band was real good and I enjoyed the dance," she said.

'Successful'

FCC's Nursing Program Prepares 50 Students

FCC's registered nursing program has been very successful in preparing students for the State Licensing Examination, according to information released by Martha Hoard, director of nursing.

Last year 22 graduates took the examination and 20 passed it. The previous year 100 per cent of the graduates who took it were successful.

Enrollment for the program is limited to 50 applicants per year. It is open to both male and female students, and there are no age or marital restrictions.

Qualifications

In order to qualify for the program applicants must be accepted as a student at FCC, be a high school graduate with at least a C average, and complete a year of high school chemistry (with laboratory) or a semester of college chemistry with a minimum grade of C.

Other qualifications include having qualifying scores on a series of tests administered by the college, having a personal interview with a member of the nursing faculty, and giving satisfactory evidence of physical, dental and emotional fitness.

The program provided students with both practical and theoretical knowledge of nursing techniques. Students acquire nursing experience at local hospitals as part of their school work.

Examination

Successful completion of the prescribed program, which consists of four semester and two summer sessions, entitles the student to an associated of art degree and eligibility to take the state licensing examination for the registered nurse license.

Mrs. Hoard said that there is a great demand for people with nursing training and registered nurses in particular.

Rampage Has Openings With Class Expansion

tions, will be offered in the spring semester as well as the fall semester. Journalism 1 and 2 are now three-unit courses. They are intended to be general education courses and not exclusively for students majoring or minoring in journalism.

Journalism 1 provides a knowledge of mass media and mass communications that Smith feels is essential for students. He believes the mass media are the link between people and their government and are vital in making the American democratic, social and economic systems work.

Journalism 2 is a current events course that may be of interest to students majoring or minoring in history or political science. The students in the class use Time magazine for their current events study.

Journalism 4, also three units, is a combined lecture and news writing class. One weekly news story for the Rampage is required of each student along with regular classwork.

Journalism 5 is a nonlecture course that entitles students to work on the Rampage staff. Two units of credit are given for up to four semesters of this course.

Smith said that a special agreement with the journalism department of Fresno State College allows students to transfer up to 12 units from Journalism 1-4.

"Students who have done well in their English classes may be interested in investigating the many well-paying fields of employment open in journalism and mass communications."

Students who are interested in investigating these opportunities may see Smith before consulting their faculty advisers about their programs. His office hours are 1-3 PM, Monday through Thursday, in Student Center 211.

The Center was opened on May 10, 1964 to serve the campuses of Fresno City and Fresno State Colleges, but also includes a large area of Fresno.

Ram Runners Eye Crown With Two Meets Remaining

Ram harriers will meet with their last big obstacle to the Valley Conference championship when they host Sacramento City College tomorrow.

Beginning at 4 PM, the event will be run on the Fort Washington Golf Course.

Coach Fries said that if the Rams take this meet, the next and last conference action (College of Sequoias) will be only a minor worry.

"If we take Sacramento, I'm sure we'll have the championship," he said.

Sixth Place

Ram runners placed sixth of seventeen schools Friday at the Mt. San Antonio Invitational in Walnut Creek.

Of 119 runners finishing the race, FCC placed six in the top eighty positions.

Pete Santos finished with a third place time of 21:16 on the four-mile course.

Roughest Course of Season

The hilly, dirt course is, in Fries' opinion, the roughest that the Rams have run this season.

The five other high-placing Rams were Andy Hansen (22:30), Frank Luna (22:57), Robert Espinoza (23:45), Paul Konon (23:53) and Dan Lopez (24:16).

With an equal performance against Sacramento tomorrow, Fries is confident of victory.

Defeat SJD

Ram runners defeated San Joaquin Delta college the previous Wednesday with a 19-44 score.

Santos continued his record-breaking spree by placing first (15:03) on the three-mile Roeding Park course. This marks his fourth course record of the season.

FCC's third and fourth place finishers also beat the course record of 15:47.

Eight Rams in Top 10

The Rams placed eight runners in the top ten positions, the only threat from SJD being second-place finisher Bob Allen.

The Rams stole this victory without having to perform at top effort. Coach Fries said, "If this had been a do-or-die meet, each one of the Rams could have bettered his time by 15 seconds."

After the conference campaign ends Nov. 10 the Rams will compete in the Northern California Championships and the California State Meet.

FCC Rams Share Top Place In Water Polo Season

Two critical games are in store for Coach Gene Stephens' water polo team this weekend.

Tomorrow at 4 PM the Ram swimmers will host Modesto Junior College and Saturday at 10 AM the Rams will play visiting San Joaquin Delta College.

Stephens said that both of these games are crucial, and that the Delta game will probably decide the conference title.

Delta is now tied for first conference position with FCC with a 5-1 winning record.

There are four games left in conference action this season and Stephens considers each of them

Ram Of Week

Two representatives of the "Mutt and Jeff" defense that has been instrumental in FCC's football success share Ram-of-the-Week honors for their roles in the 43-7 win over Modesto Junior College.

They are 6'5" 255-pound guard Bruce Bennett and 5'8" 160-pound safety Ross Bauer. By holding the Pirates to minus-four yards rushing Clare Slaughter's stingy defensive platoon lowered their rushing defense average to 85 yards per opponent for seven games.

Bennett made nine unassisted tackles and was in on numerous others.

Bauer provide Homecoming fans with plenty of excitement with 60 and 63 yard punt return TD's and a 23-yard return of a pass interception.

Teamwork

Stephens commented on the teamwork in the COS match. "The team worked beautifully together on this one," he said, "and they had to be doing their best to beat a rugged COS."

Bob Grimm led the Ram aquamen to an 11-8 triumph Saturday over Sacramento City College. Seven goals by Grimm also paced a 14-12 win over American River Junior College Friday.

Another Win For Super Ram

Gridders Face SCC After 43-7 Victory

By ED HUGHES

Ram gridgers will face one of their toughest opponents when they meet Sacramento City College tomorrow at 8 PM in Ratcliffe Stadium.

SCC is currently second in Valley Conference standings, with an overall record of 5-2 and a league record of 2-1.

Coach Dick Pierucci of SCC, remarking on league standings, said, "Fresno City is undoubtedly the No. One team, with us somewhere in the next two places."

SCC's standouts are quarterback Allan Wentworth (who leads the conference in passing and total offense), John Domasky (leading pass receiver) and tackle Don Puliz.

43-7 Victory

Ram gridgers held firmly to their first VC position by crushing Modesto Junior College 43-7 Saturday.

Ross and Stan Bauer, who are not related, each scored two touchdowns to lead the Ram victory.

Modesto was leading 7-6 when Ross took the Pirate's kick for six points. Mike Neely then kicked his only extra point of the game.

72-Yard Return

Seconds later Ross brought the fans to their feet again when he ran back another punt for a 72-yard return. Aided by seven blockers, he caught the ball on the Ram 28 and ran unhindered to the goal.

The Rams then drove 76 yards, with Stan Bauer breaking through for a three-yard TD.

A pass interception by Ram cornerback Ted Rhode set up the fifth TD in the fourth quarter. Quarterback Ron Hudson sparked the drive by rifling a 31-yard pass to slotback Don Valerio. On the next play Hudson tossed a pass to Larry Fortune, who ran for the score from the four-yard line.

Fumble Recovery

The Rams' next score was a result of Larry Tucker's recovery of a Pirate fumble on the Modesto 33. Greg Franklin ran for the TD two plays later on a 26-yard pass.

Only 13 seconds remained in the game when the Rams wrapped up their scoring on a 17-yard pass from third-string quarterback Ron Olson to Neely in the left corner of the end zone.

VC Standings:

FCC	3-0	COS	1-2
ARJC	2-1	SJD	1-2
SCC	2-1	MJC	0-3

Scoring Summary:

FCC	0	6	19	18-43
MJC	0	7	0	0-7

FCC—S. Bauer 2 run (kick failed)
MJC—Boer 61 pas from Stevenson (Hawkins kick)
FCC—R. Bauer 52 punt return (Neely kick)
FCC—R. Bauer 72 punt return (kick failed)
FCC—Fortune 12 pass from Hudson (kick failed)
FCC—Franklin 1 run (kick failed)

Bill Musick Will Coach Mat Team

Bill Musick, formerly the assistant football coach and a physical education instructor, will be the new mentor this year for the Ram wrestlers.

Musick will replace Hans Wiedenhoefter, who, after 10 years with the team has decided to retire. Wiedenhoefter is presently the athletic director at FCC.

Under Wiedenhoefter's direction the Ram mat team has won the Valley Conference crown for the past two years.

Wiedenhoefter Will Help

Wiedenhoefter said that he would help Musick during the first part of the season, which begins Nov. 29 with a match against Merced College and Coalinga Junior College in the FCC Gymnasium.

The grapplers will culminate the season with the regional tournament Mar. 10 and the state tournament Mar. 10 and 11.

Returning Veterans

Veteran wrestlers returning this year are Philip Wells, Alan Kautin, Tom Opperman, Keith Boyer, Ronald Lott and Tom Holub.

New recruits are Raul Contreras, Eddie Moraga, Pedro Rios, Joe Marquez, Russ Simson, John Sandoval, Jim Cruz and Eddie Ortiz.

Intramural Coed Volleyball Play Continues Today

All students are invited to the volleyball courts at 3:30 PM next Tuesday, to watch the Intramural Volleyball Tournament.

Shirley Stillwell, co-sponsor of the tourney, said that plaques will be awarded both to the winning team and to individuals after the final play-offs.

Captain Stella Montanex, Dee Christensen, Tom Kearns, Charles Hall and Morris Mishima compose one team.

Randy Tatum is captain of another team with Shirley Coffey, Ruth Rocha, Roland Ott and Janet Davis.

Marian Stanovich is captain with Kathie Flores, Bob Acree, Edmund Danieli, Glen Oda and John Mesrobian.

Rod Soriano heads a team with Shirley Eslick, Steve Glass, David Pocock and Robert Lunt.

Mrs. Stillwell said that with a good turnout another such volleyball tournament will be planned next year.
