

Bradshaw Temporarily Replaced

White Names Two Presidents

Night Dean Kelly Assumes Control

By MARY MORRIS

Robert Kelly became acting FCC president Monday.

Stuart White, superintendent of the State Center Junior College District, announced the change and said that President Archie Bradshaw is ill.

Kelly was temporarily replaced as dean of evening college by Lawrence Martin, the assistant dean of evening college.

In an open letter to Kelly and the college staff, White said:

"I regret to inform you that my office has received a written notice from President Bradshaw's personal physician that Brad's health will not permit him to return to his duties at Fresno City College until at least May 1.

"Therefore," White continued, "effective immediately, you have been assigned to assume the full duties of the office of president at FCC and to serve as the acting president until further notice."

Dr. Clyde McCully was appointed by the trustees, after White's recommendation, as the new college president effective July 1. The appointment was made at the Mar. 30 Board of Trustees meeting.

CHOICE — Dr. Clyde C. McCully, newly appointed president of FCC.

McCully Will Be New FCC Head

Fresno City College's new president will be Dr. Clyde C. McCully, 41, currently dean of instruction at Antelope Valley College in Lancaster.

Dr. McCully will replace Dr. Archie Bradshaw, who will retire on June 30 due to ill health.

Stuart M. White, superintendent of the State Center Junior College District, said that Dr. McCully was chosen from 29 applications.

Initial Screening

An initial screening eliminated 22 of the 29 applicants. The remaining seven were given an oral examination by the screening committee. Upon reviewing these seven, White cut the number to three.

From the final three, White recommended McCully and the district trustees unanimously approved the recommendation at their Mar. 30 meeting.

After receiving notification that he had been selected to succeed Dr. Bradshaw, the Rampage was able to reach him by telephone at his home in Antelope Valley.

Distinguished College

He was very complimentary of FCC referring to it as, "one of California's most distinguished junior colleges."

It will be a "great honor to serve . . . and my wife and I are looking forward to moving to Fresno," he said.

He was a teacher and vice principal in the Lancaster School District for four years and an English instructor and assistant dean of students at Antelope Valley College before becoming dean of instruction in 1958.

Musical Melodrama Premieres Tomorrow

The FCC Drama Department will stage the musical melodrama, The Wayward Way, in the main dining room of the FCC Cafeteria tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday at 8:15 PM.

Fredrick Johnson, the director of the play, credited the villain, played by Carl Jones, as having the lead character part, while Ray Smith and Kathy Reams are the hero and heroine.

Other members of the cast are Peggy Scott, Mark Bryant, Renee Clendennings, Janice Houlding, Lloyd M. Hopkins, Cherie Franklin, John Henry Hill, Peggy Vatalaro, Dan Arrigoni, Rick Cain, Mark Bryant, James R. Badger, John Clatworthy, and Paula Casaccia.

Dancers

Dancers include Jackie Hudson, Dan Smith, Dan Arrigoni, Mark Bryant, Rick Cain, Diane Linebarger, Donna Osborn and Lydia Sanchez.

Lowell Spencer, Alex Molnar, Karen Christensen, Mike Blake, Gary Fellows, Rodger Ward, and Karla Schmidt are the musicians.

Choreographers are Mrs. Sara Dougherty and Mrs. Georgene Wiedenhoefer.

Managers

Production manager for the play, Marcia E. Isaacson, also designed the costumes, an assignment usually made to a faculty member. Susie Kiraly is stage manager and "runs the show" when Johnson is not present, Johnson said.

Janet Morris and Judy Booth are costume production engineers among the " . . . unsung workers behind the scenes."

Tickets for the musical may be obtained in the FCC Box Office. Non-students are admitted for $2.50; students other than FCC students are charged $1. FCC students with student body cards are admitted free.

Fifteen Students Start Training For Licensed Nursing

A new program for Licensed Vocational Nurses got under way last week at FCC with 15 students.

The program is financed under the federal Manpower Development Act by a grant of $47,432.

The state department of employment assists FCC in screening the applicants for the program. The course, includes extensive classroom work as well as practical work in hospitals and clinics in the Fresno area.

The program has two instructors who teach exclusively for the LVN courses. Vivi F. Natali will teach on a full-time basis, and Bessie Moore will be a part time instructor.

The course will end in Feb. 1968 and includes more than 1,200 hours of hospital work in conjunction with 500 hours of classroom work.

Mildred C. Bosteder, director of LVN training at FCC, said this program is designed to provide retraining opportunities in a vocational field for which there is a need in the Fresno area.

The need of LVN's is graphically shown by the success that FCC has had in placing its grad-

Instructor Helps Accredit College

FCC instructor Franz Weinschenk is helping in the accreditation of Los Angeles Valley College in Van Nuys this week.

In assessing and rating the school's academic merits, Weinschenk will inspect classrooms, visit classes and talk with students and faculty members.

"I consider this an honor and a challenge," Weinschenk said, "and I hope to do my best."

Honor Society Offers Study Help Program

Alpha Gamma Sigma, an honorary society, will offer a new phase to their tutoring service.

Beginning next week, AGS tutors will be available in Student Center 222 to help the students daily between 9 AM to 2 PM.

On Fridays the office will be open until 1 PM.

The program is a continuation from last semester except for one major change; a student fee is no longer charged.

Deficiency Notice

"The program came into existence," stated Doug Calhoun, AGS president, "when we learned of the high percentage of students who receive deficiency notices. We realized that there was a need for a program that would help boost the student's grade."

Rick Patton, AGS tutorial program chairman, said that if the student makes the initiative to want to learn with the assistance of one of the 30 tutors available, the tutor can assure the student of a better grade in his particular course.

He also said that he was certain the tutors are capable of helping the students because they have had the same courses and the instructors. Patton feels the tutors can best help the student by telling him what area in which he should concentrate his studies.

How To Study

"We advise and teach the student how to study," Patton said. "We don't do it for them."

Notices will be posted outside Student Center 222 to allow students to know when certain tutors will be available.

The tutorial program committee includes Doug Nelson, Kayoko Yamamoto, Rick Patton and Doug Calhoun. Club adviser is Helen Bever.

Currently Enrolled Students Given Registration Priority

Priority will be given to all currently enrolled students for summer school registration.

Larry Martin, assistant dean of summer school, said that returning students may register by mail May 8 to 12.

Priority Will End

Martin stated that priority will end for all currently enrolled students on June 12.

A schedule of courses being offered this summer can be obtained in Administration 107, beginning Apr. 10.

Students are urged by the staff of the summer school to prepare their summer school schedules at the same time they are preparing their fall semester schedules.

Same Registration Patterns

Registration for the summer session will follow somewhat the same patterns of registration for the fall and spring semesters.

Starting May 8, students may get their routing envelopes at the Fresno City College ticket office, located in the ground floor of the Student Center Building. A 15 cent fee will be charged to cover mailing costs for grades.

Students will then be asked to complete all the necessary forms which are in the routing envelopes.

Musicians Will Go To Bakersfield

Five FCC musicians will be in Bakersfield Saturday to participate in the Central California Honor Band Concert.

The musicians representing FCC will go to Bakersfield tomorrow to audition for chair placements in the band, Vincent Moats, FCC band director, said. The students are Glenn Kumagai, tenor saxophone; Ron Franklin and Ron Antoyan, trumpet, and Carl Fendley and Charlie Hildebrand, French horn.

The concert will be presented in Bakersfield College, Saturday at 8:15 PM. Approximately 130 students will take part in the band.

Bradshaw Is Ill; Kelly Takes Over

FCC President Archie Bradshaw, who is ill, has been temporarily replaced by Robert Kelly, dean of the evening college and summer sessions.

Stuart M. White, district superintendent, appointed Kelly to serve as acting president at least until May 1.

"Bob has served here at FCC for many years," White said. "He is a competent administrator and I feel he is the man to keep things rolling."

White added that it was unfortunate that Dr. Bradshaw should fall ill at this time since an accreditation team from the Western Association of Schools and Colleges is visiting FCC in early May.

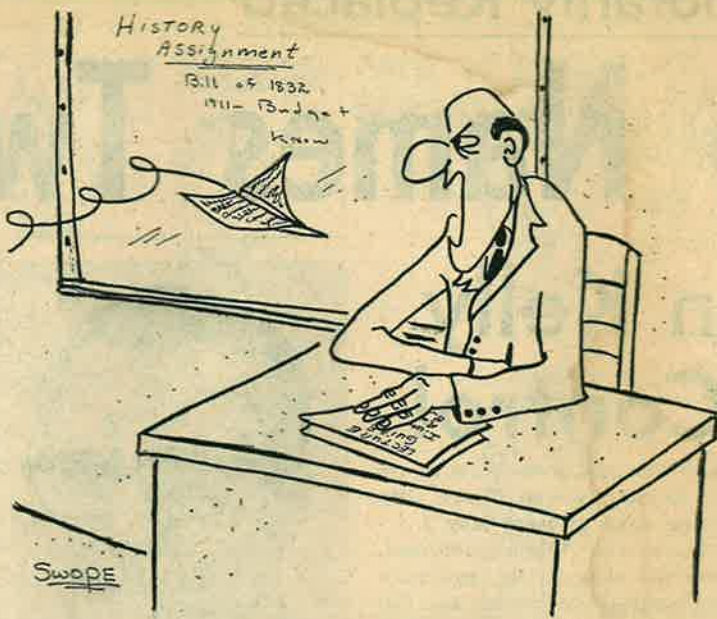

They are coming to review conditions on campus and consider awarding up to five years of accreditation to FCC.

However, Kelly has served as coordinator between Dr. Bradshaw and other faculty members in preparing for the visit.

His duties have included writing and producing the application for accreditation and seeing that exhibits are prepared for display.

The Rampage hopes for the quick recovery of Dr. Bradshaw and trusts that his administrative burdens will be successfully transferred to Acting President Kelly.

"Naughty, Naughty, Barnhill!"

Two Join Music Group

By VICKI OEHLSCHLAEGER
How would you like to travel with one of the nation's new musical groups, Up With People?

Kate Moore and Dennis Koyanagi, FCC students, will be doing just this.

Miss Moore and Koyanagi are members of Singout Southwest, one of the four national casts of Up With People. It is made up of persons from 15 different cities throughout California, Arizona and New Mexico. The 380 persons in the cast include 12 from Fresno.

Performances

The Singout Southwest cast began practicing in Ontario, Calif., and performed in Palm Springs for three days. While in Palm Springs the group stayed in local homes and traveled throughout the city.

The Singout Southwest cast began as 15 local singouts from different cities, Koyanagi said. While practicing together, they decided to organize as a national cast.

If the Singout Southwest cast can raise $150,000 they can get their first show started, Miss Moore said. Their first performance would be in Santa Barbara and eventually throughout the Southwest, if funds permitted.

The three other national casts travel worldwide, Koyanagi said. The tours are sponsored by Pace Magazine and private donations.

When asked how they felt about being members of the cast, Miss Moore said, "It's the most wonderful thing in my life. The people are so friendly."

"It's a privilege to be with them," Koyanagi said. "Up With People is a good thing."

Lambda Alpha Epsilon

Enforcement Fraternity Rates Second In Size

FCC's chapter Kappa Omega Phi of Lambda Alpha Epsilon, a professional law enforcement fraternity, is the second largest in the nation.

"We have no doubt that we will be the largest within one year," adviser Earl Pugsley said.

Cerritos College at Norwalk, Calif., the largest, has 56 members, while FCC's one-year old chapter has 50 active members.

Honorary Members

Honorary members of the local chapter are Sgt. Kazumitsu Naito and Rod Haron, student body president.

Sgt. Naito, from Yamanashi Police Headquarters in Japan, spent three months in the Fresno area as guest of the Fresno Police Department studying American police methods.

During this period Sgt. Naito visited frequently with the police science students at FCC.

Open To All

Pugsley said that LAE on the collegiate level is open to men and women students in police science or directly related fields such as criminology or probation.

There are chapter of LAE on the professional as well as the collegiate level.

Officers of the Kappa Omega Phi, FCC's chapter, are Bob Johansen, president; Bob Lung, first vice president; Ronald Sanchez, second vice president.

Earlene Deanda is secretary; Suzi Counsilman, treasurer; Randy Tatum, Inter-Club Council representative, and Richard Guinn, sergeant-at-arms.

Advisers

Pugsley, police science coordinator, and Cris Flammig, police science instructor, are the advisers.

"The spirit of the program stems from the willingness of the students in it to take part in outside activities," Pugsley said.

LAE co-sponsored with the Technical and Industrial Club the winning candidate for homecoming queen, Rocky Pressler.

In the fall semester LAE had the most donors in the annual

Bookstore Benefits Students

"The bookstore operates as a non-profit organization," said Mrs. Jewel Dettinger, FCC bookstore manager. "This means non-profit to the extent that no profit is made to benefit any individual ownership."

"The bookstore is entirely self-supporting. All merchandise is sold with enough margin to support and maintain the cost of present and future operations."

Textbook prices are set by the publishers and remain uniform at all the nation's colleges, she said.

"The bookstore receives only a small margin of profit on books and must make up the profits for operational costs on other items sold."

The bookstore is audited every fiscal year. All profits made over and above the cost of operation are put into savings accounts, Mrs. Dettinger said. All interest paid on savings is placed in scholarship funds for the benefit of FCC students.

The sole purpose of the bookstore is to benefit the student, she said, through store operations and profit management.

Work And Frolic

Club Members Seek Funds For Ski Trips

By RITA JOHNSON

From the snow-packed slopes of China Peak to Cherry Avenue Auction, the FCC Ski Club has worked and frolicked.

Blair Loony, the president, said the club's 75 members are mostly involved with fund raising activities to help finance club trips to different skiing resorts.

Ski Club members will leave Fresno at 6 AM Sunday by chartered bus for China Peak.

Snow Trips

The club has taken two other trips to China Peak, one to Heavenly Valley and one to Lake Tahoe. During their Tahoe excursion, the members were unable to ski due to weather conditions, and they ended up playing football in the snow.

On the way to Tahoe a car load of the skiers lost their way in Sacramento, Loony said, and while returning, seven members were snowed in at the lake.

New Display Introduces Live Models

Students passing the window display in the business department may be in for a surprise.

The large window is featuring a live display this week. Mrs. Leneve Leatham, instructor of the retailing class, said it's the "latest in display."

"Hawaii and New York set up fashion displays with live models," Mrs. Leatham said. Two of her students, John Bakallan and Marty Harper, brought the device to FCC.

The display features two hungry students munching away at Spanish food. The display is an advertisement for a local drive-in and has been appropriately dubbed the "Eat In" by Jack Hill, a marketing instructor at FCC.

"It's a real human relations job," Mrs. Leatham said. "Students must go out into the community and convince local businessmen into letting them display their merchandise."

The store usually lends merchandise to the student on a one week basis.

"There is no business transaction involved, and the students are responsible for transporting the products," Mrs. Leatham said.

Auto Restoration Featured In Mechanics Department

A story: Nestled among the six technical and industrial buildings of the campus is T-207, the home of the auto mechanics department.

Constant activity is continuous with the revving of engines and the clank of tools adding to the workaday cacaphony of a mechanic's shop.

A group of students huddle over the open hood of a '53 Mercury, listening to the instructor, Leo Takeuchi, explain the phenomena of the internal combustion engine.

Informal Mood

At the east end of the building another instructor, Joe Woodman, removes his jacket in preparation for the 2 PM class. The mood of the building is informal, and the students and instructors are clad in grease-covered overalls.

There are racks, distributor testing machines, hydraulic jacks and much more equipment lying about in some semblance of order.

The condition of the equipment, although not all modern and shiny, is excellent. The instructors teach the use and value of keeping tools in good condition.

Charles Coffman, the third instructor, has just finished his class and is still answering the questions of students about a clogged and geared piece of automotive machinery. The instructors do much more than put in their time.

Greasy Aroma

As the day ends and the doors are shut, the auto mechanics building loses some of its greasy aroma, and the activity slows to a near halt — but not for long.

In a few short hours the doors will open to another group of students attending the evening course. John Osborne, the evening instructor, will answer the questions, teach the mechanics and sometimes shout over the noise.

That's the way it goes in the auto mechanics department.

Trustees Meet

Auditorium May Open When Arch Is Fixed

By BILL PEYTON

A $3,690 steel support in the Auditorium may allow next year's students to attend dramatic performances and assemblies in better surroundings than the Cafeteria, Gymnasium or Student Lounge can provide.

In their regular meeting of Mar. 30 the Board of Trustees authorized structural bracing of the arch separating the stage from the Auditorium.

Garland Peed, the assistant superintendent for business, said the Auditorium is expected to be ready for use by September.

Remodeling McLane Hall

The board also authorized a study toward remodeling McLane Hall.

David H. Horn, the architect master planning the campus, estimates an expense of $50,000 for the McLane work.

Peed noted that when the figure is more precise the board will decide if the expenditure is worthwhile.

Other Proposed Remodeling

The proposed remodeling also would convert a classroom to a laboratory, rewire or improve the wiring in the building and convert a storeroom in the Administration building to an office.

Both the Auditorium and McLane Hall may be razed in 10 years. Wayne Taul, a structural engineer, has said they aren't worth the cost in making them comply with the Field Act, a state law requiring buildings to be strong enough to withstand earthquakes.

Ball Park Bids

In other action, the board: —Authorized the administration to seek bids for the remodeling of John Eulless Ball Park, just behind Ratchliffe Stadium.

Reconstruction of the old wooden park to a concrete stadium would cost $210,000 in the first phase. The city of Fresno has agreed to contribute $30,000.

The timetable anticipates that a contractor would begin building precast concrete stadium sections on the site June 1 with demolition of the existing park to begin Sept. 6 after the baseball season is over. The Fresno Giants, a professional team, uses the park.

The board also approved hiring Mid-Cal Publishers of Fresno, the lowest of three bidders at $7,885, to print the 1967-68 catalogues of courses for FCC and Reedley College.

Opinions

The Rampage Roving Reporter asked different students, "How would you change the present dress code?"

Richard Owen, a fourth semester criminology major, answered; "I think girls and boys ought to be able to wear capris and bermudas to dances and classrooms, although they shouldn't go to the extreme by going from bermudas to short shorts. If the clothing is too revealing, it causes loss of concentration in the classroom."

Cherie Franklin, a second semester drama major, said, "Students should have free dress. They should be able to dress in anything that they think appropriate. I think capris should be allowed to dances but not classrooms. Also, bermudas shouldn't be worn to class."

Dick Gividen, a first semester electronics major, said, "I believe girls should dress themselves to look like girls. My ideas are kind of old fashioned, but I like girls in dresses."

Wayne Shearin, a third semester advertising major, said, "The decisions on how to dress should be left up to the individual."

Linda Linebaugh, a second semester pre-medical major, said, "I think it is more important to know what the dress code is before we try to change it."

Becky Ruppel, a second semester business major, said, "Girls should be able to wear capris to dances but not to classrooms. I think bermudas are fine for boys to wear to dances but not girls. Also, students shouldn't go barefoot."

Patricia Magines, fourth semester art major, said, "I don't think guys should be able to wear bermudas; but if they are allowed to wear bermudas, girls should be allowed to do the same. I think that if girls are conservatively dressed in capris they should be allowed to wear them to school."

Monthly Board Meetings Open To General Public

"Does everyone know that Board of Trustees meetings are open to the public?" Garland Peed, assistant superintendent of business for the State Center Junior College District, said recently.

"Non-members are usually excluded only from executive sessions, such as the 80-minute conference at the Mar. 30 meeting to select FCC's new president."

"Interested persons may also obtain minutes of any of the monthly meetings."

Meetings

The Board of Trustees meets the fourth Thursday of each month in the Library Board Room. Meetings start at 7:30 PM and are usually over by 10:30.

Present board members are: Fresno — Baxter K. Richardson; Reedley — Robert J. Hixson; West Side — Alvin J. Quist; Madera — Dr. Ray M. Miles; Sierra — Lynn B. Ford; Selma — Harry Hiraoka.

The order of business includes an introduction of guests, letters to the board and reports ranging from finance and personnel to policy and buildings.

Duties

Some of the board's duties are to appoint or dismiss SCJCD employees, recommend repairs or building maintenance, request and consider reports about the educational program, provide proper accounting procedures, the auditing of funds and to serve as a board of appeal for students, employees and citizens of the district.

The board was established Jan. 1, 1964. Terms last four years and members volunteer with no monetary payment for their services.

Tax Election May Provide $25 Million

By MARSHA MARTIN

The "pay-as-you-go" tax election Apr. 18 will provide $25,000,000 for building needs for the State Center Junior College District for the next nine years.

If the tax proposal is approved by the voters, district officials said that SCJCD may apply for federal and state grants that will probably provide an additional $7,500,000 difference.

They said that due to the rapid growth of FCC and Reedley College since 1964, the 28-cent override tax is greatly needed.

Projected enrollment indicates that by 1977 there will be 15,574 full-time students attending college in the district. This is a 250 per cent increase over the district's 1964 enrollment of 4,450 for both colleges.

District officials also said that it will be necessary to expand FCC by 1977 to accommodate 6,000 full-time students, provide additional classrooms and related facilities at Reedley College for 3,500 full-time students.

Ten FCC students have been going to various towns to speak in favor of the tax election. They are, Jim Chappel, Sally Smith, Tina Gyer, Ed Reid, Ken Bundy, Doug Nelson, Diana Bechkoff, Patty Weaver, Mary Huizar and Jane Hill.

If you would like to help the cause, contact Miss Doris Deakins, Dean of Women. Volunteers are needed to address voting brochures to city residents.

of instruction at Antelope Valley College in Lancaster.

Bradshaw, who has been president of the college since July 1, 1964, had previously announced his retirement effective June 30. One of the reasons for this action is his health condition.

The current projects for the president, Kelly said, will include completing the 1967-68 school budget, overseeing the building plans for the proposed campus expansion and completing the accreditation process.

Accreditation is an evaluating process which each junior college with a transfer program must go through at least once every five years.

Kelly predicts no complication in his new duties. Evaluating the college and its staff, he said, "Personally I feel we have a good college, an outstanding staff and a good administration; in the total analysis I am real proud of it."

Mellow Drama

Music Division Sings For Wayward Way

Music will be sounding throughout FCC during the spring semester.

It will be provided by the music department's special performing vocal groups.

C. Lowell Spencer, music director, explained that the music department is now involved in the musical, The Wayward Way. Fourteen members of the FCC Choir and vocal ensemble are participating in the production.

Fun-Filled Evening

"I hope all the students attend the musical," Spencer said. "It should be very colorful and a fun evening for everyone."

The presentation will be in Oakhurst on Apr. 14 and Madera on Apr. 15. A tentative performance date has also been scheduled for Castle Air Force Base.

Spring Concert

The choir and vocal ensemble will take part in the annual spring concert on May 17 and 18, one performance will be for FCC students and the other for the public.

Spencer said the concert will be "an interesting evening of musical entertainment."

Rally Club Boosts Spirit

The Rally Club attempts to encourage school spirit and works all year toward this goal, according to Miss Claudia Larson, sponsor.

The club is responsible for decorating for games and sectioning off rooters. Members make posters of upcoming athletic events and arrange rooter buses for out-of-town games.

Last fall the club submitted a float for Homecoming that tied for first place. They also received the Homecoming trophy for the most active club at FCC.

Miss Larson said that among upcoming events for the club, there will be a booth for Wild West Day and preparation for rally squad tryouts. Tryouts will be held in late May.

Membership is open to FCC students.

The vocal ensemble will also be performing at various community and service groups during the spring.

Job Center's Working Plan Proves Useful

A Work Study Program developed this fall by the FCC Placement Office, Student Center 216, has been successful.

This is the opinion of Mrs. Dorothy Ediger, the Placement Office supervisor.

"This program is similar to ones developed in other colleges in the area," she said.

Student Work

Mrs. Ediger said the program has enabled students to work at the college as well as continue their education.

The program was set up by the State Center Junior College District after funds were appropriated by the government.

Mrs. Ediger said 90 per cent of the money is donated by the government and 10 per cent by the district.

Clerical Job

The work done at the college is mainly clerical with a few jobs in the library and laboratory rooms, she said.

"Students applying for a job under this program will not be allowed to work more than 15 hours a week during a school term," she said. "However no limit is set for work done during the summer at FCC."

Students will receive a flat rate of $1.25 per hour. She said the program, which now has from 40-45 students, may be discontinued during the summer, but it would begin again in the fall semester.

Mrs. Ediger said the Placement Office is for the students' benefit. She said she hoped FCC students would take an active interest in the Work Study Program as well as in the various work experiences offered by the office.

Baseballers Face Active Weekend

The Ram baseball team will travel to Modesto Saturday to play a double-header with Modesto Junior College at 12:30 PM.

The Rams will host the College of Sequoias in John Eulless Park Tuesday at 3 PM.

The Rams boast an unbeaten stretch of eight games. Their last defeat was a twin bill with San Joaquin Delta College Mar. 18.

Tied For Second

COS is leading the Valley Conference at 3-1, while FCC and MJC are tied for second, along with American River College and SJD, all with 2-2 records.

In a non-league game Thursday in Santa Maria, Don Krick pitched five shutout innings in his first starting assignment of the year, but the Rams had to scramble to preserve a 10-8 win over the Hancock College Bulldogs.

Krick pitched five brilliant innings, giving up only one hit and fanning eight.

Hard Luck

The hard-throwing lefthander was a victim of hard luck, leaving the game to Bruce Allen after five innings.

Allen erased Krick's 5-0 lead in the next inning.

Hancock erupted for five runs in the bottom of the sixth, including a grand slam run by Lee Smith.

Regain Lead

The Rams regained the lead in the top of the seventh with two more runs, only to drop back on Hancock's two-run rally.

The Rams, not to be outdone, came back in the top of the eighth with three more runs to clinch their victory.

Souza Wins

Ram fireman Bob Souza received credit for the win, while Hancock reliever Jim Burch took the loss.

Steve Shannon pounded out a pair of doubles, and Ross Bauer and Bill Avedisian each contributed two hits and drove in a pair of runs for the Rams.

Dan Alsson had a round-tripper for the losers.

Trackmen Continue VC Play

Tomorrow, the Ram track squad will travel to Modesto for a league meet.

The Delta College track meet, originally set for last Saturday, was rained out and has been rescheduled for April 25.

The Rams have not competed for two weeks and FCC spike coach Erwin Ginsburg said the layoff from competition is "bound to hurt the team."

He said he is still confident the Rams can beat Modesto.

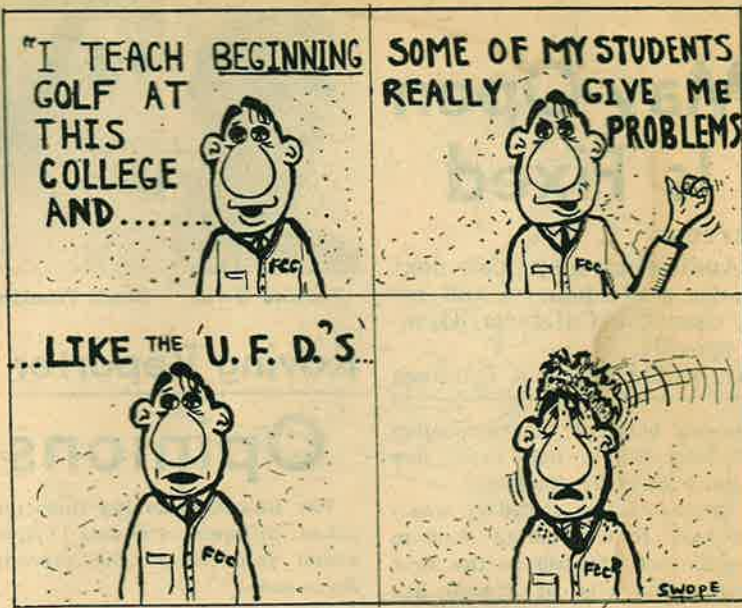

Ginsburg said the weather has caused a "seige of colds" but that the team is in relatively good health.

Commenting on the Rams' chances of winning the Valley Conference, Ginsburg noted that team strength and not top performers would determine the outcome.

He singled out Carl Beard and Don Neal, sprints; Allan Nazarov and Russ Schmidt, 440; Harold Alexander, Bob Lemley and Greg Hawkins, jumpers; Jim Moore and Preston Daniels, hurdles; as essential team performers along with team standouts Sam Davis, sprints; Mike Wood, shot put; Erwin Hunt, hurdles; Bob Popp, pole vault and Gary Rossi, discus.

Frank Luna, distance, will be competing in his first meet tomorrow and is counted on to help the Ram cause.

Luna was unable to compete earlier in the season due to an injury at his job.

Swim Team Travels To Modesto Today

The Ram swim team travels to Modesto to meet Modesto Junior College and Sacramento City College in a Valley Conference double dual meet today at 4 PM.

"Sacramento, Modesto and FCC are fairly even contenders in this meet," said Ram Coach Gene Stephens. "The team with the most depth should come out on top."

The Rams host the American River College Beavers tomorrow at 3 PM. Larry Blalock, Frank Valine and Jim Parkinson are the three top swimmers on the ARC team.

Clinch Tie

College of Sequoias clinched at least a tie for the VC title with a 75-28 win over the Rams Thursday in the COS pool.

Despite the loss Stephens was pleased with the overall team effort.

"Some of the swimmers recorded their best times of the season," he said, "and any time we can do this we are showing progress."

Talbert Takes First

Diver Floyd Talbert scored 151.5 points to give the Rams their only first place in the COS action.

Don Fluter finished second in the 50-yard freestyle with 23.5 and placed third in the 500-yard freestyle.

1967 Football Chart Features Nine Encounters

The 1967 FCC football season will feature nine games with four home encounters.

The Rams will open the season with a game against Diablo Valley College, followed by games against Bakersfield College, Spokane Community College, San Diego Mesa College, American River College, San Joaquin Delta College, Modesto Junior College, Sacramento City College and College of Sequoias.

Clare Slaughter will coach the team, assisted by Bill Musick and Jack Mattox.

The Rams were undefeated in 1966 Valley Conference play and played in a post-season potato bowl game.

Net Squad To Battle Opponent

Two league matches are in store for the FCC tennis team this weekend.

Tomorrow the Rams will host Modesto Junior College starting at 2:30 PM.

Saturday the Rams will battle Delta College on the FCC courts starting at 9 AM.

Chuck Stark, FCC tennis coach, said he hoped to reverse earlier season defeats by both opponents.

Tough Team

Stark noted Modesto was one of the two toughest teams in the Valley Conference, being undefeated in league play.

The Ram netmen played an exhibition contest with Fresno State College Monday, winning six of the 13 matches.

In an earlier season encounter with FSC, the Rams won only three of the matches.

Pleased

"I was pleased with the performances of all the players," Stark said, "especially Rick Kelly and Buzz Callaway."

He said he was happy with John Gray's (top Ram netter) victory in a single's match with FSC's top player, Jeff Kuns.

Stark added that the outcome of upcoming matches will depend upon the players putting forth a "real team effort."

Last weekend's matches with Sacramento City College and American River College were rained out.

FCC netters will host the Valley Conference tournament on May 5 and 6.

Ram Golfers To Play Delta

The Ram golf team will travel to Visalia today at 1 PM to play San Joaquin Delta College. The match was postponed from Tuesday due to rain.

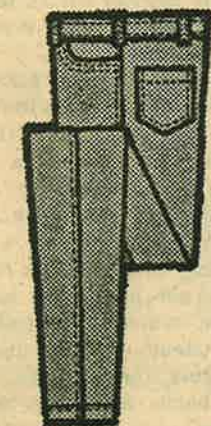

FCC will host the Modesto Junior College and the College of Sequoias teams in a Valley Conference dual match on the Fig Garden Golf Course tomorrow at 1 PM.

"We have had a shaky season," said Ram Coach Hans Wiedenhofer, "but we are still in there fighting for a win."

The tentative starting lineup for the Rams this week consists of Dave Milutinovich, Ed Mastropolo, Roger Stiles, Jerry Borton and Allan Blaine Ghan.

The double meet against Hartnell College and Monterey Peninsula College which was cancelled Friday has been rescheduled for Apr. 14.
