

Saturday confab will counsel Chicano youth

Lupe Soltero, Frank Quintana, Celia Maldonado, Jesus Rodriguez, and Ernest Moreno plan Saturday's Youth Conference.

Arriba Con Los De Abajo ("up with the underdogs")! That will be the spirit of Saturday's Chicano Youth Conference.

MECHA and FCC's Raza staff will sponsor the conference in cooperation with the college to acquaint Chicano youth of all the educational aids and special programs available to them.

MECHA and the Raza staff are co-sponsoring this conference because the Chicano has the lowest economical and educational level of any minority group, with the exception of the American Indian.

The State Division of Fair Employment Practice shows that fifth grade for males and sixth grade for females is the average educational level of the Chicano in the Fresno metropolitan area.

In the SCCD, Chicano students comprise only 16 percent of the community college population, though they comprise 31.2 percent of the kindergarten through twelfth grade population in the district.

MECHA members feel the high dropout rate is due in part to insufficient counseling for Chicanos at the high school level. "Chicanos are not encouraged to continue their education," said Lupe Soltero. "There is not enough directed vocational counseling in high school."

MECHA political adviser Ernest Moreno blamed the counselor - student relationship. "High school counselors do not establish a close enough relationship with the Chicano student," he said.

Randy Ramirez, administration adviser to MECHA, feels "the present counseling in our educational system has not and cannot meet the needs of the Chicano student, therefore causing the high dropout rate of the Chicano student. Hopefully, this conference will give more insight to the Chicano student of what the educational process really has to offer."

MECHA adviser and FCC counselor Frank Quintana feels the problem goes much deeper than insufficient counseling. "There is a definite need for bilingual training in elementary teachers," he said. "Most of the children are from Spanish-speaking homes. The lack of bilingual training and understanding of cultural problems in elementary teachers holds many students back, causing them to become discouraged."

"That's why the conference revolves around both college and special problems. We want to draw representatives in public employment to acquaint the Chicano with every opportunity available to him."

City Councilman Al Villa will be the keynote speaker at the program. Gabe Terronez, former welterweight fighter and presently a job agent for the Department of Human Resources Development, will also be speaking.

Workshops are scheduled from 10:45 to 2:15, with a 45- (See Conference page 8)

Student speech rights face new restrictions

Rules governing the distribution of literature on campus are likely to be more, rather than less, strict as a result of the new California law which was passed last October.

Dean of Students Merle Martin revealed that, although FCC has not revised its distribution policy as yet, several other community colleges had and the trend seemed to be towards more rigid codes.

Martin spoke on the subject at this week's meeting of the Student Personnel Committee. ASB President Ron Gray asked that students be granted a voice on the committee that will revise FCC's policy, a request that the committee endorsed unanimously.

It was also pointed out at the meeting that actual construction on the first phase of the new parking lots will probably begin around May 1. This will necessitate the closing of a portion of University Ave., and will mean that the staff parking lot there will also be closed.

The first phase will provide additional stalls in the area between the extension center and Del Mar Ave. and out to McKinley Ave. Future construction will surround the campus with parking spaces, with

'Students denied civil liberties'

by Kit Jones

"Our whole educational system, until recently, has been based on the worst kind of an authoritarian system," charged Jay Miller at Monday's meeting of the FCC Friends of Civil Liberties.

Miller, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union of Northern California, claimed that "Constitutional rights should -- but usually don't--apply to everyone inside as well as outside an educational institution."

"We allow people to stand outside a used car lot carrying pickets and saying, 'don't buy from this dealer because he sells rotten cars,' but we won't allow students to carry signs and say, 'don't go to this class because it's a rotten course'."

Miller pointed to the 'students is niggers' campaign of a few years ago as the beginning of the students' rights movement. "Students rights is a relatively new fight, which is why dissent now is so critical. We need test cases to demonstrate in court just what rights students have."

"For instance, all students have the right to speak on any subject in the common way, which includes the campus. All kinds of leaflets, pamphlets, buttons and/or posters can be passed out without prior approval from the administration, especially since SB 890 was passed in October."

"All sit-ins, strikes and pickets should be allowed as long as they remain orderly--by that I mean no window-breaking, no locking deans in closets, no destroying offices; things of that nature."

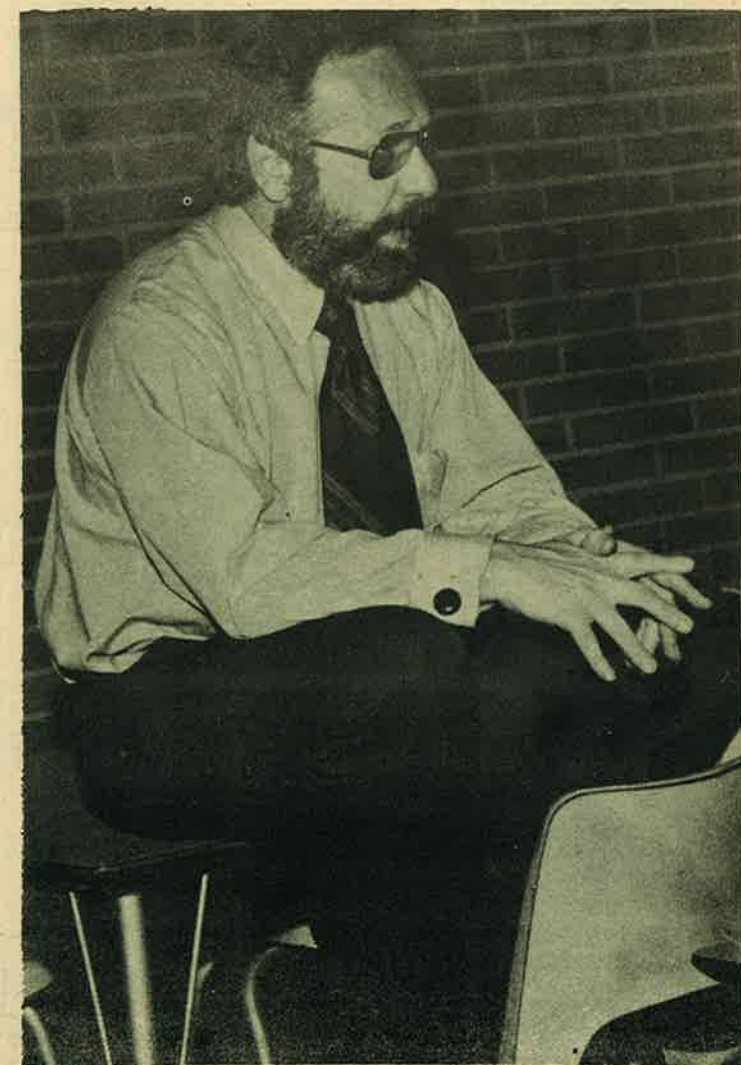

There are 11,000 members of the ACLU in N. Cal., according to Miller, and about 50 volunteer attorneys handling a current caseload of about 200 cases. The total national membership is about 170,000.

"We know that most Americans don't really believe in civil liberties," added Miller. "I mean they do for themselves, but most Americans get very worried when someone starts suggesting that civil liberties should be granted to all Americans."

Miller advised that students on this or any other college

McGovern tops poll

Some 144 FCC students cast their ballots in last week's presidential election, with Sen. George McGovern coming away an easy winner. McGovern polled 57 votes, which accounted for 46 percent of the total cast, said Commissioner of Elections Wayne Warkentin.

The remainder of the candidates finished as follows:

President Richard Nixon, 19 votes, 15 %; Rep. Shirley Chisholm, 12 votes, 10%; Sen. Edmund Muskie, 8 votes, 6 %;

Mayor John Lindsay, 5 votes, 4%; Sen. Hubert Humphrey, 4 votes, 3%; Gov. George Wallace, 4 votes, 3%; Sen. Edward Kennedy, 4 votes, 3%; Rep. Paul McCloskey, 2 votes, 2%; Sen. Henry Jackson, 1 vote, 1%; Sen. Eugene McCarthy, 1 vote, 1%; Sen. Vance Hartke, 1 vote, 1%; Rep. John Ashbrook, 1 vote, 1%; Peace and Freedom Party candidate Spock Hobson, 1 vote, 1%; Dr. Benjamin Spock, 1 vote, 1%; Pat Paulson, 1 vote, 1%; and instructor Don Larson, 1 vote, 1%.

FCC President Clyde C. McCully is recuperating in the St. Agnes Hospital after having undergone surgery there Monday.

Dr. McCully is expected to be back on campus in about a month. Meanwhile, Dean of Instruction Robert Kelly is serving as acting president.

Free Senate lunches mock economy spiel

The Student Senate's decision to allocate $200 for monthly Senate luncheons must be considered, at best, remarkable.

Although the Senate could use a little harmony, the idea that food will bring this about seems slightly ridiculous. With only about $2,200 left to support unbudgeted student activities for the remainder of the semester, the Senate may yet regret the move.

At a time when an increasing number of students are refusing to purchase ASB cards, the decision is doubly harmful. It makes a mockery of recent spiel about a wiser use of student monies.

The Senate should cancel all further private excursions which are paid for by student body funds.

Moretti vs. tuition

Reprinted from the Fresno Bee

The citizens of California will owe Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti of Los Angeles a debt of gratitude if he makes good his promise that tuition will not be imposed on California State College students as long as he is speaker of the Assembly.

Moretti's pledge to maintain inexpensive higher education at the state colleges takes on even more significance in the light of Gov. Ronald Reagan's latest call for $150 a year tuition.

Before both men spoke to the California State Colleges Academic Senate in Sacramento last week it seemed tuition for the state colleges would not be a burning issue. But the governor's call for students to bear the burden for their own education instead of the taxpayers revived it.

In 1970, at the governor's insistence, the state college Board of Trustees adopted a resolution calling for the end of free public education on the 19 state college campuses.

Since only the legislature can make tuition a reality, nothing has been done about it. The college students pay certain fees for no tuition. The result is that a student can go to a state college much more cheaply than he can go to the University of California which has imposed a $300 a year "educational fee."

There should be no tuition at the state colleges next year or the next or the next.

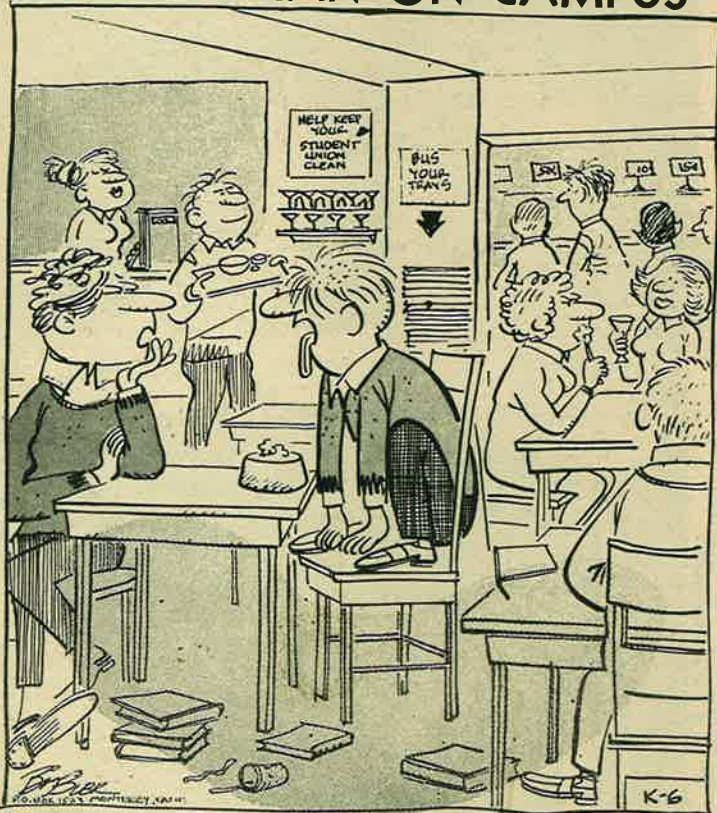

Raising the cost of education in that segment of California's tripartite system of public higher education would most certainly force the students into the junior colleges which are supported primarily by local property taxes.

What the governor would save in state funds by socking it to the students would, when all is said and done, be taken out of the pockets of the overburdened local taxpayer.

Reagan's latest argument is since there is tuition at the University of California, it is only fair there should be tuition at the state colleges.

That was perfectly answered by Moretti who said: "Two wrongs don't make a right."

Senate blasted for lunches

Dear Editor:

Perhaps the most compelling and legitimate argument for the abrogation of student government (and the concomitant result of lowering student body "membership" fees) could be evidenced on the first page of the March 6 issue of the Rampage.

An article extolling the weekly accomplishments of the FCC Student Senate concluded that "...major business this week involved setting up today's Senate luncheon, which is being held at Al's Coffee Shop." The paragraph concluded that $200 of student body membership fees would be earmarked to purchase the Student Senate's lunch in order to, in the words of the article, "promote harmony within the historically strife-ridden legislature."

Now look, we have caught the Student Senate with their hands in the cookie jar and there is no justification for letting them get away with this overtly corrupt action. You may believe that a $200 appropriation for feeding the Student Senate does not deem a significant discussion, but just think of how this money could be better utilized. The money could be distributed to the students in the form of eight $25 scholarships, or provide the student body with a free barbecue on May Day or increase the Student Lounge into a bona fide student union.

Instead the Student Senate spends the money at Al's Coffee Shop to "promote harmony" within the senate. Nobody will convince me that Al's food has the mystical ingredients to create harmony, for if it does, why should we feed it only to the Student Senate?

Instead we could feed it to American and North Vietnamese leaders so that we can end the Indochinese conflict or feed it to our parents so that we may end racial prejudice.

Don't let this graft infiltrate our student government. Write or tell student senators that you believe this luncheon policy is wrong and that they are capable of buying their own lunch. We have enough corruption in America today, how can we honestly allow these students to steal our money?

'We shouldn't forget My Lai'

Dear Editor:

The My Lai massacre is four years past now and President Nixon has done the impossible. He has convinced the people that the war in Indochina is over. But that's a lie, people. The war is not over.

The war rages on, and on, and on. Are you surprised? Well, don't be. Your apathy is helping it stay alive. What?

You've heard all you want to hear about apathy? Yes, you're right, people. But, unless your heads change this won't be the last Vietnam.

So, 20 years from now when you're entrenched in suburbia and the war drums start to beat again, think back. Think back, people and remember the soldiers that fell at Chu Lai, the II Drang Valley, Khe Sahn, Dak To, and Hamburger Hill.

Remember the innocent who died at My Lai and a hundred other places. Remember your brothers who said no to the war drums. And do remember that 20 years from now those war drums will be calling for your children, people! YOUR CHILDREN! Will you let them go?

Millbrook school needs money

Dear Editor:

Since last October I've been trying to write a letter to your readers about Millbrook Free High School. It never comes out right. This time, without fighting the subject, without trying to explain Millbrook to people who haven't heard of it, I'm going to state my request.

Send money. Send it to Millbrook High School, 1011 East Vassar.

Do it because it is a good school where kids who aren't making it in the public school stampede can fulfill their legal obligation to check in somewhere everyday and learn.

Do it because it is a loose little first-name school where teachers work for love and a pittance, with hope that the school will live, not die.

Do it because they have worked so hard on their newspaper and now can't come up with $50 to get it printed.

Do it because it is good for you to give and share and have a part in the action outside your own skin.

Do it because I've gone as far as I can with it out of our grocery money.

Do it, and take my blessing.

If you want to meet Millbrook School, their Craft Shop is at 1462 N. Van Ness, a seven-minute walk from Fresno City College.

Things that go bang in the column

by Moss Britten

Since I've had such a terrific reaction to my Dear Rev. Moss format, I'm going to abandon it in favor of the old three dot running social commentary...for instance, the most shocking news of the week for me was the announcement that Tiny Tim and his lovely wife Vicky were separating. Life will never be the same. Now, who will clear up all our Karmic Con-jestion...There towards the end, you'll realize that those of you parking sideways in the bicycle rack are a pain...Proof positive of Britten's Law of Diminishing Returns is Jim Scott, head of the local Tax Rebellion Committee. I wonder if he's ever met singer Joan Baez...Always good for a laugh, the Student Senate surely deserves some award for voting themselves $200 for luncheons. It's reported that at the first luncheon they discussed the possibility of having FCC secede from Fresno...Would anyone care to join me in front of the Senate Chamber burning my student body card.

Martha Mitchell, usually an outspoken critic of everything, has been strangely silent lately. I wonder what it could be...the Gov. Wallace victory in the Florida primary Tuesday brings to mind the famous quote from Will Rogers, "I don't belong to any organized political party, I'm a democrat. Don't you feel better already... In the continuing saga of Police Chief Morton, he now says that he's going to postpone his retirement until some discrepancy with his pension is cleared up. So, to you Chief Morton, goes our Archie Bunker award of the month...There's also a rumor going around that several members of the Italian community attempted to buy up all the seats to the opening night performance of the "God-father" here in Fresno. Then the theatre got wind that they weren't going to attend...

The buzz is that "The Flies" will open March 22 thru 25, but police won't be making any arrests for indecent exposure, it's just Don Gunn's merry troupe performing on stage, in a play by French existentialist Jean Paul Sartre...The editors of the upcoming literary magazine have informed me that they've extended the deadline to turn in material. The new cutoff date will be March 24th. There's a box in the Rampage office where you can drop off your artistic endeavors... The hot weather has got a lot of firemen pretty uptight, esp. down L.A. way. Well, my flowers are preying for rain...If there's anyone else out there who ever reads the Fresno Guide, let me recommend the column by William F. Buckley Jr., it's the only class I can usually find in among the ads... Upsetting, was the report in Sunday's Fresno Bee about the computer study of the world situation made at MIT. The computer estimated that, in effect, mankind will face an "uncontrollable and disastrous collapse of its society within 100 years." The study was conducted under the auspices of an international body known as the Club of Rome...

The Irish Rovers will be at the Convention Center tonite, with a collection of Irish folk songs and drinking songs. The performance is timely enough, what with Friday being St. Patrick's Day and all; but it's also a sad reminder of the bloody times that have fallen on the Irish homeland. Oddly enough, the five young men are not from Ireland at all, but from Canada...Finally, a report that Phase III or II, or whatever phase we're in, is not really working. The price of Life Savers in the student bookstore has gone up to 10 cents...Goodnight Richard Nixon, whoever you are.

Busing, edit refuted

Dear Editor:

In your editorial on busing you pointed to the situation in our Student Lounge and Cafeteria as proof that going to school together does not insure communication. You went on to say that the same situation can be found in our local high schools where token integration has been tried.

I submit that this "natural" segregation is rather a clear sign that our student body is a product of a segregated educational system. This is precisely why we "white liberals" advocate complete integration from kindergarten on. Archie Bunker hasn't changed a whit since he was 15. Neither have most of us.

A generation that demands that young people be heard might well listen to the rare but beautiful interchanges between small children of different races.

Years ago there was a musical which touched on race hatred. It was called "South Pacific." In one song the point was made that "you have to be taught" to hate. I believe that the sacred educational principle of the neighborhood school is the foundation for this lesson of hatred and misunderstanding.

Students planning to have posters made in the ASB Poster Room should submit their request at least one day prior to need.

MECHA speaker

Armando Rodriguez, a candidate for the 3rd Supervisorial District, will speak at tomorrow's MECHA meeting, to be held in B-13 from 2-4 p.m. Rodriguez is state president of MAPA, and a past president of the local MAPA chapter.

UFWOC representative Hope Lopez will give a talk on farm workers. Final plans for Saturday's Chicano Youth Conference will also be discussed.

Wallace wins in Florida

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, pledging opposition to school busing and a crackdown on crime, won Florida's Democratic primary with 42 percent of the vote and 75 of the state's 81 convention delegates.

Wallace, appearing on yesterday's NBC "Today" show, said his victory was "the turning point in the political history of this country." Wallace backers had predicted 35 percent support.

The Florida primary was unusual in that Florida law requires that all presidential contenders must be listed on the ballot, which eliminates the possibility of candidates skipping over that state in order to make a better showing elsewhere.

Hubert H. Humphrey boosted his presidential hopes capturing 18 percent of the vote and six convention delegates.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington finished third with 13 percent and Edmund S. Muskie received just nine percent, a letdown after his 47 percent showing in New Hampshire.

New York Mayor John Lindsay and South Dakota Sen. George S. McGovern ran neck-and-neck for the liberal Democratic vote, with Lindsay topping McGovern seven to six percent.

In the Republican primary, President Nixon took 87 percent of the vote and won all 40 delegates to the GOP National Convention in San Diego in August.

Opinion Poll

In keeping with requests from FCC administrators, instructors and students for reliable information on the opinions of the student body as a whole, the Rampage is initiating an opinion poll.

Questions may be submitted to the Rampage or Student Senate offices. Deadline for questions is at noon on Tuesdays. The frequency of the poll will be determined by the number of responses.

As an example of the questions suggested so far, the Rampage asks the following. Please circle your answers and either drop this poll in one of the nine red suggestion boxes spread around campus, or bring it to the Rampage office.

(The answers to last week's poll will be published as soon as the Rampage can locate the key or keys to the suggestion boxes.)

1) Do you feel that a child care center on or near campus (estimated cost - $5,000 to $20,000) would be (a) worth the expense, (b) not worth the expense, or (c) no opinion.

2) Would you use such a service if available? yes no undecided

3) Do you feel that Student Senate's $200-a-semester allocation to purchase lunches for ASB office-holders is (a) unwise, (b) all right, (c) no opinion.

4) Have you ever attended a Student Senate meeting? yes no

5) Do you feel the Rampage prints (a) too much, (b) not enough, (c) a reasonable amount of local, state and national news?

Registration drive

The fall semester voter registration drive at FCC netted 2,500 new voters, but if it continues at the present pace it may reach only 80 percent of the potential voters on the campus, according to ASB Commissioner of Voter Registration Arturo Maltos.

The voter registration deadline is April 13 for voting in the California primary. Students that will be 18 years old by the June 6 California primary are eligible to register and vote. The courts have aided the students political mobility by ruling that 18-year-olds may claim residency wherever they reside and meet the state requirements for voting.

Students that are undecided as to party preference are ineligible to vote in the primary, and forfeit their right of voting for the candidate of their choice to run in the November general election. Maltos said that "Students should register in the political party that offers them the most political participation and vote for the nomination of their presidential candidates. Otherwise, the presidential candidates nominated might not reflect their viewpoints and a vote in November will be meaningless.

"Some students feel that whatever they do in the voting booth will not affect the present conditions in America, but voting is the only present avenue available for rational folk. If you become too much of an extremist the power structure will just call out the police or national guard and bust your head open. If you just keep silent you will get the royal screw from the special interest groups that run the government and everything will remain the same."

To register to vote for the California primary an individual must be a citizen and have resided in California 90 days, as well as meet the age limit described above. Re-registration is also necessary if an individual has moved and is not registered at his present address or was registered but failed to vote in November 1970.

As of today approximately 250 students have registered in the spring drive. The spring registration effort began Tuesday and will continue through the April 13 deadline.

Registration is also available in C-5 and C-10 from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday, and in C-5 from 11 a.m. to noon Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Senate: appeal to students

In response to complaints from administrators about the potential for trouble at off-campus student activities, Student Senate this week issued a public appeal for students to police themselves at such events.

The issue arose after Friday's rock concert at the Rainbow Ballroom, for which both Fresno Police and FCC administrators handled security. Several empty liquor bottles were found strewn across the floor at the end of the concert, two people were arrested for possession of narcotics, and several other students were evicted for being intoxicated.

President Ron Gray said that although he is not trying to take any stand against students getting a little loose, he is concerned over muffled threats that FCC will have no more concerts unless the administration can be assured that at future events students are better behaved.

Senate advisor Doris Deakins added that, of the 2,000 people who attended, "1,900 acted just great--however, the actions of a few are going to spoil the whole thing unless students can be persuaded to get the administration off the hook."

By that Miss Deakins was referring to the fact that, by state and district laws, the school must assume full responsibility at all student body functions. That is, the school and its administrators can be held accountable for any personal or almost any reason at any school function.

As long as these laws are in effect, explained Miss Deakins, the administration is going to be noticeably cautious about granting its approval to any more concerts, including the one tentatively slated for May 26.

"The people at Friday's concert exhibited more self-control than at any other concert I have ever attended," said Senator Ken Brown. "There were no fights, no pushing, and a lot of good feeling and good dancing. But there were still a few flagrant violations, and that's what's got the administration worried. If students will just be a little more sophisticated at the next one, there won't be any hassle."

In other business, Senate approved the purchase of a $500 color television for the Student Lounge by a narrow 8-6 margin. The money will come from the dwindling undistributed reserves budget, but Senate feels the expense is worthwhile as the television will be available to the whole student body.

Another $300 from undistributed reserves was allocated to finance 50 percent of the expenses of Roscoe Pondexter's bid for a berth on the U.S. Olympic basketball team. Pondexter has been chosen as one of 10 Californians to travel to London, Ky. to participate in the national AAU basketball tournament.

Dave Waddell was unanimously chosen to fill the commissioner of publications and communications vacancy, which leaves the athletics, arts, and student services slots still unfilled.

Committee: problems, problems

the architect's drawings showing asphalt spreading from Blackstone to Maroa, and from McKinley to Weldon, even crossing Weldon in one area.

When asked whether it was too late for students to present an alternative to the $3,000,000 parking program, Martin responded that it was probably too late to stop the first phase, but students might still have time to convince the Board of Trustees to halt further construction.

The subject of off-campus activities was then raised, with Dean of Men Richard Cleland reporting that chaperoning the Friday Elvin Bishop concert was a "nerve-racking job."

"We're spooky about what might have happened rather than about what did happen," said Senate advisor Doris Deakins. "If there was an accident at any school function, the administration would be responsible for having created the situation in which that accident could happen."

Members of the committee agreed that the concert was a success and, for the most part, free of trouble. The committee agreed to accept Student Senate's efforts to get students to police themselves as evidence that future off-campus activities need not be cancelled.

The committee generated and approved a request for more bicycle racks, which will be installed near the gym and the Extension Center. Reports were also heard on the MECHA Leadership Conference slated for this weekend and on the proposal to open the FCC pool for recreational use for an hour at noon on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

'The Odd Couple'

"The Odd Couple," an award-winning film starring Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau, will be shown tomorrow at 7 p.m. in B-13 and B-14. Admission is free to ASB card holders.

Matthau as a bleary-eyed, irresponsible slob in a sweat shirt and Lemmon as a weepy, fanatical housekeeper in an apron are forced by circumstances to set up housekeeping together in an eight-room apartment in New York City.

Critic Judith Crist said "The Odd Couple" was "...wise, witty--appeals to all of us, right across all those generation and I.Q. gaps."

Directed by Gene Saks, the film was adapted from Neil Simon's play.

Swimmers sink Sac, to battle Modesto

The unbeaten FCC swim team opened Valley Conference competition with a 57-53 victory over Sacramento City College Friday in the Rams' pool.

The tankers will put their 2-0 season ledger on the line tomorrow afternoon when they host Modesto.

In the win over Sac City, the Rams won only five of the 12 events. Diver Jerry Sickler led the victory with triumphs in the one-meter and three-meter diving.

Tom Mullholland won the 200 freestyle (2:02.3), Vince Jura took first in the 200 breaststroke (2:29.3) and Don Forbes triumphed in the 50 freestyle (24.3).

Shawn Hasson, Jura, Mullholland and Forbes teamed for a victory in the 400 medley relay.

Second-place finishes went to Hasson (200 individual medley and 200 backstroke), Forbes (100 freestyle), Jim Wallace (1,000 freestyle and 200 butterfly) and Al Thompson (200 freestyle and 500 freestyle).

Intramural sports

Kite flying

A kite flying contest will be held March 24 at 12:15 p.m. on Weldon Ave. north of the gym. The event will include contests in building the smallest and largest flying kite. Kites will be judged on style and ability to fly.

A two-person relay team contest is also slated. The object of the relay is to assemble and get the kite in the air, making sure the string is fully extended, and then bring it back down. String and tails will be provided for the relay race only.

Students may enter by signing the sheet posted on the intramural sports board in the gym lobby or by contacting coach Gus Short.

Pool tourney

FCC's first annual pool tournament will be held Monday at 7 p.m. in the Student Lounge. The contest is single elimination and there is no limit to the number of people able to enter.

"If you win you go on; if you lose you're out completely," said coach Ken Dose.

A signup sheet and rules are available at the desk in the Student Lounge. Trophies will be awarded to the first and second-place finishers.

The pool competition is the second in a series of tournaments planned this semester.

Frisbee contest

A frisbee contest is slated for the Easter festivities March 24 from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The contest will be held on Weldon Ave. south of the gym.

Participants will be judged on four events: straight throw for accuracy, right curve throw for accuracy, left curve throw for accuracy and a novelty catch.

Interested students should sign up in the foyer of the gym.

Prizes and awards are planned for the first five places. If a tie occurs, a distance throw will take place to determine the winner.

Pondexter picked to CJCA camp

Roscoe Pondexter has been selected to compete for a spot on the California Junior College Association all-star team, which will play in the National AAU Basketball Tournament March 24-28.

Pondexter was one of seven players chosen to the CJCA trials camp in Pomona for three days of workouts and preparation beginning Sunday.

About seven additional players (not picked at Rampage deadline) were also to be selected for the CJCA camp. A 10 or 11 man team will leave Wednesday for the AAU tourney in London, Ky.

Ram coach John Toomasian headed the committee which chose the players and coaches.

Fleming: one step closer

FCC gymnast Barbara Fleming over the weekend placed in the top 20 out of a 40-girl field to qualify for the final pre-Olympic trial meet at Long Beach in June.

If she finishes in the top 15 at the Long Beach competition, Miss Fleming will earn a spot on the U.S. Olympic squad or the U.S. world team.

Batters pound Pirates

The FCC baseball team mashed Modesto 4-2 Tuesday to move their conference ledger to 2-1.

The Rams meet American River Saturday and College of Sequoias on Tuesday.

In the win over Modesto, Dan Boitano went the distance, hurling a five-hitter to pick up the victory.

Rick Contente was the big man at the plate for the Rams, getting three hits in five trips and driving across a pair of tallies. The batters split a doubleheader with Sacramento City Saturday, winning the opener 12-8, but losing the finale 4-0.

In the first game, Bruce Snow drove home four runs with a pair of triples and Steve Behlen and Dan Koontz each had two RBIs.

Behlen lasted seven innings for the win.

The Panthers used three Ram miscues to chalk-up the victory in the concluding contest.

Lefty Richie Smith was the tough-luck loser.

Netters win twice

The FCC tennis team evened their conference record at 2-2 with victories over Modesto Friday and Delta Saturday.

The Rams, now 8-6 for the season, host COS today and travel north for an assignment with Consumnes River on Saturday.

In the 6-3 win over Modesto, Mike Ryan and Jim Polkinghorne both grabbed singles triumphs before teaming for a 6-3, 6-3 doubles victory.

Doubles wins were also captured by Ted Moranda-Mike Jizmejian and Curtis Greaves-John Villadsen. Greaves also won his singles match.

In the 5-4 nipping of Delta, it was Moranda's and Jizmejian's turn to star. Besides combining for a doubles triumph, the pair both garnered singles victories.

Polkinghorne and Ryan also grabbed singles wins.

At lecture - demonstration

FCC dancers do their thing

Twenty - four FCC modern dance students will participate in a lecture-demonstration tomorrow at the T. L. Heaton School as part of the elementary school's Basic School Subjects Complemented by Humanities project.

FCC dance instructor Sara Dougherty said the program encourages learning through the arts. All subject areas, particularly language arts and math, are taught through a cultural arts oriented curriculum, which provides the students with greater opportunity for creative thinking. The in - service sessions and demonstrations are given by people and groups within the Fresno community.

The FCC dancers will be concentrating on what modern dance is. Mrs. Dougherty said the FCC students first demonstrate locomotive movements the children know and next show them how to apply the movements to dance. The children then will be able to create their own steps and dances.

FCC dancers who will participate in the lecture-demonstration Friday are Fred Books, Jan Conley, Jackie Davis, Jane Dougherty, Gale Eads, Robin Fence, Barbara Fleming, Zacharie Kokalis, Phoebe Lansing, Bob Lynch, Marty McQuone, Colette Miura, Jill Moore, Mary Mossette, Anna Marie Rivas, Patricia Saldivar, Glenn Salt, Frances Torrez, Janice Tudor and Gloria Williams, Karen Cunningham, Esther Rodriguez and Rose Marie Perez.

Golfers pound AR, to host Delta Tuesday at Riverside Golf Course.

Bob Jeschian grabbed low-medalist honors with a 71 over the Beavers' par-72 Hagen Oaks Golf Course.

Steve Gutilla fired a 73, Bill Donaldson carded a 75, Greg Lamonica shot a 79 and Bill Storey came in with an 80.

'The Flies' buzz on stage Wednesday

Euripides' Furies become nine flies who keep collective guilt buzzing at Argos when FCC presents Jean Paul Sartre's "The Flies" March 22-25 at 8:15 p.m. in the Auditorium.

Tickets, available at the FCC Box Office, are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. FCC students may obtain them free upon presentation of student body cards.

"The Flies," first produced in Paris during the Nazi occupation, is a modern version of Euripides' story of Orestes, Electra and Clytemnestra. Sartre uses the ancient Greek story as a vehicle of protest against the Nazi oppression and a cry for freedom of the individual.

The story centers on Orestes who returns home to Argos after many years as a foster son of a wealthy Athenian family to clean up the city and avenge his father's death. When Orestes was an infant, his father Agamemnon, was murdered by Clytemnestra, Orestes' mother, and Aegisthus, now Clytemnestra's husband and king of Argos. The Furies, represented as flies in Sartre's version, symbolize the city's filth and corruption.

Zeus, the reigning god of the Greek Pantheon, is a cynical, spoiled tyrant, playing his people as pawns in an interesting game. Only when Orestes arrives does Zeus begin to be troubled for Orestes is a free man. Orestes' teenage sister, Electra, subjected to a life of degradation by Clytemnestra and her step-father, is shown as a deranged idealist who imagines her long lost brother arriving in blood and thunder to avenge his father's death. Orestes, raised as a pacifist, shuns murder and begs his sister to run away with him to some land of idyllic contentment.

However, fate intervenes and Orestes is the doomed son. He must play out his life as predestined.

Frederick Johnson, FCC theatre arts instructor, called the play "strong stuff with many highly dramatic and effective scenes...Sartre has written in the modern idiom which gives a present-day immediacy lacking in Euripides' version, he said.

Director Donald Gunn has added relevancy to the play by emphasizing its timelessness through a symbolic rather than literal approach to setting, costuming and use of multi-media.

The FCC drama department's production of 'The Flies' next week will feature such performers as Melissa Clark, Carla Trbovich, and Karen Lynch.

minute lunch break at 12:30, to acquaint the student with opportunities in specific fields. The 11 workshops include financial aids; business and technical and industrial; humanities and social science; math, science and engineering; counseling-student personnel services; student organizations; drug abuse; public employment; professional occupations; special programs; and cultural studies.

A special performance by the Teatro Campesino is tentatively scheduled to conclude the conference.

Celia Maldonado, an FCC counselor and MECHA adviser, said MECHA and Raza staff members want to discuss all degree and special service opportunities and financial aids available at FCC, Reedley College and Fresno State with the Chicano youth.

"But if they are not interested in college, we want to introduce them to the opportunities with federal, state, county, city, special programs and public employment in general," she said.

FCC and the SCCCD will provide three buses for students needing transportation to the conference.

WHAT IS A TRUMBA?

You can't expect great music unless you have this Sun Stereo system. The new Pioneer SX-626 receiver, the Garrard SL 72 B turntable and a pair of Pioneer CS-E 400 speakers. The SX-626 stereo receiver is one of Pioneer's great stereo values. In one attractive, well-designed package, it offers the hi-fi enthusiast everything he could possibly desire in a medium-range power unit including 110 watts of power (at 4 ohms), an FM tuner selection of excellent selectivity, high signal to noise ratio, and two tape monitor circuits that permit tape-to-tape duplicating. The SX-626 is powerful enough to operate a pair of large speakers, yet it's also versatile enough to handle small and medium range speakers for the person who's investment in stereo must be budgeted. Added to this receiver is a Garrard SL 72 B turntable, a $6.50 base and $50. cartridge. The SL 72 B has a dynamically balanced, gimbal bearing tonearm assuring smooth operation in perfect vertical and lateral arcs. This tonarm system insures excellent tracking and audible distortion. Other features include an anti-skating control and viscous-damped cueing/pausing control lever. Sun's list price is $156. Complementing this fine system is a pair of Pioneer CS-E 400 speakers. Compare this speaker with any other speaker in its price range. Its lifelike performance is due to Pioneer's free beating cone, used for the 8" woofer and 3" cone tweeter. The combination provides rich, full bass, clear mid tones and crisp highs with low distortion. A high frequency tone control adjusts to room acoustics. The cabinet is oiled walnut. List price for the pair is $160.

A trumba is the sound made by a trumpet and tuba run through an amplifier that can't deliver enough power, even at low volume and played through speakers that don't reproduce each clear sound. Let Sun Stereo take the trumba out of your life with the quality systems listed below.

BASF

BASF cassettes are guaranteed never to fail. These tapes reproduce all highs and lows and come complete with a storage box. For a limited time only Sun offers you the BASF C-60 and C-90 cassette tapes for half price. Limit six per customer.

The SX-525 offers more important extras than many receivers priced much higher. It features finely balanced, dynamic stereo sound and gives you more power than you'll ever really need to fill a large room with music. Moreover, it is Pioneer-built and Pioneer guaranteed, and in stereo that says just about everything except, of course, the list price of only $240. For your system's turntable Sun offers the $74.50 Garrard SL-65-B, a $9.50 base and $25. cartridge.
