

Campus Government Leaders Will Attend Area 5 Conference

Twenty-one FCC students will leave Saturday morning for the California Junior College student government association's Area 5 conference at Allan Hancock College in Santa Maria.

The conference is held each semester. Area I is a subdivision of the California junior college student government association.

"The major purpose of the conference is to discuss problems common to our schools," Kenneth Clark, a student council adviser, said. Some proposed legislation may come out, although that is not the major purpose."

The students attending the conference will break up into general workshops for discussions.

Delegates

The delegates from FCC and the workshop topics they will discuss are: "president's workshop," Chuck Brietigam; "law enforcement," John Martin and Jane Hill; "generation student communication," Rose Attoian and Terry Starr; "participation and recruitment of student leaders," Vonnice Smyth and Judy Kramer; "the junior college image," Harold J. Ruby and Gary Carozza and "publications," Jesse Chambers and Mary Young.

Other students attending, and the workshop topics they will speak on are: "activities, interclub council and related problems," Pat Howe, David Pylman and Jim Shaver; "student-faculty relations," Aglaia Panos and Bill Miller; "the changing role of the student," Rick Patton and Ken Bundy; "the value of leadership," Paula Casaccia and Raul Pickett, and resolutions, Ed Reid.

"This conference is particularly important for the Bakersfield and FCC because they will be hosting the state conference this year in November, Clark said.

Chairman Condemns JC Tuition Proposal

"The proposal to levy tuition at the University of California and the state colleges itself is very bad. To add junior colleges to the list is much worse. What would be next—high school tuition?"

This statement by Jeb Brighthouse, legislative chairman of the California Junior College Faculty Association, was made in reply to a suggestion by Gordon P. Smith, state finance director.

The controversy over the tuition proposal arose at a recent meeting of the Joint Committee on Higher Education. Smith commented tuition charges would be a form of user tax and could be applied to the junior college. He also advocated tighter entrance requirements.

Alvan Perkins, associate dean of guidance, speaking for the administration, said, "I feel it would be a radical change from the open-door policy in California. If it can be prevented, the junior college should be the last to have a mandatory tuition."

He said the only way a tuition could be charged would be by act of the State Legislature.

"Much study would be done before this could happen," he said. "I don't foresee the Legislature making it mandatory. They may put it in the hands of college boards of trustees to make reasonable fees possible if it became necessary.

"But a state-wide mandatory tuition would be in conflict with the philosophy of the junior college, being the open-door to higher education for all California students."

Victim's Condition Remains 'Poor'

Robert Fargason's condition is still unchanged.

Fargason was injured in a car accident Oct. 14 on Highway 152.

Tom Robinson and Bruce Corlett, FCC students, were killed in the same accident.

Fargason, as were the two deceased students, is a member of Circle K, the men's service organization on campus.

Hospital officials say, as of Tuesday night, he is still in "very poor" condition. No visitors are allowed.

Voters Choose TIE Club Candidate, Susan Griffith New Homecoming Queen

By Saturday morning FCC's Homecoming activities were all over except for clean-up. The queen candidates' booths stood in forlorn, crepe-papered ruin, and somewhere a few of the fading cheers of the Rams' victorious smash over the Mustangs may still have been echoing.

During the half-time festivities of the game Susan Griffith was crowned Homecoming queen. Sponsored by the Technical, Industrial and Engineering Club, she was selected by student body vote on campus Friday.

With her on the coronation platform were the first and second runners-up for the queen's title, Diane Ramos, sponsored by Collegian Hall, and Joan Sanderson, sponsored by Circle K.

Alpha Gamma Sigma created the float that won first place during the week's activities. It depicted a Cinderella coach. In second place was the float entered by Lambda Alpha Epsilon, whose theme was "the swinging class." Third place went to the Viking ship created by TIE.

The best homecoming queen campaign was carried out by Collegian Hall. Second place in the activities was given to TIE, and the Rally Club placed third.

All Homecoming activities were judged by FCC faculty and students. Co-chairmen for the activities were Jim Shaver and David Pylman.

Pylman said this year's Homecoming activities were not up to par. "The spirit of homecoming and the participation from the clubs and student body was not as good as in the previous years," he said.

STUDENT ROYALTY—Susan Griffith, Technical, Industrial and Engineering Club candidate, received the Homecoming Queen crown during last Saturday's football game halftime. She was selected by a student body election last Friday.

District Attorney Talks To FCC Student Council

William Daly, Fresno's District Attorney, spoke to the Student Council Tuesday about the newly formed Mayor's Youth Committee.

The committee was organized to investigate student opinions about recreational facilities in Fresno.

By talking to the students, said Daly, the committee can gain an understanding of the recreational needs in Fresno and can pass this information on to various organizations. A group of student council members volunteered to meet with the committee to express their views.

In other business, Harold Ruby, commissioner of oral arts, said plans had been completed for the construction of a billboard to be located between the Administration Building and McLane Hall.

He said William Marks, a metal shop instructor, estimated the cost of the billboard at about $100. It will measure 4 by 8 feet and will be built by students.

It will be used for Student Council, Inter Club Council and club news, Ruby said. The billboard will also have lighting installed to benefit night students.

World Affairs Organization Wants Youths At Meetings

"More young people are needed and wanted at our world affairs meetings."

This is what Ed Owensby, public relations director of the World Affairs Council said when asked what is the council's biggest problem.

He said this because the majority of the people attending these meetings are middle age and older. He feels young people will ask questions which stimulates thought.

Future meetings will feature John K. Emerson, who will speak on Japan Today and Tomorrow Nov. 27, Theodore Osmondson on Regional Planning in Western Europe Jan. 15 and Dr. Karl Falk on Africa After a Decade Feb. 19.

He said the council does not endorse the views of any participant in the forum, nor does it endorse any legislation or policies, foreign or domestic.

Dead Week Will Begin Monday

Dead Week will begin Monday and will continue to Nov. 2.

The purpose of Dead Week is to restrict campus organizations from holding meetings.

Miss Doris Deakins, dean of women, said the policy was voted into effect by the students nine years ago.

Although organizations cannot hold meetings, instructors are permitted to give assignments and tests.

Midterm exams begin Nov. 3 and will be given in the regularly scheduled class periods.

Student Abuse Befalls Lounge

What took seven years to build may only take one semester to destroy.

At the noon dance during Homecoming Week, Miss Doris Deakins, dean of women, observed students jumping on the furniture in the Student Lounge.

Seven years ago the Student Council saw the need for such a lounge and began investing funds towards it, as a result $20,000 from student body card fees has gone into the remodeling and furnishing of the lounge.

"So much money has gone into the lounge that if students continue to abuse it," Mrs. Bessie Doherty, activity coordinator, said, "we may have to limit its uses. This would be a shame because the lounge has good student service potentials."

So far the lounge has been used for guest speakers, dances, table tennis tournaments and for the general relaxation and enjoyment of the students.

Mrs. Doherty also expressed concern over the fact that students have been writing on the furniture. She advised students to bring paper if they need to write.

By abusing the lounge privileges, the student is not only in effect wasting his money plus the money of past students, but he may also be quickening an end to a useful service.

Dress Code Revision: An Objective Vote?

On Apr. 19 a dress code poll, voted upon by female students at FCC, revealed that 80 per cent favored revision of the present code to allow women to wear bermuda shorts and slacks to class.

As of this writing, Student Body President Chuck Brietigam said that the poll will be taken under the consideration of a student committee of five. The committee will investigate the need for a revision of the present dress code.

The committee findings, reported Brietigam, will be sent to the student personnel committee, which consists of seven administrators, two faculty members and two students, where a vote on the need of a revision will be taken.

As the committee stands now, the administration has the majority vote in the decision. It would seem to be more objective if the committee were composed of equal numbers of administrators, faculty members and students. Therefore, any decisions coming out of this body would be a fair representation of the student body, the faculty and the administration.

Since the committee's vote is final and cannot be amended, any decisions made should represent the true opinions of all three groups and not the opinion of only one segment.

Writers Complain About Activities: 'Art Work,' Litter, Press Coverage

Editor:

I'd like to comment on the art work on the chairs, walls and floors in the Student Lounge. The flowers and peace symbols are especially well done. It's good to know that Jim, Leon and Sammy frequent the lounge.

I see Diane loves Bob and Carlos loves Maria. It is intriguing to enter the lounge never knowing what new forms of art one may find.

Editor:

It's that old word responsibility again, and campus appearance is the topic.

I don't feel there is one member of the student body that can testify the campus isn't messy. Litter is a mounting problem.

It seems the general attitude is —leave it for the janitor. The fact is that this attitude has prevailed so much—our janitors are becoming behind in their other duties.

We have graduated from an institution of lesser responsibility where we could afford to neglect our duties. But now, with a total enrollment of over 10,000 students, the extent of our responsibility has changed. We must be mindful of our fellow students. This entails picking up after ourselves. Not only our papers and garbage, but our trays and glasses in the cafeteria. As responsible students and adults, it is our duty and obligation to prove our maturity. Be mindful, have pride: The use of this campus's facilities is a privilege—not a right.

Chuck Brietigam
ASB President

Editor:

I would like to voice my disapproval and complete disgust to the way you handled the Homecoming Queen candidate article in your October 14, 1967 edition.

The Homecoming dance is supposed to be one of the most important social events of the school year. I feel that you have made a mockery out of this tradition by allowing only one group picture, naming the girls, their majors, and a short summation of the eligibility requirements.

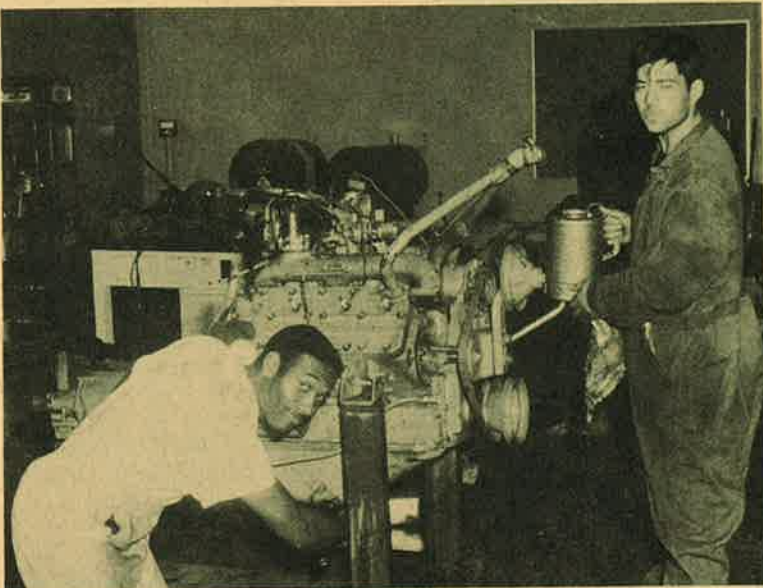

The front page article was, in itself, satisfactory but there should have been more to back it up. I feel that in all fairness to the candidates, their sponsors, and the readers of the Rampage you should have had at least one other picture and a separate article on each girl with at least one-eighth devoted to each candidate.

If future editions and staff members are to follow the example you have set then the students of Fresno City College can expect only the worst possible consequences. In the future, because of your lack of interest and school spirit we could expect to be voting in a way that is devoid of all human characteristics. We would choose a number from one to twelve without ever seeing a picture or knowing anything about the girls. We could further surmise that instead of finding the Homecoming article one one-third of the front page, it would be found meticulously hidden in one small corner of the sports page or even in the Want Ads listed under "Too late to classify!"

Technical, Industrial Division Offers Numerous Trade Courses

FCC MECHANICS—Bill Hutton, left, and Ali Nouri of the T and I division overhaul an engine in one of the shops. Various vocational and trade classes are offered in the division.

Equipment Purchase Heads Club Agenda

The current project of the newly formed movie club is to secure some movie making equipment. James Piper, club sponsor, said he hopes that through either club fees or student body funds the club can purchase approximately six inexpensive movie cameras and one projector.

The function of the club is to acquaint the members with the arts and communications of the movie field. Piper hopes to start an annual junior college eight millimeter film festival in future years.

Piper stated that he would limit the festival to eight millimeter films because many students already own this time of camera and that in doing so, it would prevent professionals from entering the competition and capturing all the awards.

Piper stated that although the club would send the film out to have it processed, the club members would do "all of the editing of the films".

"I would like to get a backlog of films and be able to show some of the better films to the student body and enter them in the college's annual arts festival."

He said that the membership of the club is still open and invites interested persons to attend the next meeting, Nov. 2 at 4 PM in the Student Council chambers.

Campus Style

Men State Most Appealing Traits

What do the men on the FCC campus want in relation to the opposite sex?

The answer to the $64 question was discovered in the results of a questionnaire circulated among various male students last week.

They said the most appealing traits were a good sense of humor, an informed attitude towards sex, a courteous and sympathetic manner, a happy-go-lucky attitude and an entertaining, fun-loving and somewhat conspicuous behavior.

In addition, Ed Reid, FCC treasurer, made this comment: "I believe a girl should, above all, have the ability to admit when she is wrong. It seems like very few girls are willing to do this, even when they realize they are at fault."

Certificates Aid Graduates

The technical and industrial division is located on the north end of the campus. Some additional buildings are located in San Pablo Avenue existing almost as a separate part of the campus.

The six giant structures of the T and I division house shops and classrooms where trades varying from aeronautics to electronics, horticulture, vocational nursing, police science and seventeen other programs are offered.

The two year program leads to an associate in science degree. Shop students will be awarded a certificate of proficiency following four semesters in one pre-employment major. These students must also complete the designated subjects outlined in the FCC college catalog.

A certificate of completion will be awarded on the recommendation of the dean of the division. This certificate will assist students who plan to enter a skilled occupation in related fields.

Additional information concerning the division and its courses can be obtained from the college catalog or from the office of Curtis E. Lackey, associate dean of the technical and industrial division. Lackey's office is located in Technical and Industrial 100.

Station Sets Talent Hunt

KXTV-10, a Sacramento television station, has announced auditions for Campus Talent '67. The program, an hour-long variety show, will be telecast by KXTV-10 over the Christmas holidays.

Competition for this special variety show is open to university and college students in Northern California. Schools expressing interest will be visited this month by Dick McGovern, unit manager for Campus Talent.

Auditions for Campus Talent '67 will be held in KXTV-10 studios in Sacramento and at a location in San Francisco unannounced at this time.

The talented person or group taking first place on Campus Talent will be sent to CBS Television City in Hollywood for further auditioning.

Frederick Johnson, teacher of dramatics at FCC, said, "This would appear to be a wonderful and worth-while opportunity for people trying to get a start in show business."

Johnson said that getting a start in the world of bright lights is often the hardest part.

Interested groups and single performers should send their name, address, phone number and a resume of their acts to Robert Kelly, producer-director, KXTV-10, Post Office Box 628, Sacramento, Calif., 95803.

Round three will begin Tuesday, the fourth Nov. 7, and the final winners will be decided Nov. 14.

Winners in the men's division were Rick Patton, Dan Wade, Pat Leung, Michael Gaborleau, Elias Ochoa, Don Hamm and Rick Kelly.

Dick Berend, John Skellie, Bud Cook, Jere Foutz, Harold Antramkian, Jim Bolanas and Jerry Baitsch were other winners.

Debaters Receive Recognition In Forensics Tournament

By LINDA LUCCHESI

FCC forensic students will go to American River College Nov. 4 in Sacramento for their next tournament.

Three students received awards in the Northern California Forensic Association fall tournament at Foothill College of Los Altos Hills last weekend.

David Bezayiff and Rick Lehman received recognition for extemporaneous speaking and Jane Genco for oratory.

Sixteen FCC students participated in the contest.

More Work

"We didn't do too well in debating at our first tournament, coach Franz Wienschenk said, "Consequently we learned that we need more work before our next one."

When competing in a tournament, the debaters must be prepared to discuss both the affirmative and negative side of the national debate topic.

The topic for this year is Resolved: That the federal government should guarantee a minimum annual income to all students. The students will use this question for all their tournaments this year.

Current Events

Contestants are required to prepare speeches from a significant topic for the expository speaking contest and from national and international news items for the extemporaneous speaking contest.

Students entered in the orator competition last weekend were Miss Genco, Belen Orella, Barbara Mindel, William Miller and Richard Cook.

Contestants in extemporaneous speaking included, Bezayiff, Lehman, Harold Ruby, Ed Reid, Donald Smalridge and Miss Genco.

The job openings will be for technicians, engineering aides, draftsmen, machinists, machine traders and associated fields. For students who are interested in applying, completion of the FCC course is not necessary. However, a knowledge in the field of industrial engineering is required.

Eimac Corporation manufactures microwave and power tubes and components for engineering. The corporation is located in San Carlos, San Mateo County.

The representatives will give half-hour interviews for students who are interested in applying, starting at 9 AM. To make an appointment for an interview, see Mrs. Dorothy Ediger, head of the Student Employment Office, in the Student Center 216. Applications should be made by Nov. 1.

Anne Flammang, plays the part of Tina (as a child). She is the daughter of Christopher Flammang, FCC police science instructor.

The other children's parts are played by Meryl Cope, Mike Bush and Patrick Lashke. The play will be presented from Nov. 30 through Dec. 2 in the Student Lounge.

Leading roles in the production are held by Chris Manson, Letitia Scordino, Jeannie Bezona and John Henry Hill.

Tutorial Help Aids Poverty Areas In Madera County

Operation Breakthrough will establish tutorial programs in poverty areas of Madera County.

"This is the most exciting teaching program in the West," stated J. V. Henry, temporary co-ordinator of Operation Breakthrough. "Fresno City College students are welcome to work as tutors on a voluntary basis."

The purpose of the program is to instruct students in English and mathematics so they will have sufficient background to understand advanced subjects. This will prevent students from dropping out of school and enable them to continue their education.

November Classes

Operation Breakthrough is slated to begin on Nov. 4. Classes will be held for three hours at Fairmead School.

Included in the program is small-group instruction, individual tutoring and counseling. Also, students will be helped with home and community problems.

"We already have 12 tutors from Fresno," Henry said, "but we hope to get eight more."

Community Activity

The program offers tutors a chance to take part in community activity and to learn how to deal with the problems of the poor.

Interested persons should write to Operation Breakthrough, 1329 1/2 North D St., Madera, 93637.

Cross Country Runners Will Meet San Antonio

By PAUL SMITH

Northern and southern cross country teams will take a break from conference competition tomorrow and Saturday as the Mt. San Antonio College Invitational takes over the spotlight.

This non-conference meet will have some 6,000 college and high school runners from California and Arizona. The northern and southern state conferences begin tomorrow at 9 AM.

Largest U.S. Meet

FCC Cross Country Coach Bob Fries said the Mt. SAC tournament is the largest meet in the United States.

In last year's competition the Ram runners finished sixth out of the 17 junior colleges entered.

Andy Hansen and Paul Konon, both of FCC, finished the four-mile-course last year with times of 22:30 and 22:53, respectively.

Fries said the purpose of the trip to Los Angeles is to scout the northern and southern competition. He has told the harriers to not go "all out" at this meet but merely pace themselves and do the best job they can.

Ram team members entering this tournament are Hansen, Bill Camp, Alex Fierros, Alex Ochoa, Mike Corcoran and Larry Putman.

A seventh runner is to be decided between Konon, Jim Canales and Tony Gomes.

FCC punctured the San Joaquin Delta College Mustang's hopes of an upset last Friday by defeating them 16-48 in a meet held on the four-mile Woodward Park course.

This Fresno meet, originally scheduled to be held in Stockton, saw three FCC runners, Hansen, Camp and Fierros, cross the finish line first with identical times of 21:23.

Ochoa finished in fourth place for the Rams with a mark of 21:28.

FCC Splash Team To Clash With COS

By JOHN TRAVIS

The Ram water polo team will start the second half of league play tomorrow against Sacramento. The match starts at 4 PM.

"We are going to keep our fingers crossed," said FCC Coach Gene Stephens, "and hope to come out on the winner's side."

In an earlier season meeting, on Oct. 7, the Rams were defeated 10-9.

FCC holds down the fourth position in the tight Valley Conference league with a record of 2-3, while the Panthers control second place with a 3-1 mark.

Tomorrow's encounter is a must for both teams if they plan to reach the conference finals. Only the top two finishers in the conference are invited.

The SCC water polo coach summed it up this way; "This is a critical game for both squads, with the loser being knocked out of the running for second place."

FCC was defeated by the College of Sequoias in Visalia Friday.

COS's Bill Clawson ripped Fresno for four goals to pace the Giants.

FCC gained its only score in the third period when Scott Holmes fired a free throw past the goalie.

After five league games, Ram swimmers Holmes and Jim Wright, lead the squad in points scored with eight and five tallies, respectively.

Jim Slaughter picks up yardage against Sacramento City College. The Rams won the homecoming game 47-17.

Rams Ready For Pirate Scrimmage

FCC Rams will play the Modesto Junior College Pirates Saturday, at 8 PM. The game will be played in Modesto.

"Modesto is a big team, almost the size of the San Joaquin Delta College team," said Bill Musick, an assistant FCC coach. "They have a very solid defense."

"Although the Pirates have only one win in six starts, they boast three outstanding players," Musick said.

was busy scoring on two touchdown passes of nine and 45 yards.

Natsues caught his first scoring pass from quarterback Olson and his second from freshman passer Gregg Stephens. Stephens played the entire last quarter, giving Olson the rest of the night off.

FCC's Steve Jones kicked a 17 yard field goal along with two conversions.

John Tubbs, Delta's fine quarterback, threw for two aerial touchdowns.

Ram Victory

The Pirates lost last week to Sacramento City College 29-13, while the Rams were scoring a 47-17 Homecoming victory over the San Joaquin Delta Mustangs.

Several Rams were hurt in last Saturday's game with Delta. Jack Erdman and Carlos Lane suffered hip pointers.

Jamie Weldon received a dislocated shoulder and will probably be out of action for the rest of the season.

Although there were several Ram injuries in the bruising clash, the most serious was sustained by a Delta tackle. Bob Rameriz, a 250 pound tackle, suffered a fractured knee cap and was hospitalized.

Backfield Speed

Coach Clare Slaughter wanted speed in his backfield, and he got it from sophomores Gregg Franklin and Willie Cox. They did most of the running for what the team calls the "New Rams."

To gain speed, Slaughter put fullback Stan Bauer on the bench during the first half.

Homecoming Crowd

A crowd of 2,500 celebrated FCC's Homecoming. The Rams did not disappoint the alumni who returned for the game.

When the Rams received the ball for the first time they scored. The first time Ram Gregg Franklin got his hands on the pigskin he galloped 74 yards for the first of his two touchdowns of the evening. He broke away from several tackles in the process.

Don Burdick's first of five kicks was good for Ram points.

Cox, Ron Olson and Bauer all scored touchdowns from the one yard line, while Steve Natsues

This man is:

- A. Juggling
- B. Throwing pizzas
- C. Discussing Venezuelan architecture
- D. None of these

This group was one of many to fan-out over Caracas for various course-related field experiences during the several days the s.s. RYNDAM, campus and dormitory for the traveling students and faculty, was docked in the South American port. Professor Haven now teaches art courses at the University of Miami, Florida. His students have transferred credits earned aboard the floating campus to their home campuses and have resumed regular classes. One is from South Dakota, majoring in Sociology at Tabor College in Hillsboro, Kansas; another is a junior in Political Science at San Francisco State College; a third is a sophomore in Latin American Studies at Indiana University and still another a business student at Santa Monica City College in California.

As you read this, more than 500 students, representing 200 colleges and universities throughout the country, accompanied by a distinguished faculty, already have embarked from New York for the Fall 1967 semester which will take them to ports in Europe, Africa and Asia, returning to Los Angeles via Honolulu.

Students are now enrolling for the Spring 1968 semester and will depart from Los Angeles to engage in shipboard study supplemented by visits to ports in Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil, Senegal, Morocco, Spain, Greece, Turkey, Yugoslavia, Italy, Portugal, The Netherlands and Great Britain, terminating in May in New York.
